THE Board of Inspection of Check-Lists gives notice that they have posted copies of all the checklists of the city in the corridor of the city building, and also have posted a list of Ward One at the store of Cox & Newman on North street, and a list of Ward Three at the store of John Mitchell on Islington street, and a list of Ward Four at the store of John J. Lasley on Pleasant street, for the inspection of the voters of the city.

They also give notice that they will be in session at the city building on Thursday the 23d day of July, on Tuesday the 28th day of July, and on Friday the 31st day of July, 1885, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 5 P. M., on each of said days, for the purpose of revising and correcting the list of voters.

They will also be in session at the same place from 8 to 10 A. M. and from 1 to 2 P. M., on the day of election, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons whose names may have been omitted and who the Board are satisfied have resided in the ward one year next preceding said election. By Order of the Board.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Among the judgments announced on the 25th inst. by the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims was one in case No. 4203, Anne M. Salter and John L. Salter, executors of the estate of John E. Salter, $115, with interest at four per cent from Dec. 4th, 1863.

THE TELEGRAPH-POLE NUISANCE.

The unsightly rews of fire-alarm, telephone and telegraph poles that disfigure our streets are nuisances that should be abated at once and forever. In the early and experimental days of telegraphy a few poles and single wires were tolerated without vigorous protests from people whose lands and buildings were injured by the straggling poles and vibrant wires that stretched along the streets like gigantic clothes-lines bare of raiment; but now the enterprising electrician plants the poles and stretches the wires wherever his vagrant and untutored fancy listeth, and no man, or woman, dare ask, "Why do ye so?" Thus beautiful dwellings and well ordered grounds are marred by inharmonious lines and crooked crosses, to the utter obliteration of all the fine effects of the architect's skill and the forester's good taste.

Perhaps no city of its size is so imposed upon by the telegraph companies as our own little City by the Sea. The unsightliness of the staggering procession of drunken poles is not by any means the chief or only objection to the invaders of our pleasant thoroughfares. Many of the poles are planted at corners and angles of streets, where they endanger the lives of people who ride or drive close to the sides to avoid contact with loaded business teams. Some are also planted where they impede and obstruct travel on the sidewalks, which the law explicitly forbids.

According to the programme laid out by the company now starting a new line across the city, one of its poles is to be set up in the narrow side-walk on Chestnut street near Music hall, to the no small inconvience and danger of the pedestrians who throng the narrow street on exhibition nights.

If telegraph wires must traverse our city, let them go under ground, as the gas pipes, sewers and aqueduct logs are obliged to. PUBLICOLA.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Fleur de Lis, Capt. K. M. Grain, on Wednesday of last week when about twelve miles east of Boon island took a sword-fish which weighed 467 pounds dressed, and which was sold in Portland, Me. Mr. Samuel Blake, the member of the crew of the Fleur de Lis who threw the iron into this fish, five years ago when in the same locality threw an iron into a sword-fish which was not taken, the line parting and letting the fish escape with the iron. The fish taken on the 22d inst. by the Fleur de Lis had embedded in him an iron of the same pattern and stamped with the same maker's name as the one lost by Mr. Blake five years before, and presumably the same iron. The wound made by the entrance of the harpoon was entirely healed, and a hard, calloused growth had formed around the shank. The Fleur de Lis sailed again on Friday, sword-fishing.

Augustus Stevenson is negotiating with C. E. Walker for the use of Pier wharf for a steam ferry landing, for boats to run between this city and several points on the opposite side of the Piscataqua.

It is rumored that a new boat-landing is to be made at the foot of Deer street, where Berry's fish market now is.

Joseph P. Morse, Esq., has returned from his annual vacation at Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals.

In Memory of Gen. U. S. Grant.

In compliance with a very generally expressed wish that the people of this city may have the opportunity to unite in a common tribute to the memory of the distinguished soldier and patriot whose death has saddened every heart, the undersigned respectfully request the citizens of Portsmouth to meet in Franklin hall on Thursday evening, July 30th, at eight o'clock, to determine upon a plan of organization and to arrange a programme appropriate to the occasion:—Calvin Page, J. H. Thacher, J. H. Hutchinson, Albert Laighton, S. C. Whittier, A. P. Preston, George W. Butler, J. F. Berry, E. S. Fay, Joseph Pettigrew, S. R. Marston, J. D. Waldron, Commodore C. W. Pickering, James R. Yeaton, Alfred Stavers, R. H. Beacham & Son, Charles A. Sinclair, Geo. Tompson, A. C. Hoyt, Marcellus Bufford, William H. Rollins, R. C. Peirce, E. P. Kimball, D. J. Vaughan, L. S. Butler, J. S. Pfeiffer, C. Dwight Hanscom, C. M. Gignoux, W. O. Sides, J. H. Gardiner.

A woman said to be an inmate of the Bay View house on Bow street jumped overboard from the Spring market wharf on Sunday evening, with intent to commit suicide, but was rescued by Daniel Riley and landed on the Gas Co.'s wharf, where she made a second ineffectual attempt to get rid of herself. While in the water she made quite a lively resistance to being saved, and bit one of Mr. Riley's little fingers severely. After being landed on the wharf she refused to go to her "home" until an officer arrived, when she departed in a hurry. She was ugly drunk.

Services in memory of Gen. Grant were held in the quaint little stone church on Star island, Isles of Shoals, last Sunday; the church was appropriately draped with flags and crape, and a portrait of the deceased hero adorned the pulpit. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Jacobus of Oxford, Penn., and was very appropriate and impressive.

The mercury in the thermometer climbed above one hundred at Rye beach on Saturday, and reached nearly that figure at Hampton.

Mr. Harry G. Tanton and daughter on Monday started on a trip to Prince Edward island, to be gone about a month.

The greenhead horseflies are reported to be more numerous along the beaches this season than for many years past; it is impossible they could be any more venomous and bloodthirsty than usual.

The Appledore house, Shoals, had nearly every room filled on Sunday, and there were over 200 guests at the Oceanic. That this season is to be a profitable one at the islands is now fully assured.

It is reported that Hon. Frank Jones has purchased the buildings and leased the land on Warren street belonging to Dr. Parsons, and will remove the structures therefrom for the purpose of making an ornamental garden and grass plat for the new Rockingham house.

Mr. J. Edward Pickering of Newington, master of the grammar school at Seabrook, has resigned that position and accepted a call to the principalship of a four-room grammar school in Braintree, Mass. Mr. Pickering started on Monday morning for the Isles of Shoals, to assume charge of the books at the Appledore for Laighton Bros., before entering upon his duties at Braintree.

Judge Leavitt, of the probate court for Rockingham county, has appointed Col. T. E. O. Marvin, president of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, to be guardian of Mary Clery of this city, a child of eleven years.

William Ward and Samuel Maddock of this city sailed from Boston on Saturday for England, on the steamer Samaria. They are both natives of England, and are partners in the grocery business. Mr. Maddock has not visited his native land since he came to this country about twenty-eight years ago.

The Army & Navy Register of the 25th inst. says: "Colonel George F. Towle, captain Nineteenth Infantry, arrived at St. Louis on Monday from his station at Fort Clark, Texas, en route to his home at Newcastle, N. H., on leave."

The man arrested in this city on Saturday for burglary in Rochester, is Frank Parker of Portland, Me.; and the one taken back to Biddeford was Joseph Langford, wanted there for stealing $40 a week previous, and for obtaining goods under false pretences, and also for stealing a gold watch in Kennebunk on the 24th inst.

At the special meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., held last Saturday evening, a committee of seven was appointed to secure Music hall or such other place as they may deem best, and to arrange a programme for memorial services on the day of Gen. Grant's public obsequies, in which the citizens generally will be invited to join.

Mr. Howard L. Aiken and wife, of Brockton, Mass., have taken a cottage at Sea point, Gerrish's island, where they will spend a week or two of the heated term with friends.

On Friday, July 31st, at two o'clock P. M., a clambake will be served in front of Capt. Jenks' house in Eliot, opposite Dover point. This is the annual "town clam-bake," to which all are invited without distinction of race, color, sex or previous condition of servitude, good behavior being the only condition, and that being insisted on. Neither religion nor politics is allowed to mixed with the clams, etc., and a good sociable time always results.

Eight tents of camping-out parties were pitched on the harbor front of Gerrish's island, Kittery, last Sunday.

The postmaster general has appointed Josiah Goodwin postmaster at South Berwick, in place of Justin S. Clement, removed. Mr. Goodwin was strongly endorsed by William A. Cromwell, member of the democratic state committee for the county.

The National Railway & Street Rolling Stock Co. held its annual meetling in Concord, N. H., on the 25th inst., and elected directors as follows: E. S. Nutter, John C. French, M. E. Martin and M. V. B. Stimson of Concord, Jas. M. Stone of Kennebunk, Charles B. Rogers of Portland, Me., Josiah A. Stover of Kittery. Col. E. S. Nutter was re-elected president, N. E. Martin secretary and treasurer, and M. V. B. Stinson agent.

Miss Sara O. Jewett of South Berwick is at home again. Miss Jewett's last book, "A Marsh Island," is meeting with very favorable criticism, and has already reached its fourth edition.

TRAVELING IN 1800.

The stage-coach was little better than a huge covered box mounted on springs. It had neither glass windows, nor doors, nor steps, nor closed sides. The roof was upheld by eight posts which rose from the body of the vehicle, and the body was commonly breast-high. From the top were hung curtains of leather, to be drawn up when the day was fine, and let down and buttoned when rainy and cold. Within were four seats. Without was the baggage. Fourteen pounds of luggage were allowed to be carried free by each passenger. But if his portmanteau or his brass-nail-studded hair-trunk weighed more, he paid for it at the same rate per mile as he paid for himself. Under no circumstances, however, could he be permitted to take with him on the journey more than 150 pounds. When the baggage had all been weighed and strapped on the coach, when the horses had been attached and the way-bill made out, the eleven passengers were summoned and, clambering to their seats through the front of the stage, sat down with their faces toward the driver's seat.

On routes where no competition existed progress was slow, and the travelers were subjected to all manner of extortion and abuse. "Brutality, negligence, and filching," says one, "are as naturally expected by people accustomed to traveling in America as a mouth, a nose, and two eyes are looked for in a man's face." Another set out one day in March, 1796, to go from Frenchtown to New Castle, on the Delaware. Seventeen miles separated the two towns, a distance which, he declares, a good healthy man could have passed over in four hours and a half. The stage-coach took six. When it finally reached New Castle it was high noon, the tide was making, the wind was fair, and the boat for Philadelphia was ready at the wharf. Yet he was detained for an hour and a half, "that the inkeeper might scrub the passengers out of the price of a dinner." Dinner over, the boat set sail and ran up the river to within two miles of Gloucester point. There, the wind and tide falling, the vessel dropped anchor for the night. Some passengers, anxious to go on by land, were forced to pay half a dollar each to be rowed to the shore. At one in the morning the tide again turned. But the master was then drunk, and, when he could be made to understand what was said, the tide was again ebbing, and the boat aground. Evening came before the craft reached Philadelphia. The passengers were forty-eight hours on board.

Another came from New York by stage and water. He was almost shipwrecked in the bay, lost some of his baggage at Amboy, was nearly left by the coach, and passed twenty hours going sixteen miles on the Delaware. The captain was drunk. The boat three times collided with vessels going up the river. A gentleman set out in February to make the trip from Philadelphia to Baltimore. Just beyond Havre de Grace the axle broke. A cart was hired and the passengers driven to the next stage inn. There a new coach was obtained, which, in the evening, overset in the wood. Toward daylight the whole party, in the midst of a shower of rain and snow, found shelter and breakfast at a miserable house three miles from Baltimore. But the host would not suffer one of them to dry his clothes by the kitchen stove. When an editor in the town was asked to publish an account of their trip he refused. The owners of the coach line might, he said, hinder the circulation of his newspaper. To add to the vexation of such delays, "the apostolic assembly of the state of Delaware" had forbidden stage-coaches to cross their "hand's breadth of territory" on the Sabbath. The worst bit of road in the country seems to have been between Elkton, in Maryland, and the Susquehanna ferry. There the ruts were so deep that as the wheels were about to enter one, the driver would call upon the passengers to lean out of the opposite side of the coach, to prevent the vehicle being overturned. "Now, gentlemen," he would say, "to the right." "Now, gentlemen, to the left."

Yet another traveler had quitted Philadelphia for New York. All went smoothly till the coach drew near to the town of Brunswick. There one of a rival line was overtaken, and a race began. At Elizabethtown a young woman, well mounted, rode up behind the coach and attempted to pass. In an instant half the men on the stage began to revile her most shamefully, raised a great shout, frightened her horse, and all but unseated her. One, indeed, ventured to expostulate. But he was quickly silenced by the question: "What! suffer anybody to take the road of us?" At New York three of the passengers found lodgings in a single room at an inn. The custom was a general one, and of all customs was the most offensive to foreigners. No such thing, it was said, was ever seen in the British isles. There every decent person not only had a bed, but even a room to himself, and, if he were so minded, might lock his door. In America, however, the traveler sat down at the table of his landlord, slept in the first bed he found empty, or, if all were taken, lay down on one beside its occupant without so much as asking leave, or caring who the sleeper might be. If he demanded clean sheets, he was looked upon as an aristocrat, and charged well for the trouble he gave; for the bedclothes were changed at stated times, and not to suit the whims of travelers.—McMaster's History of the People of the United States.

Year of Danger

With the threatened advent of cholera among us, it behooves every one to check at the outset those little ills which, neglected, become prostrating diseases.

Cholera finds its victims among the debilitated, worn out, and weakly, and those of sensitive stomachs and poor digestion.

I have been a periodical sufferer from hay fever (a most annoying and loathsome affliction) since the summer of 1879, and until I used Ely's Cream Balm was never able to find any relief until cold weather. The Beauty of Youth.

No matter how handsome or stalwart a young man may be otherwise, nothing can make up for a partially bald head. Shining talents are attractive, but a shining poll is not. Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

The President Coming to His Bearings.

In old times, after a heavy tragedy, the theatrical manager regaled his audience with a laughable farce, that those whose inmost souls had been harrowed up by frequent death scenes on the stage, might on returning home retire to enjoy peaceful slumbers instead of being annoyed by disturbing dreams. Later the farce often preceded the heavy tragedy, and the audience were taken from gay to grave instead of in the opposite order. The new departure seems to have been followed by Mr. Cleveland. After the extensive farce of civil service reform, where the stage manager comes forward and promises all sorts of good conduct, for a while we thought to see here and there an apparent observance of the laws. But the careful observer perceives that it is only a light play produced to amuse the audience and distract their attention while the headsman's axe is being properly prepared for the summary execution of victims.

The Burlington case is in point. Every one is glad to see Brad Smalley properly recognized. He has been all these years valiant in the democratic battles of Vermont, with a large and insurmountable majority against him. True, he has enjoyed for many years the meagre emoluments of the clerkship of the two federal courts in the Vermont district, and has ran the democratic members of the legislature on all railroad questions, but the period of his substantial reward has long been delayed, and it was time he should be recognized. It was said that Mr. Cleveland had a slight fear of the effect of turning out the republican collector, an excellent appointee, when Senator Edmunds should return from England and resume his duties at Washington, and so he hesitated about removing Wells to appoint Smalley. At least, he wished to wait till the New York election was over. But that did not suit Smalley. He thought the offensive partisan force was sufficiently potent to work the president, and the latter, "whispering 'I will ne'er consent,' consented," and Smalley goes in and the "offensive partisan" goes out.

Now, if Mr. Cleveland had earlier appointed Smalley and not made a fuss about it he would have had more time to attend to the legitimate duties of his office. His "firmness" has at last given way, as every one supposed it would, and soon even the shuffling, evasive conduct in such cases will be omitted. He is fast coming into line and carrying out the official programme. When he comes to his bearings, he will manage to satisfy two important elements in the country, the democrats and the republicans, while the mugwumps even will entertain a far greater respect for him than when he was constantly proclaiming one kind of policy and putting its opposite to practical purposes.

The schooner yacht Haze, of New York, while running through Vineyard sound in a heavy squall on the 26th inst., when near Woods' Hole discovered a boat bottom up, with five seamen clinging to her in an exhausted condition. She proved to be a boat belonging to the United States fish commission steamer Albatross, at Wood's Hole. The men were taken on board the yacht and afterward put aboard the steam launch of the Albatross, which was sent out in search of them.

At What Cheer, Iowa, July 25th, John Dey was shot and killed by Postmaster B. D. Brainard. Dey was one of a mob that broke into the basement of the postoffice to purloin a lot of liquor which had been seized by the prohibition league. The postoffice building was wrecked. The shooting is approved by the citizens.

Harry C. Hopper, a mining engineer, and brother of the late Inslee A. Hopper, formerly president of the Singer Sewing Machine company, was found dead in the woods on Rahway avenue, near Elizabeth, N. J., Sunday night, in an advanced stage of decomposition. He had evidently committed suicide, as a bottle of morphine was found on the body. He belonged in Auburn, Me.

In respect to the memory of Gen. Grant, Commodore Whitten of the Hull yacht club has ordered the yachts of the club when in port to fly their colors at half-mast for thirty days.

At Northampton, Mass., on Sunday, the 26th inst., berry pickers in the outskirts of the city discovered a skeleton. The bones lay in a most forsaken spot, the clothes were heavy, as if for winter wear, and beside the skeleton lay a rusted twenty-two calibre revolver of seven barrels, two of which had been discharged. From cards found in the clothes it was surmised that the man was Fred H. Greenleaf of North Easton, in the employ of I. Bartlett Patten & Co., druggists, Boston. A $1 Canadian bank note was all the money found on the person, and the memoranda made it appear that the victim was a travelling salesman in the drug line.

The Lauderdale peerage case has been decided by the British house of lords in favor of Major Martland. There were two claimants to the peerage, Major Martland and Sir James Martland. Major Martland contended that he was the heir of the fourth son of the earl of Lauderdale, who married Mary MacAdam in New York in 1772, two days before his death. Mary MacAdam had born three sons to this fourth son of the sixth earl, and the petitioner held that his marriage legitimatized the offspring. Sir James Martland, a descendant of the fifth son of the sixth earl of Lauderdale, contested the claim of Major Martland. In the hearing before the house of lords United States Minister Phelps, Senator Edmunds and Messrs. Fowler, Stephen Nash and Clarence Cary gave testimony concerning the law of marriage as it existed in the American colonies in 1772.

Detectives Tracy and Badger, of St. Louis, Mo., who went to Auckland for Maxwell, the "trunk murderer," left New Zealand with their prisoner on July 21st, and are now homeward bound on the steamship Zealandia. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Works through the blood, regulating, toning and invigorating all the functions of the body.

RAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.
C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gentlemen—* * * * I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the last seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the sores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.
I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of it since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.
Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

TUESDAY, July 25th; Colt J.

Welcome Jencks vs. Langdon Mills et al. The deft. having taken his testimony, the plff. has taken his evidence in rebuttal. The deft. now files a motion that he may retake testimony of Killey and Moore; both of these witnesses having once given deposition before the clerk as examiner. This was resisted by the complainant. The court allowed the deft. three weeks to take the testimony as asked for, the same to be strictly in rebuttal. H. S. Clark for compt.; Fisk for deft.

The suit Mercantile Trust Co. vs. Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad and others, in the matter of the petition of Philip Carpenter for leave to sue the receiver of the road for certain wood burned while piled inside the location to be transported by the Boston, Concord & Montreal R. R., heard recently, Judge Colt handed down the rescript as follows: Under the agreement submitted in this case, and upon the evidence, the court finds that the defendant is liable for the wood destroyed. Second, that the damages shall be $128.28, for the 100 cords destroyed; and third, that the question whether this claim shall constitute a prior lien on the funds in the hands of the receiver, is reserved and the court will hear counsel on this point if they prefer, or the points may be submitted in briefs to be filed by Sept 1st.

The republican mayoralty caucus takes place at the court house this afternoon from four o'clock to eight.

It is stated that the head of one of the postal clerks on the line between this city and North Conway was taken off on Tuesday.

The golden wedding was celebrated on the 16th inst. by Mr. Jonathan Godfrey and wife, with their fourteen children, (one is not,) a long procession of children's children and many invited friends. Your correspondent, not having been among the honored guests taking notes, cannot attempt to describe the jewelled presents, and the eloquent congratulations and poetic effusions. **

HAMPTON, July 28th.

In digging the trench for the water pipe to supply the new watering trough, solid ledge has been encountered a short distance from the corner of High and Congress streets, which probably will not run out till after passing the crossing at the North church on the other side of the street.

The Penny Post of Tuesday suggests "That the chap who labored through a column and a half of drivel in the Times last night, to defend the board of aldermen for its failure to notice the death of Gen. Grant, would have appeared more consistent and less ridiculous had he not signed the citizens' call for a meeting to take the very action he applauds the board of aldermen for not taking!"

A detail of twenty-nine seamen for the U. S. S. Constellation arrived here on Tuesday forenoon by rail.

Mr. Frederick Beesley, employed in Mason's saw and planing mill, had his left hand caught in the gearing of a planing machine on Tuesday, and so badly injured that all the fingers and part of the palm had to be amputated.

A little son of the late John W. Dame had two of his toes cut off on Tuesday by an axe in the hands of a playmate.

About forty members of the Strafford Guards of Dover, who were stationed at Fort Constitution during the war, had a reunion and clambake at the fort on Tuesday.

Mr. Rand, the miller, informs us that a large number of dead eels came out of the north pond on the ebb tide a few days since, and that he saw many dead ones, some of them over two feet long, lying on their backs on the bottom inside the boom in the pond.

Hon. John S. Treat cut oats at his farm a few days since, four feet ten inches high; the yield was so heavy that the mowing machine could not be used and the work had to be done with scythes.

Jos. A. Caswell arrived back at Cedar island, Isles of Shoals, last Thursday, from the Point of Pines, Mass., much improved in health.

Two lofty flagstaffs were erected on the Rockingham house Tuesday, one on each end of the building.

The flag on the custom house still flies at mast-head, while private flags are at half-mast. The reason is that Collector Hanscom has no official knowledge of what Editor Hanscom some time since was informed.

"The Old House at Home" at the foot of Daniel street, where so many marines, navy yard clerks and naval officers have slacked their thirst with beer during the past twenty years, is no more; it was levelled to the ground on Tuesday, to make room for a more pretentious structure.

In Dover, on the 27th inst., the case of the state against Emma F. Frost for infanticide was heard in the police court. By agreement between counsel the case against her was quashed, and her discharge ordered. Her mother, Emily Frost, was then arraigned for manslaughter in the 2d degree. It will be remembered that a dead infant was found in a doorway in Dover some weeks since, there being conclusive proof that it was the offspring of Emma Frost. The state will attempt to prove that Emily Frost placed the child, soon after birth, on the doorstep at night, alive, but it was found dead next morning. She pleaded not guilty, and was committed to jail for the September term of the supreme court in default of $1000 bonds.

The game of cricket between the Sawyer's Mills club of Dover and the Portsmouth club, at the grounds of the latter near Frenchman's lane last Saturday, was won by the Portsmouth club. Only one inning was played, the total score at the close being eighty-three to seventy-two. As the Dover club is a new one, most if not all the players being green hands at the game, the showing they made was a very creditable one.

At Kennebunk, on the evening of the 24th inst., Harland Waterhouse, aged twelve years, while in swimming was shot by Samuel Cousens, aged fifteen years. The two boys named, with a brother of the injured boy, had been shooting at a mark during the afternoon, and started to go in swimming in the evening, when Cousens picked up the gun, and aiming at Harland, who was in the stream, remarked, "You are a dead man," and bang went the gun, twenty-three bird shot hitting young Harland in the right side just above the hip. Cousens was nearly as much scared as his victim, he thinking the gun was unloaded. The wounded boy will recover.

August is the great out-of-doors month, and "ST. NICHOLAS" for August is a great out-of-doors number. The first story, illustrated by a beautiful frontispiece picture by R. B. Birch, is entitled "Little Dame Fortune," and tells how a little girl who wandered away out-of-doors once made an artist's fortune. Helen Gray Cone sings about "A String of Birds' Eggs," Mrs. Frank M. Gregory, up among the Catskills, explains how some children there reversed the seasons and went "Coasting in August," Laura E. Richards takes us for "A Pleasant Walk" in the fields, and Grace F. Pennypacker poetically interprets to us "What the Flowers Said." Then Mary Hallock Foote give us a whiff of salt air in "A 'Constitutional' on the Beach," where we can watch the flight of "The Great Blue Heron" with Celia Thaxter, make "A Water-museum" under the direction of G. E. Channing, or go in bathing with "The Brownies at the Sea-side."

—The Lowell Citizen remarks that the "world now makes use of 68,000 miles of submarine cables, mostly for the purpose of advertising traveling actresses and announcing the deaths of people nobody ever heard of."

—"Please, sir, give a poor blind man a nickel?" said a tramping beggar to a gentleman. "But you are not blind," remarked the gentleman. "No, but my partner is. He is standing down there on the corner to see if the policeman is coming."

—"How is Jim Bullard getting on?" asked a stranger at the railroad station of a Dakota town. "Jim kermitted suicide 'bout er month ago," replied a native. "Committed suicide? How did he commit suicide?" "He called me a liar, stranger."

—One moonlight evening an intoxicated individual, who had been for some time swaying to and fro in earnest contemplation of a telescope in Union square, New York, finally mustered his powers of locomotion, and approaching the proprietor, said in a persuasive tone, "See 'ere, you—a'—say, w-when you goin' to touch her off? Mor'n a dozen people's sighted the thing; now, why don't you touch her off?"

—A Detroit ecclesiastic dude is known as the Tony Pastor of that city.

—A fashionable Austin lady, immediately after the death of her husband, married his brother. A visitor at the house, noticing the picture of her late husband, asked who it was. "It is—is," she replied, hesitatingly, "my deceased brother-in-law."

—A negro washerwoman, worth $200,000, died in Brooklyn the other day, and the papers said she "left no heirs." Two days later a score of heirs put in an appearance. One of the impossibilities in this nineteenth century is for a rich person to die and leave no heirs.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, alley or place upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any persons within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

The Patagonian Giants.

The tales of their gigantic stature, so often told and as frequently denied, are thoroughly investigated in this memoir and with a result that will be interesting to anthropologists.

Careful measurements have been made in recent times, by different observers, of many individuals in various parts of Patagonia. The result is that the mean stature of adults (of both sexes, it would appear) is found to be 1.78 metres, or five feet ten inches English. "This mean," remarks the author, "may seem rather low; but if we compare it with that of France, which is only 1.60 metres (about five feet five inches), and if we consider that for all human kind the statistics give only 1.70 metres (rather less than five feet seven inches), we shall perceive that this figure represents in reality a very lofty stature, and makes the Patagonians the tallest race of men now existing." Men of six feet French (six feet three and a half inches English) are common among them; and occasionally one is found who reaches two metres, or six feet six and a half inches.

This, however, is not all. The Patagonian, in the upper part of the body, is of huge build. His trunk and head are large, his chest broad, his arms long and muscular. On horseback he seems far above the ordinary size of man. When he dismounts, however, it is seen that his legs are disproportionately short and slender; they frequently bend outward. His walk is heavy and lumbering. These are the well-known peculiarities which are found in the Tartars, and in all races of men who spend most of their time, like the Patagonians, on horseback. But it is only a little over two centuries since the horse was introduced into this region. The natives who were first seen chased the swift guanaco and ostrich over their immense plains on foot. Such activity required long, straight, and muscular legs. It is not too much to suppose that the total change in their habits of life which has occurred since they became a nation of horsemen, has detracted at least two inches from their stature. Adding these lost inches to their present height, we recover the giants who astonished the companions of Magellan, and vindicate the narratives which later writers have discredited. We gain also a notable evidence of the influence of natural causes in modifying the physical characteristics of men.—From Science.

Whalebone.

We often here from some old seafaring friend an expression of wonder amounting almost to incredulity, as he meets with an item something like this in one of the New Bedford papers: "We hear of sales of 5,000 pounds of Arctic whalebone for export at $3.40 a pound." His memory goes back to the time when he himself used to bring home cargoes of whale oil and bone from the Southern banks, or the Tristan and Crozette grounds, getting a very small price for the oil, and as for his share of the whalebone, he thought himself pretty fortunate if he got the odd 10 cents on the pound for it, let alone the $3. He is thinking of the time and labor he has spent in securing so many tons of stuff which hardly paid for the handling when it was finally brought to market, and of the exceptionally big catch in the Lively Sally, which would have made him almost a millionaire if the present price current had ruled in his younger days. We can well remember the time when a large proportion of our whalers were fitted expressly for pursuit of the sperm whale, and when the owners and officers of such ships held all whalebone-whales in contempt, as hardly worth wasting their time upon. Those who went on right whaling voyages brought home the bone too, for it was worth something and served to eke out the earnings, enabling them to estimate the proceeds of the whole catch at a rate of a few cents higher on a gallon. It was regarded as a kind of subordinate attachment to the oil, like the straw to the wheat, or the stover to the corn crop, but who, in those days, could ever have supposed that the commercial value of the two commodities would be revolutionized? For the expensive and dangerous venture now being made into the Arctic regions by a comparatively few ships each summer might well be called a voyage for bone and oil rather than for oil and bone.—Nantucket (Mass.) Inquirer.

A lively air on a violin will sometimes set a whole flock of geese wild with delight. On one occasion at a country wedding I was a witness of a curious performance by one of these fowls. After dinner a lady entertained the guests assembled on a lawn with music from an accordion. A flock of geese were feeding in the road just below the house and with outstretched necks answered back with notes of satisfaction. Soon a white gander commenced dancing a lively jig, keeping good time to the music. For several minutes he kept up the performance to the great delight of the company. The experiment was tried several times for a week or more and the tones of the accordion never failed to set the gander into a lively dance.—Tomsonton (Md.) Journal.

Water can be boiled in a piece of paper. Take a piece of paper and fold it up as school boys do, into a square box without a lid. Hang this up to a walking stick by four threads, and support the stick on hooks or other convenient props. Then a lamp or taper must be placed under this dainty caldron. In a few moments the water will boil.

Year of Danger

With the threatened advent of cholera among us, it behooves every one to check at the outset those little ills which, neglected, become prostrating diseases.

Cholera finds its victims among the debilitated, worn out, and weakly, and those of sensitive stomachs and poor digestion.

SANFORD'S GINGER, compounded of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, convenient, speedy, and safe, is the quintessence of all that is preventive and curative in medicines.

It is sure to check summer complaint, prevent bad digestion, destroy disease germs in all the water drank, restore the circulation when suspended by a chill, and ward off malarial, contagious, and epidemic influences. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, malaria, epidemic, and contagious diseases, cholera, cholera morbus, cramps, pains, indigestion, diarrhœa, colds, chills, simple fevers, exhaustion, nervousness, or loss of sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, have little influence on those protected by a timely use of SANFORD'S GINGER, the Delicious Summer Medicine.

As a pure fruit stimulant for the aged, mentally and physically overworked, for delicate females, especially mothers, and as a means of reforming those addicted to an excessive use of alcoholic stimulants, it is invaluable.

Beware of worthless "gingers" said to be as good as SANFORD'S. Insist upon having

The Law in the "Dolphin" Case.

There has been considerable flippancy displayed in comments upon Attorney General Garland's opinion in regard to the Dolphin contract. Mr. Rosch's blunder, it seems, consisted in taking advice of lobyists instead of lawyers, as to the terms of his contract, which he perhaps anticipated would be completed and the vessel paid for by the high contracting parties before the expiration of their terms of office. As a sworn officer of the government, the attorney general when asked is compelled to give an opinion upon which is to be based a decision, upon none other than legal grounds. The dispatch boat was to be built as recommended by the naval advisory board in its report of Dec. 20, 1882, and no such vessel was to be accepted unless completed in strict conformity with the contract and in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the act of Aug. 5, 1882. Now the question arises, can the secretary of the navy, after a congressional enactment has provided just how a ship must be built and how and when paid for, so far modify or execute a contract as to render nugatory any of the provisions of the law? It is contended that the secretary is an agent of the government, and the government is bound by his acts. This is true to a certain extent, but if the agent exceeds his powers the principal cannot be bound by his unauthorized acts. Were it otherwise, however carefully drawn might be the appropriation bills before Congress, a cabinet or other officer of the government could direct almost unlimited expenditures of the public money for improper, and of course, illegal purposes. The attorney general's opinion may not commend itself to those who take a superficial view of the question, any more than it will satisfy those who form an opinion on the statement that Mr. Roach entered into a contract with the government, built a vessel under this contract, which was executed by a former secretary of the navy and was presumably correct, and therefore he should be paid the sum nominated in the bond. But to the candid and fair-minded reasoner, who examines the question divested of all extraneous considerations, it will appear that whatever causes may be adduced as reasons for rendering the opinion, it will stand the test of legal examination, and any departure from the principles of law therein expressed would result in a most disastrous and illegal perversion of congressional appropriations, and invite a raid of endless frauds upon the public treasury.

The opinion will leave the government in an uncomfortable condition as to the sums paid Mr. Roach. If there has been no contract, then the Dolphin belongs to the assets of Mr. Roach's assignment, and the government becomes a creditor to the amount of its advances, and with no lien, must share with the other creditors of the bankrupt estate, because if there was no legal contract, of course there could be no security in the way of bonds. This would seem to show that it was a great risk for the government to attempt to build ships under any contract system. The experiment seems to have fully demonstrated the folly of this species of naval administration. H.

A Reform Measure.

The administration is to pay one cent each for washing the towels used in the treasury department at Washington. It was with difficulty that the members of the cabinet were gathered from their various excursions, but this was a reform measure, and led by Manning it has been grappled with and decided. The reduced rates are achieved because so many more of the unwashed have been inducted into the offices that there is a less number of this laundry work than at any time for many years previously.

The Admiral's Complaint.

Early in February last Rear Admiral English, who was in command of the European station, was ordered to assume command of the squadron in the South Atlantic. After Mr. Whitney became secretary of the navy repeated efforts were made to have Admiral English's orders revoked, but without success. In a report just received at the navy department, the admiral gives what he supposes was the cause of the order from Ex-Secretary Chandler changing him from the European to the South Atlantic station. He says the government vessels were at Nice, which was a most excellent port for wintering. While there it was customary for the officers to give receptions on board the vessels. Before Admiral English assumed command of the station these receptions had been given every week. He limited them to once in two weeks. Because of the receptions he thinks he was ordered to South America. Admiral English also mentions a report which had reached him, to the effect that Secretary Whitney had been informed that he (the admiral) had violated Ex-Secretary Chandler's orders prohibiting officers having their families near them. He denies having violated the order, and says that Mr. Chandler himself informed him that his family might follow him to Europe. When he was placed in command of the European station, the admiral says, his family did not follow him until two months after he had gone.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

KAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.
C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen— * * * I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the last seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the sores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.
I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of any account since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.
Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

FOR MAYOR, EDWARD P. KIMBALL.

Agreeably to the published call, the republican mayoralty caucus was held at the court house on Wednesday afternoon, July 29th, from four o'clock to eight, the ballot resulting as follows:

Whole number of votes	223
Necessary for a choice	112
William H. Rollins had	1
Edward P. Kimball	222

And Edward P. Kimball was declared the candidate of the republicans for mayor, to be supported at the polls on Tuesday, August 4th.

Hon. Ezra H. Winchester, Hon. John H. Broughton, Capt. John H. Hutchinson, Hon. John Laighton and Col. William H. Sise were appointed a committee to notify Mr. Kimball of his nomination and request his acceptance, and the caucus adjourned.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., July 28th.

Mr. Joseph Lewis, the blacksmith at Kittery Depot has sold his stallion "Hunter Duroc" to A. Chamberlin of Union, N. H., for $900. Mr. Lewis has recently returned from New Brunswick, and brought with him two valuable colts and two horses; the latter he intends to sell, but the colts he will keep and train, as they are from blooded stock and promise special speed.

The Harbor View house, Charles H. Bartlett proprietor, has about thirty guests.

Children's day was observed at the Second Christian church on Sunday, the 26th inst., and was a creditable affair; a collection was taken for a colored literary institution at Franklinton, N. C.

Miss Susie Oakes, of South Berwick, has joined the Summer Art Class of the Department street school, now in session at the Pepperell house, Kittery Point.

Capt. H. Sawyer of this town had a successful operation performed upon the elbow of his left arm last week at Salmon Falls by Dr. F. E. Bingham of that place, assisted by Dr. Willis of Eliot, Dr. Buzzell of Kittery Point and Dr. Jacques of South Berwick.

A large company of Good Templars were in attendance at the sociable given by Morrill Lodge of North Kittery on Friday evening, the 24th inst. Ice cream was furnished by the courtesy of Mr. John J. Lambert, served a-la-mode.

The First Methodist Episcopal society, of North Kittery, gave an ice cream sociable and lawn party on Monday evening, the 27th; there was a good attendance. Mrs. James W. Brooks brought a handsome night-blooming cereus which was hardly open when it arrived, but during the evening unfolded its leaves, filling the large vestry with fragrance, and was the object of admiration from all. At the conclusion of the exercises we were the recipient of this beautiful flower, but it did not remain intact long, for in the morning we found that like all earth's beauties it had faded.

"When are you going on?" is what greets our ear now a days. We say, "In four years!" SUB ROSA.

Requisitions have all been approved by the navy department to complete the repairs and fit the U. S. S. Vandalia for sea. Work is to be resumed at once, and the quietude which has prevailed for some months past will soon be broken by the noise of the busy mechanic.—Times, July 29th.

Could anything be better timed than this announcement, in view of the fact that the municipal election occurs Aug. 4th.

There is considerable talk among the mechanics who have been examined as to their fitness to be foremen on the navy yard in their several trades or occupations, as to the probable outcome of the "competitive examinations;" the general impression, among all the candidates of whatever political party, appearing to be that the intended incumbents of foremanships were selected long ago, possibly before the examining board was appointed at all. The present examining board it is supposed will amount to as much as one that was convened at the yard in Andrew Johnson times, when a man who was examined for a master mechanic's position, and rejected by the board, was ordered to a second examination, and being again rejected as incompetent was not further troubled to "compete," a peremptory order from the department being received by the commandant of the yard directing his appointment, which of course at once took place.

Nathan Jones is constantly receiving fine carriages and horses at his sale and livery stable establishment on Hanover street. Nathan says that he could have saved the city at least $200, if that last horse had been purchased of him.

Miss Ella Brown of Christian Shore, who on July 24th while partaking of fish chowder had a fish bone lodge in her throat, and was for some days in a critical condition, is rapidly improving in health.

Three small yachts arrived at Rollins' wharf on the 29th inst., from Boston. Their names are the Cycla, Altaire and Vesta, and they have parties of young men from Boston on board.

Republican caucuses in wards one and four, this evening.

During the thunder shower on Wednesday morning of this week, as Mrs. Celia Thaxter and family were at breakfast in their house at Champernowne farm, Gerrish island, Kittery, a flash of lightning struck a tree near the house, and leaving the tree passed to the ground via the corner-boards of the house, doing some slight damage and giving the inmates of the dwelling a very perceptible shock, which however was of brief duration in its effects.

The following gentlemen were on Wednesday last mentioned as possible democratic candidates for the mayoralty: Marcellus Eldredge, Edward S. Fay and Daniel Marcy, Capt. Marcy being apparently the favorite with the rank and file of the party. Hon. Calvin Page was also spoken of as a candidate for re-election, but some of the faithful expressed the opinion that if he is to resign in case of a re-election, to take the collectorship of internal revenue, he might as well stand aside first as last. But all this talk is bosh. When the fiat goes forth, the caucus will nominate the candidate ordered.

If the secretaries of the republican caucuses in wards one and four will this evening make us prompt returns of the nominations made, we shall regard it as a favor.

The recent elephant hunt in the woods at Nashua was not the first one to take place in the eastern states. The first elephant ever on exhibition in New England, and said to have been the first in the United States, was killed at Alfred, Me., in the year 1817, about one mile west from the village, in a piece of woods near the Round pond, so called, on the old post road leading to Dover, N. H. A man by the name of Davis had an altercation with the proprietor of the menagerie while on exhibition at Alfred, and sought revenge by shooting the elephant as the show was leaving the town. The affair caused a great sensation at the time throughout New England. Davis was subsequently apprehended, but from some cause escaped the punishment he so justly deserved for the commission of the dastardly act. The locality is known and pointed out to this day as the spot "where the elephant was killed."

The Salvation Army convention at Old Orchard closed Monday night of this week. Staff Captain Shirley reports 200 souls saved, and $200 raised by the campaign.

Marion, a two-year-old, was listening to the rain with great pleasure the other morning, when a long roll of thunder fell upon her ear. She turned to her mother with a look of disgust, saying: "I don't like that rain pounding."

Impure Literature.

The governor has signed the "impure literature" bill, which by its terms is now a law. The provisions of the act are as follows:

Section 1. If any person shall knowingly print, publish, sell, lend, give or show to any other person any book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper, or other printed paper devoted to the publication or illustration of stories of bloodshed, lust, or crime, or principally made up of police reports and criminal news; or circulates, displays, or posts, or causes to be circulated, displayed or posted, any picture, handbill, or poster advertising any such book, pamphlet, magazine, or printed paper; or giving information where any such literature may be found, he shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both.

Sec. 2. If any person shall, in any manner, hire, employ, or use any minor child to sell or give away, or in any manner to sell or distribute, any such reading matter or any such advertisement, he shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both.

Sec. 3. If any person having the care, custody or control of any minor child shall knowingly permit such child to sell or give away any such reading matter or any such advertisement, he shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Postmaster Aquilla Jones of Indianapolis bids fair to become more of a national issue than Higgins. Recent glaring violations of the civil service laws by him having been brought before the president, he has ordered the civil service commission to investigate the matter. Jones, being backed by Vice President Hendricks, maintains his ground, so Commissioner Thoman and Chief Examiner Lyman have gone to Indianapolis to make a thorough and searching investigation. If the facts are as alleged, Jones will be prosecuted.

Rear Admiral Davis, commanding the Asiatic squadron, in a report to the navy department sent from Nagasaki, Japan, on the 27th of June, says of the movements of vessels: "Orders were sent to the Enterprise June 8th, to proceed to Nagasaki upon her being relieved by the Palos. The latter vessel will proceed to Min river upon the arrival of the Monocacy at Canton. The Monocacy is at present at Amoy."

—Reformer, earnestly—"My friend, do you drink?" Stranger—"Yes; where shall we go."

—The autumn novelty in London is expected to be the debut of a Bombay tradgedian named Bhagwandas Bhowanidas Bhangsah. The tragedy will consist in the attempt to pronounce his name.

—Mitchell is three years old, and his principal playmate is a Siberian bloodhound of immense proportions. The other day the dog rolled him off the porch, four feet from the ground, in play, and fairly mopped the ground with the boy. When he let him go the child lay still, looked up in his face, and said: "Don't be afraid, big dog; boy won't hurt you."

Something for the Baby.

What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby? Had several consultations with eminent physicians, and all ordinary and extraordinary remedies were resorted to. The paroxysms were simply frightful. I believed the child would die. I reluctantly tried Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer and the effect was magical. Three bottles cured him."

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. FOR THE LADIES.

Social Standing of Ladies as Indicated by Them—Fashionable Perfumes of the Day.

MODERN TASTE IN PERFUMERY.

Nearly every lady uses some sort of perfumery; her odor-case is an important if not indispensable adjunct to her complete and satisfactory toilet. It was only a few years ago that some one declared that the use of perfume was plebian, that none but the French peasantry in Europe employed it generally. The idea became American, and for a time no woman who aimed at social position dared commit the indiscretion of using any kind of odor. "Its use is a practical admission of uncleanliness," said Fashion, and what lady would dare make that admission?

"A great change has taken place in respect to the use of odors," said a prominent Broadway perfumer to a World reporter, the other day. "The perfume trade was never more brisk than now, and it is constantly on the increase."

"What odor is the most popular?" asked the reporter.

"That all depends upon the purchaser. Ladies do not buy odors at random, for their use has become a distinguishing feature of their toilet. Why, just think of it; what would be your impressions of a well-dressed woman redolent with the fumes of patchouly? You would think her a woman of loud tastes, if not a fast one, and your judgment would be correct."

"Is it possible, then, to locate a lady's social position by means of one's olfactories?"

"So far as her natural tastes and tendencies are concerned, yes; a lady of delicate and refined tastes will use a delicate odor in perfuming herself."

"What are considered the most delicate odors, such as a lady of sensitive tastes would select?"

"One of the most fashionable perfumes now used by ladies in New York's best social circles is one of a very faint but sweet odor. Those perfumers and chemists who have the select trade from Fifth avenue and adjacent fashionable streets sell this perfume most exclusively. Next to it, however, are ranked those made from two favorite spring flowers."

"What are the distinguishing characteristics of the perfume of which you speak that makes it so popular with society women?"

"Well, it is an extremely delicate odor or combination of odors, which produces upon the senses of feeling a delight, such as is experienced by inhaling the odors wafted from a garden full of flowers. The perfume is a bouquet, that is a mixture of many different floral extracts."

"What other odors or perfumes would it be safe for a lady to use without incurring a risk of being set back in the social scale?"

"Perfumes classify their odors according to their rank; this list is based upon the fineness and delicacy of the different perfumes from the manufacturer's point of view. There are eight-teen perfumes of the first rank.

"A second list, which occupies similar rank to the first, but which contains odors for which special tastes must be cultivated, comprises eight perfumes. Some of the odors in this list are the most expensive of any in use. The attar of one in particular costs $50 per ounce. Yet a great many people cannot use it; it is an odor which one must cultivate a taste for. Then there is another list of four odors which rank well, and whose use is a matter of taste. Musk is a perfume which few ladies use, not that fashion has uttered its edict against it so much as the fact that the odor is disagreeable to many. It is the most lasting odor in the world."

A prominent society woman was seen. "Why do you use perfumery?" bluntly interrogated the reporter.

"As well ask why do I wear bracelets, rings, or other articles of jewelry. It is custom, I suppose."

The lady desired to know the object of the reporter thus catechising her before consenting to answer further questions. She readily, however, accepted his explanation, and volunteered this information: "I think the average woman who aspires to an observance of society's demands pays as much attention to the selection of her perfumes as to that of almost any article of dress.

"A lady should use odors of such a quality of combination and in such a manner that a pleasant perfume may be detected by those in her vicinity without their being able to detect what it is or whence it proceeds. Nothing is more vulgar than for a woman to half stifle those in her presence with, it may be, an obnoxious perfume. Such persons should be assigned a separate apartment where they may enjoy their own fumes without disgusting others. I have used the favorite odor you name, but I am partial to another, which is extremely delicate and not sufficiently powerful to offend the most sensitive organs of smell."

"How do you use perfumery to secure the best effect?"

"I keep several pieces of pumice stone which I occasionally saturate with perfumery and place them in my wardrobe, glove-boxes, etc. I find this a very simple, easy, and efficacious way of distributing the odor evenly and preventing an excess in quantity."

From the above testimony it is seen that it is eminently proper to use perfume in the toilet, that care should be exercised in the selection of perfumery and that it should be judiciously administered.—New York World.

It Should Be Generally Known That the multitude of diseases of a scrofulous nature generally proceed from a typhoid condition of the liver. The blood becomes impure because the liver does not act properly and work off the poison from the system, and the certain results are blotches, pimples, eruptions, swellings, tumors, ulcers, and kindred affections, or settling upon the lungs and poisoning their delicate tissues, until ulceration, breaking down, and consumption is established. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will, by acting upon the liver and purifying the blood, cure all these diseases.

Gen. Grant's Funeral.

The spot selected for Gen. Grant's burial place is Riverside park, a sort of promontory on the Hudson river, and the highest point in Manhattanville.

Over one hundred of the largest banking and financial houses in New York city have petitioned Gov. Hill of New York to proclaim the day of the funeral a bank holiday, so that they can close up business on that day.

Department Commander James A. Hall, of Maine, has issued an order directing that for a period of sixty days post rooms of the Grand Army of the Republic of Maine be draped in mourning, flags be kept at half-mast, and that, as far as possible, comrades shall abstain from business between the hours of ten A. M. and two P. M., on the day of General Grant's funeral.

The following order from the postmaster general has been mailed to all postmasters: "In recognition of the nation's loss in the death of Gen. U. S. Grant, and in participation of the lamentation and expression of reverence for his honored memory, all postoffices in the several states and territories of the union are ordered to be closed between the hours of one and five P. M., on Saturday, August 8th, appointed for the celebration of his obsequies."

The New Hampshire legislature has provided that the following persons shall represent the state at the funeral of Gen. Grant: Gov. Currier, President Pike of the senate, Speaker Aldrich of the house, Hon. L. D. Stevens of Concord, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, and Gen. Gilman Marston of Exeter, chairman of the house judiciary committee. The governor thinks that it will not be practicable for him to attend, and will probably appoint in his place Maj. Gen. A. D. Ayling, adjutant general of the state, who is a veteran officer of a Massachusetts regiment. It is quite likely that the legislature will send in charge of the party Capt. John Underhill of Chester, sergeant at arms of the house and a war veteran.

News and Notes.

At Bridgeport, Conn., John Ebbs, a drug clerk, is held to answer for manslaughter for causing the death of Mrs. Kate Hackett by a mistake in putting up a prescription.

Dwight Wells was killed at Hartford, Conn., July 29th, by lightning.

Hon. Charles R. Train, ex-attorney general of Massachusetts, died at North Conway July 29th, aged sixty-eight years.

Mrs. W. A. Stuart of Haverhill, Mass., was killed by lightning while standing in the door of her house July 29th. The house was badly shattered.

The Congregational church of Gardiner, Maine, celebrated its semi-centennial July 28th. Rev. R. W. Jenkins was installed as pastor.

General Hazen has asked for the court-martial of Sergeant McGuran, who refused to receive a colored assistant at the Pensacola station.

The United States consul at Barcelona, Spain, reports to the marine hospital that there have been 28,044 cases and 12,347 deaths from cholera in the infected districts of Spain from its appearance March 4th to July 4th, 1885.

The ship John De Casta, owned by Briggs & Cushing, of Freeport, Maine, bound from Australia to California, was wrecked off Cooktown, Australia, on the 18th of July. It is thought that the crew were saved.

As postmasters for Maine offices the president has appointed Frank L. Thayer, at Waterville, in place of W. M. Dunn, who has been suspended; and Nathaniel A. Swett, at Saccarappa, in place of James M. Webb, who has been suspended.

William Desplaces, a French Canadian farmer living ten miles from Montreal, on returning home unexpectedly, late at night, found his beautiful wife and a neighbor, Kimball Rochelle, under circumstances conclusive as to their guilt. He shot the pair dead, and then killed himself.

Nearly a hundred horses belonging to a street-railroad company in Cleveland, Ohio, have been poisoned with croton oil. The crime is supposed to have been committed by striking employes.

In Anderson county, Ky., Horace Mullen, a farm hand, had a fight about a Hawkins girl, in which he killed two of her brothers, wounded a third, and escaped.

At Birmingham, Conn., Mrs. Charlotte E. Baldwin, aged seventy-five years, has brought suit for divorce from Harry Baldwin, aged twenty-two. They were married only last February, the ancient bride being very wealthy.

The farm buildings of Albert Sargent of Dover, with most of the furniture in the house and the entire contents of the barn, were burned July 29th. Loss $2000; insurance $1200. Two cows, a horse, two calves, lot of hens, farming tools and carriages, and this year's crop of hay, were in the barn.

The adjourned law term of the supreme court is held in Concord to-day.

At Concord, on Monday evening, July 27th, Mrs. M. Sunderland Cooper and Mrs. Georgia L. Green, local agents of the N. H. S. P. C. A., assisted by Col. Marvin, state agent of the society and a vice president of the American Humane Association, visited the cattle train at the railroad station and took minute descriptions of the cars and their suffering dumb freight. They also obtained the names of each shipper and owner of the several involoes, the time of loading and unloading each car, and full particulars in regard to sufferings endured by the over crowded and promiscuously mixed creatures, that legal remedies may be applied. It is to be hoped, in the interest of the meat-eating public if for no higher motive, that those cattle shippers will be pushed to the last extremity of the law for their cruelty to the poor animals.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMALONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other wholesome vegetables in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and if taken freely in water drunk Ask for

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Works through the blood, regulating, toning and invigorating all the functions of the body.

RAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.

C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gentlemen— * * * I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the past seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the sores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.

I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

FITCHBURG, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of any account since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.

Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

THE CITIZENS' MEETING.

The meeting of citizens to make arrangements for a suitable recognition of the day of Gen. Grant's obsequies, was held in Franklin hall on Thursday evening. The gathering was called to order by Col. George E. Hodgdon; Hon. John Laighton was chosen chairman, and Col. Hodgdon secretary.

The object of the meeting was referred to in brief remarks, and a committee consisting of E. A. Tilton, Col. Wm. H. Sise, Alfred Stavers, Col. Wm. O. Sides, A. C. Hoyt, Hon. Calvin Page and Hon. John Laighton, was appointed to confer with the committee of Stover Post, G. A. R., on Friday evening at eight o'clock at G. A. R. hall, to arrange a programme of exercises.

The Grand Army committee consists of Commander Charles H. Besselievre, M. M. Collis, George E. Hodgdon, Charles W. Tracy, Hosea W. Mason, Daniel J. Vaughan and Jos. R. Curtis.

A RELIC.

We have been shown a national bank note that is much older than the present national banking system, it dating back to the days of the old Bank of the United States projected by Alexander Hamilton, and chartered by act of Congress in the last century.

This old bill is the property of the New Hampshire National bank of this city, and is really an interesting relic. The paper is very thin and considerably discolored by age, but the printing and writing are clear and distant. The note reads as follows, the number of the bill, date, and the names of the payee and bank officials, being written:

A. FIVE DOLLARS. B. No. 450.

The President, Directors and Company of the New Hampshire Bank promise to pay Five Dollars at the Bank of the United States in Philadelphia to R. Seavey or bearer on demand.

Portsmouth, the 25th day of August, 1801.

DAN. R. ROGERS, Cashr.
OLIVER PEABODY, Presdt.

The ornamentation of the note was probably the object of admiration in those days, though compared with the elaborate designing and engraving on our modern bank notes it seems crude enough. The left-hand end of the bill, for a space about half an inch in width, is taken up with a pictorial border divided into three sections, the lower of which is occupied by a picture of a fish, hanging head downward; the centre contains the figure "5," and the upper section has a representation of three or four trees, apparently poplars, standing on a bank beside a sheet of water. In the upper left-hand corner of the bill, inside the end border, is a ship under full sail, presumably a war vessel, as she displays a formidable row of teeth, and has flags and streamers flying in numbers to suit; she has a tremendous shear, and appears to have just sailed out of a lighthouse which is to be seen close astern. Under the ship is an eight-pointed star; beneath the star, an arm and hand holding a scroll; and beneath the scroll a small circle enclosing the figure "5." In several other places on the bill, among the reading, are similar circles, seemingly stuck in anywhere without any special reason, the enclosed figures seeming also to have taken whatever positions they pleased. Altogether the ancient bill is quite a curiosity. It was procured from a broker in Boston.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, July 30th.

Dennis Sullivan, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90. The public will be deprived of the pleasure of Mr. Sullivan's society for a time, while he sojourns at Brentwood $9.90 worth.

If the secretaries of the democratic ward-caucuses to be held this evening will forward to this office as soon as convenient after the caucuses are over, lists of the nominations made, for publication, we shall consider it a favor.

Applicants for positions on the navy yard were on Thursday last registering their names and stating their claims at the store of Dr. Ed. S. Fay.

Mr. John Pickard of Ludlow, Vt., has been appointed principal of the high school.

Ex-Secretary Robeson was in town on Thursday, as was also Ex-Gov. Cheney.

George Rand of the St. Cloud hotel, New York, is at the Appledore.

The Dover papers announce that Capt. Symonds is pushing his deepening operations in the lower Cocheco river, the reports of the blasts being very noticeable in Dover for their loudness.

It was gratifying to note that the inky darkness of Thursday night, when two lights on Market square and one in front of the Rockingham house were all that were burning, was not repeated Friday night, when the clear weather aided by the street lamps enabled the democracy to more comfortably reach their homes after the caucus. On such a night as Thursday the gas lights should have burned, even if the moon did rise late in the evening.

A large number of turnouts from the beaches were in town on Thursday; among them was a wagonette of unique design, with E. A. Abbott and family. The wagonette was built for the Australian market.

Mrs. Emily Frost of Dover, who was ordered to recognize in the sum of $1000 for her appearance at the September term of the supreme court for the county of Strafford, to answer to a charge of manslaughter in connection with the exposure of her daughter's illegitimate child on a doorstep some weeks ago, on Tuesday evening of this week succeeded in obtaining the required sureties, and the police guard which she had been under was removed.

Trumbull & Chency, who laid the foundation for the new Boston & Maine railroad bridge over the Cocheco river at Dover, have been awarded the contract for the piling and laying of the river wall and foundations of the new dye house at the Cocheco print works. Two carloads of their derricks, guys, pile drivers and other machinery arrived at the depot in Dover on Wednesday, the 29th inst.

Mr. William C. Williams, of Kittery, on July 30th received his appointment as second assistant light-keeper at Boon island.

Geo. Wilson, for many years one of Boston Museum company, is boarding at John S. Safford's, Kittery Point. Miss Annie Clark is at the same place.

Mr. Cyrus A. Hooper, of Sturgeon creek, Elliot, was prostrated by the lightning on Wednesday morning of this week, while in his barn. The lightning left no mark at all on the barn to show where it struck, but Mr. Hooper was unconscious for a long while.

—Hellebore will kill currant worms just as it did before the new version.

—A Pennsylvania man, writing about Victor Hugo, said he was the author of Lee's Miserables, "a very graphic description of the surrender at Appomattox."

—Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt for being too inquisitive. Lack of this quality on the part of the directors of the Shackamaxon bank resulted in the institution being well "salted" and finally broken.

—Employer to clerk—"I don't object to your going to a funeral once in a while; but I think you might bring me home a fish or two." Sun-blush on the end of the clerk's nose extends rapidly to his ears.

—"Say, Sam, did you see de man about de house?" "Oh, yes; I seed him, and he gib me de refusal ob de house." "How long did he gib you de refusal ob it?" "Foreber. He refused to hab anything to do wid me."

—When a young man forgets to pay for his wedding invitations—as is the case with one in Herkimer, who we well remember was married two or three years ago—does not the printer by right hold a mortgage on his first boy.—Ilion Citizen.

—The major (to nephew, who wants taking down a bit, he thinks)—"What! you here, Percy! Ain't you rather young to be going to balls?" Percy—"What, you here too, uncle? Why, I should have thought you'd given up this kind of thing long ago!"

—Big sister—(shouting to Bobby:) "Bahbee! You are wanted to do an errand." Bobby—(shouting back:) "Tell mother I can't do it now. I'm busy." Big sister:—"It's not mother who wants you; it's father." Bobby—(hastily:) "All right. Tell him I'll be there in a minute."

—A lady in South Bend, Indiana, and who has a false tooth set on a pivot, sneezed it out the other day while feeding chickens. An old hen thought it was a grain of corn and swallowed it. After a long chase the hen was captured, the tooth found and restored to the lady's mouth, were it afterward helped to masticate the hen.

Frightful Whooping Cough.

Dr. Edward C. Hughes, Rockford, Ill., (Graduated N. Y. City 1866), voluntarily testifies:—"Some years ago my only son had an attack of the Whooping Cough, characterized by the most violent spasms I have ever seen in a practice of eighteen years. Had several consultations with eminent physicians, and all ordinary and extraordinary remedies were resorted to. The paroxysms were simply frightful. I believed the child would die. I reluctantly tried Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer and the effect was magical. Three bottles cured him."

"Gentle Spring."

Among spring preparations, do not neglect that which is most important of all—your own body. It expels every impurity from the blood, and gives strength to every function of the body. Sold by all druggists.

Something for the Baby.

What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby? Yet babies cry commonly only when they are sick. One teaspoonful of Parker's Tonic, given the little one, will bring rest and sleep to the baby and all in the house. Only 50 cents, at druggists.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane, alley or dock of the city, or on any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. FOR THE LADIES.

Fancy Colors in Hosiery for Men and Women—Smart and Dressy Decoration of Hats.

FASHIONS IN HOSE.

A fashionable haberdasher declares that dudes this summer will rival the ladies of last season in the gorgeousness of the stockings.

Some very striking designs in silk have been imported for gilt-edged youth, and will be displayed this summer on the hotel porches and country lawns, on the feet, of course, of their fashionable possessors.

One pair has by way of ornament a euchre-deck of cards painted all over it, another is adorned with billiard and pool balls, and a third with dominoes. They will be worn with low-cut patent-leather shoes.

One young gentleman who makes himself conspicuous at winter gatherings by the singularity of his attire has purchased eight dozen of these silken hose. They are of all manner of gorgeous colors, and are adorned with extraordinary designs.

Another young gentleman of the fashionable suburb of Germantown has made up his mind, if possible, to force the knee-breeches back into style this summer. He has also laid in a stock of gorgeous hose. He has one pair, it is said, that is covered from the knee down with miniature lawn-tennis balls and bats done in embroidery. His chief claim to distinction, aside from his wealth and the splendor of his dress, lies in his feats in the tennis-court.

Of course those stockings were never intended to be worn, and were not worn. But rich dudes, who relish nothing more than a sensation of dress, thought that it would be an excellent scheme to carry out the idea with hose made by regular manufacturers, and so they have started in.

This extraordinary fashion owes its origion to a fashionable kink that the ladies took up last winter. Some of the younger belles conceived the idea of giving as Christmas presents to their male friends stockings woven in silk on little machines which they worked, and also painted by them in fancy designs.

Another pair is adorned with longitudinal red and black stripes. The value of these fancy appendages to the gentlemen's wardrobes is exceedingly high. The pool-and-billiard-ball pair, the haberdasher asserts, is worth $100; the pair with the embroidered lawn-tennis apparatus cost even more than that.

RIBBONS AND HATS.

Ribbons of all kinds are still in much request for the decoration of hats as as well as bonnets. Sometimes two straight rows of bows are placed symmetrically in front of the crown. They may be made of ribbon of two colors bowed up together, such as green and brown for brown straw, and blue and crimson for blue or black. This fashion of arranging bows is often applied to country and garden hats, and is particularly suitable when there is a mixture of two colors in the straw. Gold-spotted strings are also used for this purpose.

Smart, dressy hats are usually more or less trimmed with flowers. One in maroon straw, turned up on one side, and the brim lined with velvet to match, had, besides a loosely-tied bow of shrimp pink gauze ribbon, a bunch of monthly roses, with leaves, buds, and thorny stems. Another, in white straw lined with black velvet, is not only tied round and round with a long primrose crape scarf, but has also a sheaf of three roses, with sprouts of green, and a bunch of foliage below. A third, consisting of a coarse, fancy, almond-colored straw crown has a fine straw brim lined with brown velvet, is draped in the same way with a long scarf of light brown crape, and trimmed with crimson-velvet poppies, buttercups, and grasses. Another brown hat of the same shade has a pouf of pale pink crape in front, with a number of yellow daisies placed along the folds, while a third is draped with brown surah shot with terra-cotta, and decorated with a cravat-bow of the light shade in velvet and four shades of purple heather. Black lace hats of different shapes are also fashionable, and both for them and for black lace bonnets yellow trimmings are preferred. A very pretty hat with a poke brim, made of Chantilly lace, is ornamented with yellow flags and green leaves.

Three lovely Marshal Neil roses are placed in the point of a black lace capote, otherwise trimmed with green laurel-leaves and the yellow flowers of the shrub, and tied under the chin with narrow, golden-yellow velvet strings. —Paris Letter.

He had committed unmentionable indignities upon his wife, which roused the community to desperation.

The Beauty of Youth.

No matter how handsome or stalwart a young man may be otherwise, nothing can make up for a partially bald head. Shining talents are attractive, but a shining poll is not. The cause may be sickness or anything else, yet Parker's Hair Balsam will stop the loss of the hair and start a new growth of glossy and soft hair so quickly as to surprise you—restoring the original color at the same time. Not a dye, not oily, delicately perfumed. Only standard 50c. dressing.

I have been a periodical sufferer from hay fever (a most annoying and loathsome affliction) since the summer of 1879, and until I used Ely's Cream Balm was never able to find any relief until cold weather. The piston-feed to the big hammer at the Nashua Iron & Steel Company's works blew out on July 29th, and it will take three or four days to repair it. Business has improved with the company.

Erysipelas and salt rheum was driven entirely away from Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Peshtigo, Wis., by Burdock Blood Bitters. No equal as a blood purifier.

On Monday, July 27th, at Laconia, Wm. Bedford caught a lake trout weighing 28 1-2 pounds, and measuring forty inches in length. He used a bull-frog for bait, placed on a rusty cod-hook. The trout was the largest ever taken from the lake.

THE U. S. S. OMAHA.

The New York Tribune of July 30th in one of its news columns thus refers to the U. S. S. Omaha, which was rebuilt and fitted for sea at this navy yard:

The sloop-of-war Omaha, fitted out for duty in the Asiatic squadron, which has been lying at the Brooklyn navy yard for several weeks, was put under sailing orders yesterday, and she will probably sail to-day for China, by the way of the Suez canal. The Omaha is one of the largest wooden vessels of the navy, and is the fastest and best-equipped ever sent from a navy yard. She was fitted out under Secretary Chandler's administration, and is furnished with electric lights, steam-heating and ventilating apparatus, and is a beauty in model. She has made a speed of ten knots under half-steam power.

In the Tribune of the same date we find the following editorial note:

The sloop-of-war Omaha, which the present administration has been examining carefully for some months to see if there were not traces of fraud about her, sails to-day for China. A good many persons of a patriotic and reverential turn of mind think that since the Omaha was detained so long for no reason, it would do no harm to detain her a little while longer for a good reason—to take part in the marine display honoring Gen. Grant's memory on August 8th. American interests in China would certainly not suffer materially by a slight modification in the Omaha's orders.

Naval Intelligence.

Admiral Jouett left Washington July 29th for New York, to join the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron. The Tennessee and Swatara, of the squadron, have arrived at New York, the former from Hampton roads and the latter from Key West.

Lieutenant F. D. Bostick has been detached from duty at the artillery school, Fort Monroe, and ordered to the Alliance.

Ensign F. W. Kellogg has been detached from the coast survey steamer Gedney, and placed on waiting orders.

Passed Assistant Engineer J. K. Reeves has been detached from the fish commission steamer Fish Hawk, and ordered to report to Professor S. F. Baird for special duty.

Assistant Paymaster John A. Mudd has reported his return home, having been detached from the naval hospital at Yokohama, Japan, March 9th, and has been ordered to settle accounts and await orders.

Gen. Grant's Funeral.

The President has named the following pall bearers for Gen. Grant's funeral: Gen. Sherman, Lieut. Gen. Sheridan, Admiral Porter, Vice Admiral Rowan, Gen. Joseph E. Johnstone, Gen. Simon B. Buckner, Hamilton Fish of New York, George S. Boutwell of Massachusetts, George W. Childs of Pennsylvania, John A. Logan of Illinois, George Jones of New York, Oliver Hoyt of New York.

The cottage occupied by the remains of Gen. Grant and the guards of honor was struck by lightning about seven o'clock in the evening on the 30th inst., but though many persons felt the shock, none were killed. Col. W. B. Beck, commanding the United States battery which arrived at Mt. McGregor from Governor's island on the 29th, and Gen. R. H. Jackson, the commandant of Fort Columbus, Governor's island, were the most seriously affected, being unconscious a considerable time, but Dr. Douglas reported that there was no danger in either case. The cottage was but slightly injured.

General Fitz Hugh Lee was unanimously nominated for governor by the democratic state convention at Richmond, Virginia.

At Waynesburg, Pa., James Thomas and William Faulkner, two farmers, working at the bottom of a well forty feet deep, were overcome by impure air. Thomas died in the well, and Faulkner was taken out unconscious. His recovery is doubtful.

The Boston & Maine railroad are building a large round-house at Somerville, Mass., between the Eastern and Western divisions. The repair shop of the engines at East Boston will be discontinued, and the present round-house of the Boston & Maine utilized, where the repairs of both divisions at the Boston end of the line will be made under direction of the master machinist of the Boston & Maine, Mr. William Smith. This will effect a considerable saving for that line.

Mr. Percival Downing of Eliot, whose leg was broken in this city on the day Barnum's circus was here, has so far recovered as to be able to move around his room with the aid of a crutch.

Mr. Howard Spinney, of Eliot Neck, while at work at Hon. Frank Jones' suburban residence, Friday forenoon, had one of his legs broken by a fall from one of the bridges over the artificial ponds. He was brought into town, and after having his leg set by Dr. Potter was taken to his home on a mattress laid in the bottom of a light brewery-wagon,—and was smoking a "T. D." pipe with much apparent satisfaction as he passed through Deer street. The Eliot Neckers are hard to kill.

Mrs. Nancy Freeman, familiarly known about Boston as "Aunt Sally," died in the insane hospital at Tewksbury, Mass., July 27th, at the age of sixty-nine years. She was a native of York, Me., and the widow of a once well known shipmaster of that town. She was well known about here for many years as a hopelessly demented wanderer, though apparently not a dangerous one to other persons; but for four or five years past she had not been seen on our streets.

Ringworm Humor and Salt-Rheum.

RAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.

C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gentlemen:— * * * I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the last seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the scores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.

I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

FITCHBURG, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of any account since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.

Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Cooler, generally fair weather.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 60 degrees above zero.

Cloudy

JUST SAVED IT.

While workmen were employed on the premises of Mr. George Bilbruck at the Creek, on the 28th ult., a spark from the plumbers' charcoal furnace set fire to the roof of the barn, in which there is about twenty tons of hay. Luckily an assistant engineer of the fire department was at work there also, with a few carpenters, and ladders being in plenty the fire was soon put out, but not until it had burned over an area that took half a thousand shingles to repair, the boarding also being burned through in several places, and some of the rafters badly scorched. The engineer says that had the fire got the best of them, as at one time seemed very probable, he would have at once rung in three alarms, calling out the entire department, as there was no water available nearer than the Jones brewery.

SUPREME COURT--LAW TERM.

The court came in at Concord on Friday, the full bench being present, and decisions were announced in the following cases on the Rockingham docket:

Virginia Kennard vs. William Kennard, Anne M. Salter and Caroline M. Rollins, appellants; probate appeal; opinion by Allen, J. The question was as to the validity of the will of the late Manning Kennard. The will executed and proved according to the law of Pennsylvania passed all estate of deceased testator in New Hampshire. The interest of Manning Kennard in James Kennard's estate passed by his will to the plaintiff, Virginia Kennard. Decree affirmed. Frink & Batchelder for Virginia Kennard; Emery; Rollins for the appellants.

John W. Wheeler vs. Traders Ins. Co. Policy prohibited naptha in the mills insured. Question as to use was one for the jury. Benzine and naptha are the same thing. Judgment on verdict for plff. Opinion by Bingham, J., Doe and Smith not assenting. Marston & Eastman, and Frink, for Wheeler; S. C. Eastman for the Co.

Boody Bros. vs. Watson, Fogg and Hoyt, selectmen of Northwood. Tax case, relative to property exempt from taxation. It had been exempted for ten years, and a second exemption voted by the town. But one period of exemption can be granted. Petition for mandamus granted.

Cowles vs. Continental Life Ins. Co. Question as to forfeiture of a life insurance policy. Opinion by Doe, J. The non-payment of interest does not operate as a forfeiture of a non-forfeiture policy; the debt is entitled to interest, but not to forfeiture. Mellows for plff.; Hackett for Ins. Co.

MARITIME NOTES.

The U. S. S. Fern, Wright master, lighthouse supply steamer, was in this harbor on Thursday last, and was rejoined here by Mr. R. C. Sides, Jr., machinist, who had been home a few days on a visit. The Fern is on her annual trip along the coast from Eastport to Galveston, furnishing the several lightstations with all supplies except coal.

The United States practice-ship Constellation, Comdr. Huntington commanding, was towed down the river from the navy yard on Friday, bound for Hampton Roads.

Capt. Frank P. Coleman, of the schooner Emily A. Staples, was in town on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, being on a visit from Saco, Me., to his family in Newington. The Emily A. Staples, which is noted among the local coasting vessels as a very fast-sailing craft, is this season plying between Saco and Boston; she loads at James A. Gray's brickyard, a short distance below Saco, where there is an inexhaustible supply of clay; eight hundred thousand bricks have been made there this season. The bricks are sand-struck, and take well in the market. Capt. Coleman acts as agent for the sale of his cargoes in Boston.

The steamer Allentown, Swasey master, left Philadelphia for Portsmouth on Tuesday, July 28th, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., and arrived in the lower harbor at two P. M. on the 30th, thus making the trip inside of fifty-three hours—not a bad record for an old coal-box; she brought 1661 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker. Pilot John Amazeen brought her up the river all right, as he does the other vessels that are entrusted to his care and skill, he scarcely ever meeting with any accident.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, from this port for Bangor, Me., via Portland, was towed into Bangor on Tuesday morning, July 28th, and after the tug let go of her, failed to drop her anchor, and drifted into the railroad bridge, carrying away the railing and breaking down the footway; the only damage sustained by the schooner was the loss of her bobstay.

The schooner Sharon, Capt. Ed. Donnell of Cape Neddick commanding, on Wednesday of this week discharged forty-five cords of wood at Abbott's brick-yard in Eliot, and was down at Portsmouth bridge in seven hours after commencing to discharge. On Thursday afternoon she was lying at Philbrick's wharf, loaded with grain and ready to sail for York, where she would discharge, and load with wood again for some of the up-river brick-yards.

COMPLETED AT LAST.

The extension of the salt-water reservoir on Vaughan street is at last completed, and at any time of tide will now furnish all the water necessary for supplying all our steam fire engines combined.

Services suspended in the Universalist and Middle street Baptist churches.

Mr. Horace M. Smith, formerly of this city but for many years past employed in the printing house of Alfred Mudge & Son, of Boston, was on Thursday last reported to be missing from his home in Chelsea, but a paragraph in the Boston Journal of that evening announced his return home, also stating that he was undoubtedly suffering from slight aberration of the mind. The Post of Friday morning said that "a physician was called in, and found that Smith had taken an overdose of laudanum. Smith will probably be taken to a lunatic asylum."

As a team belonging to David P. Wright of Newington road, and driven by a boy, was attempting to pass one of the city teams in front of the Kearsarge house, Friday morning, it hit the handcart of Joseph Dondero, the Italian peanut vender, and knocked his handcart and himself over, scattering peanuts, bananas, etc., around in such style as delighted a swarm of small boys. Dondero was much wrathy for a short time, but peace was soon restored.

Bass of large size are now running in the Piscataqua, from the lower waters of the river up to Great bay.

William Randall has for the past two weeks been running in with his boat from "Lunging" island, Isles of Shoals, with mackerel taken by Elvin Newton's company. On Thursday last he brought in 1200. They are sold principally to the local dealers.

Mr. Thomas Neil is at the Portsmouth Machine company's counting room, engaged in the accounts of the company. Mr. Newell, late book-keeper, will devote his time to travelling in the company's interest. An illustrated and descriptive catalogue of the company's improved steam-heating apparatus has just been published. It contains views of the company's works, the new Rockingham house, and several residences in which steam-heating apparatus has been supplied by the company. The long-neglected hedges in front of the shop are being trimmed and put in a more symmetrical condition.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Something for the Baby.

What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby? A young man on the very edge of matrimony might easily be frightened from his purpose by having too much of that sort of music at the homes of his married friends. Yet babies cry commonly only when they are sick. One teaspoonful of Parker's Tonic, given the little one, will bring rest and sleep to the baby and all in the house. Only 50 cents, at druggists.

Frightful Whooping Cough.

Dr. Edward C. Hughes, Rockford, Ill., (Graduated N. Y. City 1866), voluntarily testifies:—"Some years ago my only son had an attack of the Whooping Cough, characterized by the most violent spasms I have ever seen in a practice of eighteen years. Had several consultations with eminent physicians, and all ordinary and extraordinary remedies were resorted to. The paroxysms were simply frightful. I believed the child would die. I reluctantly tried Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer and the effect was magical. Three bottles cured him."

John Connors of Broad Brook, Conn., was arrested July 29th by a deputy sheriff, but broke away and escaped. He is at the hospital in Hartford, and will probably recover.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person in his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall forthwith immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for every refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

LOVE ODDITIES.

The Potency of the Use of Mamma's Slipper on a Fickle Daughter.

The young lady in this case is a voluptuous brunette with rather handsome features. She is educated and refined, a comparatively good musician and artiste in several arts. She moves in good society, and had the esteem of all who knew her, and, for that matter, has their good wishes yet, as but few beyond her most intimate friends or relatives have ever heard of the romantic episode I am penning.

For convenience sake I shall call her Emma, because that is as much unlike her real name as it is possible to get. Her father, a well-known and respected business-man, had been dead for several years, and her mother, having a large house, well furnished, rented lodging-rooms to several young professional men. In due time Emma picked out a companion among her associates, a charming and attractive young man, who seemed to be proud of her. They were seen together constantly, and with the progressive euchre parties of last fall and winter came the assurance that they were to be married in the spring. The report seemed to gratify the acquaintances of both parties, neither of whom when questioned took the trouble to deny the report.

With the new year a young student took lodging with Emma's mother. He was a stranger here, and, in fact, but little known now. He made no effort to become acquainted, and soon developed a passionate regard for Emma, which did not disturb her in the least. Now, mamma is a woman who years ago learned her p's and q's, and she soon saw that the student was stealing away her daughter's heart. Now, she rather liked the young gentleman to whom her daughter was engaged, and determined to take a hand in the affair for his benefit. Emma was given to understand that the student would not be countenanced, and he, poor fellow, was ordered to hunt a new lodging-place.

But the love-making between him and Emma had progressed much further than mamma had any idea. They found an opportunity to talk to each other without a third party present, and, after striking a balance of his cash account, it was determined they would elope. But mamma, being a splendid student of human nature, scented something strange in the air, and the night they were to run away she was specially uneasy. She watched, and shortly before 12 o'clock thought she heard some one in Emma's room. She stationed herself in the hallway where she could see the student's door, and where Emma would have to pass. Presently she saw her daughter come from her room, with her shoes in one hand and a small valise in the other. Mamma stepped back and let her pass. She stopped at the student's door, faintly knocked, and passed on toward the rear of the hall and down the stairs to the dining-room, instead of down to the front door. The mother now quickly went down the front stairs and down the lower hallway and took up her place near the dining-room door. The student soon came down-stairs, also with his shoes in his hand. He went into the dining-room, and a whispered conversation followed. While the intended runaways were busy putting on their shoes, mamma bounced into the room with a lamp. The young man gave one yell of surprise, ran twice around the room, and finally out into the kitchen and from there into the street, with one shoe on and the other in his hand. He the next day had his baggage taken to one of the hotels, which place he has since left with an unsettled account against him. But Emma! Why mamma just reached down, took a slipper from one of her feet, and used it on her romantic and enterprising daughter in the way she was wont to do when she wore short skirts and never dreamed of young students. This incident, while unromantic in its termination, is recalled from the fact that Emma not very long ago became the bride of the young man with whom she attended the progressive euchre parties of last fall. Her husband will, in reading this, recognize in his blushing bride the would-be runaway, and, if I do not judge him wrong, will enjoy a hearty laugh over it. Emma's love surely is one made up entirely of peculiarities and eccentricities.—Dayton (O.) Letter to Cincinnati Enquirer.

WILLIS G. MYERS, V. P.

The official report of the 31st of July, from Madrid, Spain, says: "There were 2616 new cases of cholera in the plague-stricken districts yesterday, and 1039 deaths from the disease for the same time."

All "Played Out."

"Don't know what ails me lately. Can't eat well,—can't sleep well. Can't work, and don't enjoy doing anything. Ain't really sick, and I really ain't well. Feel all kind o' played out, someway." That is what scores of men say every day. If they would take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" they would soon have no occasion to say it. It purifies the blood, tones up the system and fortifies it against disease. It is a great anti-bilious remedy as well.

The "best society" of London is all agog over a scandal in which Sir Charles Dilke, a member of the Gladstone cabinet, is mixed up with the wife of a prominent Londoner whose name is not given, but who it is said cannot be bought off from seeking a divorce. The woman's father is a member of parliament, and gave her $500,000 as a marriage portion. The wretched story is that the faithless wife accompanied Sir Charles to his private residence, and found his sleeping room occupied by another mistress, a terrible rumpus resulting, and ending in her confessing her shame to her husband. This miserable business, coming in the midst of the excitement over the revelations of the Pall Mall Gazette, has created a great sensation in London, and will probably drive Sir Charles Dilke out of politics.

Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer is a sure and safe remedy for coughs, colds, diptheria and pneumonia. Before the public twenty years. Has saved thousands of lives, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 per bottle. Try it.

At Bombay, India, July 31st, a Pathan soldier was reported for misconduct. In revenge he shot and killed two sergeants belonging to a native regiment. He then barricaded himself within his quarters, and shot his wife dead. After keeping up for a time an ineffective fire against those who attempted to assail his retreat, he lay down beside his wife's corpse, and with his last bullet ended his own life.

Dr. Seth Arnold's Sugar-Coated Bilious Pills, unequalled for costiveness, jaundice, liver troubles, 25c.

A London despatch of July 31st says: "The scandal involving Sir Charles Dilke has been settled, so far as the courts and the English press are concerned. The settlement was completed to-day by the cashing of Sir Charle's check for $126,000 in favor of Mr. Crawford, the aggrieved husband. This puts it out of the power of the papers to mention the right honorable gentleman's name in connection with the subject without incurring heavy penalties for libel."

Cure Yourself!

Don't pay large doctor's bills. The best medical book published, one hundred pages, elegant colored plates, will be sent you on receipt of three 2-cent stamps to pay the postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

In San Francisco, July 31st, while depositions were being taken before a master in chancery in the Sharon case, Judge David S. Terry, attorney for Miss Hill, and Henry Kowalsky, counsel for Sharon, got into a dispute. Kowalsky made a motion as if to draw a pistol. Terry reached for his own weapon, whereupon Kowalsky hurriedly retreated from the room, pistol in hand. Terry is the man who killed Senator Broderick of California in a duel many years ago.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites

For Bronchial Troubles and Consumption, & at Druggists.

Thomas Boyne, of Digby, N. S., makes the following statement: "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for six months, and have derived more benefit from it than any other treatment, indeed, I believe it has saved my life, and can honestly recommend it to any one for bronchial trouble or any debilitating disease."

At a meeting held in Glasgow, Scotland, July 31st, the provost of Glasgow declared, in speaking of the revelations made by the Pall Mall Gazette, that inquiries which had been made showed that there prevailed in Glasgow a system of corruption of minor females similar to that which the Gazette had exposed in London.

A new brick building in course of construction at Wilmington, Delaware, fell July 30th, killing several workmen. The cause of the fall was poor workmanship and material.

At Wolfeboro, on a recent night, twenty-three sheep out of a flock of seventy-two owned by A. S. Moulton, a drover, were either killed or so torn as to be rendered worthless, by dogs.

A German reserve officer has been arrested by the Russian authorities at Jacobstadt on the Baltic, as a spy, and on his person were found letters addressed to his wife containing descriptions and plans of Russian fortifications.

BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Act upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the outlets and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

Patrick Connors, a section hand on the Boston & Maine railroad, was found dead on the track, near Atkinson, July 31st. His head was badly crushed, and it is supposed he was struck by a train. Connors was fifty years old, and leaves a family.

Biliousness

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, breath offensive, tongue coated, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

Naval Intelligence.

Surgeon J. B. Parker has been ordered to the Swatara. Ensign R. P. Schwerin has been detached from the New York navy yard, and ordered to the Despatch.

Surgeon G. F. Winslow has been detached from the Boston navy yard, Aug. 15th, and placed on waiting orders.

Surgeon T. N. Penrose has been detached from the Swatara and ordered to the Boston navy yard, August 15th.

The finding of the naval court martial in the case of Medical Director Philip S. Wales, late surgeon-general of the navy, recently tried, has been made public. The court sentences him to suspension from rank and duty for five years on furlough pay, and to retain his present number in his grade during that period.

Secretary Whitney of the navy has accepted the resignation of R. H. Weber, for many years superintendent of the rope walk at the Charlestown navy yard.

A Weapon That Kicks.

The liquor dealers of Washington, D. C., have formed an organization for the purpose of testing whether boycotting will work both ways. Some months ago the largest brewer in Washington incurred the enmity of the labor organizations by purchasing ranges from a firm which does not employ "union" men. They boycotted every saloon keeper selling this brewer's beer in consequence, and then offered to raise the boycott if the brewer would pay them from $500 to $1000. This was refused, and now the saloon men are determined to retaliate and have decided to refrain from patronizing all firms employing union men in making their wares. The fight has grown interesting, and has attracted the attention of the mercantile press of the metropolis, and the outcome of the unique action of the boycotted dealers will perhaps prove whether or not boycotting can have a boomering effect.

AROUND HOME.

At a meeting of the directors of the Portsmouth Machine Co., held on Saturday, J. Albert Walker, Esq., was chosen vice president.

The Rockingham house was last week fitted with a flag-staff at each end, stepped in secure sockets at the front corners of the building. The sticks are eight inches and a half in diameter at the heel, and extend about fifty feet above the roof.

Mr. W. I. Trafton, superintendent of the fire alarm, on Saturday afternoon made his monthly inspection and test of the apparatus, a single stroke of the North church bell being sounded from each box, to make sure the connections were all right, and the numbers of boxes fourteen and nineteen being each struck in full, once, the repetitions being omitted; the brewery whistle was not sounded. The apparatus was found to be in perfect condition.

The city advertises proposals for the new north millpond sewer. The pond continues to do its own advertising.

A meeting of the Court street Christian society was held Thursday evening, July 30th, to take action on the three candidates for the pastorship of the church. These three gentlemen, Rev. C. D. Hains, Rev. J. H. Sowerby and Rev. J. G. Bishop have supplied the pulpit since the resignation of Rev. John A. Goss. An informal ballot was taken, which resulted in the unanimous choice of Rev. C. D. Hains, of Rural Grove, New York. It is very probable that he will be given a call to become their pastor in the near future.

A single-scull rowing match for $100 a side, over the three-mile course at lake Massapesic, was pulled on Saturday last by J. P. Dixon of Kittery and T. F. Carroll of Manchester, and was won by Carroll in nineteen minutes and thirty seconds.

It was reported on Sunday evening that the decorous quiet which had reigned in the Times office on Sundays ever since the Guppy administration, had been violated by a meeting of ward two democratic ("regular" democratic) politicians that afternoon to discuss the muddle over the nominations in that ward; also that the Nonpareils had held an indignation meeting at their rooms in the old custom house, concerning the same matter.

The steamer Mystic started for the Shoals on Sunday, but after proceeding about three miles outside returned to her wharf on account of the roughness of the sea.

A sloop boat belonging to Mr. Al. Goodwin, with a party of about a dozen persons, several of whom were ladies, was dismasted on Sunday while sailing down the river.

The schooner Grace Choate, with 100 bbls. of mackerel, arrived at this port on Sunday, and sailed the same day for Boston, where her fish had been sold.

At Cleveland, Ohio, July 30th, Maud S. went a mile in 2:08 3-4. Her time by quarters was 34 3-4, 1:04 1-2 and 1:35 1-2.

At Regina, Manitoba, Aug. 1st, Louis Riel was found guilty of high treason, and sentenced to be hanged on Sept. 18th.

The house, barn, and other property of Jacob Wakefield, near Goodwin's Mills, Lyman, were destroyed by fire Sunday noon, July 26th. The family came home and had just built a fire preparatory to dinner, when looking out they discovered the barn in flames, the fire rapidly spreading to the house. It is supposed that the fire caught from a spark from the chimney. A horse and colt perished in the flames.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. My health has been such that for some years past I have been obliged to take a tonic of some kind in the spring, and have never found anything that hit my wants as your Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over. Respectfully yours,

J. F. THOMPSON.

One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had been taking it a week she had a rousing appetite, and it did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

THE DOCTOR DISCIPLINED.

Dr. F. E. Potter, who is a good democrat, and certainly one of the most sagacious business men the party can boast of in this city, deemed that the increased outlay at the several breweries in the city should be correspondingly taxed. The doctor is one of the board of assessors. Against the manifest sentiment of his political friends the doctor managed to have the assessments on these pieces of property raised, and he resisted all applications for abatement. In one instance the democratic candidate for mayor appeared before the assessors, and admitted the value of the property under his management, stated the amount of capital of the corporation, etc., but desired a reduction of the tax, possibly because his experience as an alderman had convinced him that there was no need of money to run the city government, especially when a drain was needed. The potency of the brewers, who are the democratic party of Portsmouth, while Mr. Ward is in Europe, was felt in the board, but the prescription had no efficacy upon the doctor. His oath of office, his judgment as to property, or his democratic notions as to equality in taxation or something of that nature, served to keep the doctor firm in his line of action. His colleagues hinted that his course would be unsatisfactory to the powers that be, and political death would ensue, but the doctor was confident that he could survive the loss of the office.

The result of his independence was seen at the caucus of the democrats of ward one on Friday evening, when the unmanageable assessor was not renominated for the office in accordance with party usage, but a new and perhaps a more tractable man was designated for his place. The doctor can console himself under this political lesson, with the same kind of reflection which caused an eminent statesman of the whig party long, long ago to proclaim that "it is better to be right than to be president."

Of course, the well trained and submissive voters of the party will do as they are bidden, and this blunder will not cost the democracy any votes on Tuesday, though its effects in other relations will, if we mistake not, be seen hereafter. There are some members of the party who are inclined not to be ridden over rough shod, without a gentle protest, which is likely to come up when the least desired.

CAPTURED AFTER ALL.

Asst. Marshal Hurley, while on Water street Saturday morning, saw a marine for whose apprehension and return to the barracks at the navy yard a reward had been offered, as a deserter. On the officer essaying his arrest, the marine ran down to the end of Long wharf, and jumped overboard. A boat was procured and chase given, but the marine seemed quite at home in the water and refused to be caught, and finally the officer promised that if he would come ashore from another boat which he had boarded, he should not then be arrested. Had the natatorial marine then gone across to the yard and reported, he would have saved himself some trouble and expense; but he didn't, for late Saturday night he was brought into the station house in a drunken condition, and locked up, to be returned on Monday. This same marine was arrested a few weeks ago in Dover by Officer Marden of this city, as a deserter, and returned to the barracks.

SOMEWHAT MIXED.

The democratic nominations in ward two seem to have given the party rulers considerable annoyance. The caucus was called for Friday evening in the common council room, and was duly held, but was captured by a lot of the younger voters, said to be mostly members of the Nonpareil club, who proceeded to nominate a ticket in due and ancient form, Messrs. Thomas E. Call, Jr., Thomas J. Donovan and George E. Hodgdon being the candidates named for aldermen. The caucus was fairly conducted, so far as reported, and the candidates nominated were the choice of the caucus, but they were not the ones wanted by the bosses; so on Saturday the ward committee sent word to the nominees for aldermen and councilmen that they were expected to withdraw, which most of them did at once on receiving their orders, Mr. Donovan being the only aldermanic candidate who refused, he asserting that he had been fairly nominated in open caucus, and would not take himself out of the way at any person's dictation. Upon this he was informed that if he did not withdraw he would be dropped by the committee; but later, on being personally interviewed by Mr. Eldredge, he withdrew in a hurry, and the aldermanic ticket was made up by the committee as follows: Hiram F. Williams, Horace S. Hatch, John Griffin. Mr. Williams is head cooper at the Eldredge brewery, Mr. Hatch is manager of the Western Union telegraph office, and Mr. Griffin is a hairdresser. One or two of the candidates for councilmen were also recalcitrant, but we understand that they were quietly brushed aside by the committee. A democratic caucus in Portsmouth appears to have about the same degree of liberty as the painting committee of the old fire company had, when it was voted "that the committee have leave to paint der masheen any color they like, so long as it's a bright red." The democratic voters can nominate whoever they choose, so long as the nominees are the ones picked out by the bosses.

ENFORCE IT, GENTLEMEN.

Sheriff Kent was around town on Saturday notifying the various news-dealers that the new iron-clad law against the dissemination of impure and crime-engendering literature is to be rigidly enforced in this city. The sheriff and other officers of the law will find it hard work to enforce this admirable enactment any more strictly than all reputable citizens will support them in doing.

THE SITUATION.

To-morrow is the day when the mayor, city councils, assessors and overseers of the poor for the coming municipal year are to be elected.

The republicans have nominated for mayor Mr. Edward P. Kimball, president of the First National bank, a gentleman of unquestioned probity and ability, and mixed up with no political rings; and their candidates for the other positions are reputable men, who if elected would serve the city with credit to themselves and satisfaction to the tax-payers. They are worthy of and entitled to the full vote of the party, and if that is cast, the next city government will be republican.

The democrats have nominated for mayor Hon. Marcellus Eldredge, president of the Eldredge Brewing Co.; and enough other candidates to fill out the ticket. There has been a good deal of "kicking" over some of the nominations, and a number of them have been changed by committees since made in the caucuses, which has caused the "kicking" to be taken up by the other side; yet the wire-pullers of the party say they are sure of a glorious victory, for the following claimed reasons:

Firstly, all the "drift-wood" heretofore captured by the republicans will be gathered in by the democrats this year, promises of navy yard and city patronage being quite effective with that class of voters. Then the several candidates for foremanships on the yard will all do their very best, each hoping he is to be the lucky man, the managers having carefully abstained from antagonizing any one by actually giving the coveted place to another; and the prospective big brewery drain works well as a political influence, although it is to be built by contract if at all, and the contractor will probably employ whom he pleases, regardless of politics. Then the republicans are practically without skilled leaders, the men who have managed the party for years and squeezed out all prominent workers not in consonance with themselves, having dropped out, while the democrats are well generalled, and have the breweries and the saloon influence to back up the navy yard and the municipal patronage.

The democrats thus make out a pretty strong list of aids for their side; yet if the republicans give their ticket the support the character of the candidates merits, there may be some surprises in store.

THE GRANT OBSEQUIES.

The meeting of the joint committee having in charge the arrangement of a public demonstration in memory of Gen. Grant, was held at Grand Army hall Friday evening. Hon. John Laighton was chosen chairman and Geo. E. Hodgdon secretary; plans were discussed and it was decided to have a parade, and exercises in Music hall. Messrs. Wm. H. Sise, C. W. Tracy and John Laighton were appointed a committee on invitation and were instructed to extend invitations to Naval officers, members of the City Government, all U. S. Civil officers and the Marine corps to do escort duty. It was also voted to request Albert Laighton Esq., to prepare a poem to be read during the exercises at Music hall. Messrs. Charles Besselievcr, E. A. Tilton, Wm. O. Sides, A. C. Hoyt and Daniel J. Vaughan were chosen a committee to arrange a programme which, discussed by them and the other members of the joint committee will be about as follows: Parade and exercises on the afternoon of Saturday, Aug. 8th., the procession to be made up of the Marine Corps and Grand Army posts of this city, Hampton and Kittery. It is proposed to have a salute from the navy yard battery during the time the procession is moving. The invited guests will be met at the City building and escorted to Music hall. In Music hall it is proposed to have the Wentworth orchestra, orations by some of the local clergymen and singing by a local quartette. This programme has not been entirely arranged but the committee hopes to be successful in obtaining the above mentioned features.

Medical Director Francis M. Gunnell, surgeon-general of the navy and chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery, paid an official visit to this navy yard Saturday forenoon, and received the salute due his rank.

A car-load of sheep and lambs went through this city last Friday evening, bound east. The car was divided into two compartments, one above the other, and in this one car were huddled about 200 of the animals. Parties who witnessed the sight thought that it would have been a good subject for the anti-cruelty society, could word have been conveyed to them in time. Some of the sheep were dead and others not far from it. The car was No. 6448 of the Grand Trunk line, and the card attached was marked "From Lindsay to Montreal, July 24th, 1885."

By reason of the meagre amount of the appropriations made at the last session of Congress for pay of assistant custodians and janitors of public buildings, the services of Mr. Francis R. Johnson, assistant janitor in the government building in this city, have been dispensed with for two months from July 31st.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, tempingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. The democrats of Virginia, in convention at Richmond, last week, adopted a resolution expressing sorrow at the death of General Grant, and gratification at the thought that he, in trying hours, bore himself towards the people of the south with such magnanimity and good faith as can never be forgotten.

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

On Tuesday night, July 28th, strikers at Banigan's rubber works at Millville, Mass., entered the work of a man who had come to work in the mills, drove him out of bed, fired revolvers at him, and ran him out of town.

Something for the Baby.

What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby? A young man on the very edge of matrimony might easily be frightened from his purpose by having too much of that sort of music at the homes of his married friends. Yet babies cry commonly only when they are sick. One teaspoonful of Parker's Tonic, given the little one, will bring rest and sleep to the baby and all in the house. Only 50 cents, at druggists.

Valentine Wagner, a German, aged forty-nine years, was executed at the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, Friday morning, for the murder of his brother-in-law. The condemned murderer on the scaffold protested his innocence of any crime.

Frightful Whooping Cough.

Dr. Edward C. Hughes, Rockford, Ill., (Graduated N. Y. City 1866), voluntarily testifies:—"Some years ago my only son had an attack of the Whooping Cough, characterized by the most violent spasms I have ever seen in a practice of eighteen years. Had several consultations with eminent physicians, and all ordinary and extraordinary remedies were resorted to. The paroxysms were simply frightful. I believed the child would die. I reluctantly tried Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer and the effect was magical. Three bottles cured him."

By a violent storm July 30th, at Fargo, D. T., an electric tower 160 feet high, all iron, was blown down and twisted out of any semblance to its original appearance. Many tin roofs and trees in the city were carried away, and great damage was done in the country east near Glyndon.

News has been received of a collision between the steamboats Enterprise and R. P. Rithel, off the Oregon coast. The collision occurred in broad daylight, and is supposed to have been the result of a misunderstanding of signals. The Enterprise is a total loss, but all her passengers, about 100, are supposed to have been saved. Many passengers were thrown into the water, but were picked up. The Chinese passengers tried to take the only available boats, and being driven back, tried to take all the life preservers, but in this they failed. The accident occurred about ten miles from shore.

They Are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had the heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was Liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass.

And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

LINCOLN.

Reminiscences of the Martyr President.

We can not have too many glimpses of the man who of all men in our history may perhaps be called especially a Providential man. When Washington was summoned to command the Revolutionary army he was already known by distinguished service, and he was afterward made President because of the greatest of public services, and of the universal affection and confidence of the country. But when Lincoln was elected President, on the eve of the greatest of civil controversies, his capacity for the tremendous trust had been unproved; and that at such a time such a man should have appeared at the head of the nation equal to the issue, and able wisely to wield the enormous authority that the occasion demanded, and should prove to be in every way the man of all men for the emergency, is in the highest sense of word Providential.

In every story, however insignificant, which is told of him, those who remember him personally recall the impression that he made. He was absolutely sincere. He never played a part. And therefore whatever he said and did was marked by his strong individuality. A correspondent in North Carolina says:

"I heard Mr. Lincoln's last two speeches. One, extemporaneous, on Monday evening, April 10, from the historic middle front window in the second story of the White House. He had just returned from City Point, and the people thronging around the White House would have a speech. For a good while he did not appear, and seemed to be reluctant to speak without a manuscript, lest at that critical juncture some injurious impression should be made by an accidental word or sentence.

"However, the crowd persisted to call till he appeared. It was my first sight of the man. He appeared somewhat younger and more off-hand and vigorous than I should have expected. His bright, knowing, somewhat humorous look reminded me of a well practiced country physician who had read men through till he understood them well. There was the humorous kindness of a good-natured doctor who had seen his patients through a most awful siege of sickness, till they were now fairly and fully convalescent, and who was disposed to let the past, whatever it had cost him or them, go by for the time, and have a little cheerful congratulation. His gestures and expression of countenance had something of the harmless satisfaction of a young politician at a ratification meeting after his first election to the Legislature. He was happy, and glad to see others happy, and willing to accept the congratulation of his friends for his own part in the general victory.

"His last speech, on Wednesday, April 12, 1865, was read from separate sheets, by a flaring light, as he stood at the same window. He wore glasses, and as the successive pages were read passed them to a friend who stood near. It was perhaps eight o'clock in the evening; Mrs. Lincoln and several lady friends stood at a side window. There was some talking and diversion during the reading. The reading was in a reading tone, but business-like and good, and the paper not long. It was intended to show the disposition of the administration toward the seceded States, and foreshadow the principles proposed for reconstruction. His manner was unpretentious but dignified, manly, kindly, and vigorous."

The same friendly observer sends other Lincolniana:

"'That rent,' said a soldier in the hospital at City Point, pointing up to the torn tissue-paper—an embellishment which, I believe, the ladies of the Christian Commission had fixed on the ceiling above—that was torn by Mr. Lincoln's hat as he passed through here on his way from Richmond, and shook hands with every man, loyal or rebel, in the whole hospital.' He stood, like Saul, above the people from the shoulders upward, and his hat made havoc with decorations overhead. Stepping outside, and seeing an axe by a log, his old rail-splitter spirit came over him. In a moment his long arms were putting home that axe toward the fallen tree. The boys in blue gathered those chips to take home as mementos of the backwoodsman who became President and the emancipator of a race."

An old soldier at the Soldiers' Home near Washington said, "He used to walk all about these paths; he was very kind and familiar with us all."

To a poor woman who desired his signature to a paper, he said, "My name will do you no more good than pigs' tracks in the mud."

A soldier stopped him in the road, against the Columbia Hospital, and presented some letters, desiring a furlough. He obtained it.

In the Senatorial contest between Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Douglas, when they spoke at Freeport, Illinois, Mr. Douglas appeared in an elegant barouche drawn by four white horses, and was received with great applause. But when Mr. Lincoln came up in a "prairie schooner," viz., an old-fashioned canvas-covered pioneer wagon, the enthusiasm of the vast throng was unbounded.

When traveling about the quiet country towns on his law business it was his custom, at the tavern or boarding-house where he stopped, after tea to get a candle and go to his room and read awhile. He was not a loafer.

At a political meeting in a grove, a long, shambling figure was seen sitting on the fence and whittling thoughtfully, clothed in the slightest of summer attire. After others had spoken, "Lincoln! Lincoln!" was called, and the whittler, pocketing his knife, and slipping from the fence, made a characteristic speech. This was before his great prominence.

At the same place, when the lady who entertained him and some others at dinner made some apology, he said he guessed it was better than they would have got at home, anyhow.

To Bishop Simpson, after a lecture on American progress, in which he did not speak of petroleum, Mr. Lincoln said, as they came out, "You did not 'strike ile.'"

The sheets and clothes stained with the blood of Lincoln were literally torn in strips, as Antony said of Cæsar, and preserved as mementos. The assassination of Cæsar and of William of Orange were brought vividly to the minds of those who were in Washington.

Only a day or two before the assassination, the Morning Chronicle, the Washington organ of the administration, said that a single life was seldom indispensable to a country, but that just then that of Abraham Lincoln seemed to be so.

It seemed to be so indeed. Yet he served his country by his death as by his life. Not only did his death at once prevent what might have been the dangerous consequences of a frenzy of exultation, but it taught us the most important of truths, that no man, however great and able and patriotic and devoted and beloved, is indispensable to the welfare of the country. There are extreme exigencies in which the natural cry is, "Oh, for an hour of Dundee!" But in the great development of liberty no one man is essential. As Charles Sumner said in beginning his eulogy upon Lincoln, "In the Providence of God there are no accidents."—Editor's Easy Chair, in Harper's Magazine for July.

"I Feel So Well."

"I want to thank you for telling me of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes a lady to her friend. "For a long time I was unfit to attend to the work of my household. I kept about, but I felt thoroughly miserable. I had terrible backaches, and bearing-down sensations across me and was quite weak and discouraged. I sent and got some of the medicine after receiving your letter, and it has cured me. I hardly know myself. I feel so well."

What You Want to Know.

Everybody wants an honest answer to this simple question:—What is the best medicine to regulate the bowels, cure costiveness and billiousness, help the digestion and give strength to the whole system? The "town clambake" at Eliot last Friday afternoon was a grand success, the attendance being larger than ever before at one, and the clambake, prepared by Capt. J. L. Jenks on the shore of the river in front of his house, abundant and cooked to perfection. There were present as guests a number of naval officers from the yard, and many business men, ladies and young people from this city, Dover and Kittery, besides a large proportion of the entire population of Eliot. Everything passed off agreeably, and the picnic was voted the finest jollification one yet given.

The steamer Finafore made a trip from the Shoals to York harbor on Friday last, conveying a base ball nine representing the Appledore house, who played a game on the York harbor grounds with a nine representing the guests at the latter resort, the Appledores winning by a score of fourteen to three. The victors returned to the Shoals with their steamer decorated with brooms, and were given quite an ovation by the other guests on their arrival.

Three Reasons.

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:—

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

Yacht Racing.

The race of the New York yacht club for two cups (a $1000 one for schooners and a $500 one for sloops) given by Ogden Goelet was sailed off Newport, R. I., Aug. 3d, the course being triangular and about forty-five miles long. The sloops Puritan and Priscilla, built to defend the America's cup, took part in the race. The weather was very heavy, and a number of the competing yachts had to withdraw. At three o'clock the Puritan was a mile ahead of the other yachts, and within fifteen miles of the finish.

The Massachusetts Magazine.

Mr. John McClintock, of magazine experience, appears as the conductor of this new periodical just "launched on the literary ocean," as its publishers put it. It looks slightly amphibious when they maintain there is a field for such a publication.

It is to be published monthly by J. A. Cline & Co., No. 79 Milk street, Boston, at $2.50 per year.

The first article, a sketch of Roland Worthington, collector of the port of Boston, contains one of the best-written advertisements of the Traveller that could have been prepared. We have always admired a properly composed advertisement. Such are good reading, and are always read. Few people have the savoire faire to successfully accomplish this result, but the editor possesses it in rich abundance.

The second engraving is a likeness of George W. Armstrong of Boston, widely known in New England as the projector of the Armstrong transfer company, which conducts its business with such punctuality and care so greatly in contrast with similar concerns in New York. The sketch is by Leonard A. Morrison, who informs us that the ancestor of the great New England Railway restorator came from Scotland near the English border, and is interesting as delineating the rise and progress of his subject from a penny-post man and newspaper salesman to that of manager of the large business interest in which he now engages.

Thomas P. Cheney, United States pension agent in Concord, must have sat for the photograph from which his plate is engraved some time before the last presidential election. The artist makes Tom to be not only a fine looking man, but to wear an expression of placidity not now seen on his countenance.

The Nantucket Visit will be read with interest by those who have visited the island, but the publishers may as well first as last, in "craving indulgence for the faults of their work," be told that when they assert there is a field for such a publication, which under the claim of being "devoted to the literature and history of the Bay state" is to be used to describe hotels and steamboat lines, they are reckoning without their host. The public may submit to some of this thing occasionally from newspapers, but will not buy a magazine which makes merchandise of its columns in this mode.

Every cottage at Union Bluff and Concordville, York beach, is now occupied, and applications for cottages are still being received daily. The hotels and boarding houses are also crowded; fifteen applicants had to be turned away from the Union Bluff house in one day last week, there being absolutely no accommodations for them. Enough money has been raised to purchase two hundred chairs to be used in the rink for Sunday service; there is preaching in the rink every Sunday at four o'clock in the afternoon, and all are invited to attend.

KITTERY ME., Aug. 3d.

An attempt was made to burglarize a house in Kittery, near Portsmouth bridge, between two and three o'clock on Monday morning. The inmates of the house were aroused by persistent efforts on the part of some one to force an entrance through a back door. On finding he was discovered and on being ordered away with threats by the lady of the house, the man went to the out-buildings a few steps away to call to a comrade, and shammed drunkenness when a man who was on the road was called to for assistance. In the excitement of the moment he was allowed to escape. Some of the neighbors were quickly on the spot, and it was a matter of general regret that the would-be house-breakers had not been held to wait the appearance of the constable to be put under arrest.

Two weeks ago the ticket office at Kittery depot was broken into and two or three dollars stolen. K. D.

The Baptist society of South Berwick had their annual picnic at Cate's grove, on the Eliot bridge road, Friday of last week, about 450 persons attending; music was furnished by the South Berwick Cadet band, and an excellent dinner and general good time were participated in by all.

WHAT WILL convince you of the wonderful curative properties combined in Hoon's SARSAPARILLA, if the remarkable cures that have been effected by its use fail to impress upon your mind this repeatedly proven fact? Thousands are using it, and all declare that it is a medicine possessing WILL unequaled all and even more than we claim for it. My friend, if you are sick or in that condition that you cannot call yourself either sick or well, go and get a bottle of Hoon's SARSAPARILLA, and realize yourself how this medicine hits the right CONVINCE spot, and puts all the machinery of your body into working order.

From the Registrar of Deeds for Middlesex County, Northern District.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hoon's SARSAPARILLA. My health has been such that for some years past I have been obliged to take a tonic of some kind in the spring, and have never found anything that hit my wants as your Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over. Respectfully yours,

J. P. THOMPSON.

One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hoon's SARSAPARILLA in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had been taking it a week she had a rousing appetite, and it did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Southeasterly winds, shifting to southwesterly, local rains, followed by clearing weather and lower temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 56 degrees above zero.

Raining.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Municipal election to-day, the polls closing at six o'clock. It is the duty of the republicans to elect their excellent candidate for mayor, and a majority of the city councils. This they can do if they will, for though the democratic managers will work hard and spare no means of winning, there is a good deal of dissatisfaction in their party.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, Aug. 3d.

William Randall was charged with larceny of an old felt hat of inestimable value, that is, its value could not be estimated for any purpose except to stuff in a broken window. The taking of the hat appeared to have been intended as a joke, and Randall was discharged.

Maggie Tibbetts, up for drunkenness, was let off on probation.

CHARACTER NOT ALLUDED TO.

The Times of the 3d inst. says:

This campaign has been unusually free from the customary comment upon the merits of the condidates and party measures by the party organs, and it was not until this morning that the Chronicle has made any assault upon the character of the men nominated by the democratic party or its several ward committees.

We acquit our neighbor of intentional misrepresentation, but there was nothing in the Chronicle of that morning which could by any manner of word twisting be tortured into an assault upon the character of any man or men nominated by the democratic party or their ward committees. Our brother should read with the understanding, when he proposes to make comments on what he reads.

MARITIME NOTES.

The clipper sloop Helena, Capt. Til. Creamer, brought in on Sunday a sword fish weighing about 350 lbs., captured off Boon island. She commenced swordfishing about two weeks ago off Block island, R. I., and has followed the coast up; she has so far taken twelve fish, which have been sold at the best market prices. The schooner Bonita, Captain Burke, which recently commenced operation in the bay of Fundy, has taken four swordfish. Both the vessels named were lying at Long wharf Sunday evening, ready to sail.

Capt. Cheney made six trips to Newmarket last week with the gondola H. P. Spinney, with coal from J. Albert Walker.

The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell arrived on Monday afternoon from a trip eastward with a party from Great Falls.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.

The Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims has decided that underwriters known as "London Lloyds" cannot participate in the fund for reimbursement for losses paid, and that the claimants for sums paid for losses of the ships Adriatic, Brilliant and Lamplighter were citizens who were entitled to the protection of the United States. In the case founded upon these claims, judgment has been given for the United States.

See notice of auction sale of furniture at house No. 70 Pleasant street, commencing at ten o'clock A. M. to-day.

If the several ward clerks will as soon as convenient after the close of the polls give us the result of the voting in their respective wards, we shall esteem it a favor.

An engine hauling a "buggy" went through this city to the eastward on Sunday morning, and returned in the evening with a train of twelve cars loaded with ice; the train came down over the Conway branch, and passed through toward Boston.

The young fellows calling themselves the Nonpareil club have been designated "the hoodlums" by the "regular" democrats since the trouble occurred over the nominations in ward two. The Nonpareils object to this term, and say that most of their number were born in this city and educated in the public schools, and that they are all as well dressed, well appearing and well behaved as other young men. Why opprobrious epithets should be applied to them merely because they chose to take an active part in politics, they cannot understand.

About half-past two o'clock, Monday afternoon, a boy ten or twelve years old mounted a horse in front of Leach & Lydston's blacksmith shop on Fleet street. The horse, which is said to be owned by Mr. E. S. Balch of Rye, had a harness on, but no carriage attached, and he made things lively for the boy by starting on a furious run through Fleet street, down State street to the wharves, across the head of Broughton's dock to Daniel street, and up Daniel street to near Penhallow, where he was caught by a man said to be Mr. Carr, a blacksmith. The boy stuck to the horse's back throughout the entire route, but dismounted with noticeable alacrity as soon as the race was over.

In ward two, the three gentlemen nominated Friday evening to serve as aldermen, called upon the secretary of the ward committee, Saturday, and personally, of their own free will and accord, declined to run upon the ticket.—Times.

That's news for the Nonpareil club.

The flange placed upon the top of the new chimney at the Portsmouth Brewing Co.'s brewery was made at the Portsmouth Machine Co.'s works, and weighs about 700 lbs. The chimney is quite ornamental, and though not especially lofty, is no doubt lofty enough to do the work required of it. Previous to the removing of the scaffolding Mr. Peter Masterson, the retired marine who lives on Bow street, ascended it, and declared the work perfect. As the old gentleman went up he sang songs and made speeches, to the edification of the spectators.

The office-holders so far appointed in this vicinity by the new administration are mostly in such circumstances that they will not be wholly dependant on the charity of an unfeeling world in case of a political revolution four years hence. One of them runs a newspaper; another in engaged in the fisheries, and occasionally entertains officers of the "Grand navee" in his $20,000 house; another is interested in hacking, and the transportation of passengers to and from the hotels; one runs a livery stable; two or three conduct first-class grocery stores, and several are quite extensively engaged in farming operations. By all holding on, they will have a guard against the bad results of possible political accidents.

The last blast necessary in cutting the trench across the head of Congress street for laying the pipe for the new drinking fountain, was fired Monday afternoon.

The boilers for supplying steam for the new heating apparatus of the high school building were being put in place on Monday by workmen from the Portsmouth machine shop.

The Farragut house at Rye beach was full of guests on Saturday night, and there were 120 arrivals at the Sea View that day. The Ocean Wave has had a large patronage, and the boarding houses now have generally a plethora of guests.

A young man named Kane, employed by the telegraph company, while engaged in fixing a wire at the Jones brewery on Monday afternoon fell a distance of ten or twelve feet, and fractured the bone of his right forearm. He was attended by Dr. Potter.

The hotels at the Isles of Shoals are having the best season they have had for years, recalling the brisk times that prevailed before the great financial panic of '73.

The inmates of the Chase Home had a picnic at Wallis' sands, Rye beach, last Friday.

Capt. Zach Randall on Monday brought up 600 mackerel, taken in Spruce creek.

William Kelley, formerly of South Newmarket, but who left there under a cloud some years since, was arrested in Exeter on suspicion by Deputy Sheriff Hoyt, a short time ago. Some circumstances, after his arrest, made Hoyt suspicious that Kelley was wanted at Springfield, Mass., and he telegraphed to the marshal there, and immediately received a reply that they were looking for Kelley for robbing a church of a valuable communion service. Hoyt held Kelley until the arrival of an officer from Springfield, who took him back. He has since been held to answer to the grand jury.

The Boston & Maine railroad will run an excursion to Ocean park, Old Orchard on Wednesday, August 5th (children's day) leaving this city at 7:30 a. m., and returning will leave Old Orchard at 5:29 p. m. The excursionists will have free use of the public buildings, etc., during the day. The Sawyer cornet band will furnish music in the grove during the day. Fare for the round trip $1.25. This is an excellent opportunity for our citizens to visit this famous beach at a very low price.

ATHLETICS.

On Saturday last, in the Garrison Hill skating rink at Dover, Edward C. Stickney of this city, the Eastern Athlete and proprietor of the Portsmouth gymnasium, beat the best previous record for lifting a twelve-pound dumb-bell in one day. The best record was formerly held by A. Corcoran of Chicago, who on September 10th, 1859, put a bell of that weight up from the shoulder above his head 14,000 times. Stickney put up a twelve-pound bell 15,000 times, and now claims to be the champion lifter of the world, of that weight bell. The counters were C. F. Lord and W. Bean. Mr. Stickney on Monday received a handsome silver cake-basket, suitably inscribed, from some of the Dover boys, who had contributed for the purpose in case he should break the record.

The other noted feats of dumb-bell lifting performed by Stickney, as follows: On March 4th, put up a twelve-pound bell above his head eighty-one times in forty seconds; April 16th, lifted fairly from the floor with the right hand alone, a 50 1-2 lb. bell 7600 times in one hour and four minutes, and 10,000 times in one hour and a half, beating the world's record; May 1st, lifted from floor a 133 lb. bell 1000 times in ten minutes, an eighty-five lb. bell 1000 times in five minutes, and a fifty lb. bell 1000 times in three minutes, all new records; May 16th, a four lb. bell above shoulder eighty-one times in twenty-seven seconds; and July 4th, a twelve lb. bell arm's length above shoulder 1000 times in succession, a new record,—have all been attested before a justice of the peace by reputable witnesses of the several performances.

Stickney will elevate a four lb. bell 50,000 times in three days, at Manchester shortly.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bald spots covered by using a single bottle.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall severally cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Compensations and Balances.

Somewhere
The days are blue and days are always fair;
The gentlest showers upon the grasses beat;
And birds sing sweetly in their green retreat—
Where shadows interlacing on the moss
Work beautiouss patterns as they twine and cross.
What though the winds be keen and mountains bare—
When we but shiver in the wintry air—
The skies are blue and long days soft and fair,
Somewhere.

Somewhere,
When summer heats oppress us with their glare,
The fragrant winds are breathing clear and cool,
And shadows play upon the unmoved pool—
Where moss and lichens deck the sylvan glade—
And toilers rest contented in the shade.
No sultry furnace-beats with parching stare;
No desert sands, forbidding, barren, bare;
No quenchless thirsts to rack the spirit there,
Somewhere.

Somewhere,
When we are struggling with our loads of care,
And troubles weigh us with their burdens down—
And life is but a desert bare and brown—
The happy people live in peaceful joy;
No evil thoughts to dim with earth's alloy,
Or anguish crouching in its tiger lair,
Or pain too deep and pitiless to spare;
But all-pervading peace, complete and fair,
Somewhere.

Somewhere
They know not terror's grim and stony stare—
Nor griefs that bow us to the barren earth,
Nor ills which petrify or stifle mirth;
But sweet contentment every day and hour,
And resignation with its priceless dower
Of calm enjoyment which no tears may fret,
And memories poisoned by no vain regret;
Fame stirs no envies with its trumpet blare,
Ambitions hurt not with their work and wear;
But patience governs, and regrets are rare,
Somewhere.

Somewhere
Repose rests like a presence on the air;
And while we struggle in our constant grief—
Or seek in troubled things to find relief—
They rest in quiet where glad sunbeams play;
And gentle spirits guard them night and day.
Thank God that though these chains of ill we wear—
And wearied souls their tribulations bear—
We walk in faith, and wait surcease of care
Where sweetest rest rewards each earnest prayer,
Somewhere.

FROM THE WOODS.

When men pass from city to country they pass from the themes of thought and sentiment common to the large assemblages of human beings, and find themselves raising new inquiries and forming new attachments in the arena of trees and grass. It is a question of absence and presence—an absent city, a present woods—a far-away noise and excitement of a metropolis, an immediate society of deep lake, infinite verdure, silent rocks, the life of bird and plant. In this change of circumstance the mind empties itself of the contents of former days and is at once filled with new subjects of meditation, and while in the city the preacher goes to his pillow wondering what he can say to his flock next Sunday, here he composes himself to sleep wondering what kind of a bird is the famous "whip-poor-will." What mind one possesses lays hold of that enigma with just as much earnestness as would mark the same intellectual machinery were it attempting to solve the problem of man's free agency or the eternity of matter. Of course, a man is quite a fool if he will permit a question of birds or fish or plants to give him the mental trouble that should come from thoughts of strikes among workmen or cholera among people, but it would be difficult to prove that man possesses always the merit of being reasonable.

The whip-poor-will repeats its cry from about 8 o'clock each evening until about ten. If one is tired enough to go to bed before ten he can count himself to sleep by these birds. Their cry does indeed sound much like the words which threaten a whipping to poor William. As the masculine quail is said to be forever calling for "Bob White," so with equal truth it may be affirmed that this bird alludes to poor Will. He yells rapidly, perhaps ten cries to the minute, and, like the boarder who compensated for eating rapidly by telling his landlady that he would eat a good while, this bird calls rapidly and calls long.

It is probable that only the male bird does this yelling, for natural history shows many instances in which the male animal is the noisiest as well as the most fierce. The silent attitude chosen by many forms of female life should not, however, be used as an argument against the public speaking and voting of women. Great are the exceptions of nature. Let us be careful lest we men help make a club which might be used to the detriment of our own skulls. In the times of Queen Elizabeth some appreciative writer composed a book to show that nature showed in the case of the honey-bee that the millions should be ruled by a Queen and not by a King.

The "whip-poor-will" possesses a wonderful ability for keeping out of sight of man. He is aided in this effort by the fact that his activity is nocturnal. His work is all night work. His personal appearance is that of a small owl. The evidence of this is circumstantial rather than conclusive and demonstrative. A company of men were standing recently, in Iowa, around a dead bird. It was about as large as a robin. It looked like an owl. It was said by some bystander to be a whip-poor-will. Here some man has a case of stuffed birds. One little fellow that resembles an owl is called a "whip-poor-will." Thus runs the evidence, but the evidence is not easily procured, for while from one bone Cuvier could construct the animal, he has left us no rule for inferring the looks of a bird from its voice and tune.

Coming in the almost holy silence of a night in the woods, the song of this bird possesses all that charm which solitude confers upon sounds. The sound of toads, frogs, the chirp of the "katydid" and the cricket are made poetic and romantic by the solitude and silence which make such delicate noises so audible. The "baying of the watch-dog beyond the Tiber" gave Byron a sweet pleasure, because it measured the silence of the night and the loneliness of the heart. Here in this matchless retirement some little bird or toad can, from some tree-top as a gallery, throw its little song or speech out upon human ears that are listening a half-mile away. The silence of the world not only makes the little utterance powerful in the air, but it also strings up the heart of man until nothing can appeal to it in vain. In some of these hours of isolation and semi-rapture it seems as though one can almost hear the moon passing through clouds, or catch some notes of the hymn sung by the morning stars when the universe was young.

Nearly all the best proofs of a God are hidden away out in the country. In unexpected moments the fact stands revealed. Lie down on the edge of your boat and look down into the water and mark the beauty and graceful motion of the fish in an element made for them. The water having no contact with city dust or dirt, having boundaries of stone and a floor of pebbles, offers no obstacle to the rays of light, and fish which play fifteen feet below your boat play in your sight. These occupants of the water seem to have as perfect a home in their element as man possesses in the houses on the tree-covered banks. While the mind is thinking of these adaptions the sun sinks and the sky slowly passes through a series of colors, each beautiful. The lake joins with the sky in accepting these hues from the hand of some unseen artist. You will be a peculiar mind, a mind not to be envied, if you can row your boat slowly homeward without being a worshiper and without a deep wondering what other planets there may be which are thus doing the mysterious will of God.

A Memorial Volume.

The discourses and letters commemorative of Mrs. Emily Lane Smyth, the deeply regretted deceased wife of Ex-Governor Frederick Smyth of this state, has been printed at the office of the state printer at Manchester. The volume contains the discourse preached by Rev. George E. Spaulding, D. D., on the 18th of January last, the remarks by Rev. C. W. Wallace, D. D., her former pastor, and a large number of consolatory letters written to the bereaved husband by friends all over this country and from some parts of the old world.

Mrs. Smyth was a lady universally esteemed by all who knew her, and perhaps there has never been a public man in our state who so invariably invited his wife to share the honors and participate in the pleasures of official and social occasions as has Gov. Smyth. Mrs. Smyth was known throughout the state as an amiable, attractive and generous lady, always ready to extend the courtesies of hospitality and friendship to her husband's associates and visitors. During the term of office of the governor she was early and enthusiastic in her welcome to our returning soldiers, and indeed all who visited the governor's headquarters at Concord were made happier by meeting the first lady in the state. The correspondence printed shows the high estimate in which Mrs. Smyth was held by those who were so fortunate as to know her, and which called forth some excellent sentiments from various prominent personages, many of whom had enjoyed her hospitality and been made happy in her friendship.

A Lively Boat.

The result of the yacht race for the Geolet cups, off Newport, R. I., on the 3d inst., was that the Boston yacht Puritan took the prize for sloops, easily beating her New York rival, the Priscilla, by eleven minutes and forty seconds in a run of five hours and a half, and not only that, but beating still worse all the big schooner yachts of the New York yacht club.

The prize for schooners was taken by the Fortuna, also of Boston, she beating the Montauk of New York, an old rival, two minutes and thirty-eight seconds in the forty-five mile race.

The four vessels named were the only ones of the twenty entered for the race whose time was taken, ten of the proposed starters being prevented from competing by the condition of the weather, and all the others, excepting the four named, being distanced.

The performance of the Puritan in this race renders it almost certain that she will be chosen to represent the United States in the race with the British cutter Genesta for the America's cup.

A Cyclone on the Delaware.

A tornado of the genuine western sort swept up the Delaware river on the 3d inst., striking Philadelphia near Greenwich point, demolishing the Pennsylvania salt works, and then crossing the river, wrecking the river steamer Major Reybold and the ferryboat Peerless, sweeping overboard all the light works of the boats, and drowning the pilot of the former. It then crossed to the New Jersey side, striking Camden and wrecking scores of houses and many business establishments, driving numerous families out of doors, killing several people and badly injuring many others. It then crossed the river again, striking the district of Philadelphia known as Richmond, and passed due north from the Fort Richmond coal wharves, wrecking over 150 houses and rendering at least 200 families shelterless, besides injuring many people, some of them fatally. The cyclone is described by those who witnessed its progress upon the river, where it could be seen to advantage, as an immense black coneshaped cloud, inverted, with its apex resting upon the water and its base mingling with the rain-clouds which hung in dense masses from the sky,—an exact description of the ordinary waterspout so well known and so much dreaded by seamen.

WHAT WILL convince you of the wonderful curative properties combined in Hoon's SARSAPARILLA, if the remarkable cures that have been effected by its use fail to impress upon your mind this repeatedly proven fact? Thousands are using it, and all declare that it is a medicine possessing even more than WILL ing all and we claim for it. My friend, if you are sick or in that condition that you cannot call yourself either sick or well, go and get a bottle of Hoon's SARSAPARILLA, and realize yourself how this medicine hits the right spot, and puts CONVINCE all the machinery of your body into working order.

From the Registrar of Deeds for Middlesex County, Northern District,
LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hoon's SARSAPARILLA. My health has been such that for some years past I have been obliged to take a tonic of some kind in the spring, and have never found anything that hit my wants as your Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over. Respectfully yours,
J. P. THOMPSON.

One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hoon's SARSAPARILLA in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had been taking it a week she had a ravening appetite, and it did her everything." She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle, or six bottles for $5. C. I. HOOD & CO. Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

CITY GOVERNMENT-ELECT.

Mayor, Marcellus Eldredge, democrat.

Aldermen, John E. Locke, Wm. E. Littlefield, John F. Magraw, Hiram F. Williams, Horace S. Hatch, John Griffin, Edward D. Coffin, Oliver H. Cook, Howell C. Russell—nine democrats.

Councilmen, Freeman Pearson, Albion Littlefield, Thomas A. Ward, Dennis J. Carroll, James A. Corey, Michael Crowley, Charles E. Berry, John L. Frisbee, William J. Fraser, John O. Downs, John C. Stevens, Michael J. Leary, Thomas D. Wardwell, Cornelius Sullivan, Herman A. Brackett, George W. McCarthy, George Adams, William A. A. Cullen—eighteen democrats.

Assessors of taxes, Charles W. Stimson, Moses H. Goodrich, Daniel H. Trefethen, Augustus W. Odiorne, Thomas Nell, John Kelley, James Douglass, Henry F. Wendell, William P. Bennett—nine democrats.

Overseers of the poor, Daniel Littlefield, Benjamin M. Parker, John Mitchell, Alonzo K. W. Green—four democrats.

THE ELECTION.

The city election came off on Tuesday, the 4th inst., as per programme previously published, and from the returns as sent into this office by the ward clerks we infer that the democrats won, as was anticipated, only more so. The total vote for mayor was 1629, against 1439 last year, Eldredge's majority being 603, against a petty 567 received by Page. The scattering vote this year was just half of last year's.

In the city councils the democrats have secured a good working majority, and can now go ahead with the brewery drain, lay out enough more money on the fire alarm to make it of some use, buy more 425-dollar horses without saying anything about it whenever they choose, etc., with no one to molest or make them afraid. Ward two went democratic for the first time within our memory, and we believe for the first time in the city's history, this result being no doubt largely due to the fact that Mr. Michael J. Leary, of the Nonpareil club and the printer's profession, was on the ticket for councilman; and the victory would have been still more marked had not Mr. Thomas J. Donovan, another rising young politician, been squeezed off the ticket by the bosses, who however will not always be able to keep him down.

The largest vote cast for any person in any ward was for Mr. J. Frank Magraw for alderman in ward one, 409, he leading the mayoralty ticket by five votes. Mr. Magraw is a printer, and foreman in the Times office.

We tender our thanks to Messrs. Frank Dennett, clerk of ward one, Samuel H. Kingsbury, of ward two, Michael F. Canty, of ward three, and William S. Hazel, of ward four, for their courtesy and promptness in furnishing us the election returns of their respective wards on the evening of the 4th inst. We also desire to express our appreciation of the courtesy of the secretaries of the democratic ward caucuses on Friday evening last, in promptly sending in lists of the nominations made.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The annual meeting of the Board of Instruction was held at the city rooms on Monday evening, August 3d, Mayor Page presiding.

The committee on text books recommended the adoption of the new Franklin readers for use in our schools, and the recommendations of the committee were unanimously adopted. The Franklin readers are to take the place of Hillard's which have been in use many years. Sundry bills were reported and ordered paid.

Mercer Goodrich was re-elected a member of the High School committee for three years.

John Pender was elected secretary.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Committee on Salaries, Oliver M. Knight, Garrett and Laskey; Text Books, Mrs. Wilson, Pender and Vaughan; Examination of Teachers, Batchelder, Mrs. Knight and Gooding; Truancy, George, O. M. Knight and Garrett; Purchases, Sinclair, Pender and Laskey; Drawing, Mrs. Wilson, Goodrich and Vaughan.

GRADE COMMITTEES.

Grammar Grades, Goodrich, Gooding and Knight; Intermediate Grades, Batchelder, George and Mrs. Wilson; Primary Grades, Mrs. Knight, Pender and Sinclair; Suburban Schools, Laskey, Garrett and Vaughan.

DISTRICT COMMITTEES.

District No. 1, Mrs. Knight, George and Sinclair; District No. 2, Pender, Mrs. Wilson and Batchelder; District No. 3, Goodrich, Gooding and Laskey.

They were approved by the Board.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Aug. 4th.

Quite an interest is being manifested at the Sunday evening meetings in the 1st Methodist church vestry, under the leadership of Rev. Perry Chandler and Mr. James W. Brooks. There is a large attendance at every session, and generally good order prevails, with the exception of the hoodlum element which begins to crop out here, but we understand that a movement will be made at the next meeting to nip this faction in the bud.

Rev. J. W. Webster preached in the 1st Methodist church on Sunday morning, the 2d inst., and in the 2d Methodist church in the afternoon. Rev. Perry Chandler preached for Mr. Webster at the chapel in the afternoon.

Miss Carrie H. Haley will teach the fall term of school in district six, (the "Harbor school,") which commences Monday, Aug. 10th. Since accepting the above school Miss Haley could have had several other chances to teach, but could not accept; good teachers are always in demand.

Miss Susie and Augusta Pettigrew are visiting friends in Newburyport, Mass.

Mrs. John H. Knox and two children, of Portsmouth, and Mrs. S. J. Trickey of North Kittery, are sojourning for a few weeks at York beach; their cottage is on High street, Union Bluff, where several of their friends from North Kittery and Portsmouth will probably visit them during their stay. We shall expect fish chowder the day we arrive.

Alex. A. Peterson has sold out his fruit, cigar and tobacco store at the village to John C. Neal and Stephen E. Adams; the store will be managed by Mr. Adams, and we trust will not lose any of its patronage by the change. Mr. Peterson has always kept a neat and orderly place, which is more than we can say of some stores of the same kind at this village, which are a disgrace to the community.

The 1st Methodist society of North Kittery will hold a basket picnic in Fernald's grove, near the house of William A. Fernald in North Kittery, on Thursday, the 6th inst.; all are invited, and a good time is anticipated.

Memorial services will be observed by Edward G. Parker Post, No. 99, G. A. R., in honor of General Grant, in the 2d Christian church on Saturday afternoon, the 8th inst.; an address by Rev. E. E. Coburn, and a poem by Miss Lillian Goodrich, will be among the exercises.

Mr. Albert H. Moulton, of the firm of Hayes & Moulton, attorneys and counsellors at law in New Haven, Conn., is passing a short vacation at the home of his father in North Kittery; his wife and little daughter have been here for two weeks past.

William Frost and wife, of South Newmarket, N. H., are visiting friends in Eliot and Kittery.

George W. Damon and A. H. Jenkins, while at work haying in a field near the railroad one day last week, saw a strange-looking animal about the size of a shepherd dog, of a light brown color and with black stripes along its back; it was trotting leisurely along with its tongue hanging out, apparently unconcerned about the presence of strangers; it was going toward the railroad, and was seen by several other persons, but no one knew what it was. Since that time we have been informed that it was a disappointed mugwump returning from examination at the navy yard to his home in the remote districts. SUB ROSA.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. A lobster was caught a few days since near Cedar island, Shoals, by the fishermen residing there, one of the long claws of which measured 5 3-4 inches across; the flesh was too coarse for food. This lobster went into the trap through a six-inch hoop, and the fishermen wonder how he managed to squeeze through so small a place; he must have doubled his claws and himself up somehow, in his eagerness to get at the sculpins inside the pot. A lobster weighing 23 1-4 lbs. was brought in from the Shoals on Saturday, where it was taken by John Hall, and was sold to the U. S. S. Constellation.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or ditch, or upon any shore, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every much neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

MEXICAN WOMEN.

The Man who Marries Weds all the Female Relatives.

Tourists and newspaper men who during their brief visit to Mexico have had but limited opportunities for seeing the domestic life of the higher class, have conveyed to our countrymen and to Europeans the idea that Mexican ladies of even the most aristocratic families are extremely ignorant. This is a most egregious blunder. During the last twenty-five or thirty years it has been customary here to engage accomplished foreign governesses and able tutors for young girls; therefore the ladies of aristocratic families are good linguists, excellent musicians, and are on a par with the corresponding class in Spain and France. It is true they never attempt a "classic course" or dream of imitating our Bostonian damsels in scientific studies; nevertheless, in all those accomplishments which render social intercourse agreeable and home-life delightful, they are quite equal to American and English women. However, it must be admitted that Mexican ladies rarely utilize their talents, and, during the sixty years that intestine commotions and foreign wars have desolated this Republic, they have never been educated with a view to providing against reverses of fortune. This lack of precaution, this seeming inability, is not their fault, but is due to the prevalence of an old Spanish custom which virtually obliges gentlemen to provide for their destitute female relatives and shield them from contact with the world. For example: If a Mexican lady is widowed and has no means, a family council is held, her male relatives or those of her deceased husband charge themselves with the education of her sons and provision is made for her and her daughters. Even if the widow and young ladies should be accomplished they are not expected to work for their bread, and the aid tendered them is calmly accepted as a hereditary right. On the contrary, if a widowed mother is wealthy she cannot be independent. Custom exacts that the care of her property and the education of her sons shall be delegated to male relatives, and, unless she is really an old woman with adult children, she must either reside with her kindred or keep some staid, matronly person in her household by the way of protection against criticism or scandal. Mexican gentlemen are so thoroughly imbued with this idea of womanly helplessness that they do not seem to regard the charge of a bereaved family as an unnatural or unjust burden, but accept all the duties it involves as really sacred obligations. One strong proof of the chivalric nature of Mexican gentlemen is that the estates of widows and orphans are almost invariably honestly administered.

Matrimony is a serious affair here, because, owing to the knightly courtesy of the men and the helplessness of the women, a man, in order to obtain the hand of his lady-love, virtually contracts to befriend all her female kindred; nevertheless—badinage apart—it is a beautiful custom.

One sees many newspaper comments on "the languor and idleness of Mexican ladies." The charge may be made against those who inhabit the "tierra-caliente" or tropic regions, but as regards the ladies of the cities in the "tierra templada," or high plateau, it is unjust. In the Capital they pay even more attention to domestic affairs than wealthy American ladies usually do, because society makes fewer demands upon their time, and fashion does not oblige them to spend their summers in gay watering-places or winters in Europe. Domestic life in Mexico is charmingly simple and really worthy of imitation, except in one respect—rarely do ladies here suckle their infants. This sacred duty of motherhood is usually delegated to Indian nurses. For this omission the physicians are chiefly responsible, because they assure their aristocratic patients that this drain upon their systems is too severe, etc.

As a general rule the ladies of Mexico are gentle, artless, and amiable. A "professional beauty" or "married belle" is not tolerated. Either would soon be ostracized as an improper character.—Mexico City Correspondence.

Summer Resorts for Pets.

"Ah, that's just the place that I've been looking for," exclaimed a perspiring citizen as his eye fell on the sign "Birds boarded" while he was working his way down town a day or two ago. "Now I won't have to cart that confounded canary of Maria's round to half a dozen summer resorts this year," and he heaved a sigh of relief as he disappeared around the corner.

The question of the proper care of pets during the summer is one of the most vexed of all in the domestic economy. The average summer-resort host will not allow them on the premises, they can't be left behind shut up in the town house, and some costly middle course has to be adopted. Nearly all retail bird-dealers will take birds for the season at 25 cents a week at the owner's risk. Business is dull with them during the summer, and they have plenty of vacant space. In the dark, musty rooms which these dealers seem to prefer, the canaries, parrots, and mocking-birds whistle and chatter and sing the hot days away.

With dogs and cats the problem becomes a still more difficult one. Some dealers will take a few dogs for the summer, but the candidate has to confirm closely to certain requirements as to size and condition. The charge is $3 a week. In the words of one of the dealers: "We take our pick. If the dog is small and sound, we'll take it if we aint full already. But we don't want any watch-dogs or high-bred setters on our hands. We can't take many because then we create a nuisance, the neighbors complain of us, and we have to shut up or get out."

Cats find no welcome anywhere, and the only way is to get some ancient dame to take them to her heart and home at so much per week, and the charge is rarely a small one. In view of the great demand for accommodations of this kind, it would be a good investment for some enterprising fancier to hire a spacious place in the suburbs, fit it up for a canine summer resort, and go into the business wholesale. A little advertising would probably bring a large trade, and the introduction of a proper system ought to leave a good margin for profit.

The amount of money that people are willing to spend on their dogs is shown in the doctors' bills which many of them run up. Fashionable physicians charging $5 a visit are often employed to cure ugly little pugs of their attack of stomach-ache or malaria, and there is a man in upper Broadway who makes a business of dog doctoring. He is a graduate of Hamilton college, and values his services as physician and surgeon to all dogdom at $2 a visit. His office is crammed with bottles of patent medicine of his own decoction, warranted to cure all the ills to which dog flesh is heir, and he claims to number the leading members of canine society among his patients, including such high-toned doggies as those of the Astors, Lorillards, and Vanderbilts. His professional income often reaches $100 a week.—N. Y. Tribune.

According to the Lancet the absurd notion still prevails in some parts of England that in case of attempted suicide by hanging it is improper to cut down the body until the police arrive. In a recent case a man permitted his brother to hang, and when the officers arrived he was dead. The man did not recognize the folly of his conduct until the Coroner asked him if he would "wait for the police before rescuing any one for drowning?"

"Don't know what ails me lately. Can't eat well,—can't sleep well. Can't work, and don't enjoy doing anything. Ain't really sick, and I really ain't well. Feel all kind o' played out, someway." That is what scores of men say every day. If they would take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" they would soon have no occasion to say it. It purifies the blood, tones up the system and fortifies it against disease. It is a great anti-bilious remedy as well.

Gen. Grant's Funeral.

The family obsequies of Gen. Grant took place at Mt. McGregor on the 4th inst. A salute of thirteen guns was fired at four o'clock A. M., and from that time through the day guns were fired every half-hour.

At ten o'clock the services at the cottage were held in the presence of over a thousand persons. Cane chairs and rustic settees were provided for the ladies under the trees in the grove before the cottage. The ceremonies opened with the reading of Psalm 90. At the conclusion of the discourse the hymn "Nearer, my God, to Thee," was rendered very impressively by the congregation. The services ended with the benediction.

Rev. Dr. Newman, who delivered the address at Mt. McGregor, in the course of his eulogy read a letter written by Gen. Grant on the 9th of July, and found secreted in his robe after his death, he having evidently kept it concealed during the last weary two weeks of his life, and intended it as his last message to his wife. In it he said:

Look after our dear children and direct them in the paths of rectitude. It would distress me far more to think that one of them could depart from an honorable, upright and virtuous life than it would to know that they were prostrated on a bed of sickness from which they were never to arise alive. They have never given us any cause for alarm on their account, and I earnestly pray they never will. With these few injunctions and the knowledge I have of your love and affection, and the dutiful affection of all our children, I bid you a final farewell, until we meet in another and I trust better world. You will find this on my person after my demise.

After the services there was a general movement of people toward the cotiage to get a last look at the corpse, but it was not deemed advisable to admit any one in view of the fact that it was near the time of the funeral train to start. Generals Sherman and Hancock and Ex-Secretary Evarts left the balcony together. Mrs. Grant had concluded not to go with the funeral train, but to wait until four o'clock, when she and the other ladies of the family left for Saratoga.

U. S. Grant Post 327, of Brooklyn, bore the remains from the cottage to the station. Shortly before one o'clock P. M. the military were drawn up, and a salute was paid the remains as they passed to the depot, and the throng stood with uncovered heads. At 12:35 P. M. the funeral train left Mount McGregor; and shortly after two o'clock the New York Central train, bearing the remains of the departed chieftain, the guard of honor, relatives and distinguished mourners, started from the Saratoga depot for Albany.

On the arrival of the funeral train at Albany the body was conveyed to the capitol, where it remained lying in state until 10:30 A. M. on the 5th, when the doors of the rotunda were closed. At 11:30 the remains were again placed on the funeral train, and at 12:30 P. M. the train left the Albany depot for New York city, where it arrived at the Grand Central depot at five o'clock, and was taken to the city hall.

General Hancock has telegraphed to Fitz Hugh Lee, the democratic nominee for governor of Virginia, asking him to act as aide in the obsequies of General Grant next Saturday.

The governor of Virginia has issued a proclamation directing that all the state offices be closed on the day of General Grant's funeral, and requesting that citizens observe the occasion by religious services.

Governor Ireland, of Texas, has not considered it within his official duty to take any action in regard to Gen. Grant's obsequies.

In Memoriam.

Funeral services in memory of Gen. Grant were held in Westminster abbey on the 4th inst., Canon Farrar delivering an eloquent eulogy. The queen, the prince of Wales, and the dukes of Connaught and Edinburgh, were represented by equerries; Prince Teck and his wife, the duke of Cambridge, commander-in-chief of the British army, Mr. Gladstone and wife, Dr. Newman Hall, the marquis of Lorne, Prime Minister Salisbury, and many other members of the British nobility and of parliament, were present, also nearly all the members of the foreign embassies, and large numbers of distinguished Americans. The flags upon the royal palaces at Windsor and Osborne, and on the royal yachts Osborne and Victoria & Albert, were half-masted during the services.

There were reported on the 3d inst. 3718 new cases of cholera throughout Spain, and 1501 deaths.

There are several cases of cholera in the Paris hospitals, and a number of other patients with the disease are undergoing private treatment in the city. The authorities of the city, and all the newspapers except the Cri du Peuple and the radical organs, refrain from mentioning the appearance of the disease in Paris, fearing that the announcement would frighten away the English and American tourists who are thronging to the city. The Americans who have been warned are going either to England or to Switzerland. The hospitals are actively prepared to combat the epidemic. Twenty-two deaths had occurred up to the 3d inst.

Fifty deaths from cholera took place in Marseilles on the 4th inst.

French officers just home from China report the cholera as raging there, and say Adm. Courbet died with it.

John T. Lohman, who boarded the steamer Wura, of the Bremen line, at Bremen just before her departure for Hoboken, N. Y., is a prisoner on the vessel. He had chloroformed the purser, and was getting away with a box containing diamonds valued at $12,000 when an officer of the vessel detected him. He will be sent back to Germany.

An elegant edition, illustrated, of the tributes of the poets E. C. Stedman, B. F. Taylor, John Boyle O'Rielly, James Fitts and others, to the hero Grant, has been published by Vanderoock & Co., publishers, Chicago, Ill., and will be sent by mail for fifty cents. It is on heavy satin paper, tied with black silk ribbon, and furnishes an exquisite parlor souvenir and a suitable memorial of the death of U. S. Grant. The edition is limited. Agents wanted.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. My health has been such that for some years past I have been obliged to take a tonic of some kind in the spring, and have never found anything that hit my wants as your Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over. Respectfully yours,

J. P. THOMPSON.

One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had been taking it a week she had a rousing appetite, and it did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle, or six bottles for $5. C. I. HOOD & CO. Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Aug. 5th.

The steamer James Sampson is hauled up for repairs, and the Mystic is running some of her trips, leaving Portsmouth at 8:55 A. M., and 2:00 and 6:30 P. M. Persons desiring a cool ride on the water these hot afternoons, in a safe and commodious boat, should take the 2:00 P. M. trip of the Mystic to Kittery Point via Newcastle, returning early in the evening.

Engineer Oliver P. Remick, U. S. R. M., is home on a short visit.

John Y. Trefethen and his wife and daughter, of Cambridge, Mass., are visiting at Capt. Rashe Trefethen's at the Lower Foreside.

Mr. James D. Plaisted, who owns what was once the Shadrech Littlefield place on Pullet hill, North Kittery, has recently purchased a pump of a new pattern of Furber make, called the Pond Lily, of Geo. F. Plaisted, York corner, the agent. It is claimed to be the best make of pump now on the market. Mr. Plaisted has the finest well of water in town, being of frigid coldness even in the hottest weather, and very palatable; the well never fails, and always remains at about the same depth of water; and this is the first pump that was ever in it. Mr. Plaisted and his estimable wife are both Good Templars, and they can drink their fill of this sparkling cold water without danger of such ill effects as sometimes result from the use of other beverages.

Rev. Perry Chandler will move this week from the parsonage at North Kittery to the parsonage at the Foreside.

One of the most suggestive memorial devices exhibited by any of our business men is an artistically draped chair of state with a large wreath of immortelles suspended above the vacant seat, arranged in an alcove facing one of the large windows of Mr. J. F. Adams' place of business on Daniel street. Appropriate emblems are carefully arranged about the chair, one of them, a sickle, bearing the word "Finis." In the opposite window is a crape-enclosed portait of General Grant.

The Penny Post allows a Kittery correspondent who apparently considers himself the special champion of a disreputably-conducted place there, space to make a scurrilous attack upon a gentleman who has been a quite liberal contributor of news items to its columns. He was a little surprised when he saw the screed, but the reflection that no statement emanating from such a source could harm any one's reputation prevented him from being much annoyed.

The depot of the Boston & Maine railroad, Eastern division, at North Beverly, Mass., was entered by burglars Sunday night, 2d inst.. during the absence of the night watchman tending switches at the ice houses, and $1000 was taken from the safe.

A Portland despatch says: "It has transpired here in Maine that an organized movement among the lasters of Lynn has been entered into to compel all the shoe manufacturing companies having shops in that city and in places in Maine to abandon their branches in Maine. Lasters' unions are being organized in the shoe factory towns of this state by agents of the Lynn union, and an advance in the prices paid for work demanded. A union was organized a few days ago at Norway at midnight, and the firm of B. F. Spinney & Co. of that place, having a shop also in Lynn, were threatened that if they did not concede to the demands of the union a strike would be inaugurated both in Norway and at the shops of the firm at Lynn; but if the firm would remove their business to Lynn everything would be all right."

The supreme court has decided that the Adams will, attempted to be set aside at the Ossipee court, must stand.

A heavy rain on the night of the 3d inst. raised lake Sunapee a foot, gullied the roads and beat down the crops in that region, and stopped railroad travel for a day between Concord and Claremont, several bad washouts having occurred.

A great natural curiosity was found among the pines of central Wisconsin near Knowlton a few weeks ago. It was in the form of a petrified squirrel, and was taken from the heart of a tree by some woodmen. The curiosity was carefully packed and sent by William Mulhollen, the owner, to President Cleveland, from whom a personal letter of thanks has been received by the sender, saying that the squirrel would be carefully preserved and placed in the public museum at Washington.

Steamer Captured.

The steamer Meteor arrived at Bath, Maine, Aug. 3d, from Boston. She was an experimental steamer built for great speed, but her first trials were unsatisfactory, and her original machinery was replaced with new at the Goss Iron Works at Bath a few months ago. She has been lying at East Boston for some time, but on Sunday night the watchman was enticed ashore, and parties in the employ of Bath creditors took her out of the harbor and around to Bath.

Beware of the Bottle.

There was unseemly levity at the Chase house, Squirrel island, Me., recently. It was at the supper table. An innocent-looking bottle was the cause of it. Viewed from an unsectarian and a non-political standpoint, the contents of the aforesaid bottle appeared to be Hartford sauce. One gentleman thought so, and he poured a little of it over his dish of lobster. He tasted the lobster, laid the dish down, and said nothing. Pretty soon, a dignified gentleman at his elbow says: "I'll trouble you for the sauce." The bottle was passed to him, and he poured about half of it over his dish of lobster. Meanwhile, the owner of the bottle discovered it cavorting around the table. She simply said, in words brief and to the point: "When you're through with my cough medicine, won't you please pass it this way!"

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drank. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Beware of worthless "Gingers" said to be as good as SANFORD'S. Ask for

H. F. GERRISH,

NO. 40 MARKET STREET.

—A piano was stolen from a church in Buffalo recently. Since then the congregation has grown much larger, and it is proposed to present the thief with a handsome testimonial—if he can be found.

Bed-Bugs, Flies.

Flies, roaches, ants, bed-bugs, rats, mice, gophers, chipmunks, cleared out by "Rough on Rats." 15c.

—An Arizona man has stopped taking an agricultural paper. He wrote to the editor asking how to get rid of goats. The answer came in the next issue of the paper. "Kill them."

Thin People.

"Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures dyspepsia, impotence, sexual debility. $1.

—Ross Browne, the traveller, in describing Smyrna, remarks that he saw but one person there who seemed to be doing anything, and he was falling from the top of a house.

"Rough on Pain."

Cures colic, cramps, diarrhœa; externally for aches, pains, sprains, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism. For man or beast. 20 and 50c.

—"Take the other side of the street," said a stock exchange broker as he handed a solicitous tramp ten cents the other day on Broad street; "I am working on this side of the street myself."

Mothers,

If you are failing; broken, worn out and nervous, use "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

—A Greenboro, Vt., man and his son were fined $2 and costs recently for fishing on Sunday, and they had caught nothing.

Your system is now more susceptible to the benefit of a reliable medicine than at any other season. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

—First gentleman. "I beg your pardon, sir, but is not your name Smythe?" Second gentleman. "No, sir; my name is Smith. You have evidently mistaken me for my son."

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bald spots covered by using a single bottle.

—The root of evil is a hog in a flower bed.

Dr. Seth Arnold's Soothing and Quieting Cordial for children. Recommended by mothers and nurses. 25c.

—"Yes, sir," said the hungry man, as he entered the New Jersey hotel, "I want my dinner; I want it bad." He got it bad.

They Are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had the heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was Liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass.

—Lady (in new grocery store)—"Have you any ten year old port wine?" Boy—"No, mum; this grocery store was only started last week."

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, yard or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No render of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or after 10 o'clock, or thrown into any street lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and aldermen, by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 23. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, crocose or drain feeding thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any drain or ditch feeding the same. Two Lonesome Brothers.

"Yes, my brother and I feel rather lonesome when we look back and think over the past five years," said one of the famous Gallagher brothers, oil-well shooters. "A gang of ten of us," said he, "started out in the torpedoing business then, and my brother and I are the only ones of the party left. I don't suppose, taking it altogether, more than three pounds of the other eight were ever found. They never found as much as a vest button of poor Lew Gray's. He was carrying a few cans of nitro-glycerine on his back in a bag, to save cartage, and while he was passing through the town of Red Rock he slipped and fell. That only left five of us. There wasn't much of Red Rock left ten seconds after Lew fell with his load. Ren Garthwaite was the next one to go. He was getting ready to torpedo a well at Richburg, and something went wrong with the business. A can of nitro-glycerine exploded. Ren's cap was found hanging on a tree three hundred yards away, and three fingers and a foot that had belonged to him were picked up in the vicinity, and that was all any one ever saw of poor Ren. Joe Ross and four others of our gang went to do a job at Corwin Centre. No one ever knew what caused the explosion; because neither Joe nor any of the other four were ever found. It was impossible to tell who the bits of scattered remains that were found belonged to, and the coroner's inquest was lumped and the remnants were buried together. Bill Grant was unloading a wagon-load of nitro-glycerine soon after that at Bolivar, and was passing the cans out to another man in the way some reckless handlers of the stuff have a habit of doing; that is, throwing them out for the other man to catch, the same as you've seen men unload bricks. By and by the man who was catching the cans let one slip through his fingers, and it fell on a stone. Bill's widow hadn't much of him to bury. I don't know what the other man's name was, or whether he left a widow or not. So that left my brother and me the last of the gang. We've shot hundreds of wells, I guess, and while we don't have any more fear or nervousness in handling the deadly stuff than you would in handling so many sticks of wood, we know what it can do, and we favor it all we know how. Still, it's all a matter of luck, I suppose. One of these days some unlooked for thing is bound to happen, and then my brother and I will be scattered around like the rest of them were. I might take some other kind of a job, where there was less danger and the pay just as good but I don't know. I do know that I wouldn't hire out to work on a railroad. When I see trainmen running along over the tops of freight-cars it makes me shudder. Why, they're apt to fall and get a leg or arm taken off any minute. But maybe they get reckless and forget what danger they're in. They make me nervous."

The lonesome brother turned to a workman who was standing several feet away. "Hey, Johnny!" he shouted, "chuck me another can of glycerine. I guess she'll stand another."—Cor. New York Sun.

The Æsthetic Motmot.

The most striking example of abortive effort or at least bizarre form of decoration is found in the case of the motmot, a South American bird, which succeeds in paralleling some of the most absurd of humanity's decorative freaks, notably that one of some savage tribes which consists of filing the teeth to points.

The motmot is by Nature endowed with more than an ordinary degree of beauty. The prevailing color of its plumage is green, the wings and tail being tinged with a beautiful shade of blue; a sable tuft, edged with blue, adorns its breast, and a blue-edged black triangle surrounds the eye and extends to the ear. In addition to this and to a long and graceful tail, it has upon its head a crest which it can erect at will.

But, as if dissatisfied with Nature's attempt to beautify it, the motmot essays an improvement. It selects the two middle feathers of its tail, those two usually being the longest and most conspicuous, as the object of its decorative design. About an inch from the tip of each feather it cuts away with its serated bill about an inch of the web on each side of the shaft, thus giving each feather the appearance of a lawn tennis bat. Nor is this done in a mechanical or instinctive way, for sometimes a too anxious motmot will begin too soon and before its tail has reached its full growth, and will clip away on the wrong feathers, thus disfiguring itself even in motmot estimation, in this respect being not unlike the young males of the human family who, rather than not shave at all, will sometimes use the razor on that much of the hair of the head as wanders down in front of the ears.

It was formerly supposed that the motmot wore away the web from its tail feathers by constantly turning around while sitting on its nest, and when Waterton explained the real reason for the condition of the feathers he was laughed at. Recently, however, captive birds have been seen to perform the cutting operation.—J. C. Beard, in Harper's Magazine for August.

A Queer Rat.

Among the many strange pets which Frank Buckland, that strange man and ardent naturalist, kept in the house, a rat or two were always included. "Rats" formed the subject of his first magazine article. One special rat he saved from an ant-eater in the zoological gardens, and carried it in his hat to his home, where the rat was given a cage on the mantelpiece opposite the cage of Judy, a marmoset. Both Judy and the rat would stay all day coiled up in their own cages. When the gas was lighted, however, both slowly roused up and ventured out. Judy would wander over to the rat's quarters, and, when his back was turned, would steal his food. The rat, on the other hand, would sneak into Judy's cage and pick up forbidden tidbits. One day the rat came home and found Judy stealing. Whereupon he pitched into her, and would perhaps have killed her had not Mr. Buckland, hearing her screams, come in time to save her life. One characteristic of the rat was its curiosity. He would get upon his owner's writing table and cautiously examine every object in hope of finding something worth carrying off. A sugar basin stood there, and its contents were greatly to the little animal's liking. His plan was to stand up on his hind legs, steady himself, tripod fashion, by the help of his tail, tip the basin over, and then, picking up a lump, make off with it. This rat would never eat where he could be seen; he always carried away his food to his house. To do this with the sugar behind to get upon the mantelpiece, eighteen inches above the table, and a little ladder was set up for his accommodation. After Mr. Buckland had shown him once or twice he soon learned how to climb it, and would carry pretty heavy weights. He would steal a whole red herring, for instance, and, after several trials to get it well balanced in his teeth, would scramble up the ladder with it, waving his tail from side to side like a balancing pole. The herring was too long to go through the round door of his house, so he would drop it, and then, going inside, would reach out, catch the fish by the head, and drag it in lengthwise with great ease. The first time he encountered this difficulty, however, it puzzled him for a few moments. The rat made its nest of old envelopes which he tore into small pieces.—Manchester Times.

I sent and got some of the medicine after receiving your letter, and it has cured me. I hardly know myself. I feel so well."

—A New York young man who imagines that he is a painter recently took one of his productions to an artist and said, "Now I want you to give me a criticism on this." "Gentle Spring."

Among spring preparations, do not neglect that which is most important of all—your own body. During the winter the blood absorbs many impurities, which, if not expelled, are liable to break out in scrofula or other disease. The best spring medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It expels every impurity from the blood, and gives strength to every function of the body. Sold by all druggists.

Labor and Capital.

It has frequently been contended by designing men, for selfish purposes, that there was an antagonism between labor and capital. Labor has a day's work to sell, and capital stands ready to purchase it if it can buy it at a price upon which it can make a profit, just as the merchant will buy of the capitalist the product of his mills or shoe shops if he can in turn sell it at a reasonable advance. The capitalist takes the risks incident to business and is subject to all the many fluctuations of trade. The laborer has the great republic though which he may seek employment.

A curious state of affairs is seen of late, when in a city where persons of both sexes and of varied ages are satisfactorily employed, where houses are rented and stores have a good trade, the prosperity which gladdens a community made happy by local industry is interrupted, in the attempted dictation of a few designing men, who for the purpose of controlling a class of workmen invite them to join organizations or "unions," ostensibly for the benefit of the new recruits, but really to their detriment. Recently we have noticed that in certain localities employers have been waited upon, and told they must stop business in places where large sums have been invested to develope business, where shops have been reared, houses and stores built, and a community of interest dependant upon the well conducted industry has grown up. It would seem as if any such pretensions would be scouted by the workmen who are sought to be driven from their homes, and if employed at all, compelled to go to distant cities where are vast crowds of competing workmen, and where they can be more completely controlled by self-appointed regents who may dictate the prices at which they may labor and the various conditions of their industry.

The history of such unnatural and unhealthy operations has repeatedly shown, both in this country and in Europe, that it always results in the mechanic and laborer losing his time while idle, and perhaps a good situation for work; that he gains, in short, nothing by his move, but loses everything; and yet there are men who without giving proper study to the problem, unguardedly enter into these leagues, to learn when too late that the disregard of the motto of that celebrated mechanic, Ben Franklin, "mind your business," is always fraught with danger and loss to the artisan, from which of course none suffers as much as does the unfortunate dupe of the designing men, who prove his dearest foe when they undertake to disturb his well regulated plans for arranging his own affairs.

Several small schooner and sloop yachts went into Little harbar, and anchored in the pool or off the Wentworth.

At Media, Ohio, Aug. 4th, in Van Amburgh's circus, Belmont, a leading athlete, attempted to turn a double somersault over a large number of elephants, horses, camels, etc. The spring-board was wet, and Belmont slipped and was thrown sidewise into the air. He would have done the feat even then, but the bed on which the acrobat struck was not correctly placed, and he fell on the ground. The force injured his spine and head, and he is hurt internally. MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Aug. 6th, Mayor Page in the chair.

Present the full board.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Portsmouth Gaslight Co. received permission to encumber Bow street for building purposes.

James R. May's request for relay of sidewalk in front of No. 6 Market street, was referred to the next board.

Voted to pay $400 to Augustus K. Brown, in part payment for sprinkling the streets.

Bills to amount of about $4500 were reported, and ordered to be paid.

Bill of S. Moulton, agent, $16.50, for damages to his premises by cattle from city farm, and driving the same off the premises thirteen times, was referred to the next board.

Met the common council in convention to canvass the city vote, and the gentlemen previously announced by the papers as being elected, were formally declared to be.

Communication from Col. Wm. H. Sise and others, inviting the city government to take part in the Grant memorial services, was accepted. The convention then rose.

Alderman Anderson moved a vote of thanks to Mayor Page for his courtesy as presiding officer, and it was passed. The mayor acknowledged the compliment in a few pleasant remarks, and closed by inviting the board to dine at Dover point on Saturday afternoon, after the Grant memorial services.

Alderman Walker moved a vote of thanks to the attentive and efficient city clerk, Mr. M. Goodrich; passed.

Ald. Janvrin moved a vote of thanks to City Messenger Gardner; passed.

The city rooms were granted for the use of the memorial committee on the 8th inst.

On the petition of the committee of the G. A. R. and citizens, for the appropriation of $100 to aid in defraying the expenses of the memorial services, it was decided that the board has no authority to grant the request.

Mr. James Wood appeared in support of his claim for twenty-seven sheep, killed by dogs on Pest island. After some discussion Mr. Wood was granted leave to withdraw.

Adjourned without day.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

The train over the Conway road which leaves this city for Boston at 8.20, met with an accident Thursday at the gravel pit in Kittery, a short distance east from Butler Crossing, which is said to have been due to a misplaced switch, which allowed the passenger train to run on the side track into the gravel pit, on which was standing an engine, boarding-car and one or two flat cars. The passenger engine ran into the gravel engine, and the tenders of both and the forward ends of the engines somewhat demolished. One baggage car, the boarding car and a flat car were also slightly damaged. Neither of the engines and none of the cars left the iron, and none of the running work was seriously damaged. The switch which allowed the passenger train to run onto the side track was thrown open by a young man named McDonald, a telegraph operator at the pit, who also tends the switch. He had hardly done this when he saw the passenger train coming down the track and before he had time to throw the switch back the train was rushing past him at a fearful rate, and in a moment more had collided with the gravel engine, causing the damage as above mentioned.

Mr. Luther Palmer, of Wolfeborough Junction, the engineer, saw that the switch was wrong just before he got to it, and reversed his engine and put on the air-brakes, and just as he passed over the switch he either jumped or was thrown from the train, receiving serious injuries. His fireman, Mr. Charles W. Rines, jumped from the train a few seconds later, but was not injured as the train had lost much of its headway and was running comparatively slow.

The passengers were all more or less shaken up, but no one was hurt. A brakeman named Weymouth, who was in the rear car, had one hand slightly bruised, and a lady who got up in her seat just at the time of the shock, had her nose bruised. The news of the accident was brought to this city by men on a hand car, and a train in charge of conductor Sillsbee sent after the passengers and injured man. The train was also accompanied by Dr. Parsons, who dressed the man's wounds and accompanied him to the hotel Flanders in this city, where he now is.

A wrecking train was sent from this city, and brought in the disabled engines and cars about four o'clock in the afternoon. It was remarkable, considering the circumstances, that the accident was not much more serious in its results; the damage to the track was nothing, and to the rolling stock was not nearly so heavy as might have been anticipated; and only one person was seriously injured. On Thursday evening Mr. Palmer was reported as being comfortable, and there was strong hope of his recovery.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, Aug. 6th.

John Crowley, for drunkenness, was ordered to Brentwood for sixty days, and to pay $6.90 costs.

John Williams, charged with drunkenness, was let off.

Albert Goodwin, for assaulting Mary J. Downs, was fined $3, costs $8.04.

James Chase, charged with forgery in executing an order on John Kelley for $8, purporting to be drawn by C. E. Walker & Co., was bound over in the sum of $600 for his appearance at the Supreme court, and in default of sureties was committed to jail.

THE MORAL OF THE ELECTION.

Our neighbor the Times "looks upon the result of the election in this city on Tuesday as significant of the fate of the republican party in the state and in the country," and "sees the beginning of the end of republican control of our state." We had not before had the least idea of how important a factor our municipal election was, in the politics of the state and nation, but we are proud to know it now. Just to think that a democratic victory in old Portsmouth is going to burst up the republican party everywhere! But then great oaks from little acorns grow. Our enthusiastic brother discourses concerning the causes which led to the republican defeat on the 4th inst., as follows:

We have long entertained the opinion that the disintegration of that party would follow rapidly upon its loss of the federal offices. The election here strengthens that opinion. Our city and the country surrounding the navy yard have long afforded conspicuous examples of republican political methods. All know that the party has not been held together so much by distinctive political principles as by what has been denominated the "cohesive power of public plunder"—that is, by office holding and the favors that were at the disposal of office holders. What, then, could have been expected but that which took place at our municipal election. The republican leaders, having no longer the means once at their command to buy over or control voters who had no love for the principles of their party, were deserted—and the party fell at once into a lean minority.

It must not be assumed that because our contemporary thinks the loss of the federal offices and the navy yard patronage caused the republican defeat, that he intends to intimate that gaining possession of the federal offices and the navy yard patronage was what caused the democratic victory. Not any. He has recently fallen from grace, from being one of the virtuous "outs," and has himself become one of the army of wicked office-holders; but even now he wouldn't intimate that the democratic success was due to "the cohesive power of public plunder," as the democrats at this election did not throw so large a percentage of the total vote as they did in August of last year, when the office loving republicans had possession of both the federal offices and the navy yard patronage, and expected to keep them.

In looking back over the records of the city elections, the most noticeable feature observed is the great fluctuation in the vote from year to year. Thus in 1878 the total vote was 1751, of which the republicans had 989, the democrats 592, the greenbackers 165, and the "scat." five; while in 1879 the total vote dropped to 1298, the republican vote being 851, democratic 381, greenback sixty-five, and scattering one. In the latter year, as will be seen, the democratic vote was considerably less than the republican vote this year.

In August, 1880, the total vote was 1619, ten votes less than this year, divided as follows: Republican 858, democratic 756, scattering five. Yet in November of the same year the total vote was 2398, for governor, of which number Jones, democrat, had 1327, Bell having 1058, and "scat." thirteen.

In '81 the total vote was 1747, namely: Republican 906, democratic 820, scattering twenty-one. In '82 the total was 1745, within two of the total of the previous year, but the figures were very nearly reversed as between the parties, the democrats having 922 to 811 for the republicans, and twelve scattering. In '83 the total fell off nearly 350, down to 1406,—democratic 805, republican 599, scattering two; but in '84, though the total vote increased only to 1439, the democrats had 1003 to 434 for the republicans and two scattering. During all these years the republicans held the federal offices and controlled the navy yard.

We do not know that there is any particular moral to be deduced from these figures; if there is, anybody who wishes is at liberty to work it out.

DROWNED.

Asa Caswell fell off Commercial wharf about 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening, and was drowned. He was found not long after falling over, standing upright beside a pile of the wharf, with his head above water, dead. He was about sixty-five years old. Coroner Whittier viewed the body as it lay on the wharf, and ordered its removal to the police station. Mr. Caswell had been employed boiling lobsters for J. O. Downs & Co., in a small building on the wharf, for some time past.

OLD GRAVEYARD FOUND.

It is said that the steam shovel at work in the gravel pit of the Boston & Maine railroad at Kittery, about two and a half miles from Kittery depot, on the 5th inst. cut into an ancient burial ground of the Fernald family, and loaded the remnants of humanity on the cars with the gravel, to be deposited under the bridge between Noble's island and Freeman's point. The railroad authorities did not hear of it until several car-loads had been dumped, when the work was stopped, and the men set to work carefully inspecting the dumped loads and gathering up the bones; and on the 6th fourteen loaded cars were hauled back to the pit, to be unloaded and the gravel culled over there. It was known to some of the Fernalds that there was an old family burial ground containing the remains of six persons somewhere in that locality, but its exact location was unknown, no interment having taken place there for a century or so.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water-drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

—"The only thing to mar the pleasure of the occasion," wrote an Arizona editor of a funeral, "was a little difficulty between the clergyman and one of the mourners concerning the ownership of a flask found in the carriage they had occupied."

Life Preserver.

If you are losing your grip on life, try "Well's Health Renewer." Goes direct to weak spots.

—"What are the last teeth that come?" asked a Lynn teacher of her class in physiology. "False teeth, mum," replied a boy who had just waked up on the back seat.

"Rough on Piles"

Cures piles or hemorrhoids, itching, protruding, bleeding, internal or other. Internal and external remedy in each package. Sure cure, 50c. Druggists.

—It is stated that out of one hundred men who parade in a brass band, at least forty are dummies, and only pretend to play. This shows that men may be innocent, and yet have all the appearance of guilt.

Pretty Women.

Ladies who would retain freshness and vivacity. Don't fail to try "Well's Health Renewer."

—Walt Witman defines a poet as "a person possessing an eccentricity in verbal expression." Yet the man who discourses on his plumber's bill, or the price of his wife's new bonnet, is not necessarily a poet. There are exceptions in all rules.

"Rough On Itch."

"Rough on Itch" cures humors, eruptions, ringworm, tetter, salt rheum, frost ed feet, chilblains.

—"If bees come after you," says an exchange, "stand still, with head bowed." That's a pretty way to give in! Swing your hat and run like blazes.

"I was all run down and Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the medicine I needed," write hundreds of people. Take it now. 100 Doses One Dollar.

—Mamma—"Don't you think, Emma, you are getting a little too old to be playing with the boys so much?" Emma—"I know it; but the older I get the better I like 'em."

Dr. Seth Arnold's Soothing and Quieting Cordial for children. Recommended by mothers and nurses. 25c.

—There is a time to laugh and a time to sing, and a time to be merry and a time to weep; but there is no time in this wide, wide world to button a brand-new, four-ply linen collar on a celluloid collar-button without wishing that some one had invented a few words of heavy calibre to fill a long-felt want.

They Are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had the heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was Liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass.

—A church member was talking with a pastor about an excellent but somewhat aggressive lady of the parish. After descanting at length on her virtues, he concluded by saying: "In fact, she may be called the salt of the earth." "Yes," responded the clergyman pluckily, "and the pepper, too."

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites

For Bronchial Troubles and General Debility.

Thomas Boyne, of Digby, N. S., makes the following statement: "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for six months, and have derived more benefit from it than any other treatment, indeed, I believe it has saved my life, and can honestly recommend it to any one for bronchial trouble or any debilitating disease."

—"Got any cow bells?" "Yes; step this way." "Those are too small. Haven't you larger?" "No, sir; the largest ones are all sold." Rapticus started off, and got as far as the door when the clerk called after him: "Look here, stranger, take one of these small bells for your cow, and you won't have half the trouble in finding her, for when you hear her bell you will always know she can't be far off." The farmer bought the bell.

James Pyle's Pearline is the very best assistant for washing or bleaching, no matter whether by use of cold or hot water. As a labor-saving article it deserves especial mention.

—The following observations upon astronomy by a Welsh curate, when preaching to an English congregation, were transcribed phonetically: "A starr is but a lidl dot in the skyee. Saw many starrs mek one planeat. Saw many planeats mek a constellesshon. Saw many constellesshons mek one milkee way. Six milkee ways mek one zorribomalis."

Nervous Debilitated Men.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which afflict humanity. It is a well-ascertained fact, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasma, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes, temperature, &c.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. The first grist mill run by water power in the Canadian Northwest stood on the Seine river at St. Boniface, Man., and was built in 1850 by Louis Riel, father of the rebel leader. He ran a channel nine miles long from Grass creek into the Seine river to increase his water power.

Some persons think that Queen Victoria would lose her crown if she should marry again. This is a mistake. There is no law of the British realm preventing the sovereign from marrying as often as he or she pleases. Henry VIII. was married five times.

A pretty Scotch girl in Lewiston, Me., joined the salvation army, and was so imbued with the spirit of sacrifice and humility that she gave away all her personal property, including her jewelry, and all her clothing but the cheapest. She has now come to her senses, but she can not get her goods back.

A Northern visitor illustrating Southern life from experience in Memphis, Tenn., says that the refrigerator, dear to Northern hearts as the basis of supplies, is not used through the South commonly. The maid goes to market and buys just enough for the meal, and the character of the purchases does not usually please the Northern taste.

A mound builder's idol was found on a farm east of Tiffin, Ohio, one day last week. It is in the form of the rude resemblance of some animal, about four inches in length, made of a bluish-colored, fine-grained stone, and very highly polished. No one knows how many thousands of years ago the little image may have been worshipped by some devout native.

A South Carolina genius claims to have invented a perfect system of car coupling by electricity. Young. A recent trial a freight train was cut in four pieces and again coupled up without the aid of any person except the conductor, who did the entire work from the rear car. The invention, if successfully introduced, will save many hundreds of lives annually.

There are at present in New York City about 110 miles of street railway, which could probably be constructed and equipped for $3,000,000. They are represented by $14,800,000 of stock and $9,500,000 of bonds, making a total of $24,300,000, the market value at the present time exceeds $36,000,000, or twelve times what it would cost to replace them.

Lieut. Scheutze, who has gone to carry presents to the natives of Lena Delta who aided in the rescue of the Jeannette survivors, is about 35 years of age, and is a bachelor. He is stout in figure and very blonde in type. He has a broad, good-humored face, set off by a savage mustache and short goatee. He is very positive and energetic. He speaks Russian like a native, and is familiar with Siberia.

The transition from the arm-chair to the easy-chair was not made all at once. When men and women wanted real repose they formerly found it in divans, couches, sofas, and what in Shakspeare's time were somewhat reproachfully called "day beds." A loose cushion was made for wooden chairs, and it was sometimes placed upon at other times underneath, a richly embroidered cloth or animal's skin.

The virtues of the hardy mountaineers of Switzerland are being sapped by drink. In the matter of brandy alone the population—which, all told, including women and children, numbers but 2,500,000—consumes 27,000,000 litres per annum, a litre being pretty well equivalent to an ordinary wine bottle. This is an average of thirty bottles of brandy to each adult male. Large quantities of wine and beer are also consumed.

A man in Brooklyn dropped his watch into his pocket, when he was startled by hearing an explosion, which was followed by many others in rapid succession. Before he could remove his clothing it had been burned through to the flesh and a painful wound inflicted. The hand in which he held the watch was also severely burned. An examination proved the explosion to have been caused by chlorate of potash tablets, which he was in the habit of carrying loose in his pocket, and which were ignited by the watch being dropped quickly upon them.

We are gratified to note the fact that the public schools of Alabama are mixing some industry with science and literature, some physical training with intellectual culture. In female colleges young ladies are individually instruction in the art and handiwork of housewifery; and in the school-rooms young men are taught that labor, whether of head or of hand, of brain or of muscle, is always dignified, manly and honorable. It will be a proud day of promise for Alabama when every public school within her boundaries shall establish an industrial department.—Selma (Ala.) Times.

It used to be a fashion in a good many country places to put a live trout in the well, with the idea that the fish kept the water pure. A trout might do something in this way by devouring such insects as fall accidentally into the well, but reduce the value of the living fish in the water is to be looked for in a different direction. The life of the trout is a tolerably good index of the fitness of the water for drinking, since a very slight infiltration of sewage or of water charged with disease germs is enough to kill the fish. When this occurs it is time to look out for some purer supply of drinking water. —New Bedford Mercury.

"Well, I asked him to bring me home a mackerel a week ago, and he brought it home to-day. Now a man must have a pretty good memory to remember a little thing like that for a whole week."

James Pyle's Pearline is the very best assistant for washing or bleaching, no matter whether by use of cold or hot water. As a labor-saving article it deserves especial mention.

—The language of the Terra del Fuegans contains no word for any number above three; the people are unable to distinguish one color from another; they have no religion and no funeral rites, and they possess neither chiefs nor slaves. Their only weapons are bone-pointed spears; they grow neither fruit nor vegetables, and, as their country is naturally barren, they are obliged to live entirely on animal food. But they are not cannibals; they ill-treat neither their women nor their old people, and they are monogamous.

Read what the people say concerning the ability of Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil to cure asthma, catarrh, croup, colds, etc. Mrs. Dora Koch of Buffalo, says: "For croup it is decidedly efficacious." [Mrs.] Noah Mallinger of Marion, Ohio, says the same thing.) S. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., writes: "Had asthma of the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would walk five miles for the medicine and pay $5 a bottle for it." Druggist C. R. Hall, Graysville, Ills., says: "Cured an ulcerated throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Sat up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful RELIEVED me." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. Y., Thomas' Eclectric Oil is also a Tried Tor external application for rheumatism, cuts, scalds, burns, bites, bruises, etc. When visiting the druggist, ask him what he knows of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; if he has been long in the drug trade, he sure he will speak highly of it.

The Root of the Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

The schooner Eliza B. Coffin, of Bangor, Me., was run down and sunk off Wood's Hole on the night of the 6th inst. by the schooner Cox & Green. Capt. Munn of the lost vessel had one leg broken in two places, and with his wife and two sons was picked from the water by a boat from the Cox & Green. The crew of the Coffin took to the rigging, and were saved.

Better Than Vacation.

This is pre-eminently a vacation month, when thousands seek rest and recreation. But to those who suffer the depressive effects of summer debility, the disagreeable symptoms of scrofula, the tortures of biliousness, dyspepsia or sick headache, there is more pain than pleasure in leaving home. To such we say, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will purify your blood, tone up and strengthen your body, expel every trace of scrofula, correct biliousness, and positively cure dyspepsia or sick headache. Take it before you go, and you will enjoy your vacation a thousand fold.

The Cholera.

There were 4294 new cases of cholera in Spain on the 5th inst., and 1638 deaths. The panic caused by the rapid spread of cholera in the country is increasing. Entire villages have been deserted by their inhabitants. In many cases doctors and municipal authorities have been attacked by the scourge, and the sick have been abandoned and the dead left unburied. Reports from other places state that it is impossible to obtain provisions or medicines. The misery throughout the country is great.

There were thirty-five deaths from cholera in Marseilles, France, on the 5th inst.

Mails from the United States for Italy via France are to be sent in tarred sacks, at the request of the Italian government, that they may not carry cholera germs from France to Italy.

It seems that a newly-appointed democratic postmaster in Maine is unable to qualify, because he is confined in jail for embezzlement. The mugwump papers apologetically contend that the president was deceived by over a hundred signers and an endorsement of the candidate by his republican predecessor, with whom he perhaps made a trade. We are inclined to congratulate the executive that the appointee shows his record at the beginning of his term. The question presents itself to the candid consideration of the civil service reformers whether it is not better to have in office an "offensive partisan" who may notwithstanding be an honest republican, than to appoint a democratic reformer who dates his letter of acceptance from the inside of a jail. It is of course fair to state that the president was ignorant of the character of the appointee, as the democratic party in the state of Maine has no such board of recommendation as has the party in New Hampshire, a lack of which of course gives the president for more labor in the effort, and affords far less opportunity in the result of his endeavors to personally ascertain in regard to the fitness of candidates.

A young man named Bangs, of Ottawa, Canada, narrowly escaped drowning at Old Orchard beach on Tuesday, the 4th inst. He was overcome by the undertow, but was saved by a friend, Mr. McKay of Ottawa. Bangs was unconscious when rescued, but was brought to after forty-five minutes of unconsciousness.

A memorial service in honor of Gen. Grant will be held at the hotel Wentworth on Sunday evening, commencing at eight o'clock, opening with prayer by Rev. H. E. Hovey, rector of St. John's church. The Wentworth orchestra will perform Chopin's Funeral March and other appropriate pieces, and the Unitarian church choir will sing several selections, the exercises closing with the benediction by Mr. Hovey.

WHAT WILL convince you of the wonderful curative properties combined in HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, if the remarkable cures that have been effected by its use fail to impress upon your mind this repeatedly proven fact? Thousands are using it, and all declare that it is a medicine possessing all and we claim for it. My friend, if you are sick or in that condition that you cannot call yourself either sick or well, go and get a bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and realize yourself how this medicine hits the right spot, and puts all the machinery of your body into working order. WILL CONVINCE

From the Registrar of Deeds for Middlesex County, Northern District.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. My health has been such that for some years past I have been obliged to take a tonic of some kind in the spring, and have never found anything that hit my wants as your Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over. Respectfully yours,

J. P. THOMPSON.

One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had been taking it a week she had a rousing appetite, and it did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle, or six bottles for $5. C. I. HOOD & CO. Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, Aug. 7th.

Patrick Sheehan, Robert E. Foster and Edward Clark were brought before the court for drunkenness, election being over, and were fined $5, costs $6.90, each. Sheehan and Foster go to Brentwood for a season, while Mr. Clark will try the jail.

THE REPORT OF THE RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

The forty-first annual report of the railroad commissioners of the state makes a book of 349 pages, with a railroad map of the state, showing the railroad lines and names of stations, together with the town boundaries. The map was especially prepared to accompany the report, and seems to have been accurately made.

The report informs us that the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire was opened in 1840, but while in its historical sketch of the express branch of transportation, though it refers to the express organized in 1840 over the Boston & Maine line to Exeter, it makes no mention of the express, originally started when the Eastern was opened to Portsmouth, by P. C. Hall, for whom Jeremiah Prescott, afterward superintendent of the road, was driver in Portsmouth, and which had an office in Geo. Manent's brokers' office at No. 15 Congress street, in a building long since demolished,—and from this beginning followed the present Jackson & Co.'s express, once Walker & Jackson, owned by two former stage drivers. The late Nathaniel White began his express career in 1848, and followed the business for a long series of years, but Christopher C. Jackson of this city, with Niles & Sayward of Dover, seem to have been overlooked by the commissioners.

There is an index to the charters and amendments thereto, of all the railways, with laws relative to these corporations, tables of average fares and freights, and a statement of the condition of the roads, which have 674 grade crossings.

The subject of coal freights is discussed. The annual consumption of coal in the state is stated to be 400,000 tons. The percentage of steam power is steadily increasing, and the problem of cost of transportation is treated of. A table showing the amount of coal consumed by the principal manufacturers in 1884 is given, as well as the port whence it was shipped by rail.

The report in its many features shows that the board have been thorough in their investigations, and careful in their efforts to show the condition of this important factor in our state's prosperity.

THE FIRE ALARM.

One of the matters to which the new and unanimous city government should give prompt attention is the electric fire alarm, which as it exists is worthless for the purpose it was intended for. This fact of course has been generally known ever since the only practical test it has been put to,—the sounding of a false alarm, by some unknown person on the night of July 3d,—took place; but of course it would have been of no use to say much about it pending the election, as the boards that adopted it could hardly have been expected to acknowledge it a costly failure just on the eve of a political contest.

That it is a failure, however, was in effect acknowledged by the board of engineers at their monthly meeting in July, when they remitted the fines of the large number of firemen who failed to respond to the call on the night of the 3d, and many of whom said they would resign from the department rather than pay fines for not responding to an alarm which was entirely inadequate to the service of arousing them.

But the election is over, and political matters in the city and state are settled for a year to come, so there is now no reason why something should not be done to make the new alarm of some use. The simplest, cheapest and best method would be, as we some time ago suggested, to let the apparatus remain as it is, but change the rules so as to provide for a general ringing of the bells as of old, after the box number has been struck by the electric gear. If this plan is not approved by the powers that be, then two more strikers should be put in, at least,—one at the south wardroom building and one at Christian Shore; this would probably render the alarm fairly effective in moderate weather, though even then, in a heavy gale at night, many good firemen would probably sleep through an alarm without being in the least disturbed.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Lucinda G. Potter arrived from Philadelphia on the 7th inst., with 1027 tons coal to J. Albert Walker.

The Newburyport Germ of the 6th inst. says: "The steamer May Queen has been chartered by Portsmouth parties to run as a ferry boat between Portsmouth and Kittery during the remainder of the season." We are informed that she is to take the place of the James Sampson on the route between this city and Kittery Point, the latter boat needing repairs which will keep her off the river for some time.

The steamer Startled Fawn visited this port on Friday with a pleasure party from Newburyport.

The schooner Grace K. Green, of this port, Seaward master, arrived at Newburyport on Thursday evening last with a cargo of coal.

The procession will then be reformed and move through Chestnut, State, Middle, Congress to Franklin hall, and there be dismissed. C. M. ANTHONY, Marshal.

GEO. E. HODGDON, Chief of Staff.

The services at Music hall will include an oration by Rev. H. E. Hovey, and the reading of an original poem by Albert Laighton; the poem will be read by George W. Bartlett, formerly of this city, now residing in the state of New York.

The banks will be closed to-day; and the post-office (general delivery) will be closed from one o'clock to five P. M., by order of the postmaster general.

The rural correspondent of the Boston Advertiser still continues to delight in the country canard contributed by the friend of a disappointed senatorial candidate in this state, that Senator Blair has not only made a trade for certain federal offices in New Hampshire but had been unwise enough to write a letter upon the subject to Frank Jones, which interesting epistle Mr. Jones has now in his safe! However much this mania for writing letters upon all sorts of occasions may develope itself in the career of some of the public men of New Hampshire, it is not one of Senator Blair's weaknesses. It would be just as well for our enterprising Boston cotemporary to read some of the New Hampshire newspapers before stating that Senator Blair had not denied the rumor, which was of course too ridiculous to be entitled to a "public denial."

Boilers with temporarily-laid pipes have been placed in the Rockingham house to dry by steam the plastering, to prevent future shrinkage of the inside finish. The walls of a new building of four stories, to be used as a store room, commercial travellers' show-room and servants' dormitories, are going up on the line of the site of the removed stable of Dr. Parsons; a baggage elevator will be placed near the Warren street entrance to this part of the building.

The funeral services of the late Asa Caswell will take place at Mr. John Caswell's residence on Wall street at one o'clock this afternoon.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above prescribed.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

What You Want to Know.

Everybody wants an honest answer to this simple question:—What is the best medicine to regulate the bowels, cure costiveness and billiousness, help the digestion and give strength to the whole system? People ask us every day. We answer, Parker's Tonic. It is pleasant to the taste. All the children like it. Mothers all praise it. It will save a thousand times its cost in every family.

W. A. Rogers, the tax collector at Sweetwood, Ga., is also the teacher of a flourishing school. A remarkable thing is that in a school of seventy-one pupils, each and every one is related to the teacher and to each other. Only one of the scholars is over fifteen years of age.

"F. W. Kinsman, Esq.: Dear Sir,—With pleasure we order ten gross Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam, showing conclusively that merit has won the day, and that your Balsam is taking the lead over the many bottles of trash that now flood the market."—

West Medway, Mass., is without a hotel for the travelling public, both houses having been closed on account of the active work of the law and order league to suppress liquor selling.

Messrs. Editors: "I bought a half dozen of Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer last fall. It has proved itself so valuable that every person wants it. It is one of the greatest medicines ever put up by man. I could have sold fifty dollars worth of it this winter."—John D. King, Bakersville, Md.

John Mahoney boards with John Fitzgerald of North Adams, Mass., and Mahoney used young Thomas Fitzgerald's hair brush. Thomas knocked Mahoney down and bit his nose off, while John Fitzgerald, the father, kicked Mahoney in the side and stomach, inflicting such injuries that the latter's recovery is doubtful.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

CONSTIPATION!

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by Constipation, and there is no other ill flesh is heir to more apt to be neglected, from the fact material inconvenience may not be immediately felt from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing piles, fistula, headache, impure blood and many other serious affections. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will immediately relieve, and one bottle positively cure or relieve any case of Constipation.

"Was troubled for a year with torpid liver and indigestion, and after trying everything imaginable used BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. The first bottle revived me and the second cured me entirely."—J. S. Williamson, Rochester, N. Y.

Skyrockets exploded at one time as a finale to the fireworks display in Washington, March 4th! This is on a par with the methods of some advertisers, one rocket a day in each paper, fired at the public in the right position, gives them to understand that G. O. Taylor Pure Rye or Old Bourbon can be relied upon for purity and be obtained from leading druggists or grocers. See that Chester H. Graves & Sons' firm name is over each cork and on each label.

Civil Service Reform Talk.

Mr. Curtis, in his address before the Civil Service Reform Association, sees everything in the president's course to gratify the civil service reformers. The fact that the president assumes to carry out a reform distasteful to his party, without the aid or countenance of his party followers, does not seem to occur to the orator, who disposes of the question of "offensive partisanship" satisfactorily to himself. Of course cases like the Burlington collectorship are ignored. Mr. Curtis would have us believe that he believes that the president is fully committed to civil service reform, and that he will be able to carry it out with his political friends opposed to his announced ideas. The address is more noted for the adroit way in which the orator steers clear of terrible examples of Mr. Cleveland's disregard for his civil service professions, than for its ability to explain his inconsistency. In the meantime the people are like the disconsolate widower who mourned his deceased wife and confidentially enquired of a more experienced person in such matters "how long it was expected he must keep up this sort of thing."

The Last Services.

The immense procession of famous men and military and civic societies which escorted Gen. Grant's remains to their last resting place in Riverside park, New York, on Saturday, arrived at the tomb shortly after two o'clock. The comrades of George G. Meade Post, No. 1, G. A. R., of which Gen. Grant was a member, went through the Grand Army ritual, which was followed by the reading of the Methodist Episcopal burial service by Rev. Dr. Newman, who was assisted by Rev. Dr. Talbot W. Chambers of the Collegiate Reformed church. The religious services being concluded with the benediction, Bugler Krouse of Battery H., fifth United States artillery, sounded "taps" in accordance with the request of Colonel Fred Grant. Half a minute later two regiments of the First Division of the New York National Guard fired three volleys of musketry over the tomb. Following them Battery F, fifth United States artillery, of four guns, fired three salvos, after which the "President's salute" was fired by the same battery. The body was then lifted from the catafalque, and to the strains of funeral music, it was borne slowly into the tomb, and salutes from the shipping in the river and the artillery in the park closed the interment ceremonies.

Disastrous Fire at Manchester.

The Webster block, a handsome brick structure on Elm street, Manchester, four stories high in front and five in the rear, was damaged to the amount of about $20,000 by fire on the night of the 7th inst. The lower floor of the block (which fronted 100 feet on Elm street and 100 feet on Hollis street) was occupied by stores, the upper stories being divided into boarding houses with small rooms. It appears to have been a fire-trap of the most abominable sort, and the building provided with neither fire escapes nor watchmen. There were about 500 people in the death-trap when the fire broke out, and the escape of many of them was almost instantly cut off by the smoke and flame; most of them were rescued, but an infant named Thomas O'Brien, Mrs. Eugene Parent and her two daughters, and Mrs. Benjamin Compo and her son and daughter, were taken out of the building dead. Mrs. Mary Ann O'Brien and Miss Lizzie Burns were taken out insensible, but may recover.

FIRE.

At about 8:30 o'clock Sunday evening an alarm was pulled in from box nineteen, on account of a fire at the corner of Mast and Charles streets, a story and a half house belonging to the estate of the late Thomas Quinn being destroyed. The apparatus worked all right.

So desirable a piece of real estate as the house and land No. 93 State street, advertised to be sold by auction at noon to-day, is rarely found in the market in this city. The location is one of the best in Portsmouth, and the house and other buildings in good repair. See advertisement.

Flags were displayed at half-mast on Saturday on the two newly-erected poles on the Rockingham house; also the city hall and custom house, the Liberty bridge liberty-pole, and other buildings and flag poles about the city.

Mr. Luther Palmer, the engineer who was injured at the railroad accident in Kittery last week, died on Saturday morning at the hotel Flanders, near the railroad station in this city, to which place he was conveyed on the day of the smash-up.

Bishop Niles officiated at St. Andrew's by the Sea, at Rye beach, and Prof. Churchill of Andover preached at Union chapel at Little Boar's head, last Sunday.

The queer sounding whistle which attracted attention along the water front, Sunday evening, was from the steamer May Queen, whose crew while on the river discovered the fire at the Quinn house, and whistled to give the alarm.

LAWN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The lawn tennis tournament at the hotel Wentworth, Newcastle, last week, was the most successful affair of the kind ever held in this country, commencing Tuesday and ending Friday evening; the best players in the land competed, and the playing was the most brilliant yet seen on the Wentworth grounds. The following were the winners of the tournament:

Singles, first prize—M. V. R. Berry of Washington, D. C.; second prize, Philip S. Sears of Boston, Mass. Doubles, first prize, W. Percy Knapp of New York and H. W. Slocum, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y.; second prize, Howard A. Taylor of New York and R. Livingston Beeckman of New York.

PROBABLY NEVER

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success at home equal to that which has been poured upon HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the BEST Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficiently laxative, take a few doses of HOOD'S VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

Each dollar bottle contains one hundred (averages) doses. Sold by all druggists.

Price one dollar, or six for five dollars.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

A Lasting Tribute to the Memory of the Dead Hero.

Rev. H. E. Hovey's Address, and the Poem by Albert Laighton.

Interesting and Memorable Services Throughout.

The Grant-memorial services in Music hall were of a very interesting and memorable nature, and were attended by a very large number of our citizens, who met to pay a last sad tribute to the memory of one who has rendered our country a service which will never be forgotten as long as history continues to be written. There were upon our streets at the time of the forming of the procession many strangers from the beaches and the surrounding towns who also were present in Music hall to participate in the morning service. The committee having in charge the arrangements carried out the plans proposed at their first meeting with but very little change. The procession was formed and proceeded to Music hall in the following order:

City Government—Mayor Page, Aldermen Eldredge, Littlefield, Janvrin and Billings.

The exercises in Music hall were presided over by His honor, Mayor Calvin Page, who opened the services of the afternoon with the following short address after which the services were in accordance with the programme:

Fellow Citizens, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In obedience to that sense of duty to a dead hero, which is universal throughout the whole world, we meet to-day. We come to express our sorrow at the nations loss and to lay the tokens of our grateful remembrance upon the great general's bier.

The duty of speaking fitting words in euglogy of Gen. Grant here to-day rests upon another. I only ask that while your hearts and thoughts go out towards the great man and his grief stricken family in whose midst he died, you will not wholly forget the thousands upon thousands of poor soldiers who in obeying his commands and aiding in making him great, did their duty to the country, equally with him and died far away from friends and home, and of whom the world has never heard.

Their widows, their mothers, their children are here with you to-day, and I ask that in the midst of the nations sympathy for a dead chieftain's family, the dead private's family be also remembered.

ORDER OF EXERCISES.

Prelude,	Orchestra.
Invocation,	Rev. O. H. Jasper.

Benediction.

The vocal and instrumental music that was rendered during the services was of a national and inspiring character. Interspersed as it was with these musical selections the programme was well arranged and interesting, the only trouble being its length. The Poem by Albert Laighton, Esq., was an excellent literary production, and as read by Mr. George W. Bartlett was made very beautiful, deeply moving the entire audience. These lines are printed in full, below:

The Lost Leader.

BY ALBERT LAIGHTON.

Our Hero sleeps; his Sun has set;
The weary day is done for him;
Sweet rest of God we say, and yet
A nation's eyes with tears are dim.

As slowly sinks the Evening star,
Till lost its pure, resplendent light
Below the horizon vague and far;—
He passed beyond our mortal sight.

We loved him for his simple ways,
His honest deeds, his iron will;
And in our Country's darkest days
In his strong arm we trusted still.

O nobly good and truly wise!
Great Chieftain! as some mountain rock
The lightning and the storm defies;
So thou didst meet the battle-shock.

The waiting armies at thy word
Swept on resistless as the sea;
And when the foeman sheathed his sword,
Sublime was thou in victory.

O Union great and strong! O Land
Beloved and fair, without a foe!
Heart beats to heart, and hand in hand
Is clasped in this, our common woe.

The funeral rite, the slow, sad bell,
The cannon's solemn, measured sound;
These but our sorrow faintly tell;
Our reverence true, our loss profound.

Lost Leader! sent by heaven to save
The priceless birthright of the free;
Beside thy loved and hallowed grave
Shall linger millions yet to be,

To think of thee with hearts aflame,
And tell thy deeds of valor o'er,
And link, with thy unsullied fame
The name of Freedom evermore.

The address of Mr. Hovey was an able and lasting commemorative tribute, being rich in eulogistic praise of the departed hero and full of historical reminiscences of his life. The audience were much interested in its delivery, and we have no doubt that many, who were not able to hear will be glad to carefully peruse it and we are very happy to be able to print it in our report of the service.

THE ADDRESS.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

There is something sublime in a nation's tears. It is only now and then—at long intervals—perhaps twice or thrice in a century—that the whole popular heart from one end of the country to the other —is for any cause—stirred by a common emotion or roused by a common impulse. But when it is, then is presented a spectacle memorable indeed and having within itself all the elements of pathos and grandeur.

We have encountered such an occasion here to-day. The great heart of this great people is moved as the heart of one man by the same emotion's as those which we are assembled to give expression to and we are but one of many thousands of such gatherings all along across the land, from ocean to ocean—and up and down from the Lakes to the Gulf.

The death of General Grant is rightly regarded as the departure from among us of the man, who was in God's hand, the most conspicious instrument of preserving this country in its integrity—through a crisis more alarming than any other which has come upon it since the United States became a nation. But this reason, as long as our history shall survive his fame is secured.

It is now nearly a quarter of a century since he re-entered the army (for whose service he had been early trained) and modestly offered himself as a recruiting officer to the Governor of Illinois. From that time on he rose steadily, through no political influence—by no secret manipulation of the source of power. But simply by the sheer, straightforward, force of his own ability in faithful and successful military achievements, until at last he commanded armies the largest ever commanded by a single man, and with those armies crushed the stubborn rebellion, on the ground where it had once shown a front most formidable if not invulnerable. And the nation's verdict was, that when Lee's sword was surrendered at Appromatox it was surrendered into the hands of a man who had fairly hewn out for himself a permanent place in the world's catalogue of its bravest and best; and had worthily earned the title of the typical hero of the age. That feeling was then strong in the hearts of the American people, and the chequered history of the twenty years since then with all its light and shadow, of joy and sorrow, playing upon his life has not, in the people's mind, altered the verdict formed in 1865.

Now the public estimate, pronounced upon a man so well known as he was, is very likely to be a fair criterion of real worth and to be an estimate which future ages will confirm. The public heart can hardly be deceived and seldom finds itself in the wrong. The public instinct rarely fails at least to point in the right direction.

And we think that the universal belief to-day that his name will always stand high in the history of nations is a sober belief, founded on the solid grounds of facts and reason, and is not the mere sentimental and emotional expression of the natural feeling of the passing hour of his burial.

It is not to be denied, that there are cases where the general and popular estimate of a man is subsequently found to be incorrect, and the succeeding age, with the advantage of calmer thought will reverse the judgment of the contemporaries of the man himself. But those are mostly cases where it was one or two brilliant acts which have given the man a wide reputation, while his general sphere of action has been too brief in time or too limited in space, for the full development of his character! This is not the case with General Grant. It is not one or two brilliant acts, for which we honor his memory and prize his name, but a long series of steady, faithful, wonderfully able, marvelously successful services! And even those services were many years ago. And ever since then he has lived with the public eye closely following him. It has seen him in prosperity and adversity. It has observed him in weal and in woe. It has watched him journeying around the world, and receiving ovations such as have been given to no other living man, and it has looked with sympathy upon him as the injured victim of financial duplicity wronged, humiliated, and despoiled of goods, and through it all, through light and dark alike, through sunshine and storm, through "thick and thin" (as the saying goes) the popular heart has clung to him,—believed in him,—upheld him,—loved him. Surely this is no evanescent fancy of the people! Surely this is no transitory popularity! Surely from this experience of a quarter of a century we can safely predicate an enduring permance in fame, to the name of Grant!

Undoubtedly as years go on, and history adjusts itself more and more into an equilibrium, Gen. Grant will be remembered above all else for his military achievements. And the wonderful fact that he never lost a battle, will stand forth as the marvelous testimony of activities to his possession of a genius such as the world has seldom seen. I make that statement—that he never lost a battle—on the authority of recent writers, who tell us that indeed now and then a minor engagement, or a skirmish, was lost by the great commander—that, indeed, now and then—very rarely—he thought fit to cease fighting and retire a short distance, for a short time; but that from the beginning of his military career to the end of it, Gen. Grant in no instance failed eventually to accomplish what he set out to accomplish, by any movement, or any disposition or any encounter of his troops. To be able to say of any man, concerned in vast military movements and transactions, surrounded by the tremendous complications of a mighty civil war, commanding troops stretched out over hundreds of miles of territory, and continuing in that position for two or three years, that in the multitudinous variety of experiences, which he must have had, he never in one instance failed to bring about the result which he aimed to bring about—in battle—seems to me to be such an astounding comment on his military ability, that his name will go down to posterity mostly with that association—that other memories of him will finally be concentrated into this—and that he will stand with Cæsar and Napoleon and Arthur, Duke of Wellington, as illustrating the highest points to which military genius can attain.

"Heroism," says Emerson, "feels and never reasons, and therefore is always right. And although a different breeding, different religion and greater intellectual activity would have modified or even increased the particular action; yet for the hero, the deed that he does, is the highest deed, and is not open to the censure of philosophers or divines. It is the avowal of the unschooled man that he finds a quality in him that is negligent of expense, of health, of life, of danger, of hatred, of reproach, and shows that his will is higher and more excellent than all actual and all possible antagonists."

"Heroism speaks the truth—and is just, generous, hospitable, temperate, scornful of petty calculations, and scoraful of being scorned. It is of undaunted boldness, as seen in the reply which Heroism gave to General Buckner (whom we rejoice to think of to-day as helping to bear the coffin of his former great antagonist).

In 1862 General Buckner, then commanding Fort Donaldson on the Cumberland river, sent a flag of truce to ask for the terms and conditions by which he could abandon the fort, and Heroism's grim response was: "No terms can be accepted but unconditional surrender. I propose to move immediately upon your works." No wonder that after such a message the initials of his name were happily interpreted as standing for Unconditional Surrender Grant!

Heroism persists, and is of a fortitude not to be wearied. Heroism "proposes to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." In the Union camp before Vicksburg, a lady from the town came in to ask a favor for her son, who was wounded and a prisoner, and the permission was courteously granted. Whereforethe lady, meaning it well, ventured to offer Gen. Grant some advice. The ramparts were well guarded, she said; the cannon numerous and in perfect order, and the streets full of soldiers, who would die rather than surrender. Would not the General consider all this, and think it better to move away? He listened with kindly and paternal face, and bowed her out, saying quietly and without a trace of irritation: "Dear madam, I must take Vicksburg if I have to stay here twenty years."

The siege was long and for a time the issue doubtful. The North was fervered with anxiety for Grant's name was a new one then, and the debate on the probability of his taking Vicksburg went on in every shop and at every street corner in the land. In one Cincinnati store an old man who had listened to a great deal of the talk, said, "I think he'll take it." And there was a curious air of confidence in the way it was said. "Yes," continued the old man, "He'll take it. Ulysses always did what he set out to do. I know, because, you see, Lys' is my boy."

Heroism is direct and simple, and marches straight ahead. If there are obstacles in the path it either overcomes them or avoids them, but is never thereby diverted from the steady course, aiming like a mathematical line toward the result proposed to be accomplished. This spirit is so full of the single business of accomplishing that one result that it cannot readily stop even to make itself agreeable to those about it. It is agreeable or not as it hapoens. That is a mere side incident, for the one purpose is to go straight to the goal. It is extremely interesting to hear the various testimonies of old soldiers how Gen. Grant illustrated that earnest business spirit.

A. A. Williams, late first sergeant Battery B, First Rhode Island Light Artillery, Second Army Corps, says: "I was in the Second Army Corps, Army of the Potomac, from its formation to the 9th day of June, 1864. From April was under the command of General Grant. From the battle of the Wilderness to the battle of Cold Harbor I saw him viewing our lines of battle from day to day. I noticed that he had no escort to mention, and one would scarcely think to see him on the field that he held a higher rank than a captain of artillery. As he passed he looked pleasant, but did not seem to pay any special heed to right or left. Our front seemed to engage his whole attention. That "looking pleasant—but not seeming to pay any special heed to the right or the left—his whole attention being engaged in front"—is a perfect picture of the General's entire life and characteristics. Again Col. W. M. Olin then a non-commissioned officer of the 36th Massachusetts Ninth Army Corps, thus testifies: "I was under Grant at Vicksburg, but the first time I saw him personally was at North Anna River, in May, 1864. I don't really remember just what my impressions were regarding him at that time. To tell the truth I don't think I thought much about him. It was in the middle of a hot day, and our company was lying in an open field. Some fellow called out, "There's Grant," and we got up and slowly sauntered out to have a look at him. If I remember right, about my only impression was that he wasn't much of a man to look at. There was never much enthusiasm over him, as there was over some of the other generals, as McClellan for instance. When he passed the troops seldom cheered him; they simply looked. He was not the kind of a man to create much enthusiasm—a different kind of a man than we had been accustomed to, and thought that we were likely to have all the fighting we wanted."

Could anything be more vivid than that? "He was not much of a man to look at—but we felt that under his command we were likely to have all the fighting that we wanted." You see he did not set out to be ornamental on the battlefield, but he did set out to do hard work. Gold lace has indeed its uses—and the experience of ages has shown that a marked and distinguishing uniform, for an officer in command of troops is, as a rule, better for him and for them and for the task before them both, But the greatest men of all can do without it. There is perhaps something in their very air and bearing which has the same effect as a conspicuous dress. It is quite what we might expect then, that Warren F. Taylor, Thirty-second Massachusetts regiment, should testify: First saw Grant at Bealton station. He wore a blue cape and slouch hat; can't remember if he had straps.

And that Samuel B. Westgate, private 40th Mass. should say: "He was generally plainly attired, a sort of undress uniform being his favorite. Free and easy in his manners, yet always dignified."

And that J. F. Burnham, a private in Co. G., 139th New York Rgt., 18th Army Corps, should testify: First met General Grant at the battle of Cold Harbor. The general was dressed in a rough fatigue uniform and was mounted on a powerful black horse. He was accompanied by his staff, who, like himself, were all covered with mud, and presented a very shabby appearance generally. Mr. Burnham says that he was rather disappointed when he first saw him, for having heard of his great performances he had thought of him as something grand, and was surprised that such an insignificant looking man could be the great Grant. He could not help, however, feeling that before him was a man of great strength of character, energy and determination.

That was it exactly. Private Burnham's impressions were most congruous and valuable. Our General was not ornamental but very useful.

To the same effect is the testimony of Mr. C. E. Rahr, sergeant of Co. F., Thirty-second Massachusetts, Fifth Corps: He first saw Grant on the road, just previous to the battle of the Wilderness. We were lying on the ridge of a hill, overlooking what was called the Wilderness, and had just had a scrimmage, during which we had lost one of our pieces. The general rode up on his powerful black pacer and calmly surveyed the field, apparently wholly unconcious of the cheers of the troops around him. He seldom paid any attention to the cheers of the boys, but silently sat on his horse looking straight ahead and absorbed in thought. I know that he intended no slight, for it was his nature to do a great deal of thinking and little talking. I don't believe there ever was a general who knew so much about his troops as Grant did. No matter how far away, he knew where every regiment was, and how and when best be reached. If the other generals had gone right in the way he did, there would have been less loss of life, for the war would have been ended much sooner. When a man goes to war he might just as well make up his mind that he is there for fighting, and go into it without complaining.

But there is another side to it all. Heroism is not always hard and stern, and so bent on duty that it forgets the gentler affections. Even the rugged mountain cliff clothes itself with ivy. The most rigorous justice is not quite just unless tempered with mercy. The well balanced character will lack neither the one nor the other. The true hero will not only be respected but also loved. That General Grant was this, there is testimony in great abundance.

Thus Captain Albert Pinder, who served in the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-ninth Massachusetts Regiments: "I never saw General Grant uppear before the army but what he received an ovation.

Sergeant Patrick McConald, Co. I., First United States Infantry, thus bears witness: I was at the siege of Vicksburg, and knew General Grant throughout the siege. Had command of a battery, and Grant came daily to take notes of the progress of the siege. Was profoundly impressed with his ability as a man and a soldier. He was dearly beloved by the soldiers, and every man who served under him would gladly have given his life for him. He was a cool, collected man, who would not take his command where he could not come safely out. Have heard General officers ask for permission to attack certain batteries, and the almost invariable reply was: "General, when I think it prudent, I will give you orders to that effect." Grant never asked a private soldier to go where he would not go himself.

J. H. Lawrence,—4th New Hampshire Rgt.—10th Army Corps testifies as follows:—Saw General Grant near Hare House in front of Petersburg, Va. Dressed in a dark uniform nearly new. Not a man that one would take to have such a determined spirit. He was loved by every man in his army.

John C. Sullivan, Company C, Fourth Massachusetts: Saw Grant at Vicksburg in 1863, just after the surrender. He was sitting in his tent, with his feet upon a box; wore a common blouse and slouch hat. There was no "poppycock" about him, and couldn't tell him from a private soldier. The men were much attached to him, and he always seemed like a man that was easily approached.

Thomas E. Wilmot, Company E., Fortieth Massachusetts: I liked Grant better than any other general I ever served under.

No doubt if these veterans here to-day, should each rise in his place, one by one, in turn, and state exactly what is in his heart, and remembrances of the old commander—each what his individual impressions were of the great General, their estimates would precisely resemble in their diverge aspect those I have read. From all, a respect most profound; from all, a confidence and trust the most unbounded; from most, an affection and loyalty ripening into love which stirs the deep fibres of the being. Between them all we would have the picture of the great man, well balanced, the military hero of the truest type.

In all these voices of the old soldiers, variant though they be one from another, it is easy to see that there is no contradiction. Terribly in earnest, as became a man in those days of fire and blood, weighted down by a responsibility so heavy that its equal has seldom or never fallen upon other human shoulders, with a will most powerful, and a determination firm as the granite rock, that he would do what he was sent to do, our General passed through the war. He was not sent to obtain popularity, but he was popular. His errand was not to cultivate the affections of his men, but in most cases those affections were irresistably attracted to him. His mission was not to build up affable relations with those who were brought in contact with him, but in the course of things those relations came of themselves.

From the testimony of old soldiers who knew him best it may be worth our while to turn for a moment to a testimony coming to us from the world's capital across the water. On Tuesday last, the day of the funeral services at Mount McGregor, there was a most remarkable gathering in Westminster Abbey, the great shrine of England's church and England's state.

It was a service commemorative of our great General. That it should have been held at all, in that edifice, sacred to the memory of English sovereigns and of the most illustrious among English subjects, was unprecedented. That it should have been attended by the most eminent living Englishmen, including the chiefs of the late and present ministries, the representatives of the Royal family, the Commander in chief of the British army, and the highest in rank among the nobility of the country, was a significant proof of the ties which bind together the elder and the younger branches of the English race. At that service Canon Farrer, undoubtedly the most widely known of the English clergy, gave utterance to the following words:

"The year 1861 saw the outbreak of the most terrible of modern wars. The hour came and the man was needed. Within four years Grant commanded an army vaster than had ever before been handled by man. It was not luck, but the result of inflexible faithfulness, indomitable resolution, sleepless energy, iron purpose, persistent tenacity. He rose by the upward gravitation of natural fitness. The very soldiers became impregnated with his spirit. He loved peace and hated bloodshed. But it was his duty at all costs to save the country. The struggle was not for victory, but for existence; not for glory, but for life or death. In his silence, determination, and clearness of insight Grant resembled Washington and Wellington. In the hottest fury of battle his speech never exceeded 'Yea, yea,' and 'Nay, nay.' The church has never refused to honor the faithful soldier fighting for the cause of his country and his God. The cause for which Grant fought—the unity of a great people, the freedom of a whole race—was as great and noble as when at Lexington, the embattled farmers fired the shot which resounded around the world. Could we be gathered in a more fitting place to honor Gen. Grant? There is no lack of American memorials here. We add another to-day. Whatever there be between the two nations to forget and forgive is forgotten and forgiven. If the two peoples which are one, be true to their duty who can doubt that the destinies of the world are in their hands. Let America and England march in the van of freedom and progress, showing the world not only a magnificent spectacle of human happiness, but a still more magnificent spectacle of two peoples united, loving righteousness and hating iniquity, inflexibly faithful to the principles of eternal justice, which are the unchanging law of God."

Such was the English commentary on our American hero? But from that, we come back after all, to the words of the old soldiers who followed him and knew him best and we seem to find in the testimony of Sargeant Williams which I quoted to you first, the most comprehensive summary of any, that which in fewest words reaches the truest description of the man.

"The General sat there on horseback. He did not seem to pay any heed to the right or to the left. Our front seemed to engage his whole attention. That was Gen. Grant! So we will remember him in our hearts; always looking ahead; absorbed in what was in front of him; wholly wrapped up in the work which lay before him. There are pleasant things enough to the right, and there are pleasant things enough to the left, but hispath, the path of duty, the path of responsibility lies straight onward, between the two, and he only looks at that!

Ladies and gentlemen: I cannot refrain from closing what I have to say, in some such fashion as one would close a sermon. If you did not want that you should not have asked a clergyman to be your speaker. I cannot help calling your attention to at least one lesson we may learn from the life of this man, undoubtedly the foremost of the age.

There are many precepts and teachings to be gathered from his great life, but I think that this is the chiefest and best. The glory and dignity of duty; the joy and satisfaction of hard work; the wholesomeness of responsibility gladly undertaken, and manfully shouldered. Let this be what we may learn to-day; Let this invigoration be imparted to us from his example, and the outlook of our republic will be full of the highest possibilities given to mortal man! Let the generation now rising come squarely up to the demands of the duty straight before them and there will be no danger, to our institutions in the future. Let us like him not be diverted by temptation either to the right hand or to the left, but let our whole attention be engaged in the front, and America will to hold her place among the foremost nations of the world. Which may He bring about, who rules over the destinies of the earth. Amen!

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Biliousness

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, breath offensive, tongue coated, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within forty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12 When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure; and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Mark Twain's Pension.

Gen. Black recently addressed the following letter to Samuel Clements, Elma, N. Y., a pension applicant:

Replying to your inquiry relative to your pension-claim certificate, No. 297,520, it is proper to state that so much therein as is based on rheumatism, piles, and sore eyes was rejected May 23, 1885, on the ground that there has been no pensionable disability therefrom since June 30, 1884, the date the claim therefor was filed.

Clements' claim was looked after by Senator Hawley, and Mrs. Hawley attends to all her husband's pension-office business. She sent Clements the following postal-card:

I am informed that your pension is allowed, and I congratulate you.

Very truly,
JOSEPH R. HAWLEY.
Per H. W. HAWLEY.

Instead of going to Samuel Clements at Elma it went to Samuel L. Clemens, Elmira, N. Y., and that gentleman replied as follows:

John C. Black, Commissioner.—Dear Sir: I have not applied for a pension. I have often wanted a pension—often—very often, I may say, but inasmuch as the only military service I performed during the war was in the confederate army, I have always felt a delicacy in asking you for it. However, since you have suggested the thing yourself, I feel strengthened. I haven't any very pensionable diseases myself, but I can furnish a substitute—a man who is just simply a chaos, a museum of all the different kinds of aches, and pains, fractures, dislocations, and malformations there are; a man who would regard rheumatism, piles, and sore eyes as mere recreation and refreshment after the serious occupations of his day. If you grant me the pension, dear sir, please hand it to Gen. Hawley, United States senator—I mean hand him the certificate, not the money—and he will forward it to me. You will observe by his postal-card, which I inclose, that he takes a friendly interest in the matter. He thinks I've already got the pension, whereas I've only got the rheumatism, but I did not want that; I had that before. I wish it was catching. I know a man that I would load up with it pretty early. Lord! but we all feel that way sometimes. I've seen the day when—but never mind that; you may be busy. Just hand it to Hawley—the certificate, you understand, if not transferable.

Very truly yours,
S. L. CLEMENS,

Curious Show of Bovine Intelligence.

I owned sixty-five acres of bottom land, writes Frank Wilkeson to the Providence Star, where the coarse blue-joint grass grew in canebrake-like rankness. My Texas cows chose this dense cover in which to bring forth their young. One spring I knew that there were over twenty calves continually hidden in the grass on this bottom. Every morning cow after cow would slip out of the herd and disappear in the tall grass. After an absence of an hour or two they would return to the herd. In the late afternoon they would again disappear, to rejoin the herd just about corraling time. When the calves were three or four days old their mothers would bring them out into the herd, and their places in the grass would be occupied by younger calves. Once I desired to see the young calves, and I rode into the grass to hunt for them. After an assiduous search I found one calf lying prone on the earth, with its head and neck extended and pressed into the thick mat of old grass that lay on the ground. The little creature lay perfectly quiet, watching my horse. It did not so much as wink its dark eyes when I dismounted and extended my hand toward it. I leaned over it. It watched me intently, but did not stir. I dropped my hand on its head. Instantly it was on its feet and calling loudly for protection, calling that the wolf its mother had told of had come. I heard twenty mother cows bellow in answer to the calf's call that they were coming. The dry grass snapped and cracked in all directions as the maddened cows rushed wildly to their young. I mounted my horse, and rode quickly away from that spot. Each cow ran in a direct line to the place where its calf was hidden. The entire herd rushed into the cover to do battle for the calf. What an uproar there was! Cows, steers, bulls, all calling loudly to one another in angry, excited tones. I had a foolish setter dog with me, and he had to mix himself into the trouble. The first cow that saw him bellowed to the others that she saw the wolf. They all pursued him, and he, doglike, fled to me for protection, and my own cows gave me a brisk chase as I galloped over the prairie. The herd was excited and angry for hours. I do not believe that a young calf has a particle of scent, and I also believe that the cows know this to be so. At any rate, they are willing to leave their offspring out of the corrals over night in a wolf-infested country, even they have hidden them and bade them be still.

Plant Young Trees.

We are asked if time is not saved by planting larger and older fruit trees. We answer no. The desire to get large trees is a mistake that many people make. Among the reasons that can be given for selecting small trees is that they cost less and can be shipped cheaper. More important than this, they will be surer to grow, for a small tree is not so much disturbed by transplanting and the proportion of roots to is better. They will sooner become accustomed to their new location, and, of course, will become established sooner. They can be more easily trained as may be desired, and they will come into bearing as soon or sooner than older trees. If any one will just take the trouble to experiment in this matter, he will see the truth of what we have said. Waldo Brown once planted a row of cherry trees that were six feet high, and paid 40 cents apiece for them. At the same time he planted a large number of trees which were about two feet high and cost him 6 cents apiece. He cut the small trees back to within a foot of the ground. In four years they had caught up to tops the large trees and came into bearing just as soon. He says he would plant small trees if they cost five times more than large ones cost. Impatience never pays more poorly than it does in this very matter. Some people are so impatient that they seem to desire to get an orchard already in bearing. It can not be done, and it is better not to attempt even to approach that impossibility. Begin with an orchard where nature indicates that we should begin. We can not get ahead of nature. All that we can do is to help nature do her best; and that is all there is to what we call improvements.—Western Rural.

The Punka.

The punka is a cloth mounted in a frame some three or four feet wide, and as long as need be, suspended from the ceiling by two ropes or cords, one at each end. In dwellings and offices they hang over the table, the bed, and the desk. In church they hang over every pew. Cords attach one to another, and a whole section is moved by a line leading from it through a hole in the wall attached to an upright pole, the lower end fixed in a cannon shot in a tub of sand. Men called punka wallahs are stationed at each of these, making a row of perhaps a dozen on each side of the building, and when the congregation begins to assemble each sways his pole back and forth with a motion like Kennebec raftsmen at their scalling oars floating down river. These punka wallahs make a striking feature turbaned and dressed in white, with twisted girdles around their waist.—Calcutta Cor., Boston Journal.

Mme. Annie Lamont, an iron-jawed woman, at Coney Island, recently slid down an iron cable, a distance of 350 feet, by means of a pully attached to a strap that she held between her teeth. The upper elevation of the cable was 100 feet and its length 500 feet. The American girl made the longest and highest flight on record, the best prior feat in this line having been accomplished by Emma Juta in the Paris Hippodrome.

"Throw Physic to the Dogs"

When it is the old-fashioned blue mass, blue pill sort, and insist on using Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," a modern medical luxury, being small, sugar-coated granules, containing the active principles of certain roots and herbs, and which will be found to contain as much cathartic power as any of the old-fashioned, larger pills, without the latter's violent, drastic effects. The pellets operate thoroughly but harmlessly, establishing a permanently healthy action of the stomach and bowels, and as an antibilious remedy are unequaled.

What You Want to Know.

Everybody wants an honest answer to this simple question:—What is the best medicine to regulate the bowels, cure costiveness and billiousness, help the digestion and give strength to the whole system? People ask us every day. We answer, Parker's Tonic. It is pleasant to the taste. All the children like it. Mothers all praise it. It will save a thousand times its cost in every family.

Better Than Vacation.

This is pre-eminently a vacation month, when thousands seek rest and recreation. But to those who suffer the depressive effects of summer debility, the disagreeable symptoms of scrofula, the tortures of biliousness, dyspepsia or sick headache, there is more pain than pleasure in leaving home. To such we say, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will purify your blood, tone up and strengthen your body, expel every trace of scrofula, correct biliousness, and positively cure dyspepsia or sick headache. Take it before you go, and you will enjoy your vacation a thousand fold.

A Distinction Carefully Observed.

It seems that Mr. Roach had no valid contract to build the naval vessels, but was working under some sort of an agreement. That is, he and his assignee are bound by his agreement, but the government is not. At any event, the navy department, finding itself in shoal water, has reversed steam and backed off a little. It appears that "the eleventh clause of the agreement in effect provides that, in case of undue delay in the construction of the vessels, the secretary of the navy may, in his discretion, declare the contract forfeited, take possession of the vessels in such state as they may be in, and leave the accounts between the government and the contractor to be adjusted in accordance with the results of an inventory and valuation. This course Mr. Whitney has elected to take, and, after the formal inventory and appraisement, will cause the vessels to be completed under the supervision of the naval bureaus."

The courts will doubtless put an interpretation upon the alleged contracts, and the rights of the government and the other creditors of Mr. Roach will be protected by some legal judgment after a full hearing of the question.

The course of the secretary is very much like that of the president in his civil service reform career. When he don't want to do anything the technicalities of the law prevent him, and he obeys; but when it is deemed expedient to adopt a plan which otherwise might militate against the law, he is able to find a way out of his dilemma.

The only trouble is, the democratic journals have hard work to keep up with the tortuous character of the procession, and really do not know just at what juncture to do their shouting.

Reform is Necessary.

The People and Patriot says that—

The bill reported in the house, from the committee on retrenchment and reform, to establish salaries for members of the legislature, fixing the same at two hundred dollars, to be paid at the end of each biennial session, is unquestionably intended as a move in the direction of reform, but that the proper remedy for the existing evil of absenteeism is to be found in a constitutional amendment fixing the salary at a reasonable figure.

As we shall probably have a constitutional convention ere long, if we could only elect some members to the body who would prefer to serve the state than to minister to their own ambition we might perhaps secure the desired result. The present mode of a part of the members of the legislature working parts of three days in a week and receiving full pay for seven days, is a species of wrong, which should not be suffered in New Hampshire. If there is no one of vigor enough in the legislature to stop this mode of obtaining pay without an equivalent spent in time, then the remedy must be found with the people, with their ideas expressed through the medium of a constitutional convention.

An Irishman applied to the town clerk of North Adams, Mass., recently, for a divorce for a peculiar reason. The man said he was married last spring, and wanted a divorce from his wife because they could not speak the same language. He could speak only English, and she only Irish. The clerk asked the man how the bargain was made in the first place, and the man replied that his sister, who could speak both languages, acted as an interpreter; but she is now gone, and husband and wife are unable to communicate except by signs.

Board PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 20th, 1885. jy20,3w

There were 4382 cases of cholera in the plague stricken districts of Spain on the 8th inst. The deaths from the disease on that day were 1639. Bonfires are burning in Madrid. The epidemic is increasing in Granada.

In Marseilles, France, there were seventeen deaths from cholera on the 9th; no deaths were reported from cholera in Toulon that day.

George Dodge's buildings at Newport were burned Aug. 9th; loss $2000; insurance $1000.

Six of the victims of the Manchester fire were buried Sunday from St. Mary's church in that city. Mary Ann O'Brien, whose child was found dead by her side, herself died in the hospital on Sunday; and Lizzie Burns was reported in a critical state.

PROBABLY NEVER

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success at home equal to that which has been poured upon HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole towns have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the Bear Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficient by laxative, take a few doses of HOOD'S VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

Each dollar bottle contains one hundred (averages) doses. Sold by all druggists.

Price one dollar, or six for five dollars. Hood's Sarsaparilla, prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

NAVY YARD CHANGES.

Daniel A. Hill was on Monday appointed clerk to the chief engineer on the navy yard, vice Amos Goodwin, removed; and James E. Chase took Chase Goodwin's place as clerk in the steam engineering store. Mr. Hill was on the yard, as a republican, from the first of the war up to July, 1873; the gentleman he displaces, Mr. Amos Goodwin, served in the army throughout the war, and was a captain at its close.

Mr. Nathan Whalley of this city on Monday superceded Mr. Henry Taylor of Kittery as superintendent of steam fire engines on the yard. Mr. Taylor served in Martin's battery during the war, and was one of the men who held Little Round Top at the battle of Gettysburg.

It was also reported on the yard that Calvin L. Hayes of Kittery, clerk to the equipment officer, had been displaced in favor of G. Harrison Jenness of Rye. Mr. Hayes served in the 27th and 32d Maine regiments during the war.

It was rumored on the streets of this city, Monday afternoon, that several changes had been made in foremanships on the yard, namely: Charles W. Simson to be foreman shipwright, vice William F. Noyes; Stephen T. Raitt foreman shipsmith; and Daniel H. Trefethen foreman boatbuilder.

MARITIME NOTES.

The ship Grandee, of this port, Jacobs master, from New York for Anjier for orders, arrived at Anjier on the 9th inst. and was ordered to Shanghai.

The schooner Georgietta, with 236 tons coal to E. F. Sise & Co.; the Hattie Lollis, with a cargo of coal for Dover; and the British schooner Canning Packet, from Cape Breton with 150 tons of soft coal for South Newmarket, were among the arrivals at this port on the 10th inst.

Three good-sized schooners arrived at this port on Monday—the Henry P. Mason with 1113 tons of coal, the Nantasket with 842 tons, and the E. S. Lee with 748 tons, all to J. Albert Walker.

The British schooners Maud & Bessie and Minnie N., from Moncton, N. B., with railroad ties, arrived at this port on Sunday. The Minnie N., in coming up the harbor Sunday afternoon, touched on the beacon ledge and hung for a short time, but floated off unhurt.

The brick schooners Hattie Lewis, J. Chester Wood, Satellite, Lillie and D. K. Ham, from this port arrived at Boston on the 9th inst.

The new city government will be inaugurated at ten o'clock this forenoon, at the court house.

Gunner Andrew Harman, U. S. N., formerly stationed at this navy yard but now attached to the receiving ship Vermont, is visiting friends in this city and Kittery, on leave of absence.

Mr. E. H. Leslie has resigned as janitor of the government building, and goes to work in the machine shop.

John W. F. Hobbs of North Hampton passed through this city Monday morning, en route by carriage road to the Poland Springs, Me.

Lieutenant-Colonel Broome, formerly in command of the marine barracks at the Portsmouth navy yard but some months ago transferred to the Boston yard, was ordered by telegram from Washington to command the marines in the Grant funeral procession, but the telegram having been sent to Brooklyn, N. Y., and Colonel Broome not being there at the time of its receipt it was sent on by mail to Boston—and received at 9:39 on Saturday, the day of the funeral, too late, of course, for the order to be obeyed.

The premises No. 93 State street, belonging to the Boardman estate, were sold at auction on Monday for $2,295, being bidden off by S. W. Emery, Esq., as agent for the present occupant, Mr. Hutchings.

An eye witness says that the naval display in New York city on Saturday was nothing like as fine as that in Portsmouth at the Greely reception last year.

James Berry of Kittery, while working on the railroad bridge between Noble's island and Freeman's point, Saturday, was accidentally struck by a maul which slipped from the hands of a fellow workman, and seriously injured. He was knocked senseless by the blow, and remained so for some time.

Carpenter Joseph Cox, U. S. N., of Kittery, retired, was in this city on Monday and moving around as briskly as most men of seventy years, having pulled across the river in his wherry, though he is eighty-eight years old. The wherry was the one he uses in his frequent and generally successful fishing trips outside. Mr. Cox entered the service on the 29th of May, 1834.

Fred Jacques of Biddeford was struck by an engine in Saco on Saturday, and died Sunday. He was about fourteen years old.

Walter F. Blake, of No. 17 Rutland square, Boston, was drowned at Old Orchard on Sunday while bathing. He was subject to heart disease, and was probably attacked while swimming. He was fifty years old, unmarried, and a member of John A. Andrew Post, No. 15, G. A. R.

He Was "Endorsed," However.

First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson last week received advices from Centre Lincolnville, Maine, that F. B. Dunton, recently appointed postmaster there, was in the Portland jail for embezzlement from the same office to which he had been appointed. Immediately upon the receipt of this information General Stevenson directed that Dunton's commission be withheld and an investigation ordered. The first assistant postmaster general says that of course he knew nothing of the circumstances alleged or he would never have made the appointment. If the reports he has received turn out to be true he will revoke the appointment of Dunton, and those who recommended him will never get a hearing at the post office department again.

Prices of Store Cattle—Working oxen ⅋ pair, from $100 @ $225; Farrow cows, $15 @ $30; Fancy cows, $50 @ $80; Milch cows and calves, $25 @ $48; yearlings, $10 @ $20; two years old, $14 @ $30; three years old, $24 @ $42.

Swine—Western fat, live, 4¾ @ 5c ⅋ ℔; northern dressed hogs, 5½c ⅋ ℔.

Prices of Sheep and Lambs—In lots, $2 50, $3 00 @ $3 50 each; extra, $4 00 @ $4 50, or from 2 @ 4½c ⅋ ℔; spring lambs, 5½ @ 8½c ⅋ ℔; yearlings, 4½ @ 5½c ⅋ ℔.

Veal Calves 3½ @ 5½c ⅋ ℔.

Prices of Hides, Tallow and Skins—Brighton hides, 7c ⅋ ℔; Brighton tallow, 4½ @ 5c ⅋ ℔; country hides, 6 @ 6½c ⅋ ℔; country tallow, 2½ @ 3c ⅋ ℔; calf skins, 10c ⅋ ℔; dairy skins, 50 @ 75c each; sheared pelts, 10 @ 25c each; lamb skins, 40 @ 50c each.

The arrivals of cattle at Watertown were 1311 head, with rather more northern than western. The market for the former was not as good as last week either in demand or value. Cattle were not quite as firm and buyers less numerous; 8½c was the best price named.

Milch Cows—A fair demand with sales from $25 @ $50 mostly, as to quality.

Sheep Market—Nearly 1000 more sheep yarded at union market than last week, and prices were quite well sustained. Considerable many are required for the demand, and the supply was not heavy last week. A very good trade in lambs was noticed; buyers appeared to want them.

Veal Calves—Less active demand; 5½c was considered the best price on large lots.

Fat hogs rule firmer, with sales of northern largely at 5½c.

Live Poultry—400 lbs. with chickens at 10½ @ 12c, and mixed lots 12c.

David D. Donovan, of Lynn, Mass., thirty years old, the sole support of a widowed mother and two sisters, jumped from the Pullman train over the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad as it was whirling through Lynn, and fell under the train, receiving fatal injuries. He boarded the train in Boston thinking it stopped in Lynn. Deceased was an exemplary man, and so averse to liquor that he refused a glass of brandy offered him in the station, though suffering terrible agony.

"Wide Awake" for August opens with a fanciful frontispiece by E. H. Lungren, entitled "In the Sweet o' the Year;" the same artist also contributes a fine full-page drawing of Burns' "Highland Mary," the eighth in the series, "Heroines of the Poets." The number has some remarkably good short stories of which dogs and horses are the heroes: "The Gypsy's Prophecy," by a Virginian author, Miss Anna Leach, "Hunted by a Wild Stallion," a Canadian story by Edmund Collins, and "William-Rufus" being a dog once owned by Wade Hampton, and guilty of some very astonishing behavior. The first fisrt is also given of the Hawaiian adventure, "How the Boojums went down the Crater;" this paper is illustrated, and is written by the ten Boojums themselves. In contrast is "The Bound Girl," one of a series of four true early colonial stories by Mary E. Wilkins, furnished from old documents still in existence. The serial stories are notably good, Mr. Brooks' chapters in "The Governor's Daughter," detailing important historical events in old New York. Among the many poems Susan Coolidge has a fine illustrated ballad, "Edenhall," and Marian Douglas, "The Talking Crow." Wide Awake is $3.00 a year. D. Lothrop & Co., publishers, Boston.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that behoet the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Beware of worthless "Gingers" said to be as good as SANFORD'S. Ask for

A tramp who attempted an assault on Mrs. Ellen Keene of Pembroke, Mass., was rushed out of the house by the lady, with a revolver; it is thought he was wounded.

Three Reasons.

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:—

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

Floods caused by the bursting of embankments in the Canton district, China, June 19th, caused the loss of over 1000 lives.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

The official inquiry into the collision between the British gunboat Hecla and the Liverpool and London steamer Cheerful, which occurred on July 21st off Plymouth, Eng., and by which eleven persons were drowned, was begun Aug. 1st. It was shown that the Hecla's rudder was utterly inadequate to control a vessel of 6,400 tons.

Enormous Demand.

For several years I have suffered greatly from periodical returns of Hay Fever. At the suggestion of Covert & Cheever, Druggists, I obtained Ely's Cream Balm, and used a portion of it during a severe attack. I can cheerfully testify as to the immediate and continued relief obtained by its use. I heartily recommend it to those suffering from this or kindred complaints.

(Rev.) H. A. Smith, Clinton, Wis.

Judge James Garland, probably the oldest judge in the world, and it is believed, the oldest member of the Masonic fraternity in the United States, died at his home in Lynchburg, Va., on the night of the 8th inst., in the 95th year of his age. Judge Garland was a native of Albemarle county, Virginia. He served as a volunteer in the war of 1812 and was twice elected to Congress. He has been altogether at the bar and on the bench seventy-three years, having only retired in 1883, when in his 92d year and after he had became totally blind. In all his official life he never had but two of his decisions reversed. He became a Mason in 1812. He voted for James Madison for president, and for every presidential nominee of the democratic party since, having gone to the polls in a carriage last November and cast his ballot for Cleveland and Hendricks.

A Cure For Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. Dow, Fall River.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 23. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 24. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect so to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had bad running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

THE MYSTERY OF EASTHAMPTON.

The time has come when I am at liberty to make public one of the strangest stories ever given to the world—a story so strange and so romantic that if it were not absolutely true it would be pronounced unlikely to the verge of impossibility. Its most minute details have been known to me for more than four years, but for several reasons it has not been permitted me until now to narrate them.

I.

It was April, 1840, forty-five years ago. It was six years before the Mexican War. Where San Francisco, with its 350,000 inhabitants, now stands, was then, and for nine years later, the little Mexican settlement of Yerba Buena, whither a young man who wrote Two Years before the Mast went into a Boston ship for hides. Denver, with its 50,000 inhabitants was founded nineteen years after.

We "make history" so fast in this country that 45 years with us count for more, indeed, in the world's progress "than a cycle of Cathay." In this sleepy corner of Long Island, however, there has been precious little change for the better, and Easthampton was a more important place than now in this month of April aforesaid. It was perhaps on just such a day as this—the sea as blue, the air as clear, the sails of the old windmills as active—that a high-bred, dignified gentleman, about fifty years of age, walked up to the little inn, followed by an attendant.

In a pleasant voice, and with a Scotch accent, he asked if he could have accommodations. The landlord looked at him with a certain hesitation.

"Is that man your servant?" he asked.

"He is," was the reply.

"Well, he must eat at the same table with you."

"I shall conform to your customs and regulations," was the smiling answer.

For five long years did this courtly gentleman sleep in the cramped chambers, breakfast, dine, and sup at the frugal board of this humble hostelry. Then he became an inmate—fortunate enough he was to find such good friends—of the home of the Huntington family, and in that substantial house (it is the fourth from the old Presbyterian church, going south) he spent about twenty-five years more. He was a man of marked piety and benevolence, of charming manner and address, of extreme culture, of rare social qualities. He had been the friend and associate of Jeffrey and the literary giants of his day. He had ample means, and remittances came to him through a chain of banks, ending in a well-known New York house, who denied any knowledge of his personality or belongings.

He led a blameless, a lovely life, in this quiet town. He was the friend of all, the comforter of the afflicted, the helper of the needy. Books and magazines in large store came to him. He versified the Psalms, and taught Latin to the boys. A blameless and lovely life indeed; but a martyrdom, a living death, one would have said, to a man of his tastes and antecedents. Think of it! He remained, an exile, in this town for nearly thirty-one years—from early in his fiftieth to the end of his eighty-first year. In all this time he never saw the face of a relative or an old friend. He went at first on Sundays to the Episcopal church at Sag Harbor, seven miles distant, but he was instrumental in the building of the little one in Easthampton which we just passed; he contributed largely to its support, and he was made a lay reader, and for a long time conducted the services himself. With the exception of this church-going at Sag Harbor, the only time in thirty-one years that this remarkable man passed the limits of the little village was on the occasion of a single trip to Southampton, twelve miles distant. The servant, a Scotch valet, went to the West, and married. He made his appearance at intervals, evidently to extort money from his old master.

During his entire life in Easthampton this man successfully defeated all attempts to discover his identity. When he entered the little inn in April, 1840, the name he gave was John Wallace; John Wallace he was to the end; and John Wallace is the name which you will find, under a cross and anchor, on the plain white marble slab in that southern cemetery over which the old windmill watches. To the excellent family with whom he lived, and whose kindness to him while on earth and tender regard for his memory are altogether lovely, he, waking or sleeping, stalwart or failing, in the close intimacy of three decades, gave no word. The inhabitants of the village, his neighbors and beneficiaries, accepted his kindness and constructed theories about him. With the perverseness of poor human nature, they constructed them to his detriment. He was a bishop of the English church—"another good man gone wrong." He was a murderer. He was—Heaven knows what not! As years passed by, and the place was more and more frequented in summer by "city folks," curiosity spread and grew apace. The most strenuous effort was made to discover who John Wallace was. One man, hearing an old New York name, and since dead, had the ill grace to threaten him. He told him that the "census marshal" was coming, and unless he told that functionary just who he was, he would be put in prison. After this interview the late excellent Dr. Huntington found the poor old gentleman in a pitiable state, and learned of the threat just made.

"Give yourself no concern," said he. "The 'census marshal' has been here. He asked your name. I told him, and he has gone." But on the night of the 30th or 31st of December, 1870, there came to the door a census marshal who could not be barred out, a messenger who brought at once a summons and a release. Mr. Wallace raised himself from his peaceful pillow—there was not even time for him, like Colonel Newcome, to say "Adsum"—his head dropped, and his eighty-first year, his lonely life, and the year of our Lord 1870 came to an end together. One can almost fancy that even in that solemn moment when his soul left the weary body there may have come to him a flash of satisfaction that he had baffled all the curious, intrusive disturbers of his peace. In the expressive language of Shakspeare, "he died and made no sign."

Often during his life in the village he would come from the postoffice holding a letter in his hand, and remark, "This is from my lady friend in Edinburgh."

When he had passed away, Mrs. Huntington, with rare good taste and pathetic kindness, wrote a letter describing his last moments. She addressed it to "Mr. Wallace's Lady Friend, Edinburgh," and sent it through the chain of banks through which the old man's money had come. In due time a reply arrived—cold, formal, unsympathetic. It was signed "Mr. Wallace's Lady Friend."

II.

"Who was Mr. Wallace?" I see the question in your eyes. I went to Easthampton in the fall of 1878, and did my best to find out. I talked with Mrs. Huntington and Miss Cornelia Huntington (author of a charming monograph anent Easthampton and its ways in days gone by, called "Sea Spray,") and I should count a pilgrimage fruitful which gave me the pleasure of their acquaintance. I found them at the time of my last visit enjoying a green old age, loved and respected by all. They told me much of great interest about Mr. Wallace, and among other things they spoke of finding copies of his accounts (of charities in his native land) with the headings torn off. One had been carelessly torn, and on it I found a name. I sent this name with a mass of notes to my late accomplished friend Robert Mackenzie, Esq., of Dundee, Scotland, author of "A History of the Nineteenth Century," and other interesting works. In a few weeks he wrote me that he was "on the trail." In a few weeks more he sent me what he properly called "a very tantalizing letter." Said he, "I know the mystery to the very bottom, but—I may not tell you!"

Not a little disappointed, I communicated this information to a circle of equally disappointed friends. One of them a distinguished divine, told me that "it made his flesh creep like one of Wilkie Collins' stories." Then I went to Scotland? No—to Colorado, of all places in the world, and at the foot of Pike's Peak, in the summer of 1879, I found out all about the poor exile. As living persons are concerned in the manner of my discovery, I may not rightly publish the details thereof; but they are among the strangest happenings of any life. Suffice it to say that on my return I held all the clews, proofs and facts in my hands, and that only now am I permitted to tell the truth about John Wallace.

III.

Perhaps some of you know how distinguished and important a judicial officer is the High Sheriff of a great Scotch county. Such distinguished and important officer was Sheriff W——, resident in Edinburgh. He was a bachelor of fifty years of age. He was famed for his benevolence and his good works. He was the friend of the poor, the widow, and the orphan. His service to the state had earned him a public testimonial. He had "honor, love, obedience, troops of friends." He was a founder and ardent supporter of Sunday-schools. People flocked from cultured Edinburgh homes to hear his weekly addresses to the children.

One day, at the height of his fame, there was made against him the subtle charge of a grave and mysterious crime. At six o'clock in the evening the Lord High Advocate went to a mutual friend.

"Go to Sheriff W——— at once," said he, in sad and measured tones, "and tell him that when I go to my office at ten o'clock to-morrow morning a warrant will issue for his arrest."

That night Sheriff W——— "died out" of Scotland. He had just time to say to a friend that he was not guilty of more than an indiscretion, but that he could not face even the shame of that.

His disappearance is mourned in Edinburgh after all these long years, and tears came to the eyes of old friends when it is mentioned. The man who so patiently bore the long crucifixion of a self-imposed exile, the man who endured the penance of thirty-one years among strangers in a strange land, the man who read the beautiful service in the little Easthampton church, was not John Wallace. Under the white marble tablet in the old Easthampton cemetery sleeps the scholar, the great jurist, the courtly gentleman, the humble Christian—Sheriff W———.—A. A. Hayes, in Harper's Magazine for August.

A patriotic citizen of Vacaville, Cal., who detests the Chinese, recently refused to sell a native of the Celestial Empire a lot for $1,000, but sold it to an esteemed Yankee friend for $500. Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

Pardoned Out.

Police Lieut. Michael Mullen, of Cincinnati, was on the 10th inst. released from the county jail, a full pardon having arrived from Washington, signed by President Cleveland. Mullen had charge of the Hammond street police district of Cincinnati at the presidential election last November, and he was convicted of having locked up in the station house over 100 colored men the night before election. They were detained until after six o'clock in the afternoon on election day, when all were released, it being too late then for them to vote the republican ticket. No charge was entered against any of them. Mullen was convicted in the United States court for violation of the federal election laws and sentenced to one year's imprisonment, which began Jan. 3d. The pardon gave as the grounds for the action of the president the general good reputation of the prisoner; the fact that the application was signed by many first-class citizens; that Mullen probable misapprehended his duties, and various other reasons. The real reason, namely, that Mullen was merely carrying out the orders given him by the democratic election managers, was not touched upon.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner yacht Varuna, of New York, was at anchor inside of Clark's island on Tuesday forenoon. The sloop yacht Eli W. Hoyt, of Newburyport, came to anchor just inside of Fort Constitution on Tuesday evening, having consumed the entire day in making the trip from York, owing to light winds and a heavy sea.

The U. S. S. Galena, which was last week reported to have received orders to sail from this station for Eastport, Me., on Monday, did not weigh her anchor that day. An old main yard from some other ship arrived here for the Galena on Monday afternoon from the Boston yard, and was having its bands set up and being otherwise fixed on the Portsmouth yard on Tuesday.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK CORNER, ME., Aug. 10th.

At the Corner on Saturday a large and beautiful flag, heavily draped, was flung to the breeze, half-mast, in memory and respect to the nation's hero, Gen. U. S. Grant.

This town has now upwards of three thousand visitors. Every cottage, and every room in every hotel or boarding house, at the harbor, was filled to its very uttermost on Saturday. The Marshall, as also the York Harbor (formerly Goodwin) house turned away a large number of applicants. The harbor vicinity is alive—and is fast eclipsing Long beach.

Mr. Jonathan Young, who died July 16th, was one of the sturdy and sound old farmers, honored and respected; of the old school discipline, not polished in manners, but meant what he said, and his word was his bond. The thousands of travellers over what is termed "Cider hill" will miss the venerable man. Always at work, early and late, he had accumulated a good property. Somewhat eccentric, he died without a will, claiming that the law makes a fair division. He leaves a widow and two sons, (by a former wife,) one of whom is employed in Chickering & Sons' piano manufactory in Boston, the other on the farm. Peace to his ashes. A good citizen and a good neighbor has been gathered, as a shock of corn, fully ripe for the harvest.

Work has commenced on repairing the Congregational church edifice and steeple which was struck and shattered by lightning. Mr. John Sanborn, one of the proprietors of the Garrison house, has the management of the job, subject to the committee's instructions. P.

Advices of the 10th inst. from the cholera infected districts of Europe, shows a most shocking state of affairs. The disease was reported on the increase in Toulon and Marseilles, France, there having been 300 deaths in Marseilles within a week. Granada, Spain, was in a deplorable state, worse than Naples was last year; no doctors, and bodies lying unburied in the streets. There were 4717 new cases reported in Spain on the 9th, and 1511 deaths. One death had occurred at Gibraltar, and the Spaniards had quarantined the place with a cordon on land.

There were 3510 new cases of cholera and 1343 deaths from the disease reported in Spain on the 10th.

The dismembered body found floating in the Charles river at Boston on July 23d, is now believed to have been that of Mrs. Nellie Mitchell of Endicott street, who has been missing from her home since the evening of July 20th.

Among the speakers whose presence is assured are Mrs. Mary H. Hunt and Miss E. S. Tobey of Boston, Mrs. Caroline B. Buell of New York, Rev. Dr. Bashford and Mrs. L. M. N. Mr. J. Russell, of Great Falls, is missing from York beach. It is said that he hired a team of Geo. Lord of Great Falls, to take Miss Goodwin, to whom he is engaged, to York. They went there and stopped three days, when Russell returned and went to his brother to borrow some money, and stated that he was in a bad fix. The brother refused to supply the required funds, when Russell said, "If you don't give me some I will shoot myself." He did not get it, but went back to York. He had an interview with his affianced, and then started for the rocks to go fishing, but from that time has not been seen. Russell worked in the Free Press office at Great Falls, and was treasurer of the Sons of Veterans and held $40 of their funds, out of which it is reported he had paid his bills at York, and hence the "fix" he was in.

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success at home equal to that which has been poured upon HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the BEST Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficiently laxative, take a few doses of HOOD'S VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

INAUGURATION

Of the New City Government, Election of the City Clerk, and President and Clerk of the Common Council.

The several members of the two branches of the city government elected at the annual municipal election held one week ago were inaugurated at the Court house Tuesday. The whole of the new board was present and a good number of spectators. The two boards met in convention, when Mayor-elect Eldredge received the oath of office from Mayor Page. The Aldermen and Councilmen then took the oath, when the convention arose and the council proceeded with its regular business. Freeman Pearson was chosen temporary chairman and the members proceeded to ballot for president. Messrs. Littlefield and Brackett were appointed tellers and the ballot was declared as follows:

Whole number of votes cast,	18
Necessary for a choice,	10
Michael Crowley had	11
Freeman Pearson had	6
William A. A. Cullen had	1

and Michael Crowley was elected.

The next business was the election of a clerk of the council, and Charles E. Newton having 18 votes was elected.

Notice was sent to the mayor and aldermen that the council was ready to meet them in convention for the purpose of electing a city clerk.

IN CONVENTION.

Alderman Magraw and Councilman Frazer appointed tellers, and Mercer Goodrich, Esq. was unanimously elected and took the oath of office. Prayer was offered by Rev. O. H. Jasper, who made an earnest supplication for the welfare of the city and for the divine guidance of the members of the city government. Mayor Eldredge then delivered his inaugural address which, as will be seen by the text which follows, is a very concise statement of the condition of city affairs with several sensible and wholesome recommendations.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Councils:— In obedience to the laws of the State, and in accordance with the custom of my predecessors, I take this occasion to call your attention to such matters relating to the affairs of our city, as in my judgment demand your attention; and I trust that any recommendation which I may make will be such as to merit your favorable consideration.

My duties as a member of the Board of Aldermen, during the municipal year just closed, have given me an opportunity to become somewhat acquainted with the financial condition of the city. I find that, though heretofore for many years the city has been obliged to hire large sums of money in temporary loans, to pay current expenses, before the annual appropriations have been available, there has been no loan of that nature during the past year. The city therefore has no floating indebtedness, and no part of the bonded debt, excepting $5,000, falling due in 1887, becomes due until 1889, when bonds to the amount of $50,000 mature, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent.

I think that in order to meet the payment of this larger sum, we should take measures looking to the sale of a portion of the stock belonging to the city in the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, each year, until we have sold sufficient for this purpose. Though the proceeds could not probably be invested so as to bring six per cent. interest to the city until 1889, yet the stock, if sold in small lots, will sell at a sufficient premium to enable the city to make itself whole by the operation.

The amount received from the sale of a part of the city farm—$22,566—is in the city treasury to the credit of the appropriation for abating the North mill pond nuisance.

The collector and treasurer for the years 1873 and 1874 still owes the city the sum of $231.19, and it would seem that measures ought to be taken to close this account in some way.

The collector and treasurer for the years 1883-84 owes the city $1,418.24, of which about one-half apparently is cash in his hands not paid over. But inasmuch as his accounts as collector and treasurer were mingled together, it is difficult to separate them exactly.

This matter demands your attention, and some action on your part, whereby whatever is actually due the city should be paid into the treasury.

The United States Court of Claims has within a few months past decided adversely to the claim for $19,529.60, alleged to be due the city from the government, and that item should hereafter be omitted from the "assets" of the city.

Our streets are, for the most part, in good condition and compare favorably with those of any other New England city. Money well expended upon them is well invested, and I trust that the same liberal spirit towards them will be manifested as heretofore. A great many items of expense are charged to the appropriation for streets which do not directly benefit them. The cost of collecting ashes and refuse from the houses of citizens, which amounts, according to my estimate, to nearly if not fully twelve hundred dollars annually, is one of the items. The drinking fountain about being completed, on Market square, is another similar item. This fountain will be of incalculable value as furnishing a constant supply of pure water for drinking purposes, but its value to the city as furnishing the additional supply of water so long demanded for the reservoir on Market square, should not be overlooked; the pipe feeding this fountain being connected so as to supply this reservoir when desired.

A gravel pit is very much needed and I would specially urge upon you the necessity of obtaining one at a convenient distance from the compact part of the city at once if possible.

During the past year only one accident of any considerable importance has happened upon the streets, notwithstanding for a long season during the winter the sidewalks were covered with ice and the persons in charge of the streets were obliged to carry on a continuous warfare with the elements. The damages caused by this accident were settled amicably to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The city has only one case in court, and whatever may be the result of this suit, the city is not liable to lose anything as I understand it. This action is brought by William S. Willey, who claims that the city, in taking gravel from the pit on Lafayette road, has interrupted his right of way there. But as the city has a warranty deed of the pit from the late John Elwyn, and his legal representatives have been notified of the suit and summoned to defend it, I suppose the city is amply protected.

An efficient police force is one of the necessary adjuncts of a city government, especially in a seaport like this. The police should be citizens of undoubted honesty and integrity, of good habits and possessing discretion and good judgment. It is difficult to find men possessing all these qualifications, who are willing to subject themselves to danger and exposure for the small salaries paid them; and in appointing men to fill these places the appointing power is often sorely troubled, and is liable to mistakes and errors. I cannot too strongly urge upon the Board of Aldermen the importance of great care and deliberation in selecting men for these positions.

The condition of our school houses and the manner of heating them is not such as it should be. The high school building is now being supplied with a steam heating apparatus, and I doubt not that the result, both in the matter of economy and the sufficiency of heat will be satisfactory. I think it worth the inquiry by you whether some other of our school houses should not be so heated. It has been suggested that the school houses in Districts One and Two, in the compact part of the city, might all be brought together under one roof in a large school house to be erected for this purpose. But I doubt if the tax payers are yet ready to raise the necessary funds for such a purpose. It is useless however to attempt to deny that our school houses are, as a general thing, behind the age, and not such as we can exhibit with pride. Sooner or later something must be done in this regard.

It has been suggested that in the Fire Department there is an opportunity to effect a considerable saving, and not only not lessen its efficiency but rather increase it by reducing the number of men attached to the department. It is claimed by those favoring this idea that in most other cities a less number of men than we have is found sufficient for a company, and that there is no reason why this should not apply equally as well in our own city, and thereby an annual saving of five or six hundred dollars be made in the matter of salaries. And it is said that this reduction can be the better brought about now because better facilities are offered the department by the additions already made and the means provided and at its command. An additional horse has been lately purchased so that there is at all times at least one horse in the city stables ready in case of fire.

The long needed additional supply of water for the reservoir on Market Square will be obtained, as I have stated above, by means of the fountain now being put in.

During the past year the Gamewell Electric Fire Alarm System has been adopted, and is in complete working order. It has worked well in other cities where used, and has been found of great value; and I doubt not that it will in time here fully meet the expectations of those favoring it, and gain the confidence and praise of those now opposing it.

It is of course agreed by everybody that the presence of the fire department is worth much more during the first few minutes of a fire, than after the fire has gained headway. Not only does the fire alarm furnish the means of giving immediate notice of the existence of a fire, but it also gives to everybody, information as to its location, so that no time is lost in finding it. Had this system been in operation at the time of the burning of the Rockingham House, it is more than probable that the building would have been saved. But the department as now organized has proved itself efficient and satisfactory in cases of fire, and our citizens have a sense of security under it which should not be shaken by any ill-advised or hasty action. The subject should therefore be carefully considered by you before any important changes are made.

The North mill pond nuisance, which has for nearly fifteen years been a source of annoyance and expense to the city, and a bugbear to each successive city government, seems now to be in a fair way of abatement.

In accordance with the judgment of the competent engineers and others, and agreeably to the express wishes of a large number of our citizens, it has been determined to construct a large intercepting brick sewer from near Creek street along the railroads and through Deer street to the river into tide water. All sewers and drains now running into the pond will be connected with this sewer, and no more sewage will be drained into the pond. The plans and specifications for this sewer have been prepared; proposals for the work have been issued and bids called for, and I see no reason why the contract will not be awarded and the work commenced so as to finish the sewer by the first of January next. It will probably be necessary to take some measures in regard to the outlet of the pond in order that the sewage already deposited may be rendered harmless as rapidly as possible, but I am satisfied that I can congratulate you that we have reached "the beginning of the end."

The question of providing a remedy for the trouble has been one of great difficulty, and the attempts of each successive city government in this direction seemed only to complicate the matter and add to the difficulties. The result now arrived at has only been reached after the expenditure of much time and labor, of which the citizens generally have very little idea. I think this city government and all our citizens are largely indebted to my predecessor, who has to-day retired from office, for what has been accomplished.

For full information as to all matters of detail relating to the city debt, assets and fiscal affairs, I would refer you to the published accounts, and would invite your attention to the city books and all matters in the office of the city clerk, that you may compare their present condition with that of one year ago, when there were no books or accounts worthy of the name; when the funds belonging to the city were not where they could be found; when the more important appropriations for the year had been expended although the year was but little more than half gone, and when it was impossible to tell whether the then incoming city government had anything to take charge of save an empty treasury, a large floating indebtedness and an avalanch of unpaid bills.

There will doubtless arise during the coming year many other matters demanding your attention, to which I have not referred. Indeed, I have only touched upon some of the most important questions now apparent. And, I trust that to all the affairs of the city which come under our charge, we shall be ever ready to give the same careful and considerate attention which we would bestow upon our own private affairs of importance. I believe that this has been done during the past year, and our election to the positions we now hold furnish the best evidence that the citizens are satisfied with such an administration of their affairs, and are ready to indorse and support by their suffrages those officials whose aim it is to do their whole duty faithfully and honestly.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, Aug. 11th.

John Couch and John Donovan, tramps, were held in $800 each for their appearance at the October term of the supreme court. In default of sureties, they will lie in jail until that time.

Emma Bell, drunk, $3 fine, costs $5.76, which she will work out at Brentwood.

VITAL STATISTICS.

The Argus of Albany, N. Y., says there is not so much marrying in New England as there used to be, and that the percentage of old bachelors and old maids is steadily on the increase, year by year. The returns of marriages made to the city clerk of Portsmouth for the month of July do not in any way conflict with the statement of the Argus, only two marriages having been solemnized in this city during that month; and of these, one couple was from Auburn, Me., the other bride being from Boston and the groom from York, Me. It is singular that in a city of some 10,000 inhabitants, and with business and industrial pursuits as prosperous as in other places, not an individual should enter the marriage state for an entire month.

For the first time since the new registration law became operative, the births recorded for the month exceeded the number of burial permits issued, there having been fourteen births to nine deaths, four of the burial permits having been for the interment of persons who died in other cities. Of the decedents six were over sixty years of age, five over seventy, and two over eighty.

Mr. W. K. Hill, proprietor of the restaurant in the railroad station, has received $100 from the Travellers' Accident Ins. Co. on account of an injury received to one of his wrists by a mishap at the skating rink some weeks ago.

The Douglas County News, published in Alexandria, Douglas county, Minnesota, says: "Mr. Chas. F. Cardigan of Norton, Mass., has been looking over this section, and has concluded to locate in Ida. He has purchased forty acres of land from Mr. H. H. Brown, upon which he will erect a residence, when his wife will join him in their new home. It gives us pleasure to welcome such men as Mr. Cardigan to our county." Such men as Mr. Cardigan are an acquisition to any place. He was for a number of years orderly on the ferry steamer Emerald, running between the navy yard and this city, and while effectively performing all the duties of the position won the respect and good will of all with whom he came in contact.

Mr. Albert W. Rix of Lebanon, formerly of this city and foreman machinist at the navy yard, was in this city on Monday night with his family, on the way to their cottage at Union bluff, York beach.

The old blacksmith shop at the foot of Daniel street, where years ago the iron work was done for many a noble ship built on this river, was commenced to be torn down on Tuesday.

Tuesday was one of the most uncomfortable, sweltering, sticky, muggy days on record. Reform is evidently necessary in the weather bureau.

The high school camping-out party that went to Wallis' sands, Rye beach, last week, returned on Saturday, not having stayed out their allotted time. The members of the party became homesick, —they "were young things, and couldn't leave their mothers."

The laying of the two-inch pipe connecting the State street main of the aqueduct with the Market square reservoir was completed on Tuesday evening, and now in case of fire that reservoir will be worth three times what it ever was before. That is one good thing to the credit of the late municipal administration.

The engines of the Eastern and Northern divisions of the Boston & Maine railroad were draped in mourning on Tuesday, in memory of Engineer Luther Palmer, fatally injured by the accident at the Kittery gravel pit, who was buried in the family lot at Great Falls that day. Some very beautiful floral mementoes were sent from this city, and a number of railroad men went up to attend the obsequies. A correspondent says Mr. Palmer's father also lost his life in an accident on the Eastern road a number of years ago.

In the state senate, Tuesday, a bill to enable the city of Portsmouth to employ a superintendent of schools was introduced and referred.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by housands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

The United States steamer Enterprise arrived at Sokrakata, Java, Aug. 10th, on her way home from Asiatic waters, via Australia and Cape Horn. The message read: "Sokrakata, Aug. 10. Enterprise. Barker."

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

On Sunday last Mayor Simpson of Newburyport went to the police station, and was informed that evidence against violators of the Sunday liquor law could not be procured. Taking a policeman with him he started out, and soon found two saloons in full blast. The others hastened to close up.

Enormous Demand.

For several years I have suffered greatly from periodical returns of Hay Fever. At the suggestion of Covert & Cheever, Druggists, I obtained Ely's Cream Balm, and used a portion of it during a severe attack. I can cheerfully testify as to the immediate and continued relief obtained by its use. I heartily recommend it to those suffering from this or kindred complaints.

(Rev.) H. A. Smith, Clinton, Wis.

At Portland, Oregon, Aug. 8th, H. A. Carpenter, Snider and Sletter, saloonkeepers, and Snider's wife and child, were out sailing on the Columbia river, above the cascades. The boat drifted too near the ripples, and notwithstanding the efforts of the men they went over, and all were drowned.

It is prepared with the greatest skill and care, under the direction of the men who originated it. Hence Hood's Sarsaparilla may be depended upon as a thoroughly pure, honest, and reliable medicine.

How to Ascertain If You Are a Mascot.

While the thermometer was bursting through its limits at noon, on Tuesday, July 14th, down south, in New Orleans, La., Gen'ls G. T. Beauregard of La. and Jubal A. The End of the Day.

The Day in gorgeous traveling dress goes through the Sunset's door;
And many days my eyes may see, but see this Day no more.
It goes to make report to God of all that we have done,
Since first to light it on its way He lit it's lamp, the sun.

It lingers on the threshold still while parting gifts it throws
To all it leaves behind—unto the orient clouds, a rose.
Its purple to the crowding hills, that hushed in homage stand,
And gold unto the leaping sea and gauze unto the land.

Yes, wait, kind Day, before you go to find the by-gone days,
And, to my Heavenly Father take my love and thanks and praise
For all the blessings that He sent by you anew to me.
The sight of those I love the best, and busy life and glee,
And beg Him day by day to me His best of gifts to send,
A heart to love Him more and more till all my days shall end.

AN AMATEUR MESMERIST.

BY A CONTRIBUTOR.

At a small party up in the Western Division one night last week a highly comic young man said early in the evening that he had a bully idea for having some fun at the expense of a quiet and inoffensive guest who was expected later.

"Tell what we'll do," said he, bubbling over with mirth as he spoke. "I'll mesmerise Jones—make him stand on his head, and think he's a tea-kettle, and so on. It'll be awfully funny. I've been having a little experience in mesmerism lately, and I can do it just as easy as borrowing five dollars."

They all said it would be a great joke, and funny, and so on; and when soon after the unsuspecting Jones arrived, they turned the conversation, as if accidently, on mesmerism, and the unsuspecting Jones said he didn't think there was much in it.

"Oh, you don't, eh?" said the highly comic young man, who, for the purpose of argument, we shall call Smith; "now, I've been experimenting a little in these things, and there's a good deal in it. Now, I think, I could mesmerise you if you'd let me try."

"Oh, dear Mr. Jones," cried all the young ladies with one accord, "please do let him mesmerise you; it will add so greatly to the eclat of the evening."

Mr. Jones consented to be mesmerised if it would afford them any pleasure. Rather to his own surprise, and greatly to every one else's, after a few passes Mr. Smith saw his victim pass into the magnetic slumber; and then the fun began.

Poor Mr. Jones was made to believe himself whatever his mesmeriser wished—one time an eloquent preacher, at other times a profound surgeon; again a sick patient, and anon an exquisite opera-singer; until every one roared and laughed until his or her sides were sore, and one handsome, tender-hearted young girl said it is a shame!"

"I guess we've had about fun enough out of the poor cuss," said Smith, magnanimously; "'spose I take him out of his magnetic slumber?"

"Now," said Smith, "observe that I will make a few passes in the reverse way, and thus release him from the controlling influence of my mind, and dispel the magnetic slumber in which he has been the unconscious agent to minister to our mirth and amusement."

So he made a few passes but Jones did not come out of his trance; on the contrary, he glared wildly about the room, ran his fingers through his hair, and tearing off his coat, howled, "Thim Chinese must go, and if the lying, lecherous parasites and bloodsuckers of the Associated Press, dissipate any more of their slimy, convulsive, and hellishly malignant lies. I'll——"

"Why, he thinks he's Denis Kearny!" exclaimed every one, and they looked in surprise at Smith, who; however, retained his presence of mind, and, though badly surprised, said—

"You see I stimulated his bumps of eloquence and causation, as I may say; now, however, I will dismagnetise him for good.

So he made a few more passes, and Jones set off walking at a break-neck pace down the room, yelling, "This is the 2697th quarter—bet a bonanza mine to a banana I win."

Smith looked somewhat more serious, and everybody said—"Why, how singular!"

Some of the guests remarked:

"Smith, why don't you take him out of the magnetic slumber at once? He'll upset the furniture."

"I will," exclaimed Smith, and made several more assorted passes, finally seizing Jones and boxing him violently, with the exclamation, "Hi! there! I say, you know time's up. Wake up! Be yourself! Come out of this trance!"

Jones gazed at him pleasantly for an instant, then a rapturous smile broke out upon his countenance, and crying:

"Hence Achmet, draw thy scimitar and keep faithful watch at the outer gate of the Seraglio—the Garden of Delights—while the Sultan, the Magnificent, the Lord of the Earth, rejoices his heart in the smiles of his odalisques!" Before they had any ideas of his intention he hugged and kissed every pretty girl in the room, calling them all "Fatima."

"Perhaps he's going mad," said somebody, and the lady of the house, turning pale exclaimed:

"Mr. Smith, I must insist that you restore that unhappy young man to his senses this moment."

"Great heavens!" said Smith, who had burst into a profuse perspiration, "that's what I'm trying to do as hard as I can, but he won't come out of his trance. I must have forgotten something about the process."

"Well, try and remember it," said the lady, "or he may be a raving maniac, and his blood—and ours, which is worse, and more to the purpose—will be upon your head."

Here Jones took up a tumbler of lemonade with much solemnity, and advancing across the room with majestic step, halted before Smith and exclaimed:

"Saul, son of Kish, I, the Prophet Samuel, D. D., appoint thee King over the people of Israel," poured the refreshing beverage over Tom Smith's head.

Then yelling, "Hurry up another wheelbarrowful of them bricks!" he jerked Smith's legs from under him, and, seizing him by the feet, ran him on his nose across the room like a barrow, and jammed his head against the opposite wall; then, dropping the amateur mesmerist, he advanced with a stealthy step and hissed in a blood-curdling tone:

"Give me the dagger and I will these hands of mine incarnadine in the villain's heart's blood; send him down, down to the deepest depths of perdition, and join him there, my dreadful mission being accomplished up to the handle!"

At this the handsome, tender-hearted girl fainted, three got out of the room, and the mistress of the house turned on the burglar alarm for a policeman, and adjured Smith to run for a doctor and take the man out of his trance with a stomach-pump or an electric embrocation or something before there had been done a deed of dreadful note.

Smith did not want to be told twice, but dashed out of the house like a runaway flash of lightning, not stopping to put on his hat or overcoat, and, as he was going through the gate, ran plump into a line of policemen who were answering the call.

"You scoundrel," cried the officer, as they rolled over each other, "surrender, or I'll blow your brains out with my club," and he took hold of Smith with so determined a grip that he tore every button off his shirt and waistcoat.

"I was going for the doctor—there's a raging maniac in that house," gasped Smith; "lemme go."

"Oh, that's too thin," contemptuously replied the policeman, "what are you telling me? Come along into the house, and let's see how many spoons you have about you."

So he dragged his captive in, giving him a hearty shake at every third step.

As Smith could not answer a word in his hurry, he was rather roughly treated, and his foot happening to slip, he fell with the corner of his eye against the policeman's baton, which completely bulged up that organ. After a time, however, he was able to refer to the number of the house, and there they went—Smith sans collars, waistcoat, buttons, sans everything except an eye which was as big as three.

When the front door was opened, he found Jones seated, clothed in his right mind, conversing on the weather. Explanations were made to the officer; and then Smith borrowed a new collar and some pins, repaired his damages, and went home, after vainly endeavoring to impress upon the company that it was a put-up job between him and Jones to contribute to the evening's amusement.

Jones is not looked upon at present as quite as green as they took him to be, and is decidedly the social lion of the neighborhood.

A New Chinese Wonder.

A child who can see what is going on hundreds of miles off is a very useful acquisition, and if the boy at Pekin, alleged to be thus gifted, is only half as clever as he is described, he certainly deserves all the sensation he is creating. He was brought to Pekin from a distant province, and presented to Prince Chun, the father of the youthful emperor, who immediately took him under his protection. His hand serves him as a wonderful mirror, it appears. On the palm of it he sees reflected what is going forward at an enormous distance. One day, for instance, it is related that the child was asked at the palace what was taking place in Anam. He consulted his hand, and replied: "I see fighting; the imperial dragon is victorious; the tri-colored flag is trodden down in the dust." And, of course, three days later a dispatch brought to Pekin the news of a Chinese victory in Tonquin. To be quite sure the boy was not an impostor, Prince Chun, at the first interview he had with him, inquired what the family of a mandarin were doing whose residence was a couple of leagues distant from the palace. "They are all eating macaroni," replied this remarkable child. Immediately the prince sent one of his attendants to the house in question, and on his return he corroborated the boy's statement, the family being, as he said, engaged in the interesting occupation of eating macaroni in honor of the mandarin's birthday. Since then Prince Chun has been a firm believer in the boy's gift of second sight, and makes much of him accordingly.—London Standard.

Dr. Curran writes to the Lancet concerning the advantages of using electricity in killing criminals. "It is a pity," he says, "the thing is not tried, if only by way of experiment, on some of our lower congeners, whence it might be transported in time to the higher regions of Newgate and the provinces." This man writes with considerable nerve. "The apparatus," he continues, "of this fluid or force might be packed away in an ordinary traveling trunk."

"Brothers, Here is Rest."

The president has reached the Adirondacks without a rumor of dissent from the democratic journals. Not that they do not feel mad, but they dare not give utterance to their smothered indignation. "It was to be expected," say these editors, sotto voce, "that Mr. Cleveland, who is 'our' president, should remain at his post and distribute the spoils. Now nothing will be done for a month."

While we have no voice in regard to the spoils question, we believe the president entitled to a reasonable rest, as is any man (excepting an editor) who is worked as hard as is the executive of this great country. We have always differed from our democratic cotemporaries in this respect, and we know it will be awkward for them to indorse the acts of a democratic public functionary, when last summer they were so unanimously previous in condemning the same course in republican officials!

But it is the faithful democrat who carries the load now. We will be magnanimous and aid him by saying that the president is not robbing the nation by taking a needed outing,—and leave it to his political friends to do the denouncing sub rosa. It of course causes a delay in the distribution of offices in our own state, but the applicants know full well that certain complicated questions have arisen which will require the clear, cool head of the president to solve. In the meantime, all will rest. The president will bear of loaves and fishes more congenial to his tastes, Mr. Jones will be benefitted by the waters at Carlsbad, while Cols. George and Kent enjoy the prospect of the everlasting hills of New Hampshire, and during the heated term seek upon their native heath the solace which not even a berth in a custom house can afford.

A Shameful Act.

President Cleveland has pardoned out of the Ohio penitentiary Police Lieutenant Michael Mullen of Cincinnati, who was undergoing sentence of one year's imprisonment—a sentence so slight in itself, compared with the gravity of his crime, as to be almost ludicrous. The circumstances of Mullen's offence were as follows:

In October last if was regarded as of vital moment to the cause of Cleveland and reform that Ohio should go democratic in the state election, for the sake of the moral effect it would have on the November voting. On the night before the election in October, Mullen appeared at the Hammond street police station and went on duty, although he was on the day watch that month. Shortly before midnight a couple of patrol wagons were called, and Mullen with a squad of his men went to a colored boarding-house on the river front kept by John Venable. He caused to be arrested not only the boarders in the house, but a number of others who were near these men, over 100 in number, were taken back to the station, but instead of being locked in cells, were hustled down to the basement. They were given no chance to find out what offence they were charged with, and there they remained until six o'clock in the evening on election day, when they were unceremoniously released without a word of explanation. Their names were not taken on the slate, and no charges were ever made against them. Their only offence was that they were republicans.

No more villainous outrage against personal freedom and an honest ballot was ever perpetrated in a northern state; but it was done in the interest of Cleveland the reformer, and Cleveland the reformer rewards the criminal by relieving him from the penalty of his crime. Mr. Cleveland gives as a ground for the pardon that "possibly Mullen may have misapprehended the duties of his office!" the most contemptible excuse yet offered for any act by even the present administration.

Col. Wright, the United States marshal for the district honored by Mullen's residence, was removed by President Cleveland for "offensive partisanship"—the offensiveness consisting in the fact that he used all the power at his command to foil democratic plans to carry the election by fraud and force. And now the great reformer pardons Mullen,—an act which is a proclamation to the country that the perpetrators of election outrages in the interest of the democracy have nothing to fear and much to hope for, from the Cleveland administration.

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success so well merited as that which has been poured upon HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the BEST Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficiently laxative, take a few doses of HOOD'S VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

Each dollar bottle contains one hundred (averages) doses. Sold by all druggists.

Price one dollar, or six for five dollars.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Aug. 11th.

In response to the invitation sent out by Morrill Lodge of Good Templars, of North Kittery, to the Good Templar lodges of Kittery and York, to be present at the installation of the newly-elected officers of Morrill Lodge on Friday evening last, there were in attendance on that occasion good delegations from Whipple and Pepperell lodges of Kittery and Old York lodge of York. During intermission the members were favored with some finely rendered selections of vocal and instrumental music by the Pettigrew sisters, members of Whipple lodge. After intermission remarks were made by Capt. Richard Seaward of Pepperell lodge, at the Point, George Dunbar of Whipple lodge, at the village, John J. Lambert of Morrill lodge. The meeting was interesting and profitable.

The numerous friends of Mrs. S. E. Sanborn of Old Orchard, formerly of North Kittery, who was severely scalded in the face several weeks ago, will be pleased to know that she has almost wholly recovered.

John W. Walker, who for three years past has carried on the carriage painting business at Kittery Depot, will give up his shop about the 25th inst., and start for California. The business will be continued at the old stand by Ex-Asst. Postmaster E. E. Otis, who has been with Mr. Walker for some time past. Mr. Otis will be pleased to have the patronage of former customers continued, and will endeavor to execute first-class work with all practicable dispatch.

The picnic of the 1st Methodist society, of North Kittery, in Fernald's woods last Thursday, was very successful, over 200 persons attending, and all seeming to enjoy themselves.

Mr. John R. Williams, for nearly fifteen years an employe of the Eastern railroad, and for the past five years night watchman on Portsmouth bridge, was discharged on Monday. He has always been faithful and prompt in fulfilling the duties of his position, and his removal was a surprise to those who know how reliable an employe he has always been. It is reported that Roadmaster Bissell has granted him a hearing, and very many persons hope it will result in his reinstatement in the position he has so well filled for years. An Eliot man, known as "Son" Spinney, formerly employed at the wood-preserving works on Noble's island, is at present in the place from which Mr. Williams was removed.

A petition to the selectmen to close all saloons in town on Sunday has been in circulation here the past week, and has received numerous signatures. The petition has been handed to the selectmen, who will take immediate action on it. [There is one at the village which should be closed altogether.]

A movement is being made on the part of several Good Templars in town to visit Pepperell lodge at Kittery Point on Saturday evening, the 15th inst., and hold a temperance meeting. Members of the order from York are expected to be there.

Rev. Perry Chandler left town this (Tuesday) morning to attend camp-meeting at Old Orchard and at Fryeburg; he will return in season for his services at the Methodist churches in this town next Sunday.

The human bones dug out of the old burying lot in the gravel pit at North Kittery by the steam shovel of the Boston & Maine railroad, are the remains of ancestors of Benjamin Fernald of this village; it is supposed six bodies were buried there, the last one over fifty years ago. There is considerable talk about the manner in which the remains were dug out, many persons thinking that when the lot was found it should have been left undisturbed, or if necessary to remove it the work should have been done with hand shovels, and not to have made a public display of the bones by hauling them to Portsmouth on a gravel train and dumping some of them under the Freeman's point bridge.

Miss Mabel I. Jenkins has returned from Cottage City, Mass., where she has been attending a summer school for several weeks. Miss Florence E. Sanderson, who accompanied her there, has not yet returned. We understand that Miss Sanderson has had a flattering offer to teach in Washington, D. C. Miss Jenkins was also offered a position to teach in Washington, but did not accept, which Miss Sanderson's friends think she will do.

Miss Mamie Elkins, the little daughter of Mrs. Ephraim C. Cook of Hampton, N. H., is visiting relatives in North Kittery.

Some miscreant entered the field of Asa Wilson of Kittery Point a few nights ago, broke in pieces a new mowing machine, and did other damage. It is a pity the perpetrator of such a contemptibly mean act could not be detected and punished.

Mr. Timothy Caswell, who died in this town on Tuesday of last week, was buried on Thursday, there being in attendance at the funeral a very large concourse of friends and neighbors. Rev. C. C. Coburn officiated. Mr. Caswell was much beloved and respected by all who knew him, and will be greatly missed by many; he leaves a widow, who while mourning her loss has the blessed assurance that he died as he had lived, a Christian. SUB ROSA.

ATHLETICS.

E. C. Stickney of this city, the Eastern Athlete, has received from Andrew Corcoran of Chicago the following challenge:

I will put up a twelve-pound dumb bell against you for from $1000 to $3000 a side, and at the rate of from twenty-eight to thirty times a minute.

Corcoran was the champion lifter of the twelve-pound bell from 1859 until a few months ago, when Stickney beat his record 1000 times. The latter has returned the following answer:

In reply to your challenge, I will elevate a twelve-pound dumb bell against you or the world for from $500 to $5000 a side, the greatest number of times from one hour to twenty-four hours, no elevation under 1000 per time. A standing challenge from June 1st, 1883.

A Hard Case.

A laboring man named Mott, residing at No. 11 Creek street, who has for several years been employed in Eldredge's lager beer brewery, died very suddenly at his home Tuesday evening at about six o'clock, after an illness of about one hour. He had not been feeling well for a day or two, but nothing serious was anticipated until about 5 o'clock Tuesday, when he was affected by what appears to have been an apoplectic fit. He has always been a steady, industrious man, has attended strictly to caring for his family, and has been much respected by his neighbors. He leaves a wife and five small children in needy circumstances. The neighbors are, we understand, getting up a subscription to pay the funeral expenses and other bills. Any contributions however small will be acceptable. Taking all the circumstances into consideration, this case is certainly deserving of charity, and we trust will be responded to.

CHARITY FAIR.

Misses Caroline and Kate Bradford, daughters of Capt. R. F. Bradford, U. S. N., gave a lawn party and fair in aid of the Children's Home on Wednesday afternoon of this week, on the grounds belonging to Capt. Bradford's residence on Court street. The young ladies netted $83.50 for that most worthy charity, which is about $12 more than they realized from a similar affair for the same purpose last year.

TELEGRAPHIC.

The Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co., which placed immense posts in many of our best streets and ruthlessly lopped off branches from fine trees on Lafayette road, and in fine did everything but open its promised office for business in the Pearse buildings on Daniel street, has at last reached the usual point of competitive telegraphy, a question of at how little profit they will sell and Mr. Gould buy their plant. It is stated that the motive for this trade is in the hope that Gould will aid the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the effort to gain an entrance into the city of Philadelphia for its road, built at great expense from Baltimore as a rival to the Pennsylvania. At any rate the Western Union will insate further by buying the Baltimore & Ohio telegraph line at what President Green designates a "liberal cost value basis." In the meantime King Garrett of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad is on the roof at a high figure. Of course if a line is built to be bought off by a rival the public must pay a handsome profit, a process of compression for which the abused public seem to have no adequate remedy, as every promised line, started to do the business of the people at a reasonable rate and with a spirit of accommodation, sooner or later is swept away by Mr. Gould's capacious maw.

MARITIME NOTES.

The brick schooners Lillie, Hattie Lewis and D. K. Ham, from Boston, light, arrived at this port on the 12th inst.; and the Triton, with a load of bricks for Boston, sailed the same day.

The steamer Luke Hoyt, belonging to Capt. Thomas Symonds, owner of the dredging flotilla which has for several years been engaged in deepening and straightening the channels of several of the small rivers emptying into the Piscataqua and Great bay, was on Tuesday of this week towed from the wharf at Liberty bridge, where she has for some months been lying up, to the Kittery railway, by the steamer Mystic. The Luke Hoyt is to be put in service as soon as she can be made ready.

The Girard & Vokes combination, which will exhibit at the Franklin Hall Rink on Tuesday evening, Aug. 18th, is pronounced by the press to be the finest organization of its kind now travelling. The name of the manager, Mr. Anthony, of Anthony & Ellis fame, is a sufficient guaranty that the combination is first class. Besides the bicycle riding of Hinds, the skating of Prof. Chivers, the English champion, and Mlle. Zetta, the Parisian artiste, there will be a grand fancy dress carnival, and costumes can be hired of the company's costumer at the rink on the day of the exhibition.

Secretary Whitney visited the Brooklyn navy yard on the 10th inst., accompanied by Commodore Harmony, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, Commodore Loring, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, and Capt. Brown of the Norfolk navy yard. George W. Jackson, a draughtsman in the construction department at the Brooklyn navy yard, was on the 10th ordered to the Portsmouth yard, to relieve W. H. Emery.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosuands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and old spots covered by using a single bottle.

A curious fly has appeared in Franklin, Mass., which is causing a good deal of speculation. The insects gather in patches from the size of a silver dollar to eight inches in diameter on trees. There are from one to twenty patches on a single tree. They run, but do not fly, although the large ones have long wings. As yet the trees do not appear to be injured.

Messrs. Editors: "I bought a half dozen of Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer last fall. It has proved itself so valuable that every person wants it. It is one of the greatest medicines ever put up by man. I could have sold fifty dollars worth of it this winter."—John D. King, Bakersville, Md.

For assault with intent to kill Eleazer King, Mrs. Mary A. Hall of Bath, Me., was placed under $4000 bonds for her appearance at the August term of the supreme court. King was thrown from a flight of stairs in Mrs. Hall's house, and received injuries which will probably terminate in death.

"Rough on Catarrh"

Corrects offensive odors at once. Complete cure of even worst chronic cases, also unequalled as gargle for diphtheria, sore throat, foul breath. 50c.

Capt. Henry Baker has been committed for trial in the supreme court at Halifax, N. S., on the charge of having scuttled the schooner Smiling Water. The mate of the schooner swore that Baker paid him $25 to bore a hole in the vessel's bottom, and one of the crew testified to having helped to sink her.

The Hope of the Nation.

Children, slow in development, puny, scrawny and delicate, use "Wells' Health Renewer."

A farmer living near Norwich, Conn., unearthed a nest of sixty-three big black snakes recently, and killed them all. The smallest measured two feet eight inches, and the largest five feet ten inches in length.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, irritation, inflammation, all kidney and urinary complaints, cured by "Buchu-Paiba." $1.

At Coloma, Mo., Aug. 9th, David Markies and his divorced wife attended the same church, and when the service was over a young man who accompanied Mrs. Markies to church was aiding her to mount her horse, when Markies stole up behind them and shot the woman dead. The murderer hurried home, but his house was surrounded by a mob, and thinking he was to be lynched he shot himself dead.

"Water Bugs, Roaches."

"Rough on Rats" clears them out, also beetles, ants, insects, rats and mice, 15 and 25c. boxes.

Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12 When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

When it is the old-fashioned blue mass, blue pill sort, and insist on using Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," a modern medical luxury, being small, sugar-coated granules, containing the active principles of certain roots and herbs, and which will be found to contain as much cathartic power as any of the old-fashioned, larger pills, without the latter's violent, drastic effects. The pellets operate thoroughly but harmlessly, establishing a permanently healthy action of the stomach and bowels, and as an antibilious remedy are unequaled.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had bad running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

Everybody wants an honest answer to this simple question:—What is the best medicine to regulate the bowels, cure costiveness and biliousness, help the digestion and give strength to the whole system? People ask us every day. We answer, Parker's Tonic. It is pleasant to the taste. All the children like it. Mothers all praise it. It will save a thousand times its cost in every family.

Dated PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 29th, 1885.

The Sanitary Commission's Record.

On April 15, 1861, appeared the proclamation of the newly inaugurated President calling for 75,000 men "to cause the laws to be duly executed, and to repossess the forts, places, and property which had been seized from the Union."

On June 12, 1861, the United States Sanitary Commission was organized, and orders for its recognition were issued at once by the War Department. At this time the Medical Department of the United States was a bureau simply, caring for 15,000 men on a peace establishment, and nothing toward its organization for war purposes had been done beyond the appointment of a Surgeon General.

Meanwhile, in furtherance of its proposed aims, the Commission had issued and distributed many short, practical treatises upon military hygiene and army medicine and surgery. Under its direction sixty of the most skillful surgeons and physicians in the nation had been engaged in a systematic and scientific survey of all the general hospitals. They inspected 70,000 beds and saw 280,000 patients. The permanent and regimental hospitals in the summer of 1862 contained more than 100,000 sick and wounded, and the ratio of sickness had more than doubled in two months.

One of the ends proposed by the commission was to systematize this work, in other words, to organize a Department of Relief. When General Lee surrendered the Commission had at its back 32,000 auxiliary societies, and embraced a series of homes, lodges, hospital trains, a hospital directory, and a back claim and pension agency, supported wholly by volunteer contributions. Homes were established at Boston, Hartford, New York, Philadelphia, Cairo, and other places—twenty-five in all, of which thirteen were in the Western Department. The supply department of the Western branch distributed during the war $2,803,144 worth of bedding and clothing; hospital furniture and surgeons' supplies to the amount of $243,000; articles of diet and other supplies to the value of $2,077,011—in all, a total of over $5,090,000. This merely represents supplies furnished, and but a part of what was done.

In March, 1863, Judge Skinner, president of the Chicago branch, issued a circular, supplemented by telegrams to important points, asking for anti-scorbutics for General Grant's army, then before Vicksburg and threatened with scurvy. The average of vegetable shipments in response to this call was 1,000 barrels a week. In the following month it became necessary to renew the struggle on behalf of the Army of the Cumberland. From January to July, 1863, the Chicago branch shipped 18,468 bushels of vegetables, and of other anti-scorbutics it forwarded 61,056 pounds of dried fruits, 3,658 cans of fruit, and 387 packages of pickles. The Commission undertook the gratuitious collection of these claims—establishing a claim agency and a back pay agency. I do not care to give totals, and I am not trying to sound its praises, but to indicate its necessity, its aims and its methods, a few details will give a fair idea of results. The agent at Cairo reported back pay drawn and paid over from Nov. 1, 1863, to July 31, nine months, $120,005,38. The one at Washington, for the nine months from Jan. 1 to October 1, 1863, a total of $130,159. The Commission established hospital directories at Washington, Louisville, and one at Philadelphia. The first named at the close of the war had a record of 1,517 regiments, and included 750,502 names; lists of deaths was 79,857. At Washington 700,000 names and 81,000 dead were recorded, and at Philadelphia there was a registry of 75,830 names.

Abe Buzzard as a Prison Reformer

I have been nine years in different prisons and I am convinced that the system of punishment is entirely false. Many are convicted of crimes which they never committed, and others that are guilty are sentenced for a term of years—not to cure them of their evil habits or reform their lives, but to feed them revenge and to associate them with all classes of men, to add wickedness to their wicked designs, and to lay plans for future crimes. For what is the poor criminal to do after years of imprisonment on the expiration of his time, turned out from the prison gate without money, clothes, reputation, or friends, and with no settled point of destination? But, like a ship tossed on the raging billows, is the poor convict cast on a cold, bitter world, to be beaten about on the vast sea of life, and at last, exhausted in body, distracted in mind, and sick at heart, he is led to this last resort—to commit another crime, that the poor, tired, shipwrecked frame may drift back within the gloomy prison wall, his only home. The only way to put an end to this evil is to do away with limited sentences, political and moneyed influences, and to appoint a committee of Christian men to visit the prison and the prisoners, and when they conclude that a man has become repentant let them be empowered to release him. But if he should again commit a crime, then let limited sentences deal hard with him. Let there be sympathy for a man at his first downfall and not wait until he has become a hero in crime. If the public had shown me the sympathy at the beginning of my wild career that they do at the present time, I would have been a reformed man long ago. If the men who are now fed revenge by unjust laws were shown sympathy and kindness many of them would become respectable members of society, and the enormous expenses on the country would soon relax into insignificance, and instead of building a new jail the old one would have ample room for the limited sentenced criminals, and for the inmates of Bummers' hall, now occupying one room, huddled together like so many pigs in a pen, exposed to the intense heat of summer and the cold blasts of winter.—Letter to Lancaster New Era.

Illuminated Nest of the Baya.

The nest is in itself a beautiful and ingenious piece of work. The upper portion is divided into two chambers, one for Mother Baya while she is sitting, and one for Father Baya when he has earned the right to rest by having provided his wife with food. The lower portion of the nest is a general living-room for the whole family as soon as the little ones have grown strong enough to leave the upper chamber.

Here is a home that might well be all that the most exacting could require, but having provided for creature comfort the baya has yet to gratify its sense of the beautiful. The little mother is hardly settled down when the male bird, having put the finishing touches to the nest, darts forth and returns with a fresh lump of clay, which he affixes to the inner wall of the nest. Then quickly away again to capture one of the living sparks of which there are myriads in the tropics. The firefly is secured to the lump of clay, and lights up the little home with its phosphorescent glow. Another and another are added, until the patient little mother has light enough to cheer her during the long dark night. After that one or more of the animated diamonds are fastened to the exterior, there to glitter and flash for the delectation of the outside world, for the baya is no selfish lover of art. He does not look his treasures up in his gallery, but is willing to share his enjoyment with all.

And what pleasure he does give can be easily comprehended by a slight effort of the imagination, which has only to picture a quaint little hut with overhanging eaves nestling in the gloom of a tangled tropical forest. From the eaves gently wave the gayly illuminated bird-nest lanterns, shedding a soft, happy home light on the poor little cottage, which loses its wretchedness for the time being and is transformed into a fairy palace.—J. C. Beard, in Harper's Magazine for August.

Companionable Father and Son.

I know a most estimable father who is on first-rate terms with his own son. That shouldn't be a remarkable thing, yet I fear it is not just as common as it ought to be. They are as it were, boys together. He has never whipped that boy. He admitted to me that he would have felt badly if the boy having the power, had thrashed him, so he saw no reason why he should not respect the boy's feelings in the matter and not take advantage of the advantage a father has over a young son if it comes to a physical encounter. This is certainly a magnanimous view to take, and the son has grown to be a fine young fellow, whose conduct quite refutes the saying of Solomon. They occasionally relax into conundrums for amusement, and here is the latest. They were talking of cocoons. "Why are cocoons like knot holes?" was the question. The younger had to give it up, and after the fashion of the end man, repeated; "Why are cocoons like knot holes?" "Because they are not holes," was the reply.—Detroit Free Press.

A white man named Henming, who lives in Dale County, Arkansas, is turning black. About six months ago he noticed that the skin on his chest showed signs of discoloration in spots. At first the patches were of a pale, brownish yellow color, but they gradually grew darker and the hue seemed to spread. Then his arms and back gradually began to be similarly affected, and subsequently his legs became discolored. Recently small spots have made their appearance on his cheeks, forehead and neck. This gradual discoloration, it is believed, will continue until the man's skin becomes of a black, or, rather, very dark brown. The physicians who have examined the case pronounce the affection to be one of which there is no record in medical treatises. A singular feature about the malady is that Henming's general health is in no way impaired.

An Oregon Sturgeon's Sagacity.

Many remarkable stories have been told concerning the sagacity of the sturgeon, some of which have been hard to believe. That these fish are endowed with a heap of savey is shown by the following: Yesterday afternoon a number of representatives from the fish markets of this city embarked on board the steamer Calliope to see the launch of the Multnomah. They were standing in a row along the rail when a philosophical-looking old sturgeon leaped out of the river on the guard of the boat, as if to get a better view of the launch. Happening to look up he saw a row of fish dealers with their eyes fixed upon him, evidently calculating how much he would weigh when made into sea-bass. With a frightened snort the astute fish leaped back into his native element, went down, and a minute later came to surface half a mile off, looking back to see if he was pursued. Seeing the fishmen still standing in a row and looking disconsolate, he put his tail to the end of his nose and gently waved it, like a long, bony hand, at them, and then went below to resume his regular business of catching suckers.—Portland Oregonian.

Is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthening qualities. A Smart Scoundrel.

A man purporting to be Walter B. Wanzer, Jr., of Portland, drew a $5000 check from the Sandy River national bank of Farmington, Me., on the morning of the 11th inst., on the strength of an alleged deposit on the Exchange national bank of Boston, and soon after took a train and left town. The bank officers now find that its information concerning its deposit in Boston was a forgery, and have telegraphed east and west to stop the rogue. The check is No. 691 for $5000, given by the Sandy River national bank on the Exchange national bank of Boston.

The condition of the old cemetery at Point of Graves is simply disgraceful, it being overgrown with thistles, made a receptacle for sink-slops, and presenting a neglected appearance generally. The cost of putting it in decent condition could not be very heavy, and the public would certainly find no fault with such expense.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Among the judgments recently announced by the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims was the following:

No. 2190. Judgment heretofore entered in this case, March 2d, 1885, for Charles Hamilton, Elizabeth S. Davis, executors, and John Sise, exbeneficiaries, is vacated, and judgments are rendered in the names of the said beneficiaries as of that date, nunc pro tunc, as follows: Charles Hamilton, $1907, June 9th, 1864; ditto Elizabeth S. Davis, executrix, $1179, June 9th, 1864; with interest at four per cent from the date named.

A cyclone at Norwood, N. Y., Aug. 12th, destroyed several houses and buildings, and the bridge of the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain railroad. Several persons were killed and a number injured. One church was destroyed. Hailstones of mammoth size fell. On the same day there was a cloudburst at Hoffman's Ferry, near Amsterdam, N. Y., and the New York Central railroad tracks were washed into the river for a distance of five hundred feet, and telegraph poles and fences prostrated. The rainfall was heavy, and the crops were seriously damaged.

About $6000 has already been expended in the arrangements for the annual reunion of the New Hampshire Veteran association at Weirs the last week in August. It is expected more people will be in attendance at camp O. W. Lull than on any previous year. Otis C. Wyatt, commander of the confederate forces at the sham battle, has issued a general order announcing his staff, with Daniel B. Newhall chief of staff. Lieut. Daniel G. Smith, of Concord, will be chief of the confederate artillery. The battle will be known as the battle of Groveton, it being its anniversary, the battle being fought Aug. 28th, 1862, between King's division of McDowell's corps, and Stonewall Jackson's command, the first New Hampshire battery, second regiment United States sharpshooters and New Hampshire battalion of cavalry being engaged in the battle. The sham battle will take place in a large field on the top of the hill in rear of Hotel Weirs, and will no doubt attract many thousands of people.

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success at home equal to that which has been poured upon HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the BEST Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficiently laxative, take a few doses of HOOD'S VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

Each dollar bottle contains one hundred (averages) doses. Sold by all druggists.

Price one dollar, or six for five dollars. Hood's Sarsaparilla, prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Aug. 13th, Mayor Eldredge in the chair.

Present the full board.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

The mayor called attention to the filling in under the Dover railroad bridge at Freeman's point, and suggested that it might result in another cesspool. The matter was left with the mayor to take such action as he deemed best.

The board proceeded to elect marshals, police officers and supernumerary watchmen, as follows:

Marshal, Charles W. Norton.

Assistant marshals, Daniel J. Hurley and Herbert F. Peverly.

The special committee of the late board, on north millpond, was re-appointed, so far as its members are on the present board; and the mayor was authorized to fill the vacancies.

A message being received from the Common Council that they were ready to choose city officers, the boards met in convention and officers were elected as follows:

Surveyors of highways, district one, Frank P. Garland; two, George Bilbruck; three, Andrew Sherburne; four, Washington I. Drake; five, Ernest H. Rand; six, Joseph R. Holmes.

On the convention rising, the aldermen adopted the rules of the last board, and adjourned for two weeks.

SUGGESTIONS BY CORRESPONDENTS.

Mr. Editor: One more word on the fire alarm question. It has been suggested in your paper that the signal be supplemented by a general ringing of the bells to arouse the town. But such ringing would either interfere with the counting of the alarm strokes, or come too late to be of service. Would it not be better to have a continuous whistling, from the first, by the whistles of both breweries? that would wake the firemen without preventing the counting of the strokes. Any one who remembers how seldom he is awakened in the night by the striking of twelve from two steeples, must recognize how ineffectual the present alarm would prove in the middle of the night.

ONE WHO DREADS FIRE.

It is suggested by a lady that the irrepressible telegraph and fire-alarm poles might be utilized for the benefit of the local brewers, by planting around them hop vines, which in a very few years would yield a handsome revenue. By this means also, (although this is but a secondary consideration,) the unsightly poles themselves might be rendered "things of beauty and joy forever." The new city government is welcome to this suggestion.

A. M. M. P.

Mr. Editor: Pending the construction of the sewer to drain the north millpond, why not take off the gates and remove the mudsills, and see if the additional four feet of water which would thus be allowed to rush in and out of the pond with every tide would not enable the pond to clean itself?

EXPERIMENT.

SET ASIDE.

It is said that republics are ungrateful, but what shall we say of democracies? Here we see Mr. Call, who left his practice here to stump the west for Cleveland, and afterward quit his practice before the departments at Washington to deliver an address in his native city on Memorial day, is denied the honor of a re-election as city solicitor even after the endorsement of Mayor Eldredge, who says he has kept the city free from law suits the past year. Verily, Mr. Call seems not to be so highly appreciated by the democracy of Portsmouth as by the politicians of his party in distant states.

RAILROAD MEETING.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, held in this city on the afternoon of the 12th inst., the following directors were elected for the ensuing year:

Frank Jones, Daniel Marcy, Joseph A. Walker and Marcellus Eldredge of Portsmouth, and Charles H. Sawyer, Frank A. Christie and Richard N. Ross of Dover.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors Frank Jones was chosen president, George L. Treadwell treasurer, and Calvin Page clerk.

A GENUINE PIONEER.

Mr. Charles Hoag, of Minneapolis, Minn., and wife, arrived in this city on the 8th inst. on a visit to Samuel Adams, Esq. Mr. Hoag was born in Sandwich, this state, but thirty-three years ago settled down on what is now the site of Minneapolis, then an unimproved prairie with an Indian reservation extending a long distance around. He found Philip Bassett of Wolfeborough living there as a squatter on Indian lands, and bought out his claim to 160 acres of land for $160, the lot being what is now the very heart of the great city. Subsequently, when the land was opened for settlement, Mr. Hoag pre-empted his claim in regular form, and became its unquestioned owner; and the first good house built on that side of the river (there was at the time quite a settlement at St. Anthony, on the opposite side,) was erected by him—a "good" house meaning one that would keep out the rain and snow, and that had board floors. The name of the city, Minneapolis, was selected—or invented—by Mr. Hoag, it being a combination of the Sioux word for "waterfall" with the Greek word for "city," and meaning "the city of the waterfall;" and the historial society of Minnesota gives him the full credit of naming the city. He is now seventy-seven years old, but from appearances bids fair to last many years yet in the full enjoyment of life. His first wife was a sister of the wife of Capt. John Clark of this city.

FIREMEN'S CLAMBAKE.

Kearsarge S. F. E. Co., No. 3, have issued a limited number of invitations for a clambake at Dover point on Thursday, Aug. 20th. The start will be made at 9:45 o'clock A. M. from the Boston & Maine railroad station, transportation tickets being furnished the invited guests at the station, by the committee of arrangements. Capt. Jenks of Eliot has been secured to supervise the "bake," which will be served at two o'clock P. M., chowder following at four o'clock. The committee have arranged for the use of the swings, bowling alley, boats, bath houses, etc., belonging to the hotel, and good music will be provided for dancing.

Our advertising columns to-day contain the advertisement of the Boston & Maine railroad announcing that an excursion will be run over that road on Sunday to the great Jefferson land slide, through the White Mountain notch. The train will leave this city at six o'clock, and returning will leave Jefferson at three p. m., after a stop of three hours at that place. The price of round trip tickets is $3.25. This is the cheapest and best excursion of one day that we have heard of for a long time.

A passenger train with no passengers on board on Thursday attempted to back up past a freight train on the same track, in the Boston & Maine yard in this city, and the result was that two passenger cars were capsized. But little injury was done by the accident.

Carpenter Samuel N. Whitehouse, U. S. N., one of the oldest carpenters in the service, is at home in this city during the heated term. His summer residence is with Mr. Charles H. Besselievre.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER
The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

A Cure For Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. Dow, Fall River.

Wheeler, who murdered Matthews at Hazlehurst, Miss., and Meade, who was removed from the postmastership for his connection with the assassination, were both candidates in the democratic county convention recently, and were both defeated.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

Even the Indians do him honor. General Grant was the subject of a proclamation by the head chief of the Cherokees, recommending appropriate observance of the day of burial, and reminding the tribe that "it was General Grant who initiated what is known as the Indian peace policy which had for its main feature the treatment of the red man as a man, entitled to man's natural rights and privileges, and subject to control by the same means and influences as other men." Aussuredly no white man ever before received such attention as this.

Messrs. Editors: "I bought a half dozen of Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer last fall. It has proved itself so valuable that every person wants it. It is one of the greatest medicines ever put up by man. I could have sold fifty dollars worth of it this winter."—John D. King, Bakersville, Md.

Procrastination may rob you of time, but by increased diligence you can make up the loss; but if it rob you of life the loss is irremediable. If your health is delicate, your appetite fickle, your sleep broken, your mind depressed, your whole being out of sorts, depend on it you are seriously diseased. In all such cases Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will speedily effect a genuine, radical cure—make a new man of you and save you from the tortures of lingering disease.

At San Jose, Cal., Aug. 12th, a man entered the Safe Deposit bank and purchased a bill of exchange for $65.50. The cashier and manager were in the bank at the time. A few minutes after the stranger departed, the cashier, John E. Aucercas, missed a tray containing $10,000 in gold, in $20 pieces. An alarm was immediately given and search was made, but without result. It is believed that two or more men were engaged in the theft, and that while the attention of the bank officers was engaged by the man in front the others slipped behind the counter and stole the money.

TREE-PLANTING.

The Pennsylvania senate has passed a bill by nearly unanimous vote to encourage the planting of trees near springs and along water courses. Very few of the States have laws looking to the protection, preservation, and increase of our forests such as wise foresight and highest prudence should have dictated the adoption of decades ago. The loss to the country by such neglect can not be computed, but it is safe to say that it already runs into the thousands of millions of dollars.

If only one enlightened man in each State legislature would move in the matter, much could yet be done. There is probably not a State in the Union that has a law for the promotion of arboriculture, but what could be improved. The act referred to as having been passed by the Pennsylvania senate, if correctly stated, is simply a half-way measure, as it only provides for planting trees along the borders of running streams, and about springs; whereas every measure to meet the needs of the country in almost any part of it, should provide for the planting of trees alongside of all our railroads, turnpikes, country roads, and every canal, on hill sides, and mountain slopes.

In this forestry question some of the European governments have laid us out of sight. Take France for example. In 1785, four years before the adoption of our Constitution and while the colonies were held together by a rope of sand, France having already realized the importance of promoting the cultivation of forests, commissioned L Andre Nichaux, a learned botanist, to come to America, and range through our vast pinewood forests from Hudson's Bay to the Florida capes and from the capes of Delaware to the Pacific Ocean, and make a profound study of our forest trees with a view to introducing into France such varieties and species of trees as would be useful in the arts, beautiful for adornment of grounds, and grateful for shade, which were not indigenous to their own country. In the prosecution of his mission he established botanical gardens in Bergen county, New Jersey, near New York city, and at Charleston, S. C., for the culture of seedlings, and from these gardens tens of thousands of seedlings and young trees were taken and sent to France to enrich her fruits and beautify the homes of her people, and to-day the trees of France are counted by millions which are the fruit of the enlightened and far-sighted work of the French government a century since. Michaux pursued his labors and researches for years, and in the later period of them was joined by a son who had been highly educated as a botanist, and who prosecuted the work for years after his father had returned home. They made accurate drawings of the bud, blossom, fruit and leaf of our most important and valuable trees, which were afterward used to illustrate and beautify their works, which were published by the French government. Their works were republished in our country in the English language prior to 1850, and added thereto was the elaborate work of Thomas Nuttall, who followed the Michaux, and whose combined works have ever since been at once the most beautiful and the most complete and authoritative description of the forests trees of the American continent which have ever been prepared.

Fortunately for us these works have had a large sale, and have done much toward carrying the minds of our people toward the beautiful and ennobling study of arboriculture. In a certain sense it is a shame and disgrace to us as a Nation to have drought occur on any extended scale. The drought of 1881 was so vast in extent and so destructive in character that the loss in value of agricultural productions, was nearly, if indeed it did not exceed, $700,000,000.

The following quotations from distinguished authorities will convey to the readers of this journal an idea of what with the most unmistakable manner, and time will solve the problem, and earth history and posterity will be our judges. We have to do simply with the facts, and we as a Nation remain responsible, if we neglect to improve. We have a much more to do than to talk about it. It is merely a question of time, and time will solve the problem, and we may look forward to our posterity as simply ridiculous, and it will be long ere we trap the forest of our present Virgin wealth, and we as a Nation remain prosperous, but this state of things can continue only so long as the forests of our country are not so far reduced as to render the water supply insufficient for the demands upon it. It is a fact that there has been a capital upon which the farmer has loaned upon its surface, and which the actually which ages had accumulated and other investments. * * * The actually which ages had accumulated and other investments. * * * present above the surface in improvements, which attack me to the present by Columbus then there is covered by Columbus then there is a fact that there was more wealth in the moment this continent was discovered by Professor Henry, the distinguished secretary of the Smithsonian institution, which attack me to the expressed in the Scientific American, "Plants the part summer I heard an oration of Virginia, Oct. 21, 1858, "Plants the first settlement of the country." Prom an address delivered before the Agricultural Society of the Shenandoah Valley,

If Your Liver Reminds You

Of its existence by dull pain or sharp twinges in the right side, or beneath the dexter shoulder-blade, accept the reminder as a warning, and regulate the organ without loss of time, by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The above symptoms are usually accompanied by yellowness of the skin, constipation, furred tongue, disorder of the stomach, sick headache and morning nausea. But a reform is promptly instituted by the Bitters, the best possible substitute for calomel, blue pill, and other super-potent and hurtful drugs erroneously designated as remedies for biliousness. Appetite and digestion are restored, and the bowels resume activity, when an impetus is given to the functions of health by this sterling anti-bilious medicine, which also has the effect of enriching and purifying the circulation, and fortifying the system against malarial infection in air or water. It is also highly beneficial for rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles.

The heaviest rainstorm known in the Pemigewasset valley for many years prevailed on the 13th inst., and much damage was done. Railroad travel was seriously interrupted.

Never neglect a constipated condition of the bowels, or serious results surely follow, such as piles, impure blood, and many chronic complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters.

The Dover Improvement association on the 13th inst. awarded the contract for building the new shoe factory to Hiram E. Snow, for $21,800. There were seventeen bidders, and considerable comment is made at the contract being awarded to Snow, who is one of the directors of the association.

Heart Disease can be cured by the use of Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator, a certain cure in all its forms, either organic or sympathetic. Send for free pamphlet to F. E. Ingalls, Cambridge, Mass., $1.00 per bottle.

James W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California, is dead at the age of seventy-four years. He died poor. It was on Jan. 19th, 1848, that Marshall made his discovery. He was engaged with two Mormons in repairing a race for a saw mill at Sutter's mill, on the American fork of the Sacramento river, near the town of Colma, about thirty-five miles east of Sutter's fort. The spring freshets had injured the mill race, and gold was discovered while making the necessary repairs.

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

The Pestilence Spreading.

The Gazette of Madrid, under date of Aug. 13th, says that "in the twenty-four hours ending yesterday, 6464 new cases of cholera and 2109 deaths were reported from 576 towns in thirty-six provinces in Spain. This is the highest number of victims yet reported. The epidemic is visiting all the fashionable seaside resorts. At each place visited a panic ensues, and the place is deserted in forty-eight hours. Yesterday six cases were reported in one house in Madrid. Senor Silvela, brother of Minister Silvela, was seized, but has recovered. There is great excitement in Seville over the government's proposal to abolish the power of the local authorities during the prevalence of cholera, because of their inefficiency in sanitation, and to itself assume the direction of the city's local affairs. The populace are hostile to the doctors and adverse to any interference in family affairs, and they strongly support the local authorities. Fifteen new cases exist in one street in that city. This discovery has caused a sensation, and the authorities are vigorously disinfecting the thoroughfare. The ravages of the cholera in Grenada are horrible. Scores of the victims of the disease drop and die in the streets, where in many cases they remain for hours before they are gathered up at night for a hurried and unceremonious burial in a common trench."

The existence of cholera in its worst form at Marseilles, France, is now acknowledged both in that city and Paris. Refugees from Marseilles are reported as having died in several other cities. The hot weather has given the disease a fresh start, and the proportion of deaths is appalling. London despatches of the 13th say: "The condition of affairs at Marseilles every day is revealed even worse than is already known. It is now proved that cholera has existed in Marseilles with an unmistakable, well defined development of the disease since July, while the authorities persistently denied its presence, and did nothing to retard its progress from its first appearance to the present time. The rapidity with which it spread was due entirely to the filthy condition of the lower quarters of the town. The state of things there almost passes belief. This hot-bed of contagion has been permitted to grow worse with warm weather and to breed cholera, while the other residents of the city were kept as long as possible in ignorance of the terrible plague at their doors. In these crowded, dirty localities people huddled like pigs, and garbage and refuse of all kinds was thrown in the streets, as in the total absence of drainage there was no other way to dispose of the refuse. The result was a horrible, sickening accumulation of filth."

The work of tearing down the two-story building at the southwest corner of the Rockingham house, and connected with that structure, was commenced on Friday morning.

Commodore Oscar C. Badger has been placed upon the retired list of the navy. Commodore Badger's last active duty was as commandant of the Boston navy yard, where he was stationed until a few months ago. He has been in the naval service since 1841, and has seen more than twenty-one years of active sea service.

The appointments of foremen of the Brooklyn navy yard were made public on the 13th inst. Seven democrats were installed, and three republicans were reappointed.

Mr. Charles Cummings, wife and three daughters, of Jamacia Plains, Mass.; Mr. Henry Carr, wife and two sons, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. S. Benjamin and two children, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Mr. Shock and sister, son and daughter of the late Chief Engineer Thomas A. Shock, U. S. N., are passing the heated term in this city, visiting James M. Carr, Esq., and wife.

Mr. Joseph T. Jenness, of Rye, hung himself on the 5th inst. at the residence of Samuel Towle of Hampton. He was eighty-one years old.

A despatch of Aug. 12th from Denver, Col., says: "C. P. Judd, who was appointed by the President on May 16th last to be special agent of the National Labor Bureau for Nevada and the territories, was brought from Alamosa, Col., to-day, on a warrant charging him with horse stealing. Judd drew up and signed a statement to-day, admitting his guilt and that he had served a term in the prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, and two terms in a penitentiary in Colorado for similar offences. Judd claims that his application for a government position was signed by several well known democrats of Colorado, to which state his appointment is accredited."

If it were possible to get the testimony of the multitude who have used HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA for debility, languor, lassitude, and that general feeling of stupidity, weariness and exhaustion which every one feels during this season, we should be able to present to our readers such an overwhelming mass of commendatory messages, that the few who have not tried it would do so at once. It is a positive fact, and has been so effectually demonstrated that no one to-day denies it, that Hood's Sarsaparilla contains more real medicinal value than any article before the people.

What a Man Did with Kidney Complaint

DRACUT, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

Dear Sirs—I have suffered from Kidney complaint and biliousness for fifteen years. Have tried everything and never got any good. Last January, before I commenced taking Hood's SARSAPARILLA, everything I ate bloated me all up, pain in my chest and arms, headache and dizzy. I could not get up without feeling weary and all fagged out. Many mornings I was obliged to lie down on the lounge. To do any work seemed almost impossible. Have taken two bottles. The backache, dizziness, pain in my chest and arms, and that feeling of intense weariness are all gone. I can eat anything and it does not press me at all. Feel just like work; in fact, like a new man. Can heartily recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and hope all who desire to know anything about it will come to me and ask what I think of it. Very truly yours,

JONATHAN J. COBURN.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The train from Boston due in this city at 10:50 o'clock A. M. on Friday was a trifle late in arriving, owing to a slight stiffness of the machinery of the new locomotive Portsmouth, which was hauling the train.

A large number of people will take advantage of the cheap excursion advertised by the Boston & Maine railroad, and go to Jefferson to see the great land slide, by the train leaving the station in this city at six o'clock Sunday morning. The advertisement is in another column.

The convenience of having the trains on the Concord road run into the Boston & Maine station in this city was greatly appreciated on Friday evening. A heavy rain which prevailed in the northern section of the state created a freshet which caused a serious washout on the line of the Boston, Concord & Montreal branch of the Lowell railroad. The evening train for this city, due at 6:15, left Manchester nearly forty minutes late; but some time was made up, and the train entered the station in this city just as the 6:40 train was about to leave for Boston. There were several passengers for Hampton beach, some from Pittsfield and others from places above Concord. They expected to be obliged to wait for the 7:40 train, but by the courtesy of the conductor on the B. & M. and the attention of the station baggage master, the train was held a few seconds, trunks were rechecked, and the Hampton-bound travellers were at once on board the train with the delay of but a minute in Portsmouth. This very close connection of course could not have been effected had the train on the Concord road entered the old C. R. R. station as of old.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner George E. Hagan, Capt. Nathan White of Newcastle, sword fishing, went into Boston a day or two since with forty-three sword fish, all of which were captured in four or five days fishing, fourteen of them having been caught in one day. The total weight of the whole lot was 12,000 pounds, and it was sold for four cents per pound.

The shores of the upper Piscataqua present a very beautiful appearance at the present time, and one of the most attractive and picturesque spots to be found along the whole line of the river is Fox island, on the Durham side, and the site of the old Piscataqua bridge. This island is a favorite resort of the crew of the pleasure boat "North End Charmer," who have made several trips there this season. The company generally consists of about thirty persons, mostly stevedores, with a sprinkling of young men of other occupations, and a few city employes to fill up the number. One of the regular boat's crew is a "Kearsarge veteran," having sailed from this port in that famous vessel, and done well his duty in the celebrated battle with the Alabama. The boat herself, by the way, belonged to the Kearsarge, and was used in rescuing the survivors of the Alabama after the fight was over; and the name "Kearsarge" can still be seen showing through the paint since spread over it, and which the boys say they intend to scrape off. Mr. Cornelius O. Keefe is providore and Mr. Charles A. Canney steward of the association, and the larder is always well stocked. James Walker has been elected captain for the ensuing year. R.

The schooner James T. Morse arrived from Philadelphia on the 14th inst. with 941 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Miss Emma E. Newman, (daughter of Rev. Dr. Newman, formerly a pastor in this state,) who for several years has been engaged in Home Mission work in western Kansas, will give some account of her work on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the chapel of the North church, on Middle street. All are invited.

Rev. C. P. Smith will preach in the Court street Christian church on Sunday.

There will be no preaching in the Congregational, Universalist and Middle street Baptist churches to-morrow.

Prof. Fred Hinds, of the Girard & Vokes Carnival Celebrities, gets a larger salary for fifty weeks in the year, by $1,500, than Uncle Sam's postmaster in New York city, who works fifty-two weeks and only receives $6,000. Who says it don't pay to be a bicycler? But then, every champion bicycler isn't a Hinds, but be-Hind him.—N. Y. World.

This combination will appear in the Franklin Hall rink next Tuesday evening, the 18th inst.

Several newspapers which profess to know all about Mr. Jones' errands to Washington assert that he has made several visits to secure appointments since the 4th of March. We are informed that this is a mistake. It is well known that Mr. Jones not only brews the largest quantity of ale of any brewer in the country, but the standard of his article is superior to any in the land. Under former administrations abuses have crept into military services, as will happen despite the vigilance of officers. Gen. Hancock had learned that the army sutlers had served the canteen with an inferior article of ale, and wanted a reform in this direction, and naturally he looked to the best brewer in the country to supply the needed want. It is singular that when a man goes to Washington to confer with the Secretary of War on a business matter, every one must suspect him of starting out on a political mission.

The telegraph poles recently set up on South street by the Atlantic Telegraph Co., from the south millbridge to the Proprietors' burying ground, have been painted in two colors,—a dark green for four or five feet from the ground, and olive color above,—and now, instead of being a blemish to the view, are really quite an attractive addition. We are informed that the public are indebted to Mr. Henry Wendell, of A. P. Wendell & Co., for this practical illustration of how great an improvement it would be in the looks of the city, were all the at-present-unsightly poles painted in suitable shades.

Mr. William E. Hadley, late collector of taxes and city treasurer, is in town, having arrived from Ellendale, Dakota, in the early part of this week. He will remain a month or two, and on his return to Ellendale will take his family with him, the prospects there being so much to his satisfaction that he proposes to make that place his future home. Mr. Plumer D. Norton and wife, who are also now residents of Ellendale, are equally well pleased with the place, and consider themselves permanently settled.

Mr. Robert Littlefield, who years ago helped to plank many of the noted ships built on the Piscataqua, arrived in Portsmouth this week for a brief visit. Mr. Littlefield went as carpenter of the ship Annie Sise, built by George Raynes & Son, on one of her early voyages under command of Capt. Charles Sise. Of late years he has been engaged among the shipbuilders of eastern Maine.

YORK, ME., Aug. 13th.

Mr. Editor: Mr. Rowell of Kittery is visiting our town, engaged in procuring powers of attorney for J. Daniels, a Washington claim agent to collect, and agreements to pay said Daniels twenty-five per cent of the amount collected, for parties entitled to back pay under the eight hour law. Now it looks to the writer to be very unwise to pay or agree in advance to pay any per cent for the collection of such claims. If the bill providing for the payment of such claims should pass (which at the present is a matter of doubt) provision will no doubt be made for the payment of such claims through some proper disbursing officer, such as pension agent, or paymaster at the navy yard where the claim accrued. We believe if the government owes these hard-handed laborers on our navy yards for two hours extra time, that the government can and should pay them in a proper manner, without the intervention of claim agents or any other agent. If the claims must be paid through claim agents, there is time enough to make agreements after the bill has become a law. P.

A petition asking for the commutation of the death sentence of Mrs. Barrows of Kittery, has been circulated among the ladies of Augusta, and received many signatures. One of the grounds on which clemency is solicited is that no woman has ever been hung in Maine, and that it would be barbarism to execute one of the weaker sex. The petition will probably be presented to the governor and council at their next meeting, which occurs shortly. An effort will be made at the same meeting to secure a commutation of sentence for Oscar E. Blaney.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or housekeeper at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

In Boston, Aug. 12th, John and Timothy Coffee murdered John Cullen, who lived in the same tenement house with them. The parties were all married, and the murder arose from a child's quarrel.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

Maxwell, the alleged murderer of C. Arthur Preller at St. Louis, now says that in due time he will produce Preller alive and well, and show where he got the body found in the trunk. Maxwell asserts that the body in the trunk was bought by himself and Preller and left in the hotel, for the purpose of procuring insurance money upon Preller's life. The St. Louis detectives say the chain of evidence proving the body to have been Preller's is complete and unimpeachable.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12 When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

A writer in the current number of the Century magazine revives the idea of making ex-presidents life members of the United States senate. It is shown that since Washington retired from the high office, the average number of ex-presidents at any one time has been two and a half per annum. During the single year 1861-62 there were five ex-presidents living, Van Buren, Tyler, Filmore, Pierce and Buchanan. Had this plan been adopted at the commencement of the government, Washington would have served two years in the senate, John Adams for more than a quarter of a century, Jefferson seventeen years, Madison nineteen years, John Quincy Adams eighteen years, Jackson eight years, Van Buren twenty-one years, and Grant thirteen years.

A Ribbon.

In one of the London hospitals, about a year ago, an assistant surgeon became interested in one of the patients, a poor child of 10, suffering from hip disease. She lay day after day in her little white cot, with nothing to occupy her thoughts but her pain. The young surgeon saw her one day trying to make a doll of her finger, playing with it, and at last, giving it up with a weary sigh, turning to watch the sunlight creeping over her bed, as she had done for months. That afternoon the doctor, passing a shop, bought a long, soft ribbon, of an exquisite rose-color, and gave it to little Katey. She was breathless with pleasure, smoothed it out, and held it up, soft and shining, in the sun, and looked at her friend speechless, with tears of ecstacy. From that time she was rich. The nurse told the doctor a week later, that the child played with the ribbon all day, twisted it about her head, playing that she was a bride, a princess, a fairy; held it in her hand while she slept, and laid it, folded in paper, under the pillow at night.

It was found necessary after two months to perform a capital operation on the child, one which if unsuccessful is fatal. It was done by two of the foremost surgeons in London. When the poor little sufferer was laid upon the table she cried for Dr. S——. "He is all the friend I have," she sobbed.

"Send for him," said the surgeon, and the young assistant, blushing furiously, was brought in. He held one of Katey's hands; the other was clinched tightly over a pink roll which dropped from her grasp during the operation. When the effect of the ether passed, she opened her eyes and looked at Dr. S——.

"My ribbon," she whispered. He gave it to her while the surgeons and nurses stood gravely silent. The operation had been unsuccessful. But little Katey smiled happily into the face of her friend, and, hugging the faded bit of silk, fell asleep forever. It was but a trifling gift, yet it had brightened the child's last days with thoughts of beauty and pleasure and loving kindness.—Youth's Companion.

No, Thank You.

A pretty scene occurred lately in one of the rooms of the department of justice at Washington. Senator Beck, accompanied by a beautiful young lady, called upon Mr. Aleck Boteler, of West Virginia, pardon clerk in the department of justice, a day or two ago, to urge the pardon of the brother of the young lady referred to, who had been convicted of the infraction of one of the United States statutes. Mr. Boteler did all it was possible for him to do in the matter, and gave a printed form of recommendation for pardon to the senator to take to the attorney-general for his signature, if he should approve it. The lady remained in Mr. Boteler's room. In a short time the senator returned and handed the paper back to Mr. Boteler. The latter hesitated about opening it lest the lady might faint if the pardon were denied, and might do the same if it were recommended. But, finally opening it, he saw the recommendation had been made. Just as he expected, the lady swooned; but, recovering herself in a moment, she arose, and, opening her arms, advanced toward him. He backed behind his desk, and, pointing to Mr. Beck, said: "Him, him!" But when she turned to Mr. Beck he retreated toward the door, and, pointing to Mr. Boteler, repeated the latter's words, saying, "Him! him!" The lady by that time had regained her self-possession entirely, and, advancing toward neither, expressed her thanks to both.

A French-Canadian Hotel.

The house was new, and appeared clean and comfortable. The host was a French Canadian, who, to do him justice, tried to do his best for the accommodation of his guests, but, unfortunately for the comfort of our party, his knowledge of hotel-keeping was limited. The house was filled with summer boarders, which mean, in Canada, tribes of children with their mammas and nurses. Not a masculine was to be seen anywhere (they knew better). When the boarders descended to the dining-room with appetites that would have done ample justice to a good meal, they were appalled by the heterogeneous mixture of babies, mothers, and nurses who had possession of every table in the room. And when at last a space was cleared by one of the waiters for the quartette, it was to sit down to a soiled table linen and the refuse of food left by the last relay of babies. Meanwhile the respective mothers glared at the intruders, and passed audible remarks of a disagreeable nature anent the new arrivals. The landlady followed her disgusted guests out of the dining-room, and apologetically explained matters by saying they never had taken summer boarders before; but they were anxious to get their house paid for, and they thought it would help. "But, mon Dieu! we lose money all the time. We have thirty-five children in the house, the oldest only ten years old, and when they are not quarreling the nurses are."—Agnes Fraser Sandham, in Harper's Magazine for August.

The Secret of Washing.

To dress and iron white shirts so as to make them keep their color and be pure and glossy, soak the shirts in cold water the night before washing them, but first of all soap them partially. Wash them thoroughly in hot suds and rinse abundantly. Leave them to clear in blued hard water one night. Dry them next day in the open air, if possible. Starch the fronts, neck-band, and cuffs with starch made as follows: Set one ounce of gum arabic in half a pint of boiling soft water; let it stand twelve hours. Pour it carefully into a bottle and cork it. This is used in combination with boiled, but never with raw starch. Or: Take one ounce of spermaceti and one ounce of white wax; melt and run them into a thin cake on a plate. A piece the size of a shilling added to a quart of prepared starch gives a beautiful lustre to the clothes and prevents the iron sticking. The starching being thus completed, let it be then seen that the irons are scrupulously clean, and shine brightly. Use them hot, and drive swiftly. The secret of well-colored clothes is bleaching in the sun and drying in the open air. Rinsing is an important process in the laundry; it ought to be done till the water runs off as clear as when let on. Sodas and washing powders yellow white clothes.

Sleeping With the Head North.

The following amusing paragraph is going the rounds of the papers. We should be glad to have some information about these "recent discoveries:" "Recent discoveries in electrical science tell us that the flow of the electric current in the Northern hemisphere is more rapidly northward during the night than at other times. If this be so, considering the high electrical condition often experienced by a great many, sleeping with the head due north (or a point west of north), in the flow of this current, would seem likely to be more conducive to perfect rest."

WEAKNESS,

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and indescribable distressing symptoms. Dizziness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Act upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and check complaints and sluggishness, the forerunners of disease. Sold by all druggists and guarantee.

The great rain in the Pemigewasset valley on the 13th inst. caused the Pemigewasset river to rise thirteen feet in ten hours, and the Cortoocook to rise five feet in eight hours. No loss of life is reported, but the damage to buildings, fences, roads, bridges and railroad embankments is immense.

Why Is It

That the sale of Hood's Sarsapasilla continues at such a rapidly increasing rate? It is,— 1st: Because of the positive curative value of Hood's Sarsaparilla itself.

Cholera in New Jersey.

Margaret Kealey, an Irish girl eighteen years old, a domestic servant on a farm at White Horse, near Camden, N. J., died Aug. 12th under circumstances indicating Asiatic cholera, several prominent medical men agreeing that the symptoms were all those of that dreaded disease. She arrived from Ireland only two weeks ago; she was taken sick at 5:45 o'clock on the evening of the 12th, and died in an hour and a half.

The Harbor of Refuge off Rockport.

Good progress is being made in the preliminary work for the Rockport, Mass., harbor of refuge under the direction of Chief Engineer Raymond and Assistant Engineer Haagenson. The first pier will soon be constructed upon Avery's rock, to consist of an iron frame, inside of which will be built a solid tower of stone and concrete, thirty feet square and thirty feet high, or about fifteen feet above the surface at high tide. The iron frame will be of Duane pattern, weighing about forty tons, and will be constructed in sections and brought to Rockport ready to be put up. The engineers have secured headquarters for the storage of materials, etc., and the iron frame work will probably arrived by the first of September, after which the work will be rapidly pushed to completion. Six large spars, each chained to a six-ton rock, will be set around the ledge as a guide and support while the iron frame is being set in position and bolted to the ledge. The frame will then be filled with massive stones and rubble, all solidly cemented together in one entire mass.

The frame of the large house in course of construction on the corner of Cabot and Middle streets for Mr. D. H. Montgomery was commenced to be raised last week.

The lobster-protecting law is now "on," and for three months from the 15th inst. it will be illegal to have in possession any lobster of any size whatever.

The Portsmouth and Dover cricket clubs played a game at Dover on Saturday last, the Portsmouths winning the match. In the first inning the Dover club scored ten, and the Portsmouths fifty-three; in the second inning the Dovers scored twenty-eight, and had three men still to go to bat when game was called to enable the Portsmouth club to take the train for home.

The Red Stocking base ball club of this city went to Hampton on Saturday afternoon, and played a game with the Hampton club, the Red Stockings winning by a score of thirty-three to three. Archie Jenness of Rye, formerly pitcher of the Red Stockings, pitched for the Hampton club.

The fountain on the Parade is quite ornamental, and horses of all sizes seem to have no difficulty in drinking from it without being unhocked, and great numbers of them have drank there since the water was turned on last week. Horned cattle, however, that haul so many loads of produce in from the surrounding country, must look elsewhere for a drink, as the basin is too high for them to reach.

Mrs. Ella Philbrook of Concord, formerly of this city, is spending a few weeks with relatives here.

A South Newmarket lady, Mrs. James Hersey, met with a serious accident at the Junction last week, when she attempted to jump off a moving train, missed her footing and fell, and was struck by the car and had her right hip broken. She was also very seriously injured internally. She was conveyed to her home in South Newmarket.

The Biddeford Times reports a most remarkable feat in swimming as having taken place at Old Orchard beach on Wednesday afternoon of last week, the contestants in the race being named Collins and Henschel. "The start was made at 4:30 from a dory," and "they swam to a yacht anchored a hundred miles off," Collins winning easily in three minutes and forty-one seconds.

Mr. Charles Neal, of Kittery, employed on the steamer Mystic, while in Kittery on the 13th inst. fell insensible from the effects of the intense heat, and was conveyed to his home in an unconscious state. He was attended by Dr. Wentworth, and was on the street again on Saturday.

As the passenger train on the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad was crossing the Biddeford bridge on the 13th inst., a brakeman named S. W. Clark leaned out from the rear platform, and was struck by a switch. He was knocked from the train to the bridge, and from there fell to the water beneath, but his injuries were not considered serious. He is a young man, and lives at Somerville, Mass. He has a wife and family.

—There is little doubt that Chicago will have its Grant monument up and mortgaged before New York gets through appointing committees.

—"Does your husband go to the lodge, Mrs. Gibberick?" "Well, he just don't. I broke up that little game quite a while ago." "Why, how in the world did you do it?" "Whenever he started for the lodge I went with him as far as the skating rink, and told him to call for me on his way home. It only took a few doses to cure him."

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Has "decided" claims upon the public. This is positively proven by the immense good it has done to those who have been cured of diseases from which they have suffered intensely for years, as verified by the published testimonials, every one of which is a positive fact.

CHELSEA, VT., Feb. 24, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: The 6th day of last June I was taken sick with a swelling on my right foot, and with an awful pain. The swelling went all over me. My face was swelled so that I could with difficulty see out of my eyes, and I broke out over the whole surface of my body; my right foot up to my knee was one raw, itching mass, and my ankle and foot so lame and sore I could not step on it, and it would run so as to wet a bandage through in an hour. In this condition Mr. W. F. Hood (of the firm of A. I. Hood & Son, druggists, of this town), handed me a bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and told me to take it. I did so, and by the time I had taken one bottle I found that it was doing me good. I have since taken five bottles more. After I had taken three bottles my soreness began to leave me, and I have been growing better every day, so that to-day I can walk without going lame. I have no soreness in my ankle, and it has healed all up, and does not run at all. I owe my recovery to your Sarsaparilla. I write this to let you know that I think it deserves the confidence of the public, especially those who are troubled with humors.

Yours most truly,
JOSIAH PITKIN.

P. S. Every person that saw me said that I never would get over my lameness without having a running sore on my ankle; but "thank God I have."

Noother Sarsaparilla has such a sharpening effect upon the appetite. No other preparation tones and strengthens the digestive organs like HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Price one dollar, or six bottles for five dollars. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Slightly cooler, generally fair weather, northwesterly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 50 degrees above zero.

Sky clear.

CAMPING OUT.

The grove on the easterly side of Sagamore road and the southerly bank of Sagamore creek presented a quite lively appearance on Sunday, being occupied by a large number of campers-out, first among whom came a large party of Gipseys, evidently of a superiar class. The Gipsy encampment consisted of six tents and several large vans, the carriages being divided into sleeping and sitting rooms, both nicely furnished, the beds having snowy counterpanes and lace curtains, and the rooms showing numerous evidences of feminine taste and care; the party were well dressed, the women and girls modest in deportment, and the entire camp scrupulously neat and clean. The twelve horses owned by the Zingari were all handsome animals.

Another camp of six tents was occupied by Messrs. Freeman Pearson, Frank Pearson, Freeman F. Sanborn, John L. Vernard and Charles Hanscom, with their families; and Herman W. Oxford and Newton Johnston, with their families, were in a third camp comprising several tents. Besides these there were two quite large parties of picnickers, who went down from this city in boats to spend the day at the grove, and also several pedestrians who were down for a walk.

SPECIAL SCHOOL LEGISLATION.

The following is the text of the bill presented in the New Hampshire senate on Wednesday of last week by Senator Goodrich of this city, oroviding for the employment of a superintendent of public schools. The bill has passed the senate, and was presented to the house Friday:

An act to enable the city of Portsmouth to employ a Superintendent of Schools.

Be it Enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. The Board of Instruction of the city of Portsmouth is hereby authorized at their annual meeting in July, or as soon after as practicable, to elect some suitable person to be superintendent of public instruction in said city, who shall hold office for one year from such annual meeting, or until his successor is elected and qualified.

If any vacancy shall occur in said office by resignation or otherwise, said board shall fill the same.

Said superintendent shall exercise the general supervision of the public schools in said city under the direction of the Board of Instruction, and shall perform such duties as relates to the visiting of schools and shall assist in the examination of teachers and scholars. He shall make an annual report to the Board of Instruction at such time as said Board shall determine, and shall report his proceedings and the condition and progress of the schools to the said Board as often and in such manner as they may require. In addition he shall serve as secretary of the Board of Instruction, and for his services as superintendent and secretary he shall receive such compensation as said Board of Instruction may determine.

SEC. 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect upon its passage.

The Times explains the object of the bill as follows:

This bill is to enable the committee to hire an experienced teacher to look after all the schools of the city, giving his whole time and attention to them. It is generally understood that no member of school boards, (as generally chosen), is sufficiently acquainted with school matters to supervise them individually. Neither will they give so much time to the schools as is really necessary for the proper transaction of school business. The committee being aware of this fact, are endeavoring to improve the schools by employing one who has a practical knowledge of school matters and can give his whole attention to them.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, Aug. 15th.

Archie Jenness, of Rye, was arraigned on two complaints for violation of the prohibitory liquor law, one complaint charging that he had kept for sale, and sold, "hard liquors," and the other charging the sale of beers of various degrees of immorality. He was held in the sum of $200 on each complaint, for his appearance to answer at the October term of the supreme court, bail being furnished in both cases.

Thomas Sullivan, of this city, was charged with assaulting Ellen Sullivan, his wife, for which diversion he was fined $5, with costs taxed at $5.76.

Ellen Sullivan, charged with drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $5.76.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner James T. Morse, from Philadelphia with 941 tons of coal, and the Robert J. Burr with 727 tons, arrived at this port from Philadelphia on Friday last; also the Viola Reppard, from Newport News with 754 tons—all to J. Albert Walker.

The schooner B. Frank Neally, from Philadelphia with coal for Dover, was towed up river Friday afternoon. Capt. John N. Handy, for whom this vessel was built by the Dover Navigation company, gives up the command of the vessel and retires this trip, after following the sea successfully for forty years. Capt. Oliver, of Wellfleet, Mass., will assume charge of the vessel.

The brick schooners D. K. Ham, Estella, J. Chester Wood and Lillie, from this port, arrived at Boston on Saturday.

The steamer May Queen made an excursion trip from this city to Newburyport on Sunday, with about a hundred passengers; and the steamer Startled Fawn came here on the same day with a party from Haverhill, Mass.. The steamer Mystic made her usual Sunday trip to the Shoals with the mails and papers, and had a good number of passengers.

The schooner Lizzie Guptill, Smith master, from Rockland with lime, and the Mary Willey, Williams master, from Bangor with lumber, arrived at this port on the 16th inst., both to John H. Broughton.

A NAVAL MOVEMENT.

Orders were received from Washington on Saturday, the 15th inst., by Commodore Chandler, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, to fit out as soon as possible the following vessels: Powhatan, Tallapoosa, Miantonomoh, (ironclad,) Richmond, Essex and Intrepid, (torpedo-boat.) These men-of-war are now lying in the channel, and most of them have been anchored there for a long time. The vessel nearest completion is the Tallapoosa, which has been rebuilt since she was fished out of Buzzard's bay. The dispatch conveying this information goes on to say:

On Monday morning, the 17th, it is expected that 500 laborers will be taken on by the foremen in the construction, equipment and steam engineering departments. They will be set to work on these ships, and try to make them as seaworthy as any vessels now afloat in the navy. As soon as Congress meets a special appropriation will be made for the purpose of improving the Brooklyn navy yard, and rendering it fit for the construction of vessels of any dimensions.

The fact that there is a very important election to occur in New York state this fall gives rise to the suspicion that this sudden revival of work at the New York navy yard may have a political mainspring coiled up somewhere inside. If this supposition is correct, the administration would do better to send two or three of the vessels to this navy yard, to give employment to a thousand or so of the staunch democrats of Maine and New Hampshire. In New York, with its million and a half of voters, the influence of the navy yard is as a bucket of water poured into the north millpond; whereas in New Hampshire, with its small margin between the two great political parties, the judicious selection of five hundred voters from various towns for jobs on the yard might result in a big overturn. By all means let at least a couple of the vessels be sent here, where repairs are more thoroughly and at the same time more cheaply effected than at any other yard in the country.

WILLIAM H. THOMAS.

William H. Thomas, ex-commodore of the New York yacht club, and owner of the famous schooner yacht Rambler, died on Thursday last of heart disease, at his residence in Bay Ridge, Long Island. He was born in New York city nearly seventy years ago, joined the New York yacht club in 1856, and was always an enthusiastic yachtsman. His influence did much to stimulate and encourage the growth of the pleasure fleet in these waters. He built the sloops Fannie and Ray, both of them famous mug-hunters. His sloop Minnie won the cup in a hotly contested race around Long Island. He established the cigar and tobacco importing house of William H. Thomas & Brother, at No. 25 Beaver street, in 1879, an interest in which he retained at the time of his death. He had suffered from heart trouble, though he started with his schooner on the recent cruise of the club to Newport, but being attacked with cholera morbus, he was obliged to return home. He had nearly recovered from the attack when heart disease carried him off. He leaves a widow, the daughter of the late Thomas D. Bailey, two sons and a daughter. Commodore Thomas made many warm friends [illegible] his visits in years gone by to the "Nutter Mansion" in this city, so celebrated in the graphic stories of Mrs. Thomas' nephew, Mr. T. Bailey Aldrich. He was a gentleman of fine physique, singularly modest, yet cordial and warm toward his friends and acquaintances, and as a merchant and business man the soul of honor.

Prof. Fred. Hinds, the bicycle wizard of the world, presented an exhibition of bicycle riding far superior to the greatest expectations. He is without doubt the finest in the world, and is alone worth twice the price of admission to all. He is a perfect marvel. Prof. Chivers, champion skater of England, was simply magnificent. Mlle. Zetta made a most favorable impression by her beautiful skating and charming bearing. She completely captivated her audience.—Dubuque Herald.

These artistes will appear in the Franklin Hall rink to-morrow evening, and there will be other attractions. See advertisement.

It is reported that President Crowley of the common council, at the first regular meeting of the council last Thursday evening, informed the board that "there is to be no 'butting' of the board of aldermen this year." This early notification to the councilmen of what they are not to be allowed to do, will tend to secure absolute peace and harmony.

The cabin of the brick schooner J. Chester Wood, Sanders master, running between this port and Boston, was entered by one of the crew while the vessel was in this port on Thursday night of last week, and $40 stolen from the bunk of Capt. Sanders. The thief is supposed to have been a Nova Scotian who was shipped in Boston the previous week, and who skipped after getting the money.

Some of the democratic firemen, and a good many ex-firemen, are at a loss to account for the dropping of John E. Harmon as an assistant engineer of the fire department, and the substitution of Robert H. Hall. Mr. Harmon is said to have been as good an assistant as there was connected with the department, and while Mr. Hall may turn out to be just as good, he has not been tried in actual service.

Ex-Gov. F. Noyes, of Ohio, arrived at the Boar's Head hotel, Hampton beach, on Saturday, for a few weeks' vacation.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are shunned by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

The work of the salvation army in the eastern part of Maine seems to be upon the increase. New corps have been opened in small towns, and the larger corps have helped them financially. In Lewiston the entire receipts of the salvation army in collections, sale of War Cries, etc., from Feb. 14th (the date of opening meeting) to July 1st, was $1459.91. This amount has supported the work of the Lewiston division, and permitted the contribution of $417 from this division toward the central organization for the extension of the work. The new barracks just opened in Augusta cost upward of $1000.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

—A milk vender being ill directed the foreman of the farm to carry out milk. The latter remonstrating that he did not know the route or customers, was told that the horse knew them all, and he need merely deliver the milk where the animal stopped. Being asked on his return how he got along, he replied that the horse seem to know all the customers, for he stopped before every rum shop in the city.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, privies, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley, or throw it upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12 When any householder shall know that any person in his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or any flats or marsh adjoining the same. The Morning Dress.

It is said that a lady's standing in society can easily be determined by her dress at the breakfast table; an expensive, showy costume indicating that the wearer has not yet learned the proprieties. But no one need be afraid of being called "shoddy" if her loveliness is as apparent by daylight as at the hops. Perfect beauty is never the attendant of disease; above all, of those diseases peculiar to women, and which find a ready cure in Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." Price reduced to one dollar. At druggists.

The reports of the massacre in Anam were greatly exaggerated. Instead of ten thousand, it is now stated that only a few hundred Christians were killed.

The President of the Cambridge, Mass., Fire Ins. Co. says: "I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as a building up and strengthening remedy."

John Carney, Benjamin Norton and Mary Granger, mill operatives, while returning from a picnic Saturday night were killed by a train on a bridge near Pittsfield, Mass.

Tens of Thousand Colds

The liabilities of John Roach are shown to be $2,222,877. The nominal assets are stated to be $5,108,698, and his actual assets $4,481,478.

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to Hay Fever. Have been using it as directed since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. F. B. Ainsworth,

Of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Publishers, Indianapolis, Ind.

There are over 1000 cases of smallpox in Montreal, and the disease is spreading rapidly; about 150 deaths have occurred. The disease is mainly confined to the French Canadians, who oppose vaccination.

Physic is necessary at times for billiousness, costiveness, &c. Use Dr. Arnold's Billious Pills. 25c.

AT SUMMER RESORTS.

The typical tennis costume is of fine, light-weight wool, cream white or pale colored, with tennis scarf three yards long of soft India satin, embroidered in some characteristic design; tie to match, and rough straw hat trimmed with a handkerchief or scarf in keeping; while next in esteem come fine striped or dotted flannel suits. Styles of making are simple; kilt plaits are in high favor, and a design showing plaits with short overskirt in front and longer at the back is not inappropriate. Blouse waist. A prettily touched-up canvas dress is picturesque enough on a summer lawn, but does not guard against chill so well as flannel. But any skirt will answer with addition of a blouse flannel waist, and in view of the demand, they are shown ready made both for ladies and children.

THE REFLECTING SOUL

On a hotel piazza of a morning, when tired of speculating on the horizontal extent of bustles, can soliloquize regarding wrappers. Mother Hubbards flourish, yet for the piazza it is better to belt at the back by a sash ribbon with ends flowing at the side. In no case, however, are they so indisputably proper as the wrapper of princesse shape, with Watteau plait extending all the way at the back, and loose in front or partly fitted all around. As to material, we see pretty nearly everything according as the thermometer goes down or up. Flannels, light wool, silk, muslin, mull, or all over embroidery, one in this last style made princesse shape, having been worn lately by a member of Jay Gould's family.

SASH WAISTS

Are among the prettiest of summer ideas. A broad sash ribbon, sometimes in gay Roman colors, or again, in dark stripes, is made into a waist and worn with a skirt of some other, but, of course, harmonizing material. Lace skirts, either black or white, are peculiarly adapted to these coquettish bodices, because lace sleeves frequently replace those of silk, and thus there is a pretty uniformity with the advantage of showing a rounded arm. A youthful member of Cyrus Field's family recently appeared in a charming outfit composed of a Roman sash ribbon waist with black lace sleeves and skirt. Roman sash to match. Her cousin wore a blue striped sash waist with white lace skirt and sleeves. Heart shaped necks are often seen this season, and both waists were made in this style.

The mourning outfit for the Grant family, as furnished by Lord & Taylor, has established the prestige of clarrette, a kind of nun's veiling, as a leading summer fabric in this kind of wear. Each lady member ordered one, including the widow, whose dress was finished by crape fans let in between long drapery. A second dress was of crepe de chine covered with crape; a third, nun's veiling with long, half-fitting sacque, heavily trimmed with crape. Mrs. Fred. Grant's dress of clarrette had the skirt made in cluster plaits and full drapery; Mrs. Jesse Grant, clarrette, with skirt of wide tucks and paniers; Mrs. Sartoris, clarrette dress with wide tucks and drapery trimmed with crape. The little granddaughter, plain white tucked dresses with black sashes; the little four-years-old boy, a black camel's hair dress; one five years of age, a full jersey suit with cap and sash. ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing Itching and Burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen Prurius, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly, and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema or Salt Rheum on head, neck, face, arms, and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

If Your Liver Reminds You

Of its existence by dull pain or sharp twinges in the right side, or beneath the dexter shoulder-blade, accept the reminder as a warning, and regulate the organ without loss of time, by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The above symptoms are usually accompanied by yellowness of the skin, constipation, furred tongue, disorder of the stomach, sick headache and morning nausea. But a reform is promptly instituted by the Bitters, the best possible substitute for calomel, blue pill, and other super-potent and hurtful drugs erroneously designated as remedies for biliousness. Appetite and digestion are restored, and the bowels resume activity, when an impetus is given to the functions of health by this sterling anti-bilious medicine, which also has the effect of enriching and purifying the circulation, and fortifying the system against malarial infection in air or water. It is also highly beneficial for rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles.

General Manager Tucker, of the Maine Central railroad, has issued an order instructing conductors and agents that free passes will not be granted to persons accompanying live stock or articles for exhibition, to or from the New England fair at Bangor, or the state fair at Lewiston, Me. Station agents must notify shippers, and conductors must require a ticket of each person on their trains.

On Thursday night of last week, while Mrs. Robinson Dunham, living on Proctor creek, West Va., was putting her children to bed, a lamp was upset, the oil ignited, and the bed clothes took fire. The Terrible Drain

Which scrofula has upon the system must be arrested, and the blood must be purified, or serious consequences will ensue. For purifying and vitalizing effects, Hood's Sarsaparilla has been found superior to any other preparation. It expels every trace of impurity from the blood, and bestows new life and vigor upon every function of the body, enabling it to entirely overcome disease.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1885.

☞ Copies of the GAZETTE and of the DAILY CHRONICLE can be had of Moses Brothers, at their Newspaper Store in Congress Block.

Just Like Him.

In the minority platform which General Butler presented to the democratic national convention was this:

"Resolved, That the public lands of the nation are held by the government in trust for those who make their homes in the United States and who mean to become citizens of the republic, and we protest against the purchase and monopolization of these lands by corporations and the alien aristocracies of Europe."

This protest appears to have been ineffectual in at least one prominent quarter, for it is now given out that General Butler is one of the leading spirits in the Union Land & Grazing company, a corporation which will "monopolize" 400,000 acres of land in New Mexico and Colorado.—New Bedford Mercury.

This is just about as far as the average Massachusetts newspaper is able to discover the drift of the doughty General. The resolution had its effect. The General has had Mr. Cleveland stirred up in regard to the public lands, which is about the only action he has shown, save that in relation to public office, since his term began. The result is that the president will cut a long good-stick in the Adirondack forests, and come round by New Mexico and drive out the cattlemen from the reservations. As they pass out, with their herds, they will see the ubiquitous Butler sitting on a stump, and hear him blandly remark: "If any of you want land on which to pasture your cattle, we have the tracts just suited for that purpose." Yes, the fact is patent that the only advance step made in five months by this reform administration is to drive the cattle men into a corral, where Butler and Robeson will be able to convince them that it is the early bird that catches the worm. True, there are very many good democrats who have promising schemes for making money by means of their democracy during the term of the present administration, but the Essex statesman at present heads the list and authoritatively suggests, "after me, gentlemen." The protest of the General at Chicago was "against the purchase of these lands by corporations and alien aristocracies of Europe." The resolution was silent as to similiar purchases by like holders resident in this country. The General is too good a lawyer not to properly draw his declarations, and he commonly looks ahead when he seeks to run a democratic convention.

The Cholera.

Despatches from Madrid report that in all Spain on Friday, the 14th inst., there were returned 5600 new cases of cholera, and 1950 deaths. The aspect of affairs was becoming more serious in Madrid, the epidemic having appeared in the foundling hospital and other public establishments, and in the best quarters of the city.

A Madrid despatch of the 16th says: "Returns show a total number of new cases on Saturday of 4706, and a total number of deaths from the disease of 1758. The plague has made its appearance at Barcelona, where 23 cases and 16 deaths are reported. In Grenada the condition is terrible. Many doctors are dying. Whole streets are infected with the scourge, by which entire families have been carried away. The total number of deaths in the infected provinces since the outbreak of the epidemic is over 60,000, and it is estimated that over that number of persons have fled from the kingdom."

In Marseilles, on the 16th, there were twenty-seven deaths from cholera, and seventy in the Pharo hospital. The disease is increasing in Paris, one of the papers openly asserting that the number of deaths is much larger than is officially reported.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Has "decided" claims upon the public. This is positively proven by the immense good it has done to those who have been cured of diseases from which they have suffered intensely for years, as verified by the published testimonials, every one of which is a positive fact.

CHELSEA, VT., Feb. 24, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass: The 6th day of last June I was taken sick with a swelling on my right foot, and with an awful pain. The swelling went all over me. My face was swelled so that I could with difficulty see out of my eyes, and I broke out over the whole surface of my body; my right foot up to my knee was one raw, itching mass, and my ankle and foot so lame and sore I could not step on it, and it would run so as to wet a bandage through in an hour. In this condition Mr. W. F. Hood (of the firm of A. F. Hood & Son, druggists of this town), handed me a bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and told me to take it. I did so, and by the time I had taken one bottle I found that it was doing me good. I have since taken five bottles more. After I had taken three bottles my soreness began to leave me, and I have been growing better every day, so that to-day I can walk without going lame. I have no soreness in my ankle and it has healed all up, and does not run at all. I owe my recovery to your Sarsaparilla. I write this to let you know that I think it deserves the confidence of the public, especially those who are troubled with humors.

Yours most truly,
JOSIAH PITKIN.

P. S. Every person that saw me said that I never would get over my lameness without having a running sore on my ankle; but thank God I have. J. P.

Neither Sarsaparilla has such a sharpening effect upon the appetite. No other preparation tones and strengthens the digestive organs like HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1879.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1869, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

THE SEASON AT THE SHOALS.

The hotels at the Isles of Shoals have had the favorable promise of the opening of the season more than made good, the patronage received having been unprecedented. The Appledore's guests commenced to arrive before the house was formally opened to the public, and the hotel was filled earlier in the season than for many years past. The Oceanic is having the most successful season it has ever had, from the time the original Oceanic was built on the island by Mr. Poor; its rooms have been full, and cots in use, for two weeks past. A large Raymond excursion party is booked for this house on the 2d of September, and the Boston Commandery of Knights Templar, with ladies, to the number of 250 or more in all, will arrive on the 3d. The hotel will remain open until the middle of September.

The "pot hole" discovered at Star island last spring by Mr. O. L. Frisbee, manager of the Oceanic, and named "Neptune's punch-bowl" by the Laighton Bros., has attracted much attention from visitors to the islands, and much speculation from the more scientific as to how it was drilled down into the solid rock. Such pot holes are found now in course of being hollowed out, at the foot of waterfalls where the fall is heavy enough to whirl around detached boulders that are harder than the rock they lie on, and which thus gradually grind their way downward into the solid ledge; but no ocean current would have concentrated force enough for this work, and the pot hole is the only evidence that the shore of Star island was ever the base of a waterfall. The hole was probably drilled during the glacial period, the theory that it was drilled by the action of the waves, the island having since risen so as to bring the hole twenty feet above high-water mark, being untenable, and the glacial theory being supported by the deep scratches on the rocks, and the presence of a huge boulder, differing from the island ledges, near the centre of Star island. The islands may have risen or sunken in part, however, in recent times, for the old Shoalers positively assert that many years ago they could just see the top of the cupola of the Appledore house, when standing on meeting-house hill, Star island, whereas now, from the same spot, the chimneys of the Appledore are visible—a difference of nearly fifty feet.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, Aug. 17th.

Maud Ellis, a woman of vile character, was arraigned for drunkenness, but was allowed to go on probation, on her promise to rid the city of her presence at once.

THE ENTERTAINMENT TO-NIGHT.

At the Franklin Hall skating rink, this evening, there will appear Prof. Fred Hinds, the champion trick bicycle rider of the world; Prof. W. H. Chivers, who is not only a noted fancy and trick skater, but has beaten all competitors in Europe for speed, having made ten miles in thirty minutes on a six-lap track; and Mlle. Zetta, "the Skatorial Queen of the World," claimed to be the best lady skater ever seen. Besides this, there is to be a fancy dress carnival, for which costumes can be hired at the rink to-day. See advertisement.

MARITIME NOTES.

The excursion trip of the steamer May Queen, Capt. Duncan, to Newburyport on Sunday, was a very pleasant one, the day being fine and the sea smooth. The passengers amused themselves on landing by visiting the points of interest around the city, and at Black rocks and Salisbury beach. There was a large company at the latter places, from Newburyport and Haverhill, the propeller ("wheelbarrow") Haverhill having brought down a crowd from the Merrimac towns. The May Queen was cheered as she was leaving the harbor, by the returning Newburyport boys.

The Portland Advertiser reports that the brig William Mason, which sailed from Newburyport for Portsmouth on the 14th inst., was on the 15th towed into Portland harbor, having lost her bowsprit, foremast, head of maintopgallant mast, mainroyalmast, yards, sails and head gear.

The schooner yacht Leatha, from Boston, arrived off the Wenworth, Newcastle, on the 16th inst., having on board Commodore Wm. H. Martin, W. L. Tucker and lady, and Miss Inez Nicholson.

The steam yacht Marina, of Albany, N. Y., ran into the lower harbor Monday afternoon, and came to anchor.

The U. S. S. Galena, Comdr. Kane commanding, steamed out of the lower harbor, where she had been lying for several weeks, at ten o'clock Monday forenoon, and went to the eastward under steam and sail.

Mr. George W. Jackson, late draughtsman on the Brooklyn navy yard, on Monday reported for duty as draughtsman in the construction department at the Portsmouth yard, in place of Mr. W. H. Emery, who had ably filled the position for many years. Mr. Emery is ordered as draughtsman in attendance on the board of naval constructors convened at Chester, Pa., to examine and take an inventory of the new cruisers Boston, Atlanta and Chicago, now in course of construction at that place.

The Sir Knights of the Boston Commandry of Knights Templar, with their ladies, are to make an excursion to the Oceanic house, Isles of Shoals, on the 3d and 4th of September, leaving Boston on a special train at 9:35 A. M. on Thursday, the 3d, and returning on Friday. On Friday afternoon at one o'clock there will be a grand banquet at the Oceanic in commemoration of their pilgrimage to California, that being the second anniversary of their return.

Mr. Alexander L. Rand was on Saturday notified of the termination of the authority granted him by the city to use the north mill for grinding. This we hope is a preliminary to something being done toward remedying the perennial nuisance.

Vanderbilt and party passed through here for Boston by a special train shortly after four o'clock in the afternoon on Monday; the train consisted of his private parlor car and baggage car, drawn by engine 211 of the eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Mr. George J. Hardy, now stopping at the Marshall house, York harbor, has chartered the sloop yacht Ripple of Lewis Holmes for the season.

Hon. Frank Jones and Mr. Josiah H. Morrison start for New York to-day, to take steamer for Hamburg to-morrow.

Henry F. Wendell, Esq., has been appointed inspector of customs at this port in place of John Pender, Esq., resigned. Mr. Wendell assumes the duties of the position to-day.

The excursion to Jefferson, N. H., on Sunday last, to view the land-slide on Cherry mountain, was well patronized. All who went report a good time, the day being very clear, and the views of the several mountains excellent, while the slide was a sight worth going a great deal farther to see. The party returned about ten o'clock P. M.

Mr. Lawrence Cotter, who three years ago kept a shoe store on Water street, has returned to Portsmouth from Great Falls, and will open a store on Penhallow street for the sale of boots and shoes.

Mr. John Christie, eighty-one years old, was one of the excursionists from this city to the great land-slide at Jefferson, on Sunday last.

We having stated that "Mr. Harmon [the assistant engineer of the fire department who was dropped by the board of aldermen at the late election] is said to have been as good an assistant as there was connected with the department, and while Mr. Hall may turn out to be just as good, he has not been tried in actual service," the Times hastens to accuse us of "grave misrepresentation of Mr. Hall," as that gentleman "has been a member of the fire department" for some years. As our statement could not be twisted into a reference to service in any other position than that of assistant engineer, and simply was that while Mr. Harmon was a tried assistant Mr. Hall was untried in that position, neither of which assertions the Times pretends to dispute, the charge of "grave misrepresentation" certainly does not apply to us, and as certainly does apply to the Times.

One of the grounds on which the ladies of Augusta, Me., are petitioning for a commutation of the death sentence of Mrs. Barrows of Kittery, is that no woman has ever been hung in the state of Maine. Commenting on this, the Portland Argus says the ladies are mistaken, and instances the cases of Mrs. Cornish of York, hung in 1644, and Patience Sampson, hung in 1735. On this the Portland Advertiser remarks: "Maine did not become a state until 1820. The ladies are right."

The governor and council of Maine have designated Thursday, the 27th inst., as the day on which they will hear applicants for a commutation of the sentence of Oscar E. Blaney, the murderer of Thomas Barrows of Kittery.

A silver dollar weighs very nearly an ounce. Hence any letter not heavier than a dollar can go for a single two-cent stamp. A cent (not one of the old-fashioned cart-wheels, but a modern cent) added will give the ounce. If you have not the silver dollar, five nickels and a small copper cent will give an ounce.

At Bridgeport, Conn., John Banks, a wealthy farmer, was swindled out of $3000 by two three-card-monte men.

—"Here, Gumley," said Moneybags to his book-keeper, handing him some five-cent cigars, "give these to your worst enemy; they are too bad for me." Then Moneybags passed out, and Gumley, who is not above six weeds for a quarter, gently murmured, "A man's worst enemy is himself," and proceeded to light one.

—"Is the musical critic in? My name is Iggins. I 'ave just arrived from Hengland and am about to sing 'ere. I would like to 'ave you mention 'n your notice my chest notes—" Here the umpire of the concert-room glared at him and growled: "Chestnuts! Oh, you want to see the funny man over in the dark corner there."

—A piece of evidence in a Quebec breach of promise case is a cuff with an offer of marriage written on it. One night, while the defendant was holding the plaintiff's hand and whispering fervid words, he popped the question in manuscript on the smooth linen at her wrist. She was sentimental or shrewd enough to keep that article out of the wash, and now it is of practical value.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by housands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly tinged on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for,

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

"No woman," says the Literay World, "has had a larger share in the production of the respectable love poetry or mature literary criticism of the time than Alice Wellington Rollins. Mrs. Rollins was Alice Wellington before marriage. She was educated by her father until her fourteenth year, and was very carefully grounded by him in Latin and mathematics. For her knowledge of literature, history, and other subjects, she was left very much to herself. After her father's tutelage, she attended two or three different schools, spending a year in study in Germany and France, and, after her return to America, was married to Mr. Daniel M. Rollins, of New York, formerly of Portsmouth, N. H., with whom her life has been an ideally happy one. Their home has long been in Brooklyn, although they have traveled much abroad and in this country, and now spend several months each year on their ranch at Monte Carneiro. Mrs. Rollins is constantly occupied with pen-work; but, as most of it is editorial, her name is not often seen in connection with it. One of her earliest prose works was a series of 'Studies of George Eliot,' which elicited much praise from distinguished sources. She has written a series of 'Studies of Poetry,' which is used to some extent by teachers in literature lectures, and has produced many children's stories and verses adapted to older readers, which have appeared in the leading juvenile magazines and religious papers, besides the editorial work mentioned and occasional essays. Her only collection of her writings thus far is a book of verse, the leading title of which is 'The Ring of Amethyst,' and which all lovers of sentimental poems count among their treasures. Mrs. Rollins contributed an illustrated paper ('Ladies' Day at the Ranch',) based on experience of western farm-life, to the June Harper's, which will probably appear in a volume with other papers descriptive of ranch life in the fall."

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substances or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No render of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind upon the premises over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12 When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier shall neglect or refuse, being given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or core or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Above all other earthly ills,
I hate the big, old-fashioned pills;
By slow degrees they downward wend,
And often cause, or upward tend;
With such discomfort are they fraught,
Their good effects amount to naught.
Now, Dr. Pierce prepares a pill
That just exactly fills the bill—
A Pellet, rather, that is all—
A Pleasant Purgative, and small;
Just try them as you feel their need,
You'll find that I speak truth, indeed.

—A pious lady met Homer Martin one Sunday morning on the way to take an excursion steamer. "Are you not going to church?" she inquired. "No, ma'am," said he. "But, of course, you like to go to church," said she. "I like it immensely," said the wag, "but I can restrain myself."

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

—"Captain, we are entirely out of ammunition," said an orderly sergeant, on a field day. "What, entirely out of ammunition?" exclaimed the captain. "Yes, entirely out," was the reply. "Then cease firing," peremptorily said the captain.

Tens of Thousand Colds

Lead to consumption, fevers, settled coughs, asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, &c. Immediate relief by Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer.

—Scene: Entrance to a suburban public hall. Inquisitive citizen—"What's on inside?" "An amateur theatrical performance." "They seem to be enjoying themselves pretty well, if I may judge by the laughter. What's the play? "Hamlet."

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to Hay Fever. Have been using it as directed since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. F. B. Ainsworth.

—Freddy went to Sunday school. He was in the infant class. One day his father said to him: "How is this, Freddy? You have been going to Sunday school for some time, and have never yet brought home a good ticket. I really am ashamed of you." "Papa," said the little culprit, swelling up like a toad, "I'll bring home a good ticket next Sunday, if—if I have to hook it!"

Physic is necessary at times for biliousness, costiveness, &c. Use Dr. Arnold's Billious Pills. 25c.

—"Why do we fire cannon and express our joy over Washington's birthday, and not over mine?" asked a school teacher. "Because Washington is dead and you ain't," was the irreverent reply.

Never neglect a constipated condition of the bowels, or serious results surely follow, such as piles, impure blood, and many chronic complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters.

—A pretty, well dressed little child was standing on the front steps singing "I want to be an angel, and with the angels stand," when a ragged street Arab passed by. "Look here, young 'un," he said, "do you know you've got to die and be buried before you can be an angel?" The child's countenance fell for a moment; but quickly recovering herself she answered: "I don't care, anyhow. I want to be an angel;" and she continued her song.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

—"No, Henry, I have no objection to your going to the lodge, but don't you think the cruelty to animals society would object to feeding that poor goat on whiskey and tobacco?" Henry blushes like a girl as he says that he will mention the matter to the most worshipful, puisant regent upon the first convenient opportunity.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

—"My little boy," said a gentleman, "you ought not to eat those green apples. They are not good for little boys." "They hain't eh?" the boy replied with his mouth full. "Guess you don't know much about 'em mister. Three of these apples'll keep me out of school for a week."

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Positively Cured.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly, and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema of Salt Rheum on head, neck, face, arms, and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Finding a Remarkable Cave.

A party of northerners, who have been prospecting for minerals in this neighborhood for some time, writes a Chulafinee, Ala., correspondent to the New York Sun, arrived here this morning from Riddlesbride, on the Tallapoosa river. They report the finding by them of a remarkable cave near there, and give a graphic account of their meeting with the inhabitants of the cave. The entrance to the cave is near the head of a small ravine, about one mile from the Tallapoosa river, and is barely large enough for one person to enter at a time. The party entered the cave at about 4 P. M., and spent two hours exploring it. The cave is about four hundred feet in length, varying in width from ten to sixty feet, with an average height of fifteen feet, and is dimly lighted throughout by small fissures in the rocks, extending from the roof to the ground above.

When the explorers were about to leave the cave they were terrified at finding the exit blocked by a writhing mass of big rattlesnakes. The noise made by the party had doubtless roused the snakes from their hiding-places among the rocks, and they had gathered in large numbers near the entrance. Deeming discretion the better part of valor, the party retreated to that part of the cave most remote from the entrance to wait for the snakes to return to their hiding-places. The explorers were compelled to remain in the cave until morning. Soon after dark one of the party struck a match to light a cigar, and, after lighting it, threw the still burning match on the bottom of the cave. He was startled at seeing a bright flame flash up from the rocks where the match had fallen, which rose to the height of four feet, burned brightly all night, and was still burning when they left the cave in the morning. A small fissure could be seen in the rocks beneath the flame, and the supposition is that a volume of natural gas was escaping through this fissure.

Daylight came at last to the great relief of the explorers, the entire party having remained awake all night. Going forward to the entrance of the cave they found that the snakes, with the exception of one or two, had gone back to their hiding-places. Those that remained were quickly dispatched with stones, and the explorers made their exit from the cave in safety. A large party will go from here to-morrow prepared to extinguish the snakes and fully explore this wonderful cave.

Household Hints.

Chicken a la Cunard Steamer.—Separate the joints of the chicken, wash in cold water and boil until tender; this should be done on the previous day; remove from the liquor and drain, preserving the liquor; roll each piece in egg and cracker crumbs and fry a nice brown in butter or chicken fat skimmed from the top of the liquor; lay on a platter and keep hot; put a cup of milk and half a cup of the liquor into the frying pan; when hot add a little smooth thickening, stirring constantly; pour over the chicken and serve.

Rice Muffins.—One pint of rich milk, one quart of sifted flour, one pint of soft-boiled rice, three well-beaten eggs, a tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one of soda, and two of cream of tartar; mix sugar, salt, soda and cream of tartar with the flour and rub through the sieve; add the eggs to the milk and stir gradually into the flour; when a smooth light batter or paste, add the rice and beat thoroughly; bake thirty-five minutes in buttered rings in pans.

To Renovate Bronze.—Bronze may be renovated and recolored by mixing one part of muriatic acid and two parts of water; free the article from all grease and dirt, and apply the diluted acid with a cloth; when dry polish with sweet oil.

Fig Pudding.—Take one pound of figs, six ounces of suet, three-quarters of a pound of flour, and milk. Chop the suet fine, mix with the flour and make into a smooth paste with the milk. Roll out about half an inch thick, cut the figs in small pieces and strew them over the paste; roll it up, make the ends secure, tie in a cloth and boil nearly two hours. Care should be taken to keep the water boiling and the pudding well covered with water.

To Soften the Hands.—Mutton tallow is considered excellent for softening the hands. It may be rubbed on at any time when the hands are perfectly dry, but the best time is when retiring. An old pair of soft, large gloves thoroughly covered on the inside with tallow and glycerine in equal parts, melted together, can be worn during the night with the most satisfactory results.

A Nice Dressing For Sandwiches.—Half a pound of sweet, fresh butter, two tablespoonfuls of mixed mustard, three tablespoonfuls of salad oil, a little red or black pepper, a little salt, and the yolk of one egg. Rub the butter to a cream, add the other ingredients, mix thoroughly, and set away to cool. Chop lean boiled ham fine, mix well with the dressing, and spread your bread with a moderate quantity.

Boiled Bluefish.—Put the bluefish on in scalding water, with a little salt and half a small cup of vinegar. Let it stand just below boiling heat half an hour, then boil for the same time. Serve with drawn butter.

Made Mustard.—Four tablespoonfuls of English mustard, two teaspoonfuls of salt, two teaspoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoonfuls of salad oil, one teaspoonful of pepper, and vinegar to make a smooth paste. Rub mustard, oil, pepper and salt together, wet by degrees with vinegar, beating very hard at the last, when proper consistency has been gained.

A Square Denial.

Regarding the despatches published in a Boston evening paper and widely copied, that Senator Blair had written Hon. Frank Jones, the alleged patronage dispenser for New Hampshire, that he would support all the president's nominations in the United States senate, provided Colonel T. P. Cheney, United States pension agent, Henry M. Putney, internal revenue collector, J. L. Stevens, postmaster at Manchester, and one other office-holder were not disturbed, the Claremont Advocate publishes the following letter:

NEW YORK, Aug. 10th, 1885.

My Dear Sir: I came here to attend the funeral of General Grant, and your letter of the 7th has just reached me. Of course the matter contained in the newspaper slip you enclosed to me, taken from the Evening Record of the 7th inst., is an absolute falsehood. I never thought of such a proposition, and Mr. Jones is at perfect liberty to publish any letter I ever wrote to him, in full.

Truly yours, B. W. BLAIR.

Thomas Gray, a Concord hotel keeper, has been arrested in Laconia on a charge of stealing a rifle and two shotguns, valued at $700, from the Atlanta, Ga., exposition three years ago. The weapons had been placed on exhibition by a Baltimore firm, and were traced to Laconia by detectives. Freeman Gilman, of Sanbornton, is an alleged accomplice, but he has not yet been captured. The men were employed in the exposition building.

At South Merrimack, Monday morning, Dennis Buckley of East Pepperell, Mass., had some trouble with George Clough, relative to damage done by a horse. It is alleged that Clough drew a revolver and emptied it at Buckley. One ball lodged in his back, and made a dangerous wound. Buckley went to Nashua, and a physician probed the wound without discovering the ball.

News and Notes.

At Philadelphia on the 17th inst. an explosion, supposed to have been caused by dynamite, took place on board the passenger steamer S. M. Felton, belonging to the Pennsylvania railroad company. The entire forward part of the boat above the water line was entirely demolished, and several passengers more or less severely injured. The damage to the steamer is about $1500. There were 500 people on board the boat at the time of the accident.

The internal revenue bureau has been notified of seizures of counterfeit beer stamps in New York. The officers are very reticent over the affair, but it has leaked out that over $14,000 worth have been taken. A searching investigation is now in progress, and the evidence so far points to a conspiracy, in which it is said a number of wealthy brewers in different parts of the country are concerned.

ARE you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develop itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

"MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—* * * My youngest son has always been troubled with Scrofulous Humor; sores in his head discharging from his ears, and a running sore on the back of his ear for two years; his eyelids would fester and ulcerate, discharging so that I was obliged to wash them open every morning, his eyelashes nearly all coming out; he was exceedingly dainty, most of the time eating but two slight meals a day. We were unable to find anything that had the least effect upon him till last spring, 1878, we gave him two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. He appeared improved at once. * * The back of his ear healed up without a scar, and not a sore in his head since. Sincerely yours,

MRS. N. C. SANBORN,
No. 108 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

"We do not as a rule allow ourselves to use our editorial columns to speak of any remedy we advertise, but we feel warranted in saying a word for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sarsaparilla has been known as a remedial agent for centuries and is recognized by all schools of practice as a valuable blood purifier. It is put up in forms of almost infinite variety, but Messrs. Hood & Co., (Lowell, Mass.) who are thoroughly reliable pharmacists, have hit upon a remedy of unusual value. Certainly they have vouchers of cures which we know to be most extraordinary."—Editors Lowell Weekly Journal.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, August 18th.

Thomas Geoghegan, drunk, fined $3, costs $6.90. Brentwood.

Franklin C. Hoyt, drunk, fined $10, costs $6.90. Jail.

Franklin C. Hoyt, larceny of stone bottles from Edward W. Hilton, thirty days in jail, costs $5.76.

On two other complaints, one for malicious mischief and the other for assault on Mary Stevens, Franklin C. Hoyt was discharged.

Betsey Stopford of Newington, charged with selling cider in quantities less than ten gallons, was held in $200 for her appearance at the October term of the supreme court, and furnished bail.

THE FIRE BOARD.

The new board of engineers met on Monday evening, and organized for the ensuing year as follows:

Chief Engineer, Herbert A. Marden;

First Asst. Engr., George P. Philbrick, assigned to steamer No. 2;

Second Asst. Engr., George A. Jackson, assigned to hook and ladder;

Asst. Engr., Robert H. Hall, assigned to steamer No. 3;

Asst. Engr., Andrew J. Langdon, assigned to steamer No. 4;

Clerk of the department, Samuel R. Gardner.

NAVY YARDS TO START UP.

A despatch from Washington says: "Orders will be sent from the navy department in a few days directing that work shall be resumed at all the navy yards. Already work has been begun in the yards at Mare island and Brooklyn. At the remainder it will be begun as soon as the organization of the forces has been completed. The appointment of new foremen, it is expected, will be made in a short time at the yards where they have not yet been named. On June 30th many men were discharged because of a lack of funds to continue work. The new fiscal year gives a new appropriation with which work can be continued."

LAND SALE IN RYE.

S. R. Knights & Co. sold by auction at Rye beach on Monday afternoon, four building lots, 1 1-4 acres each, as follows: To Richard C. Nichols of Boston, two lots for $1170; one lot to C. H. Vanderventer of New York, for $375; one lot to G. W. Park of Boston, for $380. They also sold fourteen acres of land to C. H. Vanderventer for $1050; orchard of two acres, to G. H. Perkins of Rye, for $365; twenty-two acres of woodland and meadow to Thomas I. Marden of Rye, for $925; and two acres on Love lane to George G. White of Rye, for $55.

MARITIME NOTES.

The brick schooner Triton arrived from Boston on the 17th inst., light, and the Hattie Lewis and G. W. Raitt sailed for Boston on the 18th, with cargoes.

The following particulars of the damage to the brigantine William Mason, when running inside the Shoals on the 14th inst., are given by a Portland paper: "The brigantine was sailing between Newburyport and Portsmouth, going under all sail. The first mate, who was at the wheel, observed a long narrow streak of clouds coming down upon them from the westward, accompanied by a small dot of a cloud of the blackest hue. The mate rushed forward to let go the royal halyards, when all at once there was a tremendous roar and crash, and the foremast went flying in the air in half a dozen pieces, while the bowsprit, which was sent up in the air, come crashing down on the deck. The black cloud, which had come right down on them, disappeared in a moment or two. Strange as it may seem, a schooner a few hundred feet away kept on her course without accident, and the captain of this schooner says that he felt no unusual wind. The mate of the William Mason said that in his thirty years experience at sea he never experienced anyting like it before."

Nine places in New Hampshire, namely, Manchester, Concord, Dover, Nashua, Somersworth, Rochester, Keene, Claremont and Portsmouth are entitled to the benefits of the special mail delivery which is to go into operation on the 1st of October.

Messrs. William Ward and Samuel Maddock arrived at Liverpool on the 7th inst., on the steamship Samaria, from Boston, after a very rough passage—the worst one, the captain said, that he ever made at this time of the year.

We hear that the mayor discharged all the force working on the streets, on the night of the 15th inst.

Capt. Frank L. Bird, of the steamer Appledore, was on Tuesday presented with a pair of elegant marine glasses by the guests of the Oceanic hotel, Star island, George Milmine, Esq., of Toledo, Ohio, making the presentation speech.

Eastern railroad stock sold at $54 per share at the Brokers' board in Boston on the 18th inst., several hundred shares being sold at that figure.

Daniel Clark, at Commercial wharf, received on Monday 2500 mackerel from the weirs, and 1000 lbs. of cod and haddock from the small boats.

Capt. Zach Randall, of Newcastle, brought up and retailed at the north end on Monday 600 fat mackerel. Zach reports on his own authority (as he sails alone) that he was approached one mile off Whalesback by a school of sea turtles which attempted to crawl on board his boat, and caused him to pull up his kellick and sail for Portsmouth harbor.

And now it is stated that the reason Mr. John E. Harmon, an experienced, efficient and always-on-hand assistant engineer of the fire department, was dropped from the board of engineers at the late meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen, was that he scratched the name of one of the democratic candidates for councilmen at the late election. The democratic voter may as well understand right away that the common council is not the only place where no kicking is to be tolerated. When the managers of the party have selected the men to be voted for, that is the ticket to be carried if trouble would be avoided.

At Worcester, Mass., Aug. 17th, Gibson Pretzel, a New York lawyer, was arrested for evading fare on the Boston & Albany railroad. Pretzel purchased a ticket at the office of the Boston & Maine railroad in this city, which was found to be over the Tunnel line, although a ticket via the Boston & Albany was asked for, and the transfers across Boston were in regular order. Pretzel refused to pay fare, and declares that he will sue the Boston & Albany for false imprisonment.

KITTERY, ME., Aug. 17th.

The following-named persons were installed officers at a recent meeting of Whipple lodge, No. 93, I. O. G. T., by Lodge Deputy Mark C. Fernald, assisted by C. C. Bartlett, G. W. S., and C. W. Swain, G. W. M.:

W. C. T., Geo. Manent;
W. V. T., Maggie Jackson;
W. S., Geo. H. Boulter;
W. F. S., Frank C. Eaton;
W. T., Lucinda Hayes;
W. C., Rev. E. E. Colburn;
W. M., S. A. Jackson;
W. I. G., Emma O. Hayes;
W. O. G., Geo. Dunbar;
W. R. H. S., Hattie Pettigrew;
W. L. H. S., Carrie Jenkins;
W. A. S., Lulu Morse;
W. D. M., Emma Briard.

Rev. Perry Chandler has offered a prize to the scholars of the first Methodist Episcopal Sabbath school at North Kittery, to be given to the member who brings the most scholars into the school during the month of August; if two members get the same number they will each receive a prize; and Mr. John J. Lambert offers an ice cream supper to all who are punctual, and remain in the school until Sept. 17th.

Quarterly conference was held at the first and second Methodist churches on Sunday last. Rev. W. S. Jones, presiding elder of the district, preached a sermon in the afternoon at the second church from Matt. 5:16, and in the 1st church from Heb. 11:17.

It is thought there will be no change in the management of the postoffice at Kittery Depot, as since July 1st it has been reduced from a distributing office, making the remuneration so small that the average democratic aspirant would not accept the position if he had to provide a suitable building for the office; so as Mr. Parker has not been a very "offensive partisan," it looks as though he would be appointed for the next four years.

John Y. Trefethen, with his wife and daughter, returned to their home in Cambridge, Mass., on Friday last, after a pleasant visit among their friends at the village.

Israel Fletcher of Portsmouth now runs the dry goods cart formerly owned by O. E. Littlefield, and driven by him through our town and the surrounding towns during his palmy days. Mr. Fletcher is carrying on the same business, and the turnout looks almost as natural as in days of yore, and only needs the addition of that ancient equine "Black Sam" to make it complete.

Memorial services in honor of the late Mr. John Goodsoe were held in the Second Methodist Episcopal church, of which he was a member, on Sunday evening, the 16th inst. The exercises consisted of an address by the pastor, Rev. Perry Chandler, followed by Messrs. Dunbar, Chickering, Paul, Lovell and Pickering, all speaking in high terms of their late brother and of his upright Christian character. Interesting remarks were also made by Presiding Elder W. S. Jones, and appropriate hymns were sung by the choir. A large picture of the deceased, appropriately draped, was hung over the chancel. There were also several floral offerings by friends.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosts who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for,

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall carry them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any offal, heads, hoofs, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within any four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12 When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier shall neglect having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

—Mr. Toole has just related a somewhat good story anent a Scotchman and whiskey. He asked a man in Glasgow to have a glass of the national beverage, and got for reply: "No, it's too early; besides I don't want and I'm not taking whiskey, and I'd rather not. Besides I've had four already!" This recalls another story. A Scot was asked if he drank whiskey at his dinner. "Only on two occasions," he answered—"when there is fish and when there isn't."

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to Hay Fever. Have been using it as directed since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. F. B. Ainsworth,

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man, and business firms hesitate to employ a man, who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it, and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bold spots covered by using a single bottle.

Cause of Drunkenness.

One of the important deductions from Professor Williams' study of the habits and dietary of various peoples is that drunkenness requires more than legal or even moral restraint. His opinion on this is well worthy the attention of sciolists and reformers. He says he has no doubt "that overwork and scanty, tasteless food is the primary source of the craving for strong drink that so largely prevails with such deplorable results among the class that is most exposed to such privation. I do not say," he continues, "that this is the only source of such depraved appetite. It may also be engendered by the opposite extreme of excessive luxurious pandering to general sensuality. The practical inference suggested by this experience and these observations is that speech-making and pledge-singing and blue-ribbon missions can only effect temporary results unless supplemented by satisfying the natural appetite of hungry people by supplies of food that are not only nutritious but savory and varied. Such food need be no more expensive than that which is commonly eaten by the poorest of Englishmen, but it must be far better cooked * * I find that the raw material of the dietary of the French and Italians is inferior to that of the English, but a far better result is obtained by better cookery." He adds that he never saw a drunken Italian during a year of prosperity in Italy, but that at a subsequent period, when Italy had the three plagues—the potato disease, the silkworm fungus and the grape disease—he found a very different state of affairs among the poor. There was no wine where formerly the potation had been a glass of thin but pure wine; "potato spirit and coarse beer had taken its place. Monotonous polenta, a sort of paste or porridge made from Indian corn meal, to which they gave the contemptuous name of miserable, was then the general food, and much drunkenness was the natural consequence."

A Peep into Nature's Laboratory.

There is in the town of Phœnixville to-day an exemplification of the operations of nature as displayed in the formation of coal, where it can be found in actual process to transformation from vegetable matter to a soft soapy carbonic substance, and the latter gradually changing to lignite and then again into soft coal of the bituminous form. Go along the Pennsylvania Schuylkill Valley railroad, between the first passenger station of that system and the next one, and you will find a force of men cutting down the bank there, eighteen or twenty feet high, and amid those rocks, perhaps three feet above the railroad track, you will observe a black seam. That black seam is alaboratory of nature. From above before the Morgan house was removed and the surrounding bank, big trees send their roots down through the soil and then through the crevices of the rocks till they reached the seam in question, which in time they filled with roots and fibres.

The trees above died and the roots and fibres confirmed in the seam began to work, chemical changes took place, carbon was evolved, and coal was the result. The laboratory was opened by the building of the railroad before the slow process was fully completed, so that you can find there to-day the vegetable and carbonized matter and lignite and coal together, proving, indeed, that the popular thought that coal grows is true.

Eating and Working.

"Do you know," said M. Alphonse Daudet, the most popular of living French novelists, to an interviewer recently, "that when I wrote the 'Nabob' I worked twenty hours every day. One becomes intoxicated with work, and I found that my digestion was much better if I ate while I worked. I always took my meals to my writing table, and the result was invariably satisfactory. You know that if you go to bed immediately after eating the digestion will accomplish itself during sleep. The same with writing. Commence immediately after you have swallowed your food. Don't wait for digestion, or you will feel heavy and incapable. I can assure you that this physiological law has been a veritable godsend to me."

The true landed aristocracy of the United States is composed of the red men. There are about 265,000 Indians, and their land reservations amount to about 175,000 square miles. Each Indian has, therefore, a little more than two-thirds of a square mile of land. The reservations of Dakota, Montana, and the Indian Territory comprise 150,000 square miles, occupied by about 127,000 Indians, or less than one inhabitant to the square mile.

A machine for shelling peas has been invented. The peas are placed upon a platform of the machine and fed by hand to a drum through a hopper at the top. They are then submitted to the action of beaters, which open the pods and allow the peas to fall through the meshes of a wire cloth. In consequence of the oblique arrangements of the beaters, the pods continue to advance toward the extremity of the drum, where they fall into a chute. The unshelled peas are caught at the upper part of the drum by the rods that project into the interior, and are thus struck by the beaters, so that the shelling is perfect before the peas drop into the box beneath.

Supremely Delightful

To the emaciated and debilitated invalid is the sense of returning health and strength produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. When that promoter of vigor is tested by persons in feeble health, its restorative and vitalizing potency soon evinces itself in improved appetite, digestion and nightly repose, the sole conditions under which strength and nerve quietude is vouchsafed to the human system. A gain in flesh of course ensues upon the restoration of digestion and assimilation. As surely as winter follows the fall of the leaf, does the disease shadow the footsteps of declining strength; when the premature decadence of vitality is not arrested, marasmus, consumption and other wasting maladies are prompt to fasten upon the enfeebled. Avert disease, therefore, with this grand enabling tonic, which not only renews failing strength, but mitigates and counteracts the infirmities of age and those of the gentler sex. Rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney troubles yield to it.

New Hampshire State Fair.

The thirtieth annual State Fair of New Hampshire will be held at the Manchester driving park in the city of Manchester on September 21st, 22d, 23d and 24th, 1885. It is the desire of the managers to make the fair a successful one, and they cordially invite the co-operation of the agricultural and industrial interests of the state to assist them in so doing. The season has been favorable to the production of good crops, and the various industries of the state are in a prosperous condition. An united and cordial effort will bring to the exhibition a fine and interesting display of New Hampshire's choicest and most interesting products, which will be a credit to the state and profitable to exhibitors.

Never before in the history of the society have such liberal arrangements and premiums been offered. Railroads in the central party of the state are deeply interested in its success, and for the encouragement of the many state industries, have generally offered to transport all exhibits to and from the fair free, and passengers at half rates.

Very liberal premiums are offered in all departments of the fair. $1,947 is offered in the horse department; $1,241 for cattle; $370 for sheep and swine; $148 for poultry, $50 for grass, grain, and seeds, $176 for fruits and flowers, $119 for vegetables, $47 for dairy, $34 for bread, $190 for cooking and kitchen utensils, $170 for paintings and fine arts, $157 for needlework, $115 for grange and town collective exhibits; with gold, silver, and bronze medal as premiums in other departments of the fair, making over $5,000 in cash premiums. Entries for all live stock close Sept. 10th. Exhibitors making a meritorious and worthy exhibit will be entitled to a free exhibitor's ticket, good for one admission each day of the fair.

The fair grounds and buildings are the largest and most convenient in the state, and equalled by but few in New England, easy of access by carriage or railroad. The exhibition buildings contain more than an acre of floor and wall space, and have suitable accommodations for more than 1,500 head of horses, cattle, sheep, and swine. Quite a number of entries have already been received, and parties intending to become exhibitors can now secure ample space, horse stalls, and cattle pens.

Premium lists and posters now ready, and sent on application from State Fair Office, Room 12, No. 885 Elm street, Manchester, N. H., where all information relative to the exhibition will be cheerfully given.

RYE BEACH, Aug. 18th. daw

In the New Hampshire house, Aug. 18th, after a long debate, the "valued insurance policy" bill was referred to a committee of three. A joint resolution was passed, appropriating $1600 for expenses incurred in draping the state house and transporting the party to attend the funeral of Gen. Grant. The senate passed a joint resolution for the erection of a monument at the grave of Matthew Thurston, one of the signers of the declaration of independence.

A. Linwood Averill of Rochester, twenty-five years old, a brakeman on the Worcester & Nashua railroad on the night freight to Portland, fell between a car and the locomotive tender in Fremont on the morning of the 18th inst., and was instantly killed.

HEREDITARY SCROFULA.

ARE you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develop itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. Hood's SARSAPARILLA has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

"MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen— * * * My youngest son has always been troubled with Scrofulous Humor; sores in his head discharging from his ears, and a running sore on the back of his ear for two years; his eyelids would fester and ulcerate, discharging so that I was obliged to wash them open every morning, his eyelashes nearly all coming out; he was exceedingly dainty, most of the time eating but two slight meals a day. We were unable to find anything that had the least effect upon him till last spring, 1878, we gave him two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, His appetite improved at once. * * * The back of his ear healed up without a scar, and not a sore in his head since. Sincerely yours,

MRS. N. C. SANBORN,

No. 109 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

"We do not as a rule allow ourselves to use our editorial columns to speak of any remedy we advertise, but we feel warranted in saying a word for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sarsaparilla has been known as a remedial agent for centuries and is recognized by all schools of practice as a valuable blood purifier. It is put up in forms of almost infinite variety, but Messrs. Hood & Co., (Lowell, Mass.) who are thoroughly reliable pharmacists, have hit upon a remedy of unusual value. Certainly they have vouchers of cures which we know to be most extraordinary."—Editors Lowell Weekly Journal.

THE BIG DRAIN.

The bids for the construction of the north millpond sewer were opened on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., in the city rooms, by the special committee appointed by the city councils to carry out the plan for abating the pond nuisance. In the specifications issued, inviting tenders, it was provided that bids might be for either the entire work, or for the brick sewer in one bid and for the plank and pile extension in another; but all the bids were for the entire work, the following form, supplied by the committee, being filled out and signed in each case.

The undersigned hereby offer to perfore the entire work described in the proposals, specifications and estimates issued by the committee on the north millpond sewer, under authority of an order of the city councils passed June 18th, 1885, for the sum of ——.

There were twelve bidders, the bids ranging from a little over $30,000 to over $56,000, as follows:

C. F. Dacy & Co., Boston, $32,300.

Parsons & Peterson, Salem, $32,489.

Richard D. Shanahan, Portland, $35,000.

Enoch J. Conner, Portsmouth, $37,994.

L. A. Nichols, South Framingham, $44,400.

Willcott & Perkins, Boston, $44,900.

Joseph R. Holmes, Portsmouth, $45,750.

Wm. H. Ward, Boston, $45,800.

Henry H. Pike, Boston, $46,765.

Putterill & Killian, Boston, $47,500.

Trumbull & Cheney, Boston, $52,500.

John E. Giddings, Portsmouth, $56,700.

The specifications stipulate for Portland cement to be used, and the bids as above are on that basis; but several of the bidders made additional offers at lower rates, if allowed to use a proportion of American cement in lieu of Portland. C. F. Dacy & Co. would allow $2 per bbl. on each barrel of American cement used; Parsons & Peterson, $1500 in a lump; L. A. Nichols, $2000. The other bids on the work, with American cement, were: Richard D. Shanahan, $32,997; Joseph R. Holmes, $42,250; Wm. H. Ward, $42,600; Petterill & Killian, $45,200.

The contract was not awarded, that being deferred to another meeting of the committee; but it is evident from the bidding that the big drain is to be built at a much less cost than most people anticipated.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Lizzie Guptill, Smith master, which is largely engaged during the season in running lime from Rockland to this port, generally makes quick trips. She sailed from Rockland on Saturday, the 15th inst., with lime to the Concord railroad, arrived on Sunday, and sailed for Rockland again on Wednesday, the 19th, having completed the discharge of her cargo.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, sailed on the 19th inst. for Portland, to take in a cargo of corn for Bangor; at the latter port she will load with lumber for John H. Broughton.

The brick schooner Lillie arrived from Boston on the 18th, and the J. Chester Wood and Estella on the 19th, light, and all proceeded up river to load.

The gondola Fearless, Harry Watson skipper, loaded with coal for the Newmarket Manufacturing Co., sailed from Sise's wharf on Wednesday morning of this week; also the gondola Alice, Capt. Fernald, loaded with moulding sand from the schooner Stony Brook for the Exeter Machine works.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Aug. 17th.

The officers of Morrill Lodge of Good Templars, of North Kittery, elected at a previous meeting, were installed on Friday evening, the 14th inst., by D. G. W. C. Templar C. S. Chick, assisted by D. G. W. Secretary John P. Brooks and D. G. W. Marshal W. E. Noyes.

The Rebekah Degree Lodge of Kittery held a picnic in the Government grove at Kittery Point on the 18th inst. A large number were present, including many invited guests from Portsmouth and other places.

York District Lodge, I. O. G. T., will hold its third quarterly session with West Branch Lodge, No. 221, at Newfield on Wednesday, Aug. 26th, commencing at 10:30 A. M. It will be a picnic session. Reduced fares are expected on the railroads. Persons going from this town should go by rail to East Waterboro, and thence by stage to Newfield.

SUB ROSA.

The man who engineers a handcart about town between six and seven o'clock mornings, tooting the baleful fish-horn hours and hours before anybody in the city wants to get up, is an offensive partisan, and a disturber of the rest of the laboring people. We should not feel sorry were he to have a whole cartful of extra fine mackerel spoil on his hands.

Four new and heavy freight engines, built by the Rhode Island Locomotive Works for the Boston & Maine railroad, were delivered to the road on the 18th instant, their names and numbers being as follows: Manchester, 183; Atlanta, 186; Revere, 189; Piscataqua, 190.

The trains on the Concord & Portsmouth railroad are being equipped with the Judkins railway train signal, an electrical contrivance which does away with and is a great improvement on the old bell-cord signal.

Wilbur Haley, of Smuttynose island, Shoals, brought in on Tuesday of this week a white halibut weighing 180 lbs., which he sold to J. O. Downs & Co.

The schooner Fleur de Lys on the 19th inst. brought in thirty barrels of large mackerel taken from the seines of vessels off Boon island; and Gus. Fernald brought up from the Mitchell weir 3500 fat mackerel which were disposed of to the different local dealers at fair prices.

A young man named Deverson, employed in Harry Kiggins' gang discharging the schooner John Lenthall, on the 19th inst. fell with his barrow from the stage to the deck, a distance of over fifteen feet, but though much shaken up escaped serious injury.

The work of filling in under the railroad bridge from Noble's island to Freeman's point is rapidly progressing, despite the remonstrance of the city government. There is not much left to remonstrate against.

George Rains of Rochester, N. Y., is a guest of the Wentworth at Newcastle.

James Walker and Timothy Hennessey, formerly employed at the Concord railroad wharf, are going to Brockton, Mass., to work on the bridges there.

The schooner John Lenthall, at Piscataqua wharf, is undergoing somewhat extensive repairs by Warren Keen.

Rev. Joseph May of Philadelphia, now sojourning at York, will preach in the Unitarian church in this city next Sunday.

Howe Spinney of Eliot, a gardener who broke one of his legs about a fortnight ago by a fall at Hon. Frank Jones' place, is rapidly recovering.

The much-needed repairs upon the bridge leading from Kittery to the navy yard have been commenced. On Tuesday of this week men began driving some new piling. The repairs we understand will include planking the bridge anew, the planks to be laid lengthwise upon the present crosswise planking.

The Kittery Point bridge, under the management of E. C. Spinney, agent, has been put in thorough repair, and is now one of the best bridges in York county.

Arthur Hersome of Boston, while gunning in Lebanon, Me., Aug. 18th, was shot by the accidental discharge of his gun, the charge entering his breast and inflicting a fatal wound.

The Portland District campmeeting at Old Orchard on the 18th inst. was under charge of Rev. Mr. Jones, presiding elder of the district. Rev. C. E. Frisbee of Goodwin's Mills preached in the forenoon, Rev. Charles Parsons of Kennebunk in the afternoon, and Rev. J. H. Trask of Eliot in the evening.

The New Hampshire Veteran association management announce that unauthorized parties have been soliciting advertising for their annual paper throughout the state to the extent of about $200.

Mr. Jonathan Hosmer died at Nashua, Aug. 15th, aged seventy-six years. Mr. Hosmer was a native of Acton, Mass. His great-grandfather, Abner Hosmer, was killed in the battle at Concord, Mass. The deceased settled in Nashua in 1841, and was engaged in trade until within two years. He had served the old town of Nashua as selectman and the city as councilman, alderman and member of the board of overseers of the poor.

A. B. Buckman of Rochester, who was committed to jail two weeks ago in default of bail to stand trial in the superior court for the robbery of $100 from a Rochester blacksmith, was discharged from custody Aug. 18th on an order of County Solicitor Burleigh. Buckman refunded $75 of the money to the owner, and promised other reparation. Buckman's discharge before the case reached the grand jury is causing considerable unfavorable comment.

Postmaster Varney of Dover received a communication from the postoffice department in Washington on the 18th inst., notifying him that John W. Rines, mail agent on the Dover & Winnipesaukee railroad between Dover and Alton Bay, had been removed. Cause, "offensive partisanship."

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by thousands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drunk. Ask for

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Otard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil-oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness and Want of Sleep that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Beware of worthless "Gingers" said to be as good as SANFORD'S. Ask for —Pickns county, Georgia, has a post-office named "Talking Rock." The origin of the name is thus stated: Some one discovered in the vicinity a large stone upon which had been painted the words, "Turn me over." A Cure For Pimples!

My face for the last few years was covered with pimples so bad, that I used to be ashamed to go anywhere. I took two bottles of Sulphur Bitters and the pimples disappeared. I use them every spring.—C. K. Dow, Fall River.

—A Georgia woman was trying to milk her first cow, her husband's gift, and in her ignorance had stationed herself on the left side. Being near the public road, a man riding by called out, "Madam, you are on the wrong side of that cow." It was news to her, but her mother wit came to her aid. "Yes, sir," was her pleasant reply, "but this isn't a common cow; she was raised by a left-handed woman."

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than five nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any such meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

The Morning Dress.

It is said that a lady's standing in society can easily be determined by her dress at the breakfast table; an expensive, showy costume indicating that the wearer has not yet learned the proprieties. But no one need be afraid of being called "shoddy" if her loveliness is as apparent by daylight as at the hops. Perfect beauty is never the attendant of disease; above all, of those diseases peculiar to women, and which find a ready cure in Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." Price reduced to one dollar. At druggists.

Lizzie Scott, aged seventeen years, daughter of a much respected citizen of Newark, N. J., ran away on the 18th inst. with Wang Poo, a Chinese laundryman, and went to Ohio, where the pair were made husband and wife.

Purify your blood, tone up the system, and regulate the digestive organs by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Some locomotives will run 70,000 miles with only what repairs are made by the engineer before they are returned to the repair shop to be overhauled.

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to Hay Fever. Have been using it as directed since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. F. B. Ainsworth,

While Gov. Gray of Indiana was driving with his family along the Micigan road, near Indianapolis, Sunday evening, Aug. 16th, some miscreant fired a shot through the carriage, the ball passing in close proximity to the person of the chief executive. It is not known whether the shot was fired at random or with murderous intent. The person by whom it was fired could not be found.

Never neglect a constipated condition of the bowels, or serious results surely follow, such as piles, impure blood, and many chronic complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters.

Two children of Walter Sears, aged three and five years, were killed by lightning at Willimantic, Me., during a shower Aug. 19th. They were sitting on a lounge, their mother sitting near with another child in her arms. The bolt entered by the chimney, crossed the room, killing the children instantly and knocked the mother senseless. She was unconscious for some time. The child in her arms escaped unhurt.

WIT AND HUMOR.

A red-nosed gentleman asked a wit whether he believed in spirits.

'Ay, sir,' replied he, looking him full in the face, 'I see too much evidence before me to doubt that.'

'Oh, aunt,' cried little Amy, in the nursery, the other day, 'make Freddie behave himself! Every time I happen to hit him on the head with a mallet he bursts out crying!'

At a wedding the other day one of the guests, who often is a little absent-minded, observed gravely—

'I have often remarked that there have been more women than men married this year.'

'Faith,' said a gentleman, who could not get into his house at Kingston, his wife having turned the key upon him; 'faith, but I'm regularly locked in.'

'In?' said the companion; 'in where?'

'Why, in the street!'

A sentimental young man, who got badly scratched on a certain occasion, thus feelingly expresses himself—

'Even as nature benevolently guards the roses with thorns, does she endow women with pins.'

A pretty young girl was complaining to a young Quaker last week that she was dreadfully troubled by chaps on her lips.

'Friend Mary,' replied Broadbrim, 'thou shouldst not permit the chaps so near thy lips.'

A miller fell asleep in his mill, and bent forward till his hair got caught in some machinery and almost a handful pulled out. Of course it awakened him. His first bewildered exclamation was, 'Hang it, wife, what's the matter now?'

'Do you pretend to have as good judgment as I have?' exclaimed an enraged wife to her husband

'Well, no,' he replied slowly; 'our choice of partners for life shows that my judgment is not to be compared to yours.'

Recently a celebrated preacher said: 'The little good any of us can do must be done with hearts thumping against the hearts of our fellowmen.'

And every young woman in church looked at every other young woman, and smiled approvingly.

An old gentleman of eighty-four having taken to the altar a damsel of sixteen, the clergyman said to him—

'You will find the font at the other end of the church.'

'What do I want with the font?' asked the old gentleman.

'I beg your pardon,' said the clerical wit' 'I thought you had brought the child to be christened.'

'You can't add different things together,' said a school-teacher. 'If you add a sheep and a cow together it does not make two sheep or two cows.'

A little boy, the son of a milkman, held up his hand and said, 'That may do with sheep and cows; but if you add a quart of water to a quart of milk, it makes two quarts of milk. I've seen it tried.'

At the ——, the other evening, one gentleman pointed out a dandified-looking individual to his friend as a sculptor.

'What!' said his friend, 'such a looking chap as that a sculptor! Sure you must be mistaken.'

'He may not be the kind of a one you mean,' said the informant, 'but I know that he chizzled a tailor out of a suit of clothes last week.'

'Mother where's Bill?'

'My son, do not let me hear you say Bill again. You should say William?'

'Well, mother, where's William?'

'In the yard, feeding the ducks.'

'Oh, yes, I see him now. But, mother, what makes the ducks have such broad Williams?'

'Go out to your brother directly, you little scamp, or I will box your ears.'

It is a lawyer's maxim that one ought not to make an assertion unless he is sure of his facts, and yet an inference is sometimes reasonably safe.

'What: is old Blank dead? was the surprised query of a man of an attorney in Dame street, who saw a funeral procession go by.

'I don't know,' was the cautious reply; 'but I judge so, for, as you see, they are burying him.'

"O," said Mary Ann the cook, in singing the glories of Ireland, "at home in me native town there are strreets of most beaucheous corn-craik houses!"

"What are corn-craik houses?" asks Gretchen, the nurse-maid.

"O, the loikes of thim ignorint furriners!" groans Mary Ann. "Why, corn-craik loike the corn-craik pavements yez have here."—Harper's Bazar.

While a prisoner was being searched at Harrison street Police Station, he suddenly blurted out 'I'll never believe in old sayings again.'

'What's wrong with old sayings,' asked the sergeant.

'Why there's one that says heaven helped those that help themselves. I helped myself to a pair of pants, and now where am I? Where is heaven? Where is the help to get out of this?'

The sergeant consoled with him.

In one of the many picturesque little hamlets which stud the banks of the river Ayr one of her Majesty's inspectors was having his annual inspection of the parish school.

He was examining a class on Scottish history, and wishing to elicit the historical fact of James V's quarrel with his queen, Mary of Lorraine, asked the question—

'Why was Mary, Queen of Scots, born at Linlithgow?'

'Up starts a bright little fellow and shouts—

'Because her mither was there.'

'Well,' replied the inspector, 'there might have been some doubt as to the answer I would have given, but there can be none about yours.'

Supremely Delightful

To the emaciated and debilitated invalid is the sense of returning health and strength produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. When that promoter of vigor is tested by persons in feeble health, its restorative and vitalizing potency soon evinces itself in improved appetite, digestion and nightly repose, the sole conditions under which strength and nerve quietude is vouchsafed to the human system. A gain in flesh of course ensues upon the restoration of digestion and assimilation. As surely as winter follows the fall of the leaf, does the disease shadow the footsteps of declining strength; when the premature decadence of vitality is not arrested, marasmus, consumption and other wasting maladies are prompt to fasten upon the enfeebled. Avert disease, therefore, with this grand enabling tonic, which not only renews failing strength, but mitigates and counteracts the infirmities of age and those of the gentler sex. Rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney troubles yield to it.

Cleveland "Endorsed."

On the evening of the 19th the democratic members of the legislature met in caucus to express their sentiments regarding President Cleveland, and unanimously adopted a set of commendatory resolutions reported by Hon. Harry Bingham of Littleton.

The Democratic Resolutions.

The resolutions of Harry Bingham are a notice from the democracy of the Granite state to President Cleveland that he is expected to distribute offices with more celerity. Mr. Bingham advocates the appointment of Col. George as naval officer at Boston, and hardly has Mr. Jones set foot on the steamer which is to take him out of the bailiwick for a short season of rest, than Bingham proceeds to notify the halting president that he—Bingham—is the genuine sarsaparilla; that no matter what it is alleged Mr. Jones has said about delays in making appointments, it is all right if such "corrupt men" as Daniel Hall are now turned out and men of the "honesty and capacity" of Col. George be restored to their "rightful positions" in our politics.

The resolutions read both ways. Whichever way the president turns, the democracy is there. The unanimous way in which the Concord caucus endorsed Bingham shows that he is again on deck as boss, that his men will be appointed to office, and any attempt to parcel out the patronage of New Hampshire to men like Senator Kent instead of the ancient wheel-horses will be a disruption of the administration from its "bases of democracy." Now we shall see things go on properly. It may be that Bingham will accept Mr. Cleveland's proposition to make Senator Kent collector of internal revenue and Ex-Mayor Page district attorney, but Mr. Cleveland may as well first as last understand that the entire democratic party of New Hampshire is not to be found in Portsmouth, and that the time-honored leaders will not be led by new and inexperienced generals, however much they may have proved their ability in supplying the commissariat.

The new collector of the port of Milwaukee has plain sailing before him in the matter of filling the subordinate places in the custom house with democrats. On the morning when he assumed charge of the office the entire force of employes, about a dozen men, left their desks and walked into the street. The collector will be temporarily embarrassed, but is pretty sure to have the last laugh over this new species of joke.

Samuel Robinson came in from the Shoals on Wednesday night of this week with haddock, and reported large schools of mackerel off the islands.

HEREDITARY SCROFULA.

ARE you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develop itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

"MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—* * * My youngest son has always been troubled with Scrofulous Humor; sores in his head discharging from his ears, and a running sore on the back of his ear for two years; his eyelids would fester and ulcerate, discharging so that I was obliged to wash them open every morning, his eyelashes nearly all coming out; he was exceedingly dainty, most of the time eating but two slight meals a day. We were unable to find anything that had the least effect upon him till last spring, 1878, we gave him two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. His appetite improved at once. * * The back of his ear healed up without a sear, and not a sore in his head since. Sincerely yours,
MRS. N. C. SAWNORK,
No. 108 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

"We do not as a rule allow ourselves to use our editorial columns to speak of any remedy we advertise, but we feel warranted in saying a word for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sarsaparilla has been known as a remedial agent for centuries and is recognized by all schools of practice as a valuable blood purifier. It is put up in forms of almost infinite variety, but Messrs. Hood & Co., (Lowell, Mass.) who are thoroughly reliable pharmacists, have hit upon a remedy of unusual value. Certainly they have vouchers of cures which we know to be most extraordinary."—Editors Lowell Weekly Journal.

THE NORTH POND SEWER.

The specifications of work to be done in constructing the proposed new sewer stipulate that the contractor shall furnish all tools, materials, machinery and labor for building a brick sewer to commence at the end of the present stone sewer which empties into the upper part of the north millpond, and pass through Deer street to discharge into the current of the river. From the start of the new sewer to the intersection of the Cabot street sewer, the pond sewer is to be of three feet diameter inside; and from thence to the dock at the foot of Deer street, four feet in diameter, two bricks in thickness throughout, of hard burned brick laid in best quality Portland cement. From the point where the new sewer reaches tide water at the head of Sise's dock, a timber and pile sewer 190 feet in length is to be built, the sewer to be made of three-inch spruce plank, four feet square inside, and supported by spruce or red oak piles—the sewer to be protected by the widening of Sise's wharf about seven feet, so as to cover it. Besides this, a twelve-inch Akron drain pipe is to be laid from the cess-pool at Eldredge's brewery, to connect with the brick sewer at its upper end; this will serve as a flushing pipe to the main sewer, as well as a drain from the brewery; the length of this drain is about 350 feet, and the depth to which it will be laid will vary from four to eight feet.

The length of the sewer is nearly one mile, the three-foot sewer being 1450 feet long, the four-foot sewer 3200 feet, the Eldredge brewery drain 350 feet, and the timber outlet 190 feet—a total of 5190 feet. There are to be ten man-holes along the line of the sewer, at points located by the engineer in charge, each four feet in diameter inside, with walls eight inches thick, and provided with suitable iron covers and curbs. The estimated excavation is 3000 cubic yards of ledge to blast through on Deer street, and 12,000 cubic yards of gravel and earth to remove and back-fill on the rest of the line. The specifications are closely drawn, and hold the city free from any possible claim for damages resulting in any way from the construction of the sewer.

THE FIRE ALARM.

The city government we hope will take prompt measures to make our new electric fire alarm what it certainly is not now, a really effective means of arousing the members of the fire department under any circumstances of wind and weather. The alarm as it is, is good as far as it goes; but it does not go far enough, and if a fire should break out in a bad place and at an unfavorable time, the consequences of relying on this inefficient alarm might prove disastrous.

Several plans have been suggested for making the alarm more effective, by supplementary ringing of bells, etc.; but the best plan would undoubtedly be, to extend the scope of the alarm itself. This would cost something, of course, but it would be cheaper than to have several acres of the city burned over in consequence of a failure of the firemen to respond to an "alarm" which they did not and could not hear.

We have made enquiries of persons who should know, and probably do, concerning the cost of putting in ten-inch chime whistles at the Eldredge and Portsmouth breweries, and strikers at the Christian Shore school house and the south wardroom building, and learn that the expense would be about $2500. The whistles it is said can be heard many miles, and their peculiar tone would prevent any confusion arising from the possible blowing of steamboat or locomotive whistles at the same time; they would be entirely independent of the breweries, except as to the supply of steam to sound them, and could be blown only by pulling in an alarm from a box; and being operated automatically, the same as the bell-strikers, the whistling and bell ringing would begin and end at the same time. This would give a really effective alarm; and, either this plan, or some better one if it can be devised, should be carried out before the rough weather of the approaching winter sets in.

RYE BEACH.

The season at Rye beach seems to have become quite successful. The boarding houses are very well filled. The Farragut is doing a large business, and the Sea View, this week, has nearly a hundred and fifty guests.

Rye beach has its attractions appreciated by its annual sojourners, and as the west grows, our sea coast will be every year visited by greater numbers of guests, and eligible sites for building purposes will be in demand.

There is to be sold by auction on Saturday, as will be seen by our advertising columns, a large tract of land with buildings, quite near the ocean, one of the very best spots on the coast, having a fine sea prospect with land extending on the avenue toward the Sea View house, which ere long must be in demand for building purposes. The accessibility of Rye, reached by the frequent quick trains of the Boston & Maine railroad, cannot fail to render it always a place where house lots near the sea will be in good demand.

BASE BALL.

On Friday, August 28th, there will be a game of base ball at the Plains between the Granite State club of 1879, and the Red Stocking club, of this city. The Granite States, during the season of 1879, were considered the equal of any amateur club in New Hampshire;—having played no less than eighteen games without losing one; and a game between them and the Red Stockings will no doubt repay those who witness it. The members of the Granite States, most of whom are scattered throughout New England, will arrive here on the morning train, and the game will be called at 2:30 o'clock, P. M. The following communications are self explanatory:

BOSTON, MASS., Aug. 19, 1885.

To Manager Red Stocking B. B. C.:

The members of the Granite State base ball club of 1879, proposing to hold a reunion at Portsmouth, on the 28th inst., hereby challenge your club to play a game of base ball at the Plains, Friday afternoon, August 28th.

Respectfully,
DAN'L B. CROWLEY,
Manager Granite States of '79.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 20th, 1885.

To Manager Granite States:

We accept your challenge of the 19th inst., to play a game of base ball with your club at the Plains, Friday afternoon, Aug. 28th.

Yours,
JAMES O'DONNELL,
Manager Red Stocking club.

DOWN THE BANK.

The freight train which left this city for Dover at 5:15 o'clock A. M. on the 20th inst. only went as far as the embankment recently made by filling in the Freeman's point bridge. At that place the second freight car from the engine left the rails and went down the bank to the water, taking with it three other cars, but leaving the engine on the track at one end and several cars at the other, making the train in the shape of a "V." The tender was derailed, but did not go over the bank. The four cars which went down were considerably damaged; also their contents, including the clams and et ceteras for the Kearsarge boys' clambake. The wrecking train had the track clear shortly after nine o'clock, the derailed cars being left lying on the side of the embankment.

MUSIC HALL.

The amusement season at Music hall will open on Monday evening next, when Atkinson & Cook's dramatic company, supporting Miss Floy Crowell, will commence a week's engagement with "Queen's Evidence." Popular prices; see advertisement.

CLAMBAKE POSTPONED.

Owing to the accident on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad on Thursday morning, by which the clams and other articles intended for the "bake" of Kearsarge S. F. E. Co. at Dover point that day were made into a sort of crude hash, the entertainment was postponed a day, notice thereof being given as follows:

HEADQUARTERS KEARSARGE ENGINE COMPANY,

To Our Invited Guests:—

Owing to the accident on the Dover road this morning, in which all our clams were lost, we were compelled to postpone the clambake until to morrow, on which day train will leave B. & M. station at 9:45, rain or shine. Feeling sorry for the disappointment it has caused, and hoping that all our invited guests will be with us to-morrow, we remain, yours,

W. S. LORD,
W. J. SAMPSON,
D. D. WALDRON,
C. H. KENNISON,
Committee of Arrangements.
Kearsarge S. F. E. Co., No. 3.

There was a meeting on the 18th inst. in the town hall at Hampton of the descendants of Deacon Joshua Lane, who was killed by lightning in 1765, and buried in the old cemetery in that town. A Lane Memorial Association was organized for the purpose of erecting a suitable monument over the place where the ancestor of nearly all the Lanes of this vicinity was buried, and a committee of five persons, as follows, was chosen to solicit funds and to carry out the plans of the association: J. G. Lane of Manchester, Mass., G. W. Lane of Hampton, J. P. Lane of Norton, Mass., Levi Lane of Hampton Falls, and Miss Augusta Robinson of Exeter.

The P. S. H. & C. club of this city will go into camp at Gerrish's island, Kittery, on Saturday, the 22d inst.

S. R. Niles, Esq., and wife, of Boston, are at the hotel Wentworth.

CUCUMBERS AND WATERMELONS.

Cucumbers and watermelons are tabooed by hosands who fear to eat them, not because they have ever experienced a single pang that can be truthfully traced to them, but because some one had pronounced them injurious.

What more appetizing on a hot day than a freshly sliced cucumber, hard, cold, crisp, temptingly served on cracked ice?

Or what more refreshing to the irritated and parched mucous system on a sultry day than a cold, ripe, luscious, black-eyed watermelon?

And that all may enjoy them, as well as all other vegetables and fruits, in their season, we affirm that SANFORD'S GINGER is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, and destroy disease germs in water drank. Ask for,

SANFORD'S GINGER

The Delicious Summer Medicine.

SANFORD'S GINGER is prepared with the utmost skill from Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and the purest and best of Medicinal French Brandy, from the world-renowned vintners, Messrs. Scard, Dupuy & Co., Cognac, rendering it vastly superior to all other "Gingers," all of which are made with common alcohol, impregnated with fusil oil and strengthened with cayenne pepper.

Unripe fruit, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep that befset the traveler or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Beware of worthless "Gingers" said to be as good as SANFORD'S. Ask for Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 39 of the City Ordinances and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the city to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER X.

Sec. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed into their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the health officers may direct.

Sec. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

Sec. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores overnight, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

Sec. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners and occupiers of the premises where such nuisances shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

Sec. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers.

Sec. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the health officers in the name of the city.

Sec. 16. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the Mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forthwith enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

Sec. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the hill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or extend into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of the said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Destroy that Sign.

One may feel that he's getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had bad running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters and she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

An Englishman now resident in England, who lived in America for many years, says that he is quite unable to discover an increased interest there in this country. The men take little interest in it, the women less. Such a man as Mr. Lowell was scarcely known outside of a small circle until he became Minister, and even then only, as a rule, to London people. Names which are household words to us here are unknown there.

Mme. de Lesseps, who is second wife and mother of nine or ten youngsters, is still young, and is a creole by origin. On her marriage day her father made de Lesseps a present of 100,000 francs, at a time when the Suez Canal shares were down as low as 250 francs each. He invested all the money, however, in the speculation. In a few years afterward it reached the colossal figure of 2,500,000 francs. Out of this fund Mr. de Lesseps has just purchased for his wife a superb and princely mansion in the Boulevard Malesherbes.

A grocer of Stockton, N. Y., found his cellar overrun with rats, and bought a common steel trap, which he set in a large measure filled with meal, and covered it up. Next morning he had a rat, and felt sure that he would soon see the last of all his pests. He reset the trap and left it. Next morning it was sprung, the meal was gone, and in its place about a quart of sticks and stones. He tried it again, and with a like result. Investigation showed that the rats threw sticks and stones in upon the trap until they had sprung it, and then coolly devoured the grocer's meal.

In an address to young men, Dr. W. Pratt, of London, says that married life is by far the most healthy. In 1,000 married men of 25 to 30 years of age there are 6 deaths; 1,000 bachelors furnish 10 deaths, and 1,000 widowers 22 deaths. In young men married before 20 years the figures are unfavorable, being 50 per 1,000. In unmarried men under 20 the rate is but 7 per 1,000. If girls marry before 20, a like mortality befalls them. Married people from 18 to 20 die as fast as people from 60 to 70. After 21 marriage should be contracted as soon as practicable.

The wives and families of the Peruvian soldiers always travel with them, like the squaws and papooses of the North American Indian. In camp the women do the cooking; on the march they carry on their backs and heads a great part of the camp equipage, and in battle they nurse the wounded and rob the dead. They are poor, miserable, degraded creatures, just one degree above the dogs which follow at their heels. Their powers of endurance are extraordinary. Often it is the case that they will march twenty or thirty miles a day over dusty roads, carrying a child on their backs, without food or water.

Read what the people say concerning the Abbey of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to cure anthma, catarrh, croup, colds, etc. Mrs. Dwen Roch of Buffalo, says: "For croup it is invaluable." [Mrs. Jacob Mallison of Marion, Pa., says the same thing.] S. S. Owens, Akron, Ohio, writes: "Had asthma of the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would walk five miles for this medicine, and pay $5 a bottle for it." Druggist C. E. Hall, Greenville, Ills., says: "Cured an old-standing throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Set up in bed and coughed till the doubling was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful saved me." E. H. Perkins, Cook Corners, N. Y. Supremely Delightful.

To the emaciated and debilitated invalid is the sense of returning health and strength produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. When that promoter of vigor is tested by persons in feeble health, its restorative and vitalizing potency soon evinces itself in improved appetite, digestion and nightly repose, the sole conditions under which strength and nerve quietude is vouchsafed to the human system. A gain in flesh of course ensues upon the restoration of digestion and assimilation. As surely as winter follows the fall of the leaf, does the disease shadow the footsteps of declining strength; when the premature decadence of vitality is not arrested, marasmus, consumption and other wasting maladies are prompt to fasten upon the enfeebled. Avert disease, therefore, with this grand enabling tonic, which not only renews failing strength, but mitigates and counteracts the infirmities of age and those of the gentler sex. Rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney troubles yield to it.

The British ship Haddingtonshire, from Oregon for the United Kingdom with flour and canned salmon, has been wrecked on the California coast, with the loss of all hands except one seaman and a boy. Her cargo was valued at $104,000, and the ship at a much larger sum.

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

The farmers of eastern New Hampshire, under the auspices of Pomona and Cocheco granges of Dover, will hold a farmers' festival on Garrison hill, Dover, Aug. 26th. Addresses will be made by Rev. A. H. Quint, D. D., of Dover, Hon. Warren Brown of Hampton Falls, president of the New Hampshire Agricultural society, Hon. E. H. Rollins of Concord, Hon. John D. Lyman of Exeter, and others.

What You Want to Know.

Everybody wants an honest answer to this simple question:—What is the best medicine to regulate the bowels, cure costiveness and billiousness, help the digestion and give strength to the whole system? People ask us every day. We answer, Parker's Tonic. It is pleasant to the taste. All the children like it. Mothers all praise it. It will save a thousand times its cost in every family.

Naval Expenditures.

Three riggers and two scrapers have been "taken on" at the Brooklyn navy yard, but the Brooklyn men who were coaxed by Manning to aid in the election of Cleveland delegates to Chicago are quite sore over the division which gives New York city politicians the control of the employment of men on the yard, instead of Brooklyn bosses. Constructor Pook says the Tallapoosa and Brooklyn will be next fitted out.

The Tallapoosa! Seems to us that the last we saw regarding this craft was a striking view carried as a transparency in a Cleveland procession last fall in this city, at a time when the democrats were having a good deal of hilarity over the wreck of this steamer. "But things have changed since the war," and the refitting and repairing of this vessel has become an absolute necessity! It makes some difference in the judgment of a sound democrat as to who is to expend the money for the re-establishment of the navy. The motto now is, "Million for Whitney, but not a red for Chandler."

The Racing Yachts.

The first of the trial races to determine which of the American yachts shall contest the possession of the America's cup with the British cutter Genesta, was sailed on Friday over the Sandy Hook course. The competing yachts were the new Boston sloop Puritan, the new New York sloop Priscilla, and the sloop Gracie and cutter Bedouin of the New York yacht club squadron, the latter two having for some time been the "flyers" of the squadron. The wind on Friday was moderate, but the Puritan outsailed her competitors, and passed Long Branch, N. J., a mile ahead of the Priscilla, the latter being ahead of the Bedouin and Gracie.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending Aug. 18th was 418.

Gaining Every Week.

BOSTON, August 21st.—The continued success of the Boston Sunday Globe beats any previous record in progressive journalism. Every week thousands of new readers are added. Howard's New York letter is now found in only the Sunday Globe, and people who never took the Globe are buying it regularly to get Howard's chatty and graphic letter. Tomorrow the Sunday Globe will have a graphic story of the destruction of Boston by English ironclads. It is founded on our lack of a navy and coast defences, and shows what might happen any day. It will make a greater sensation than the famous "Battle of Dorking." Order the Sunday Globe of your dealer to-day if you do not take it regularly.

The Cholera.

The cholera continues to increase in Spain and France.

In Spain, Aug. 20th, there were 5104 new cases of cholera and 1644 deaths. In Marseilles, France, the disease is attacking the dwellers in the better quarters. A case has occurred in Modena, Italy.

There has been a fatal case of cholera in London.

Messrs. S. C. Small & Co., of Boston, have just completed an elegant pulpit for the Second Christian church of Kittery. The pulpit is a combination of three different styles made by the firm; it is of black walnut, has a row of beautifully-carved lattice work about the top, and deep inlaid panels of polished walnut burl. The top is of extra width, giving ample room for lamps and vases, and for an elevating cushion worked by a slide and screw underneath. The workmanship is first class in every particular, and the committee are well pleased with it.

Deputy Sheriff Luke H. Roberts of Alfred, who attempted to arrest Frank Bodwell in Springvale on the 19th inst., was knocked down by Bodwell and his brothers, Melville and Charles, kicked insensible, and robbed of his revolver and pocketbook. Roberts was removed to his home in a critical condition. Charles Bodwell was arrested and lodged in jail, but the other two ruffians are still at large. Melville Bodwell has served a term in the state prison, and the whole family are of the worst reputation. The charge against Frank Bodwell was for selling liquor.

The stock of cattle varied at Watertown was 1044 head, with a more generous supply of oxen than noticed last week. The tone of the market was at firm prices, with oxen in lots at 3 @ 3½c ⅋ lb, dressed weight. There was a fair movement, and the cattle generally closed out on Tuesday.

The Sheep Market—The arrivals were not as large as expected, and quite a number of the flocks were bought up on the way to market, which caused no decline in prices from last week's rates. The best lambs were sold at 6 @ 6¼c, old sheep from 2 @ 4½c ⅋ lb.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 22d, 1885. 1w6d11

We were widely in error in stating that the man who engineers a handcart around town early mornings, and toots on the dulcet fishhorn, is an offensive partisan. On the contrary, he is an estimable personage, possessing courtesy and good judgment; he sells good fish at fair rates, and we should be very sorry to hear of his having a cartful of fish spoil on his hands.
